Marion, the sole survivor of the sad accident, is rapidly recovering from her injuries and will be removed to Syracuse the last of this week. From her bed in the hospital she directed all arrangements for the funeral and calmed herself by saying at intervals. "I must not break down; there's nobody left but me." The child and her mother had talked of things to be done in case of the parents death so that she recalled incidents and told them to those who were arranging for the last sad rites.

The child described the point where the accident occurred as being particularly dangerous, a steep hill descending directly to the tracks. No whistle warned the occupants of the car of the approach of the train and it was not discovered until the engine was directly upon them with no opportunity for escape. The father rose in his seat, spread his arms toward his family as though to shield them from harm, and then the fearful impact came.

The three bodies were brought to the home of Mrs. W. B. Hollingsworth in this city from where the triple funerals were held on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the Rev. Charles Olmstead officiating. Burial was made in Mt. Adnah. The deepest sympathy of the community goes out to the family here, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Newell, and the three sisters, Mrs. W. B. Hollingsworth and the Misses Maude and Florence Newell.

SPECTACULAR FIRE BURNS LANDMARK

Most Propitious Hour and Conditions Choosen for Fire Fiend to Get in Work—Fulton Mills Totally Destroyed—Strenuous Work to Prevent Spread of Flames—Volney Company to Replace Structure With One of Concrete and Steel.

Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock the fire department was called to the former Fulton Mills, later the Gilbert & Nichols Mill and during the past year acquired by the Volney Paper company and used by them as a sorting and storage place for rags. At 6 o'clock when the building was locked for the night everything was right. At 6:30 o'clock flames burst from every window in the mill, spontaneous combustion being the cause for the conflagration. In less time than it takes to rehearse it, the fire department was on the scene of action, Will Church having sounded the alarm upon Will McCormick noticing the peculiar light through the windows. The entire department, aided and assisted by scores of willing volunteers, risked life and limb in the intense heat and with danger of exploding boilers, in an effort to save the doomed structure. When it was found that nothing could be done to stay the progress of the flames at this point, all efforts were directed toward saving the adjoining properties and with so much success that the flames were kept confined to the area in which they first started. The water pressure was very low and the steamer was brought into service.

While the fire was at its height and the heat was so intense as to make it impossible to reach nearer the fire than two or three blocks, strong men grew pale as it became known that in a store house within a few feet of the fire hundreds of pounds of dynamite were stored for use by the contractors. Men volunteered to remove the dangerous commodity to a place of safety, and amid falling sparks and the scorching heat, the boxes were carried out of the danger zone.

The efficiency of the work done by the local fire department can best be appreciated by the multitude assembled to see the fire, and who witnessed the serious handicap under which the firemen labored.

The burned mill was built in 1868 by Horace N. Gilbert and Thomas R. Wright. There were nearly 300,000 feet of hard wood used in the building and the greedy flames licked up the timber as easily as tow. Mr. Gilbert, in connection with an elder brother, Henry, also built in 1856 the Oswego River Mills, which they later sold to W. G. Gage & Company. During the progress of the fire it seemed at times that this mill too, must succumb to the flames, having been on fire several times, but for their sprinkler system and the valiant work of the firemen and volunteers, it must have gone. In constructing the burned building the timber was taken from a lot owned by Mr. Wright, some of the timber being 60-feet in length. Henry Broadwell, an experienced carpenter of Oswego Falls had charge of the frame work of the mill and not a single mismeasurement was recorded against him, nor against Newell H. Gilbert, who had charge of the raising of the massive frame work. A considerable portion of the work, from start to finish on the burned building, was done by the Gilbert Brothers.

No more propitious hour nor climatic condition could have been choosen by the fire fiend for his work. There was not a breath of wind stirring, else the entire business section or the entire milling district must have been converted into ashes. A few hours later when the flames might not have been discovered so readily, or had a wind sprung up, the story would have been more heart rending.

The mill of the Volney company was insured well, although their loss is heavy, estimated at $75,000. The company proposes to commence in the near future the construction of a modern steel and cement structure upon the site of the destroyed building.

Friday as the work of clearing the debris from the ruins and the removal of the bales of rags not eaten by the flames was in progress, Superintendent Ford of the Volney mill was thrown into the bed of the canal, a mass of smouldering fire covering the bed to a great depth, and he sustained painful and serious burns about face, head, legs and arms. Mr. Ford's family had left the day previous to the fire for Canada, and he was taken by automobile to the Lee Memorial hospital where he is as comfortable at present as can be expected.

The members of the fire department, through Chief Waugh, express deep appreciation of the generosity of W. G. Gage & Company, who presented them with a check for $25, accompanied by a splendid letter of gratitude to the fire laddies for the service they rendered the company during the trying period when their mill was so sorely threatened with destruction.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HARASSED

Hoodlums Enjoy Calling Out Fire Department While City Pays the Expense—Six Calls in Two Hours Make Night Tiresome to Fire Fighters and to Residents.

Monday night the "lid" was off in Fulton and the element that does not care was in complete control of our streets. Racket and rumpus prevailed from early evening until early morning and the sick and nervous members of our populace made sorry work of trying to indulge in nature's sweet restorer. The High school bell was rung persistently for hours and when that ceased alarms of fire came swiftly to the engine house. The first call for the fire department was at 12:20 o'clock, a call to the corner of Fourth and Utica streets; at 12:23 a call to Third and Buffalo streets; at 12:40 a still alarm called the department to a blazing pile of rubbish on the bridge; 1:35 o'clock a rousing bonfire that would have broken all the windows in the lower section of the Lewis block on Cayuga street was started by a gang and the firemen extinguished the flames; 1:50 an alarm came in from the corner of Second and Oneida streets and at 2:15 o'clock an immense bonfire made from Mr. Amos Wolever's berry crates called the department to the corner of Sixth and Cayuga streets.

Wherever liberty is permitted to spell license the same conditions as prevailed on Monday night, must prevail. Before another independence day arrives it behooves the police department to urge that the rights of citizens to some consideration be recognized and the hoodlum element be suppressed better than this year. Fun and frolic are not to be criticized but the conditions of Monday night cannot be condoned under any pretext.

The Gas Office will be open every evening, from 7 to 9, during the special stove sale. Stoves can be delivered, and connected the same day purchase is made.

NIAGARA PEOPLE PURCHASE POWER

Immense Interests Purchase Salmon River Falls—Property and Water Rights Included—May Develope Tremendous Power.

Interests identified with the Niagara & Lockport Transmission company last week made a deal with C. A. Lux and W. P. Gannon of Syracuse, whereby the company acquired control of the Salmon river falls water power project. This is one of the largest transactions of the kind that has taken place in years.

It is understood that the negotiations were comprehensive enough to cover all of the property and water rights necessary for the development of a large hydro-electric plant, to be located near Salmon River Falls. Salmon river has its source in the foothills of the Adirondacks and empties into Lake Ontario.

Messrs. Lux and Gannon formed what is known as the Oswego Light and Power company, which has authority from the Public Service commission of the State of New York to issue $10,000,000 stock and $4,000,000 bonds, the proceeds to be used in the project, and just as this company was about to take over a large amount of property and commence the construction of the plant, the Niagara company took up negotiations with Mr. Gannon and Mr. Lux for all the interests of the latter.

The consideration price to Messrs. Lux and Gannon is not made public, and upon being interviewed upon the subject Mr. Gannon stated that he did not care to discuss that feature of the transaction.

About 1902 Mr. Lux took an option on the Falls property, intending to use it for manufacturing purposes, and shortly thereafter Mr. Gannon became interested with him and it was determined that with the use of a reservoir a large hydro-electric development was possible. They immediately undertook the acquisition and control of nearly 10,000 acres of land, covering all the territory between Salmon River Falls and Redfield. They placed a large corps of hydraulic and other engineers upon the property, and engineering work has practically continued during the whole period of that time.

It was determined to make an artificial lake about eight miles in length and from one to one and a half miles wide, and to construct a large dam near the falls. The reservoir will have a capacity of nearly 4,000,000,000 cubic feet of water.

Salmon river was once talked of as a suitable source for the city supply of water for Syracuse, and now it may furnish electric power for Syracuse and Central New York. In view of the present policy of the State of New York to own and control all of the larger water powers in the State, this may be the last to be developed by private capital.

THE WEEK

The best development of the business situation at the opening of the scond half of the year is the marked improvement in the iron and steel trade, in which there is a decided increase in confidence and a considerable expansion in actual output. In view of the important relations which this great trade bears to all the business interests of the country, both industrial and agricultural, this improvement is significant of a distinct change for the better all around. The condition of the country certainly can be described as sound, when its steel trade is beginning to expand, when the export commerce is creating a big surplus in favor of the United States, when the big gold output continues, when money is plentiful, when industrial production is being held to the limits of the consumptive demand, when stocks of merchandise are low on the shelves, when economy, personal and corporate, has been long practised and when many of the issues which have been perplexing business men and retarding enterprise are past. The second half of the year opens therefore with a better outlook for a gradually expending trade activity, provided the crops turn out well. There has undoubtedly been more or less deterioration in wheat and other large crops by reason of deficient moisture, but damage is always liable to be exaggerated, and the crop situation has been greatly benefited by recent heavy and much needed rains. Outside the improvement noted in iron and steel, however, the movement in trade continues very slow, with curtailment of production still the main feature in dry goods. Bank clearings outside of Nwe York this week show a falling off of 1.2 per cent. from 1910 and a gain of 3.9 per cent. over 1909; in New York decreases of 9.5 and 11.8 per cent. respectively, are reported. Railroad earnings during three weeks of June decreased 3.8 per cent. Interest and dividend disbursements of over $233,600,000, a large gain over a year ago, are due in July, a fact of large interest to the reviving investment market, as part of these disbursements seek reinvestment. The financial outlook is generally cherful. The shoe trade is unsettled, but leather is quite active, though hides continue high. The grocery trade is reported in fair condition. Commercial failures during the first half of the year were more numerous than in the first half of 1910, but show a considerable decrease in aggregate liabilities, especially in the Middle States. Foreign commerce at New York in the latest week aggregated $27,915,470, against $30,07,7045 in 1910 and $27,623,327 in 1909. The imports were $15,586,203, being $3,257,136 in excess of the exports.

Current improvement in iron and steel is not confined to any single branch of the trade nor to any particular center, but has become general in its scope, and mills and furnaces are steadily enlarging their scale of operations. It is now estimated that the leading producer has 68 per cent. of its steel ingot capacity active against only 58 per cent. a month ago, this expansion being due in considerable measure to the increased volume of business at Chicago. Pittsburg has also shared in the recent revival, and while actual production shows but slight increase and pig iron remains rather dull, inquiries are more numerous, structural material is more active and the plate market is better. Growing confidence in the future is confirmed by the slowly increasing coke production. Activity is pronounced in export steel with tonnage exceeding last year's.

Emphasis is now given in the primary markets for dry goods to the volume of curtailment at mills; many of the larger producers will close for a week or ten day and the restriction of production will clos for a week or ten days and the restriction of production will be formidable. The very limited stocks of merchandise in first hands continue to attract unusual attention from merchants and manufacturers. Jobbers and selling agents expect in July much improvement over June because of the certainty that many of the larger buyers will be in the primary markets looking for needed supplies. Tariff agitation has had an adverse affect on trading in wool, but mill buyers are beginning to arrive in the New England market and there are indications of a resumption of activity.

Manufacturers of footwear are not regularly employed, some running full capacity, while others are curtailing production. The many innovations in the market are causing these unsettled conditions. The leather situation is healthy; tanners are firm and quote full prices. The demand is mainly for current requirements, with no large individual sales, but it is well diversified and in the aggregate amounts to a considerable quantity. Tanners continue to trade conservatively in hides on the present high basis, but dealers have operated extensively of late in packer native steers, and further advances of 1-4c. have been secured for late June and July take-off ahead. The foreign hide markets continue very strong and sharp advances have occurred in common varieties of dry hides. Calfskins, both foreign and domestic, are on a very high basis.

Needed rains have improved spring wheat prospects, although sensational reports of damage are by no means absent. Sentiment remains bearish, however, as new wheat is being marketed earlier than usual, but prices frequently exhibit strength because of purely technical conditions. Western receipts of 2,500,478 bushels compared with 2,547,629 last year, while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 1,166,746 bushels against 722,816 in 1910. Corn and oats attract increased attention in response to stories of serious injury through deficient moisture, although beneficial rains have recently fallen. Arrivals of 4,025,145 bushels of corn at primary points exceed the 2,984,204 reported a 'year ago, while Atlantic coast exports were 428,431 bushels, against only 79,295 in 1910. Cotton prices are depressed by the better crop outlook resulting from rains in many sections of the belt.

Liabilities of commercial failures for June to date amount to $11,960,597, of which $6,928,168 were in manufacturing, $4,527,094 in trading and $506,335 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 264 in the United States against 222 last year, and 23 in Canada compared with 19 a year ago.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

"The Man From Mexico."

For the sixth week of their engagement at the Empire Theatre the Empire Stock company commencing next Monday night with the usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, will present another of Willie Collier's great successes, "The Man From Mexico." Those who witnessed this company's production of the other Collier play, "Caught in the Rain" will find equal enjoyment in "The Man From Mexico." It is an uproariously funny farce comedy of lively humor and tells the story of a droll married man who inadvertantly gets into trouble and a prison cell, and in order to get away from the stigma, and not let his wife know of his disgrace, he pretends that he has ben on a trip to Mexico.

When his wife hears of his returning, in honor of the occasion, she gives a Mexican reception, trims the house a la Mexican, and dresses the family in the same manner, herself learning a Mexican dance wherewith to regale him. The scenes in the prison and in the home where everything is made as Mexican as possible are funny in the extreme, and the hilarious style of the play is just what the Empire company have been found so delightful in. Mr. Kelgard will have the role of Benjamin Fitzhugh originally played by Willie Collier; Miss Frenyear will be his wife, Clementina Fitzhugh; Mr. Joy will be seen as the warden of the prison whose tastes run more to art and music than to runing a jail and the balance of the company will be seen in the other various roles and do their full share toward the fun-making. To go into the details of the plot would be to spoil many of the surprises of this delightful farce. It should not be missed by any lover of good clean fun.

STORK ARRIVES FOR THE TWENTY-SECOND TIME

Scranton, Pa., June 21.—There is great joy at the home of John Herman of Inkerman near here, over the arrival of the stork for the twenty-second time yesterday. Sixteen of the Herman children are living. Herman is a miner and is fifty-three years old while his wife is three years his junior.

BEGGARS OF LONDON.

Many of Them Partial to the Hired Sickly Infant Scheme.

There is no city in Europe, according to an American citizen who has returned from a business trip to England, where there may be seen so many beggars in the streets as in the British metropolis, says the Washington Herald.

"These beggars—'halt, blind, maimed'—come for the most part from the 'beggars' colony,' the most lawless district in all London. It is hidden in the haze of mean streets in the borough of Kensington and is called Notthgdale.

"These 'tale pitchers,' as they call themselves, are men and women who hire starved looking children by the day to enlist the sympathy of the benevolent. There are 'old soldiers' and 'sailors,' with bogus beards, and records complete; there are 'shabby genteel' men in tattered frock coats and carefully brushed broken boots, who talk of 'college days;' there are the musical beggars, who live by singing; there are the begging letter writers, and, finally, there are the beggars who solicit under the pretext of offering matches, collar buttons or shoe strings for sale.

"A 'tale pitcher' who knows the ropes can hire a sickly infant at the rate of about 12 cents a day. An unusually wretched looking infant will be dearer, but a whole family of neglected mites can be borrowed for 50 cents and 'no questions asked.' Many of these professional beggars make as much as $4 a day."

WALTON'S FAST.

The "Plunger" Did Even More Than the Doctor Suggested.

Race track lovers of some years ago all knew "Plunger" Walton—Francis Theodore Walton, as he was christened. Everything that Walton did he did as thoroughly as he plunged on the races. This habit was illustrated by his famous fast. Rheumatism caused him considerable suffering for years. Across the street from him lived a doctor, who said one day:

"Walton, you eat too much. That's what's the matter with you. Do as I say and you will cure your rheumatism. Don't let food tempt you so much. Just taper off your meals, and don't eat except when you really feel like it."

Some time passed before the two men met again. The physician inquired what results followed from heeding his directions. He listened thunderstruck to the following report:

"That advice of yours sounded easy, and I didn't eat a morsel for twenty-one days. No, sir; not a single particle of food passed my lips. Every hour that I was awake I did drink a glass of water. I suffered no great pangs of hunger. I was comfortable and had a good time. It was my wife's anxiety that made me break my fast. She got the notion that I was losing weight too fast. You see, I once weighed 285 pounds. When I began the fast I weighed 246. At the end of twenty-one days I weighed an even 200. Your advice was all right."—New York Tribune.

A Coral Pipe.

While a United States warship was off Barbados a few years ago a sailor who was amusing himself fishing for sharks brought up from the depths a long "churchwarden" pipe that, evidently had been lying at the bottom of the sea for a hundred years or more. It was unbroken and had either been accidentally dropped overboard or washed out of some old wreck. The coral insects had seized upon it and covered the long stem with delicate, lacelike branches and the bowl with fine "vermicelli" work. So completely was it concealed with the coral coating that it was impossible to determine the original material of the pipe. Oddly enough, the inside of the bowl had been left untouched and still showed the stains of fire and nicotine.—New York Press.

Hope.

Hope is anticipation. It is an inherent feeling in mankind and a divine provision for the sustentation of interest in life. Hope is a chord which strikes pleasant desires for the future; it is every one's sunshine, the rainbow in the storm, the silver lining to the present cloud, a star set in the firmament of our lives, to brighten, lighten and cheer the way and differs in magnitude and brightness according to occasion. Hope is an antidote of misery, a cordial for the desponding and a chain with many links.—Nellie E. Mate.

Patience.

There's no music in a "rest," that I know of, but there's the making of music in it. And people are always missing that part of the life melody, always talking of perseverance and courage and fortitude, but patience is the finest and worthiest part of fortitude, and the rarest too.—Ruskin.

Doing It Right.

"But, my dear, if I buy you this gown it will put me $50 in debt."

"Only $50! If you are going in debt why not go in like a gentleman and make it a hundred?"—Fliegende Blatter.

The White Woman's Burden.

Of course men have a lot of small worries, but they don't have to carry a chamois skin and a little satchel around with them wherever they go.—Galveston News.

I've never any pity for conceited people, because they carry their comfort about with them.—George Eliot.

Mr. Bryan, a bit peevish at the turn of events, declares that it is his sacred duty to advise the democratic party, which unregenerate organization regards it as a constitutional privilege to disregard his advice.

From the Stokes shooting episode in New York we infer that the women in the metropolis carry pistols in their hand bags to be used in hypnotizing men if the powder fails.

Vice is a monster of so frightful a mien that to be hated needs but to be seen, but seen too oft, where license runs unchecked, police endure, then pity, then protect.

About every time the Democrats do something that seems to them sensible, they find they have displeased their three-time presidential candidate.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon,

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Mercate to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated at Fulton, New York, this 17th day of May, 1911.

DEAN BAILEY OF CORNELL RESIGNS

Ithaca, N. Y., June 29.—Liberty H. Bailey, dean of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell, has tendered his resignation and will retire as soon as the trustees can determine who shall succeed him. Dean Bailey has been connected with Cornell University for more than a score of years and for the past seven years has been dean of the agricultural college. He will devote his time to bringing out new editions of his various works on agriculture and allied studies and to his editorial duties in connection with a new pomological journal he recently started. Dean Bailey headed the Roosevelt "uplift commission."

ONE TOO MANY

The following is told at the expense of a New York literary man, into whose family a fifth child came last summer.

The family were at their country house in the north of the State, and for a time much of the care of the other four children devolved upon the father, who entertains some Spartan notions touching the rearing of his sons.

One morning he carried his three-year-old to the creek near his home, to give him a cold plunge. The lad objected vigorously to this proceeding but was firmly held and ducked, despite his protests.

Just as the father was "sending in" the youngster for the second time, a powerful hand stayed him, and he found himself in the grasp of a big farmer, a neighbor of his, who began to roar at him in this wise:

"None o' that! None o' that, or I'll hand you over to the law."

It consumed the better part of half an hour to convince the farmer that no attempt was being made to drown the child. Even at the end, the brawny tiller of the soil was not entirely convinced, for he kept shaking his hand doubtfully and murmuring:

"I dunno about that, I dunno. You got four besides this."

BOARDING HOUSE FOR WORKING WOMEN IN FULTON

(Mexico Independent).

Mention was made in this paper last week of a new boarding house just established in Fulton. It is a deplored fact that many girls in factories and as shop girls do not make a living wage, it is nearly all consumed for board, lodging and laundry, yet a young woman must dress neatly and up to date, especially if she stands behind a counter. So many girls find after they are clothed there is not sufficient for board and either are poorly nourished or more easily led into temptation.

In view of these conditions the W. C. T. U. women of Fulton have already leased a house with nine sleeping rooms; two large parlors will be comfortably furnished that the young women may have a place for receving their company instead of on the street. A matron is engaged and a few women have already availed themselves of the well cooked and sufficient food at only $2.50 per week. It may be some time before this house will be self-supporting. The W. C. T. U. of Oswego County take a keen interest in this work and are helping and will continue to help, and hope all philanthropic people will also aid. Already $12.50 has been raised, among the W. C. T. U. and friends and now it is desired to send house-hold furnishings of all kinds. Table linen, bedding and toilet articles are especially solicited. Remember every little helps, if nothing more than a towel. Now, good people, look over your stores, or cast about in your mind, what you can spare, and as soon as possible carry the articles to the shop of R. A. Orvis. Sums of money will be thankfully received.

MR. GARDNER'S FINE WORK

Passes Recent Examination on Agricultural Subject

School Commissioner W. S. Gardner of Volney, has received a notice from the State Education Department that he was successful in the examination on the agricultural course and teaching same, held at the Normal school, Oswego, May 2. Mr. Gardner's rating was 91 per cent. while that necessary to pass is but 75 per cent.

The appointment of school superintendents in the five new districts of the county will be made early in August by the school directors elected last fall.—Oswego Times.

HIS SUBSTITUTE

A well-known revivalist whose work has been principally among the negroes of a certain section of the South remembers one service conducted by him that was not entirely successful. He had had very poor attendance, and spent much time in questioning the darkies as to their reason for not attending.

"Why were you not at our revival?" he asked one old man, whom he encountered on the road.

"Oh, I dunno," said the backward one.

"Don't you ever pray?" demanded the preacher.

The old man shook his head. "No," said he; "I carries a rabbit's foot."

Ely's Cream Balm has been tried and not found wanting in thousands of homes all over the country. It has won a place in the family medicine closet among the reliable household remedies, where it is kept at hand for use in treating cold in the head just as soon as some member of the household begins the preliminary sneezing or snuffling. It gives immediate relief and a day or two's treatment will put a stop to a cold which might, if not checked, become chronic and run into a bad case of catarrh.

THE ABSENT-MINDED PROFESSOR

A college professor who is very absentminded got on a crowded electric car not long ago, and had to stand up. As the conductor came to take his fare, the professor suddenly perceived a well-known society woman of his acquaintance. He at once put his hand into his pocket, took out a nickel, and handed it nonchalantly to the woman, then, turning he made an elaborate bow and shook hands cordially with the conductor.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

Commencing with the performance next Monday evening with the usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, the Empire Stock Company will enter upon another successful week when thye will present for the first time here in stock Sol Smith Russell's beautiful play "Peaceful Valley." Like all of Mr. Russell's plays it is full of quaint, dry humor and interesting situations is so pronounced, that the play is with two distinct love stories running through it. The heart interest necessity must have been the big success it was. It is laid in three acts in the White Mountains in New Hampshire, giving the scenic artist a chance to display some beautiful sets.

The first act shows Ayr Top House where Hosea is employed as a waiter, using this means to acquire funds for the completion of his college course.

There comes to the hotel a Mr. Rand with his son Charlie and daughter Virgie; also one Jack Farquhar and sister Niobe; also one who has been mixed up in shady transactions with Mr. Rand, a Mr. Ward Andrews.

Several years before the opening of the play, Hosea's sister has been lured from her home through the machinations of Andrews and has been engulfed in the life of New York city. Hosea told his mother that she was married and lived in the big city, and it had always been his ambition to go to New York to find her. During the first act, he saves Virgie Rand from the insults of this man, Andrews, which he proceeded to do by knocking him off the hotel porch and down into the yard of his mother who lives on the farm in the valley below. Virgie immediately becomes interested in the young man, and he proceeds to fall in love with her but realizes the gulf that separates them. Immediately after his encounter withA ndrews he is forced to relinquish his position at the hotel. Through the kindness of Virgie and her brother, he is given an opportunity to go to New York and there secures a position which eventually puts him in a position to ask for Virgie's hand. Through Virgie's efforts, Hosea's sister is found and the curtain falls on a re-united and happy family.

Mr. Kellard will appear as Hosea Howe, the role originally played by Sol Smith Russell; Miss Prenyear will be Virgie Rand; Mr. Stanley will portray Mr. Rand; Mr. Joy will be the rascally Ward Andrews; Miss Edney will be Mrs. Howe. Miss Walsh will be Niobe Farquhar and the balance of the company will have good roles.

A SURE TEST

They were sitting on the bathing-beach at the summer resort. He was very bashful, and he had let countless opportunities slip by.

"Isn't this sand wonderful?" he said, after a moment's lull in the conversation.

"Wonderful!" she replied. "And just think, there's so much here going to waste when so many people need some in their systems!"

Then he caught on—and caught up. —July Lippincott's.

BOB BURDETTES' ASIDE

PERFUMED FRUIT.

Five Fingered Oranges Smell Sweet but Are Not Good to Eat.

A most weird looking fruit is the five fingered orange. It grows in exactly the shape of a half open hand. Even the nails are identical, hard pointed and claw-like, tipping the orange flowers with a length equal, in some cases, to three inches.

It is no freak but a proper kind of orange, belonging to a special variety. The tree itself is a rugged little shrub that does not average more than five or six feet in height in its native home, Japan. It does not grow straight, as the ordinary orange tree should, but is curved in all directions.

Even the branches grow in spiral or twisted forms, so that the width of the tree is often greater than the height. The fruit itself is of a pale yellow color, of a pure lemon hue, growing greenish toward the stem. The size is immense, considering the smallness of the tree, the largest ones measuring when mature fully ten inches from the wrist to the point of the middle finger, including the nail.

But the fruit is not good to eat, though what it lacks in flavor it more than makes good in perfume. Perhaps the strangest thing about this perfume is that it is the fruit and not the flower that is odorous.—Pearson's Weekly.

THE SHORTEST SPEECH.

It Was Delivered by Caesar and Consisted of a Single Word.

Julius Caesar holds the record for brevity of convincing speech.

The story is told that while Caesar was in the midst of his struggle for the mastery of the Roman empire the soldiers of his favorite Tenth legion mutinied. He appeared before them, and, uttering the one word "Quirites," paused.

That word means, of course, "citizens," but to the veterans to whom it was addressed it meant a great deal more. It was the special term used in addressing Roman voters assembled in a purely civic capacity, not as soldiers, but as civilians.

To the mutinous soldiers it meant that the great commander, whom they had followed for ten long years from the Alps to the Thames and from the Rhine to the Pyrenees and across the Rubicon, disowned them as soldiers and dismissed them from his victorious service.

Realizing its meaning, the story goes, the mutineers were appalled. Battle scarred veterans burst into tears, implored their leader to pardon them and inflicted summary punishment upon the inciters of the mutiny as a proof of their repentance.

The Term Philosopher.

The word "philosopher" is said to have originated with the celebrated Pythagoras, who was born about 570 B. C. The word means a lover of wisdom. Pythagoras must have been a very remarkable man, for it is certain that he made a profound and lasting impression upon his time. He was the originator of the idea that nature is a harmony and that its varied phenomena are all brought about by unerring and universal laws and are an expression of nothing less than the universe itself. True to the name he gave himself, Pythagoras is said to have devoted his whole life to the acquisition of knowledge to the end that he might impart it to others without money and without price. He was one of the noble influences of antiquity, and the effects of his unselfish labors are still visible among men.—Exchange.

A Quaint Introduction.

Clarence King, the ethnologist, once wrote from San Francisco to John Hay the following letter of introduction: "My Dear John—My friend, Horace F. Cutter, in the next geological period will go east. It would be a catastrophe if he did not know you. You will 'swarm in,' as the Germans say, when you meet. Lest I should not be there to expose Mr. Cutter's alias I take this opportunity to divulge to you that the police are divided in opinion as to whether he is Socrates or Don Quixote. I know better; he is both."

The Macgregors.

The Macgregors were forbidden to use their family name in 1603. The proscription was removed by Charles II., only to be inflicted again in the reign of William and Mary. It was not till 1822 that a royal license to use the name was granted to Sir Charles Macgregor, up to then known as "Murray." In the early years of the seventeenth century every man's hand was raised against this persecuted race and they could be mutilated and slain with impunity.—London Spectator.

A Turkish Riddle.

Here is an old Turkish riddle which has been handed down for many centuries and yet has never been answered: "There was once a beggar who always dreamed he was a pasha and there was a pasha who always dreamed he was a beggar. Which was the happier?"

All Have Troubles.

"Everybody worries about money."

"Oh, I don't know. Some men are so rich"—

"That's just it. Poor men worry because they can't get money, and the rich man worries for fear that it will get away from him."—Philadelphia Ledger.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 5, 1911.

CORRESPONENCE

Editor Times: I wish all the home people might have seen the sight I saw on Saturday, June 17. 3,500 sailors from the Pacific fleet seated at the table at one time and over six hundred ladies and half as many men to serve them. The park here is much of it in the natural condition of hills and canyons. It covers 1,040 acres in the heart of the city and was given many years ago for a permanent park. At this time much has been done to add to nature's charm and much is planned that it will take years to complete. It is in this park that the proposed exposition of 1915 will be held. The survey has taken months to complete and now the ground breaking celebration, July 17, 18, 19 and 20, is under preparation. Immense tents have been erected and the many floats for the parades on these four days are all under construction. In this celebration the sailors and soldiers will take a prominent part.

I have told you now of the location of our big events, let me tell you something more about that big dinner of Saturday. There are 8,000 sailors and marines here when all of the boats, big and little are in the bay and it costs the United States Government $14,000 a day for maintenance. This does not include the pay roll or repairs of any kind. This money is all paid into this city besides this the 8,000 men spend a good share of their pay every month in the city. For this reason it is desirable to treat the members of the fleet in such a way that they will still hold San Diego as their main port. A committee of the Chamber of Commerce decided to give the boys a regular field day of their own as there is always plenty of rivalry between crews from the different boats of each class, as well as between the classes. It was also decided to ask the wholesale dealers to provide the material for this big dinner. The large packing houses giving ten whole beefs. The building of a big brick oven and baking the meat on the ground was decided upon in this big park. Tables and seats were built; serving tables and gas piped to each serving table so that the coffee could be made there and be hot and fresh. The ladies of the city, mostly from the churches, were asked to serve and to provide the flowers, the pies and the cakes for their table. The ladies of the First Presbyterian church took one of the ten sections to provide and care for. This gave us a table 350 feet long but arranged in a hollow square with a serving table in the center. Our section of table was 120 feet long and 5 feet 4 wide. The aggregate of tables if put end to end would have made nearly 3-4 of a mile. Paper plates and tin cups like the army use made dish washing as small as possible. Our table had a fine green vine running the whole length then there were ten boats of white flowers with fine green running from bow to stern up over the two masts with a tiny silk flag on each mast. Between the boats were large stars made of scarlet flowers and on each napkin was a scarlet and a white carnation. I wish I could give you the list of provisions used on our section and you must remember there were ten of these sections. We had five quarters of beef, a half a cheese, a large keg of pickles, gallons of olives, 15 lbs. of coffee, bread by the wagon load. Spring water by the case cigars by the dozen boxes, 30 lb. bricks of butter, sugar by the original package, ice cream enough for every body and it was dipped with a ten cent dipper too, and by the leading banker in town, I had asked for 75 ladies, 100 home made pies and sixty home made cakes and they responded with everything we needed. The sports were in the morning and dinner at 2 p. m. It was an inspiring sight to see all these men in uniform standing on both sides of that 3-4 mile of loaded tables each in his place and all hats off while the marine band played the Star Spangled Banner. This was their "grace" before dinner. At its close the order was given to cover and then to be seated. This was accomplished in less than one minute and in less time than that the ladies were busy serving. At the close of the last course, which was fruit, some one suggested three cheers for the ladies and it was given with a will, then it was taken up from table to table till the whole air vibrated with the sound and even the band could not be heard. With kindly wishes for all friends in Fulton.

FIGHT WITH SERIOUS ENDING

Over the manual of arms, John Perkins, a Canadian painter living in Fulton, and John Meaghan, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, came to blows in a saloon on Thursday. The belligerents were ordered out of the saloon and went to a vacant lot near the Mason Brothers storehouse where they could fight to a finish. As a result Perkins has been committed to the Oswego jail for five months to await the action of the Grand Jury and Meeghan is in the Lee Memorial hospital in a very critical condition from the beating up he received. Coroner H. P. Marsh on Tuesday took his antemortem statement as his recovery is not expected.

Meaghan was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, Dr. Cusack finding it necessary to take several stitches in a cut on his lip, and he suffered greatly from an injury to his jaw. He remained in an unconscious condition for several days, not yet having recovered his normal condition of mind.

DEATHS

The remains of Mrs. Emma Buell, widow of the late Birney Buell, were brought to this city from Auburn on Friday for interment in Mt. Adnah.

Mrs. Patience Huntley, aged 99, a half century resident of Fulton, died on Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Stewart in West Fifth street. The funeral services will be arranged later.

The body of G. G. Gutman, formerly of this city, were brought here from Fort Edward, on Saturday for interment in Mt. Adnah. The deceased was a member of Hiram Lodge F. & A. M., and the Masonic burial services were held in the Case Memorial chapel.

Mrs. Rose Mehegan, aged 77, a resident of Fulton for 20 years, passed to rest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Follan, on Tuesday morning. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed. The immediate survivors are three sons, Daniel, James F., and Joseph P. Mehegan, and by a daughter, Mrs. Follan, all of Fulton.

The death of James W. K. Loomis aged 84, and for half a century a resident of Palermo, occurred on Monday at his home. He is survived by a widow and five sons, Carlton J. Loomis of Portage City, Wis.; Albert Loomis of Lewiston, Mjun.; Victor Loomis of Oneida, Earl Loomis of Volney and Arthur H. Loomis of Palermo. No funeral arrangements have been made.

The death of John Dunsmore, aged 87, one of the oldest residents of this city, occurred at the home in Highland street on Monday morning. The funeral services will be held from the late home this Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will be made in Mt. Adnah. The deceased is survived by his widow, two sons, Alpheus and Charles, Syracuse; and one daughter, Mrs. Manley Hall, of this city.

After a lingering illness with dropsy, Mrs. Virgil Rowlee, aged 62, died at the family home in Volney on Sunday night. The funeral services will be held from the late home this Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock and from Mt. Pleasant church at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in Mt. Pleasant. The immediate survivors are her husband, two sons, Earl and Ernest of Volney; one sister, Mrs. James Pierson of Volney and one brother, Orlando Cole.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our husband and father; especially to the Brotherhood of the First Methodist Episcopal church and to all those who gave flowers.

TOMBS OF SAND.

Cape Cod's Treacherous Shoals and the Prey They Grip.

Secrets of the sands of Cape Cod are constantly being disclosed by the sea. In the many storm tides that flood the desolate beaches the hulks of staunch ships lost along the coast on the half hundred miles of beaches between Monomoy at Chatham and Wood End at Provincetown are frequently exhumed from tombs of sand.

Sometimes a wreck appears that has been buried a century or more, as in the case a few years ago of the bones of the British frigate Somerset, whose timbers of oak were disclosed to view back of Provincetown, near the life saving station in Dead Man's Hollow. The Somerset was lost on Peaked Hill bars Nov. 2 or 3, 1778.

Once a vessel is gripped by the sands the process of entombing her goes on with great rapidity, the craft appearing to sink steadily in the yielding beach. All around the doomed vessel the sand piles up in great drifts, like snow. Every crevice of the hull is quickly filled. The sand rises in a solid barrier outside it and flows about it as the tides flood the shelving beaches. Finally it sweeps over the wreck, and the process of entombing goes on until the entombed craft is covered many feet deep.—Boston Globe.

SURE TO BE MISSED.

A Famous Cook's Lament on the Death of His Royal Master.

The most successful book that was published by William Harrison Ainsworth during his first year of business, says Mr. S. M. Ellis in his biography of the English author and publisher, was a cookbook. It was "The French Cook," by Louis Eustache Ude, "the Gil Blas of the kitchen."

This unique study of the culinary art brought in a handsome sum to the astute young publisher who had purchased the copyright, and the book was in the hands of every gourmet in London.

Ude had been chef of Louis XVI., of Mme. Letizia Bonaparte and then of the Earl of Sefton, at a salary of 300 guineas a year. At another time he presided over the culinary department of the Crockfords, but his favorite master was Frederick, duke of York. When the royal gormand died his bereaved chef pathetically ejaculated: "Ah, mon pauvre duc, how much you will miss me, wherever you are gone to!"

Odd Word Survivals.

Far away back in the days when the English language was in its infancy there were poets who wrote of the blossoms on the trees in the spring. They didn't write "blossom," however, but used the word "blow" and made it rhyme with snow and flow. When they wished to sing of the beautiful mass of apple or hawthorn flowers they called it the "blowth." This word is found in the dictionaries, which assert that it is obsolete, but it is very much alive in Rockingham county, N. H., and York county, Me. The orchardist thereabout speaks of a "full blowth" or "light blowth" on his trees in May and predicts a good or poor "set" of the fruit in consequence. "Orts" are supposed to be refuse of some kind, but in the valley where the Piscataqua river mingles with the sea "orts" is the name for "swill."—Exchange.

Tricking the Bobby.

A Dublin eccentric a short time ago entered a purveyor's shop and bought a ham. Having paid for his purchase, he requested that it should be hung outside the shop door, saying that he would call back for it. The customer then paced up and down outside the shop till a policeman came in sight, and just as the man in blue caught his eye he grabbed the ham and bolted. The constable, however, soon collared the thief, as he thought, and hauled him back to the shop. Having explained the nature of the alleged crime to the shop assistant, he asked the latter to charge the offender.

"But," said the assistant as he realized the joke, "it's his own ham. He was quite at liberty to take it in any circumstances he chose."—London Answers.

Weatherwise Birds and Fish.

The seagull makes a splendid living barometer. If a covey of seagulls fly seaward early in the morning sailors and fishermen know that the day will be fine and the wind fair, but if the birds keep inland, though there be no haze hanging out toward the sea to denote unpleasant weather, interested folk know that the elements will be unfavorable. Of all weatherwise fish the dolphin is the most remarkable. During a fierce gale or a storm at sea the mariner knows that the end of it is near if he can see a dolphin or a number of that fish sporting on the high sea waves.

Faith Destroyed.

"I'll never believe in phrenology again."

"Why?"

"We had a phrenologist in our house the other night and got him to feel the cook's head. He said her bump of destruction was small."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Easy.

"Women," remarked the grocer, "are not hard to please."

"So?" interrogated the bachelor.

"Yes," continued the grocer. "All you have to do is to let them have their own way."—Chicago News.

MANY ACCIDENTS RECORDED

Oswego County has sustained its full quota of accidents during the past week, some having proved fatal and others fore or less trifling. Among the number were:

The death of Alfred S. Curtis, an aged resident of Palermo who fell from a wagon early Friday morning.

Coroner Vowinkle learned that Mr. Curtis and his son, Samuel L left home about 7 o'clock to draw a load of barbed wire for use on his property. Mr. Curtis was seated on a potato crate driving. The horse and wagon stopped to unload some barbed wire and Mr. Curtis retained his seat. Just thne two men approached and Mr. Curtis waved at them. In doing so the crate slipped and Mr. Curtis losing his balance, fell to the ground, striking on his head. He was rendered unconscious, and despite the effects of Dr. Green, who had been called died without recovering consciousness. Coroner Vowinkle decided that death was caused by concussion of the brain. Mr. Curtis was a well known farmer and was 71 years old. His widow, two sons, Samuel and Pearl A., and foud daughters, Mrs. E. L. Holbrook, Mrs. Eugene Burton, Mrs. Fred Bartlette and Miss Josie Curtis, all of Palermo, survive.

Clarence, the eight-year-old son of William Burton of Pulaski was seriously injured by the explosion of a railroad torpedo. The father, a railroad man, left the torpedo in the house and the boy found it. He placed it on the concrete sidewalk in front of the Baptist church and hit it with a stone. A piece of the tin casing entered the boy's face over the eye and his cheek and legs were badly lacerated.

The two oldest sons of William Munger of West Monroe, both bright and promising, were drowned Tuesday afternoon while bathing in the west branch of Scriba Creek. The bodies were recovered shortly after by neighbors.

While driving through Salina street Thursday noon Mr. DeLong, a farmer living near Mexico, his wife and their infant son had a strenuous time of it. Their horse became frightened at a motorcycle and ran away. Mr. DeLong jumped and made an unsuccessful attempt to reach the bridle. Mrs. DeLong, fearing for the safety of the child, gently dropped it over the rear end of the buggy, but retained her seat. The horse turned into the driveway at the residence of George D. Lindo, colliding with a tree and overturning the rig, pinioning the woman beneath it. The child was taken to the residence of Mr. Lindo. Both escaped with slight bruises and scratches. The buggy was wrecked.

William Bun and Frederick Forester, of Selkirk Beach, had a narrow escape from drowning Friday afternoon while on Lake Ontario and about two miles from shore. One of them in changing his position overturned the rowboat. It was with difficulty that they reached the overturned boat. Bunn, by reason of his having but one arm, having a severe time in retaining his hold upon the craft and would have gone down had it not been for the heroic work of his companion. After struggling for an hour or two the men had almost become exhausted when their predicament was discovered at the beach and the alarm given. Alonzo and Henry Morton put out in a rowboat, quickly followed by William Morton, who reached them just in time, both men being on the point of going down, their strength having failed them. It was with difficulty that they were placed in the boats. They were finally taken to the homes and received medical attendance.

DEATH IN ROARING FIRE

May not result from the work of firebugs, but often severe burns are caused that make a quick need for Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the quickest, surest cure for burns, wounds, bruises, boils, sores. It subdues inflammation. It kills pain. It soothes and heals. Drives off skin eruptions, ulcers or piles. Only 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

CANNOT LOCATE BURGLARS

Thus far the Oswego police officials have not been able to locate the burglars who looted the Cohen pawn shop in Oswego ten days ago, but that the rascals made good their escape and with the goods has been proven by the fact that they pawned a number of articles in Syracuse the day after the robbery.

Count that day lost whose low descending sun sees not some swatting of the fly pest done.

A bride may not be so rare as a day in June, but she is quite as radiant.

1,000 POSTAL BANKS NOW

All Designated, With 400 Already in Operation.

Washington, July 3.—One thousand postal savings depositories were designated by the postoffice department during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1911, according to a statement made public by Postmaster General Hitchcock.

Four hundred of these banks are in actual operation and the entire thousand will be receiving deposits within a few weeks.

Because of the great foreign population, more depositories were established in Pennsylvania than in any other state, the total number being fifty-eight.

Mr. Hitchcock says the interest in the system continues to grow, the receipts at many of the offices recently opened being heavy, particularly so in the far west.

HAVE UNTIL AUGUST FIRST

Mayor Fieglboons sent a letter to the New York Telephone Company to give them until August 1 to remove all wires not over twenty feet from the ground, as provided by law. If the conditions are not remedied, the Mayor in his letter says, drastic steps will be taken to enforce the ordinance.—Oswego Times.

Mr. F. L. Sears has a penny he does not intend to spend. Eleven years ago when the lower bridge was in process of construction, Mr Sears placed a penny under a brick in the roadway. On Friday morning as the workmen were engaged in taking up the brick preparatory to laying the trolley rails, Mr. Sears was on the lookout and found his penny where he had left it years ago, and in as good condition as when placed.

Earl S. Brown has leased the first floor and basement of the old Savings bank building, which is now owned by A. DeBarber, and will fit it up into modern undertaking parlors. He expects to occupy the place as soon as it is completed and will continue his furniture business at 11 Oneida street as heretofore.

EDUCATING THE BOYS.

New York State Fair Commission Plans Course of Study.

The New York state grange is co-operating with Commissioner Pearsoll of the department of agriculture in a very important matter relating to farm boys. The commissioner proposes to have 100 boys visit the state fair at Syracuse in order that they may learn by practical observation many things their farm boys should know and yet perhaps do not know. The plan is to select boys from fifteen to nineteen years of age from each county in the state, boys who are living on farms, to the number of not more than 100, who shall attend the state fair during the entire week. The boys pay their own expenses, and if they comply with all the regulations then the expenses will be refunded. Their sleeping places and meals will be furnished free, but each boy is to take the necessary bedding. A competent person will be in charge of the boys at all times. A lecture each day will be given to the entire company. The boys will attend in squads, and they will assist in turn at the fair morning or afternoon and the balance of the time will be theirs. They may assist in the stock judging rings, in the live stock parade, ticket taking, etc. After the boys have returned home any one may write an essay of not over 1,000 words and submit the same for prizes, the best four to receive a pair of calves each (all of the same breed), next best four to receive a pair of sheep each, next four to receive a pair of hogs each, the next best four to receive one bushel of seed corn each, the next best four to receive one-half bushel of seed corn. Prizes will also be offered at the fair a year later for the best results boys can show from their prizes for 1911. A circular letter to the boys appointed will give all details as to what they should bring to the fair, etc. This idea is a good one and was heartily indorsed by the New York state grange. The practical working out of the plan will be watched with considerable interest by those who believe in giving farm boys the benefits of such practical observations and education.

GRANGE TO TAKE A HAND.

Organization to Aid In Fight Against Tuberculosis.

The New York state grange is taking an active interest in the fight against tuberculosis. At a conference recently held between F. N. Godfrey of Olean master of the organization, and a special committee on tuberculosis appointed by the grange, with E. A. Moree, director of the extension work of the State Charities Aid association, plans were made for carrying the county hospital propaganda into the rural districts of the state. The committee, which is composed of W. N. Giles of Skaneateles, J. W. Scott of Copake and Charles G. McLouth of Manchester, decided to send a letter to the 700 granges of the state, representing a combined membership of nearly 100,000, urging them to ask boards of supervisors to investigate the question of building tuberculosis hospitals.

The local granges are urged not only to get the matter before their supervisors, but to see to it that the subject is treated entirely on its merits. The committee also decided to ask local granges to employ visiting nurses to care for tuberculosis patients in the homes and to popularize the county hospitals. County physicians will be asked to comply with the law requiring the reporting of every case of tuberculosis and to disinfect the premises after the death or removal of a patient.

Busy Granges.

State Lecturer McKeen of Maine in speaking of the discussions in the grange says that out of 280 reports received from 440 granges in the state it was learned that 106,041 had attended about 600 meetings, had listened to over 5,000 speakers, 610 addresses, 459 essays, 665 grange papers, over 2,000 recitations, over 5,000 musical selections and more than 6,000 readings and recitations.

Grange News Notes.

"Are co-operating marketing associations practical and desirable?" is a good question for discussion in the grange.

The record for charter membership so far as known is held by a new grange at Greigsville, N. Y., which organized with 203 charter members.

Eureka grange of New York offers $100 in prizes for the best acre of corn grown this year by any of its members. That is certainly a practical way to inspire new interest in corn growing.

The national grange legislative committee consists of N. J. Bachelder of New Hampshire, T. O. Atheson of West Virginia and Aaron Jones of Indiana. They look after grange interests at Washington.

George T. Powell, a prominent member of the grange and president of the Agricultural Experts' Association of New York, is in favor of Canadian reciprocity and believes that, while the farmer may suffer some temporarily, in the long run he will not be the loser thereby. All eyes will be turned on Washington during the extraordinary session of congress, as no subject is now more widely agitated among the granges than this of reciprocity of farm products with Canada.

The Age of Linen.

It is highly probable that the manufacture of linens is of greater antiquity than that of silk. Archæologists generally admit that the mummy cloth of the most ancient dynasties was a variety of finest linen. The Egyptian and Jewish priests wore it at all their ceremonies. We find mention of fine linens all through the Old and New Testaments. When the queen of Sheba visited Solomon she was habited in linen. In Revelation the angels are clothed in "pure and white linen." Genesis tells us that Pharaoh arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen. Silk is mentioned in the Bible only four times.

The Word "Terse."

"Terse" is a word that has an understood meaning nowadays. Shadwell in the fourth act of "The Humorists" (1671) put this question into the mouth of one of his characters: "Must I stay till by the strength of terse claret you have wet yourself into courage?" It is probably an allusion to what is still sometimes called "Dutch courage"—bravery inspired by alcohol. Claret was in those times imported in "tierces," and "terse" may be a contracted form of that word; also "terse claret" may have been a drink that did its business without any circumlocution, like the terse speaker or writer.

The Nebular Hypothesis.

The nebular hypothesis is the name generally given to the theory put forth by the celebrated Laplace in "Systeme du Monde" in the year 1796. His idea was that the solar system was evolved mechanically from a vast diffused revolving nebula, and that nebulæ were the early stages in the formation of planets and their satellites by cooling, condensation and contraction, according to certain laws of mathematics. This theory was accepted by Sir William Herschel and, though at first bitterly opposed in many quarters, is now generally accepted by astronomers and scholars and is taught in most schools and colleges.—New York American.

FREEZES THE LUNGS.

When Intensely Cold Air Is Breathed In Through the Mouth.

"I asked an Alaskan pioneer who was crossing to his old home in Sweden what happened when the thermometer goes down to 60 and 80 degrees below zero," said a Seattle man. "At 60 degrees below," he said, "the exposed ears, hands or nose will freeze in going a quarter of a mile under ordinary circumstances, but the children go to and come from school as usual without suffering from the cold, provided their faces and hands are protected.

"They soon get used to it. But caution must be used to avoid drawing the cold air into the lungs, and it is dangerous to breathe through the mouth. More die from pneumonia brought on by freezing the lungs in that way than from any other form of exposure. Horses are protected by breathing bags, which extend down from the nose of the animal about eighteen inches and are open at the bottom. The breath which is exhaled warms the air in the bag before it is inhaled and drawn into the lungs. And men wear a 'parky' or headdress which extends over the face and affords similar protection.

"In the Canadian districts the northwest mounted police regulate the treatment of horses on the freight wagons and stage lines in a most humane manner, so as to prevent them from suffering in this way."—Washington Herald.

Slavery in Scottish Mines.

Slavery lingered in the Scottish mine until the very eve of the nineteenth century. Mr. Hackwood, in "The Good Old Times," draws a picture of the Scottish miner's unhappy lot in the past: "From about the year 1445 until 1775 the miners of Scotland were bought and sold with the soil. It is stated in old chronicles that bloodhounds were kept to trace them if they left their employment and to aid in bringing them back. By statute law miners were bound to work all days in the year except Paschal and Yule, and if they did not work they were to be 'whipped in the bodies for the glory of God and for the good of their masters.' Not until 1775 was the first law passed in an attempt to better this state of things, but it was 1799 ere the law gave the working miner of Scotland his complete freedom."—London Chronicle.

HAY FEVER

MOLDED HIS DEATH TOLL.

Legend of "the Poor Sinner's Bell" That Was Cast in Breslau.

The poor sinner's bell is a bell in the city of Breslau, in the province of Silesia, Prussia, and hangs in the tower of one of the city churches. It was cast July 17, 1386, according to historic records. It is said that a great bell founder of the place had undertaken to make the finest church bell he had ever made.

When the metal was melted the founder withdrew for a few moments, leaving a boy to watch the furnace and enjoining him not to meddle with the catch that held the molten metal, but the boy disobeyed the caution, and when he saw the metal flowing into the mold he called the founder.

The latter rushed in and, seeing, as he thought, his work of weeks undone and his masterpiece ruined, struck the boy a blow that caused his immediate death. When the metal cooled and the mold was opened the bell was found to be not only perfect, but of marvelous sweetness of tone.

The founder gave himself up to the authorities, was tried and condemned to death. On the day of his execution the bell was rung to call people to attend church and offer a prayer for the unhappy man's soul, and from that it obtained the name of "the poor sinner's bell."

SEEING A PURPLE COW.

Perfectly Natural Under Certain Conditions, Says an Artist.

H. Anthony Dyer, painter of water colors, was explaining the matter to some possible buyers of his wares.

"Suppose while you are in the country in summer," said he, "you chance upon a Holstein cow grazing on a hillside. Holsteins, of course you know, are black and white. The pasture is green. Off at one side is a gray unpainted barn. Do you stagger with surprise when you notice that that cow is purple? Not a bit of it. If it were not purple you might reasonably consult an oculist. That would be a sign that your eyes needed attention.

"But you may never have tried to figure out why the cow is purple. Here is the answer: The complementary color of the green pasture is red. The sight of green always suggests red, although we don't realize it. Flooding the scene is the yellow sunshine. The yellow, the red and the green combine to tint the grazing neutral colored cow purple, and purple it undeniably is, as you must admit when next you encounter one under such circumstances. Nevermore, therefore, may you sing with Gelett Burgess:

I never saw a purple cow,
I never hope to see one.
—New York Press.

The Bug Bible.

The bug Bible was printed in 1549 by the authority of Edward VI., and its curiosity lies in the rendering of the fifth verse of the Ninety-first Psalm, which, as we know, runs, "Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night nor for the arrow which flieth by day," but in the above version it ran, "So thou shalt not nede to be afraid of any bugges by night."

Ludicrous as this sounds, it is not etymologically without justification. "Bug" is derived from the Welsh word "bwg," which meant a hobgoblin or terrifying specter, a signification traceable in the word commonly in use today—"bugbear"—and Shakespeare once or twice uses the word in this primary sense, notably when he makes Hamlet say, "Such bugs and goblins in my life."

Daffodil Superstitions.

Daffodils are not only poisonous and libelous, but most unlucky flowers, especially when single specimens are encountered. Herrick, who must often have gone through the experience without much harm happening, declares that—

When a daffodil I see
Hanging down her head to me,
Guess I may what I must be.
First, I shall decline my head;
Secondly, I shall be dead;
Lastly, safely buried.

In Herrick's own Devon to this day if you place a single daffodil on the table of a farmhouse the farmer will jump up and exclaim, "Now we shall have no young ducks this year." The evil spell can be broken by increasing the single flower to a bunch.—St. James' Gazette.

Queer Nest of the Tentobane.

The oddest of all birds' nests is the one built by the toutobane, a South African songster. It is built of cotton and always upon the tree producing the material. In constructing the domicile the female works inside and the male outside, where he builds a sentinel box for his own special use. He sits in the box and keeps watch on, sings nearly all the time, and when danger comes in the form of a hawk or a snake he warns the family, but never enters the main nest.

NAPOLEON CARICATURES.

Napoleon in caricature is one of the most prolific of subjects. Indeed, European political caricature from 1798 until 1815, may be said to have been Napoleon. Although in France this form of pictorial art was rigidly suppressed, Gilray and Rowlandson in England and a score of artists in Germany and Austria were depicting the great emperor as the most infamous of monsters.

The first known caricature of Bonaparte was drawn years before the first consulate, when the Bourbons still sat upon the throne of France. It is reproduced in Norwood Young's "The Growth of Napoleon." Young Bonaparte's years at the military academy at Brienne were not happy ones. He was a Corsican, and at that time Corsica was a recently conquered province.

The cartoon, which was drawn by a schoolmate, represents the future emperor standing, a severe and determined look upon his face, with both hands on the top of a musket, resting the butt on the ground. A smaller figure behind him, an old man whose nose nearly reaches his chin, is pulling him back by his wig.

Napoleon's feet face in two directions—one forward, the other backward. Underneath is written, "Bonaparte rushes to the aid of Paoli to rescue him from the hand of his enemies." These words have been struck through with a pen, which has also been drawn across the face of Napoleon.

THE PERSIANS.

Not Ruled by Caste, but Are Great Sticklers For Etiquette.

The pleasures of the Persians are in the main refined. They have not many kinds of recreation. Conversation is one of their chief enjoyments. Although a large proportion of them can neither read nor write, I think we must call them an intellectual people.

They are natural linguists, and since their country is inhabited by many different races they are obliged to speak several different languages. It is not uncommon to find a man who scarcely knows his right hand from his left who can speak two or three languages fluently. To this number a man of any education whatever would add two or three more.

There is no caste among any of the races found in Persia. A son of Nasir-i-Din Shah's butler became his prime minister; a peasant girl once became the first favorite of this same king's anderun because she lifted her veil as the king was passing through her native village and her beauty appealed to the royal fancy.

But while there is no caste the Persians are in some ways great sticklers for etiquette. The Zil-i-Sultan, the oldest and most capable son of Nasir-i-Din, could not succeed his father on the throne because his mother was not of royal birth. All social functions, moreover, are attended with the most rigid ceremonies, and woe to the person who attempts to overstep the bounds which custom has prescribed for his rank.—Mary A. Colquhoun in Los Angeles Times.

The Message in the Box.

On a table in the waiting room of a specialist is an inlaid box. When one opens it—and most visitors to the specialist do—a smaller box is found and one not so large inside that. This continues until finally the last is reached, a tiny thing with a slip of paper inside it. On the paper is a single word. "Curiosity."

"I keep it there to amuse waiting patients," explained the specialist. "If there was only one who went through the scale of boxes he might feel sore about it, but he or she leaves the box closed for the next comer, and when there are quite a few in the waiting room it gets to be a pretty good joke, and I can hear laughter as the latest arrival gets stung. I picked the box up on a trip to India and happened to leave it in the waiting room one day. Now it stays there all the time."—New York Sun.

Peg Tankards.

The pegging or marking of drinking cups was introduced by St. Dunstan to check the intemperate habits of the times by preventing one man from taking a larger draft than his companions. But the device proved the means of increasing the evil it was intended to remedy, for, refining upon St. Dunstan's plan, the most abstemious were required to drink precisely to a peg or pin, whether they could soberly take such a quantity of liquor or not.

Different Positions.

"What does the man do over there at the desk who seems to be working so hard?"

"He checks the cash."

"And what does the man do who is leaning back in the easy chair smoking?"

"Oh, he cashes the checks."—Baltimore American.

An Exception.

"Happiness," declaimed the philosopher, "is the pursuit of something, not the catching of it."

"Have you ever," interrupted the plain citizen, "chased the last car on a rainy night?"—Toledo Blade.

Sensitiveness.

The smallest bird cannot light upon the greatest tree without sending a shock to its most distant fiber. Every mind is at times no less sensitive to the most trifling words.—Lew Wallace in "Ben Hur."

Circular Plates.

All our plates are circular in shape. Now, a square or oval plate would be just as convenient. Is there any reason why plates should be of their present shape? It seems that if we dip into the far past we may discover the cause. Our remote ancestors ate their food off flat pieces of wood cut from a tree trunk. The tree trunk being cylindrical in shape, the earliest plates were therefore roughly circular, and the shape has been used ever since.

Mr. Fred Bache will erect a three story storage house on a lot on the West side which he recently purchased from the city.

Mrs. S. E. Morin has sufficiently recovered from a severe illness, to be removed from the Lee hospital to her home in Oneida street.

Mrs. Hawkins and five children, accompanied by Miss Majel Streeter, will spend the Summer months with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Streeter, arriving in Fulton the latter part of this week.

The Times office will be closed all day Saturday, July 8, to permit the employes to enjoy a two days vacation. All patrons of the Times will please bear this in mind and leave orders for job work, etc., early in the week.

Baldwinsville Gazette: Miss Hazel Adsit, who has been critically ill with peritonitis, is improving. * * * Miss Anna Riordom was taken seriously ill last week and was taken to the home of her brother in Fulton on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Case Lewis and daughter, Janet, are in New York city. Janet will spend a fortnight with Hon. and Mrs. T. D. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Lewis will go by water to Boston, Mass., and from there by automobile to Portland for change and recreation

President E. J. Penfield of the Chamber of Commerce is still confined to his bed as the result of a serious injury to one of his legs in Albany, by slipping on the ice. He which he sustained last Winter while has suffered greatly during the past six weeks but seems now to be on the road to recovery.

Mr. Horace Gilbert celebrated his 83rd natal anniversary on Friday by entertaining a number of his friends at a lawn tea at his home in Academy street. Mr. Gilbert, who is as keen and active as many a man half his years, was showered with congratulations and was the recipient of many useful gifts.

Hon. W. B. Sleeper of Montanna, who is suffering from injuries received over a year ago in an automobile accident in which Mr. Thomas Hunter, Miss Anita Hunter and Mr. Sleeper were participants, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter preparatory to leaving for an ocean resort for his health.

THE INFAMOUS LEVY ELECTION BILL

Tammany Leader Murphy's pet measure—the Levy Election Bill was rammed and jammed through a disgusted but helpless Legislature last week. Vain were the protests of the up-state legislators of the Democratic party that their vote for this obnoxious measure meant political suicide for them. Tammany, whose New York attorneys have been working in secret for months on this vicious bill, finally secured its passage. Every resource of a desperate leader was necessary to secure the votes necessary for its passage and at the close of the long and bitter fight it was only by the vote of Speaker Frisbie that it received the requisite number. But a few minutes before he cast the deciding vote, Speaker Frisbie had boasted from the Speaker's chair that he knew no boss and that he was responsible to his s overeign constituency alone. Idle and foolish boast.

Significant indeed was the logic of figures which Minority Leader Merritt presented in the discussion o f the bill. But even more significant was his challange to the majority to repeal, if they dared, some recent election legislation by the Republicans notably the signature bill as applied to Greater New York. The Levy bill provides for the extension of this law throughout the state, thereby amply justifying the action of the Republicans in applying it to New York city. As Mr. Merritt pointed out, there has never been any doubt of the efficiency of this legislation for its only object has been the proper identification of voters and not an attempt to hinder any man in exercising the right of franchise. Included in the Levy bill is a personal registration clause which limits the right granted to citizens by the Constitution in regard to registration, and which is emphatically declared in violation of the Constitution and will never stand the test of the law.

These points, however, are inconsequential when compared with the material effect the bill will have upon the taxpayers of the state. Mr. Merritt presented in his argument these figures taken from the bill itself:

Three state commissioners of elections are created, salary $5,000 a year each; three chief deputies, $4,500 a year each; six deputies, $1,500 each; eight deputies, $1,200 each; twenty-five deputies, $1,000 each; forty deputies, $900 each; 245 deputies, $200 each; 150 deputies, $100 each; making a total for commissioners and deputies of $258,500. The Commissioners are allowed $40,0000 for office expenses. Secretaries, clerks, stenographers and other help are provided for. Then, in the 57 counties outside Greater New York, either two or four county commissioners, each with a retinue of other officials, is provided for. At a very conservative estimate, these county bureaus will cost the taxpayers $5,00 each, or $285,000 in the 57 counties. Printing registration lists adds $75,000. Other expenses will inevitably follow, but the figures here given total $685,500, which the taxpayers must pay. It is claimed by some who have examined the bill closely that if the total were placed at a round million dollars, it would still be an extremely conservative estimate.

When it is considered that the real purpose and object of the bill is to perpetuate Tammany rule in the state, the iniquity of the measure is apparent. No intelligent man can blind himself to the plain fact that such an enormous election machine, particularly so far as the country districts are concerned, is absolutely unnecessary, and this fact is confirmed in the statement that scarcely a newspaper in the state has uttered a favorable comment on the bill. To the contrary, Democratic as well as Republican papers the state over, have protested vehemently against having foisted upon the state this enormously expensive bureau, which general belief and comment insists is to be but an adjunct of Tammany Hall to enable Leader Charles F. Murphy to tighten his grip upon the whole state.

GAVE $20,000 FOR DENTAL CAMPAIGN

Syracuse, June 28.—An appropriation of $20,000 to be spent in a campaign for the education of the public in the proper care of the teeth was voted at the semi-annual meeting of the Empire State Dental Society. The money will be spent in newspaper advertising, the distribution of booklets and other advertising media in the cities and towns of the State.

WORK PROGRESSING FAIRLY WELL

The monthly report of the barge canal engineers department for June gives the following report on the work done in this locality during the month just closed:

Contract No. 80.—For constructing a concrete dam across the Oswego river at Phoenix.

The general work of building coffer-dams, stone bins, etc., progressed.

Contract No. 73.—For the construction of two spans of a highway bridge over the river at Bridge street, in connection with six other similar spans to be constructed by the city of Oswego.

About 518 cu. yds. of material were excavated, of which 460 cu. yds. came from the east abutment and the balance from pier No. 7. In the east abutment 52 cu. yds. of second-class concrete were laid.

No contract work done during the month.

Contract No. 53—For constructing Lock No. 1, with its approach walls, and excavating the prism from the Phoenix bridge northerly about 1,400 feet.

Contract practically finished.

About 160 sq. ft. of channeling were cut on east side between Locks Nos. 2 and 3.

Contract No. 78.—For constructing dike on Oswego river, near Fulton.

Contract No. 37.—For dredging a channel in Oswego river, constructing Locks No. 5 and 6, dams, bulkheads and other structures, and the removal of Battle Island and High dams, between Contract No. 10, at Fulton, and Contract No. 35, at Oswego.

About 48,647 cu. yds. of material were excavated, of which 7,671 cu. yds. were from Battle Island cut-off, and 40,976 cu. yds. were removed from the prism by the dredge.

It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to ridt he system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

TO STOP HURDY GURDY MEN

New York, June 28.—Merchants and manufacturers in lower Broadway have appealed to Mayor Gaynor in an effort to keep the hurdy-gurdy men away from the business district.

They declare the harmonies evoked by the itinerant musicians casts such a spell over their employes that a serious loss of labor results.

One disguested manufacturer says he had to ring the bell five times to summon his stenographer, who was leaning out of a window listening to the music. When she responded to the fifth alarm she two-stepped up to the desk.

Very likely if it were not for the coronation England would not have had the pleasure of seeking Jack Johnson this lovely summer.

THE BOY SCOUT CAMP

The Boy Scout Campers of the First Methodist church returned on Saturday morning from nine days of most delightful outing on Big Island in charge of the pastor, Rev. C. L. Peck, Willis Morin and James Robinson. The boys who participated for all or a portion of the camp season were Daniel Hutson, Curtis Austin, Leon Foster, Dempster Hill, Leland Carner, Fenton Smith, Albert Sanford, Charles Perry, Arnold Roberts, Thornton Hildebrandt, Hadwin Fitch, Brooks Parks, Claude Barker, Hilton Wallace, Willis Stiles. In addition a number of the Scouts were guests of the camp at various times. Tuesday was designated as Visitor's Day, and about twenty-five people inspected the Camp, conveyed to and from the island in boats by the uniformed Scouts. Much interest was manifested and progress made in passing the various tests for the grade of First Class Scout. Several boys more than half completed the rather exacting requirements, for example, swimming fifty yards, cooking various dishes, map reading, map drawing from field notes made on the spot, pointing out compass directions, estimating distance, size, numbers, height and weight within twenty-five per cent of error, axemanship, identifying ten species of trees by their leaves, locating the North Star, describing three constellations, knowing some twenty-five points in advanced first aid to the injured, enlisting and training boys in Tenderfoot requirements, etc. The following were among the games enjoyed on or about the Island: "Flag Raiding," "Poison," "Treasure Island," "Canoe Tag," "Spider and Fly," etc. In the twenty-five yard swimming race Arnold Roberts won first honors, Charles Perry second, and Daniel Hudson third. In the jumping contests Curtis Austin won high honor by the athletic standards for boys from 14 to 18 clearing 22 feet 4 inches in the hop step and jump without weights or run. Six tents quartered the company besides the mess tent, and the site occupied was ideal, well shaded and some fifteen feet above the river level. The Camp program included the Reveille bugle call at 6:30 a. m., and Taps at 9:30 p. m. The boys enjoyed excellent health had voracious appetites for the excellent camp fare prepared by Chef Morin, and no accident marred the pleasure of camp life. Some of the boys learned to swim and others to row. They returned browned and bearing some marks of the Island pest, the mosquito, but happy and elated with the varied experiences of their first Boy Scout Camp.

FORT ONTARIO MAY BE ABANDONED

Oswego, June 28.—It was rumored about town yesterday that Fort Ontario may not be re-garrisoned after the Twenty-fourth infantry, which is now stationed there, leaves for the Philippines in the fall. The rumor might be confirmed by a statement given out on Monday at Washington by Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, before the House committee on expenditures in the War department. It is to reduce the number of army posts, and, as Fort Ontario is only a batallion post, it is quite likely that if the plan goes through Fort Ontario, rebuilt and re-garrisoned only about ten years ago will be abandoned.

If the plan goes through it will seriously affect Oswego. The payroll at the post is quite large and most of the money paid to the men is spent in the city.

MR. LAVERE WILL SERVE

The order obtained by Attorney John Pidgeon from Justice Merrell, restraining the Democratic Executive Committee from removing Fred Lavere from the Democratic City committee is to be allowed to stand.

A motion to have the restraining order set aside was to have been heard at Lowville but the opposition to it by Attorney Cahill, for the Executive Committee, has been abandoned.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

FLIES FROM NEW YORK TO ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J., July 4.—A thrill was given thousands of holiday visitors here this afternoon, when Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, after fighting heavy winds throughout his flight from Governors Island, terminated the third leg of his proposed journey from Boston to Washington by landing in his biplane on the beach front.

During the flight Atwood made three landings for gasoline. One near Asbury Park, the second at Tuckerton, N. J., and the third at Venice Park, near this city. Mr. Atwood said that judging from the amount of gasoline he had used he must have traveled at least 250 miles. He was in the air more than five hours. The distance along th coast is about 115 miles.

"I feel to tired to attempt the trip to Washington tonight," the bird-man said. "My route and time of starting will depend entirely on the conditions tomorrow. I hope, however, to start before 10 o'clock in the morning."

Atwood left Governors Island in New York bay at 8:49 a. m., and landed at Park Place, Atlantic City, at 2:30 p. m. The board walk was crowded with a holiday throng, and when he alighted he was cheered and mobbed by the thousands. His landing was perfect and his machine was in fine condition when he finished the flight. The airman was a little stiff from the long ride, but a little exercise took this all out.

When asked about his trip from New York and of his journey to Washington he threw up his hands and begged to be allowed to get something to eat.

The bird man had little difficulty in picking his course for the greater part of the way. All he had to do was to keep the ocean in sight at his left. Nearing Atlantic City he laid his course a little inland, and then came into Atlantic City across the meadows instead of coming over the Absecon inlet from Brigatine Beach, as those who had been watching for him thought he would do. After he had rested Atwood said:

"The only trouble I had during the trip today was with my gasoline supply. After I left Governors island I headed along the coast. A warning whirr or protest from my engines as I neared Asbury Park told me the gasoline was low. At that time I was flying about 1,000 feet in the air. I selected a landing place and took on five gallons of gasoline.

"When I again mounted I sought a higher altitude but the wind was stronger there so I took a traveling altitude of about 1,500 feet. Passing over shore towns I always dipped to a 500-foot level and the crowds gave me a fine reception. Near Tuckerton I borrowed five gallons of gasoline from an owner of an automobile and made a good getaway. The wind here was the strongest of the trip and it took me until almost 2 o'clock to make that last 17 miles, but I must have made at least fifty air miles

"At Venice Park, on the outskirts of Atlantic City, when my gasoline ran out again. I came down and narrowly missed disaster when a puff of wind caught the plane about a hundred feet from the ground. I was almost thrown from my seat. That was my narrowest escape. After taking on five more gallons of gasoline I circled out over the ocean and found the currents the most stable of my flight and made a successful landing in Atlantic City."

JOHN BANISTER.

An English Violinist Who Won Fame In the Seventeenth Century.

Public concerts owe their direct encouragement to John Banister, who had won fame by his playing on the violin and who succeeded the celebrated Baltzar as leader of Charles II.'s band of twenty-four violins. Pepys, in an entry in his diary for February, 1667, tells us the court gossip of the day—"how the king's violin Banister is mad that the king hath a Frenchman come to be chief of some part of the king's musique."

Banister's concerts at the close of the year 1672 were advertised in the London Gazette as follows: "These are to give notice that at Mr. John Banister's house (now called the musick schoob, over against the George tavern in White Fryers, the present Monday will be musick performed by excellent masters, beginning precisely at 4 of the clock in the afternoon, and every afternoon for the future precisely at the same hour."

Four years later on we read again, "At the academy in Little Lincoln's Inn Fields will begin the first part of the parley of instruments, composed by Mr. John Banister." The admission was at this time as a rule a shilling, and these concerts seem to have been held pretty regularly down to within a short time of Banister's death, which took place in 1679.—London Graphic.

UP STATE MEN DO THE TRICK.

Insurgents Passed Levy Election Bill.

WAS CLINCHED BY FRISBIE.

Up State Speaker's Deciding Vote and Up State Governor's "Emergency Message" Permitted Tammany to Extend Its Control to Every Election District In Entire State—Taxpayers Will Have to Pay Up $600,000 a Year at Least—Laying Hands on the Judiciary.

Albany, July 4.—Notwithstanding that the legislature of 1911 has been in session longer, with rare exception, than any in half a century its record for constructive legislation is zero, while its record for destructive legislation, ripper bills and patronage grabs is amazingly long.

Disregarding the plea of the up state Democrats that to force upon the rural communities where everybody knows everybody else the personal signature and personal registration laws which were necessary safeguards and identification in congested urban communities where the migratory population makes it comparatively easy for a dishonest man to cast a dishonest vote, would spell ruin for the Democratic party and insure the defeat of well nigh every up state Democratic senator and assemblyman, the Dix-Murphy combination jammed through the senate and assembly the Levy election bill, whose main purpose is to kill off independent voting and discourage fusion movements all along the line, but which also places all up state elections in control of Tammany at an additional expense to the taxpayers of at least $600,000 a year, while many put it at as high as a MILLION DOLLARS ANNUALLY.

Mr. O'Connor of the Independence league declared on the floor of the assembly that the Levy bill should be entitled "an act to perpetuate the grip of Charles F. Murphy upon New York state." Senator Saxe, who, while feeling bound to support the Levy bill, admitted that the "personal signature law" enacted for New York city by a Republican legislature had prevented many a fraudulent vote. And Senator Saxe is chairman of the law committee of Tammany Hall! Frankly conceding that there was absolutely no justification for extending the personal signature and personal registration features to the up state rural communities, the Tammany men confessed that they did not dare repeal the laws for New York city, so they determined to foist them upon up state communities in a pure and simple spirit of revenge.

However, Tammany could not have passed the Levy bill without the aid of up state Democratic senators and assemblymen. Had the "insurgents," so called, who fought Sheehan and Murphy in January, February and March stood out against the Levy bill it would have been beaten. Had the up state speaker of the assembly, Daniel D. Frisbie of Schoharie, stood out against Tammany the Levy bill could not have passed, as the speaker cast the deciding vote within an hour after he had proclaimed from the speaker's rostrum that "he owned no allegiance to any boss and never had taken any orders from any boss." Had the up state governor, John A. Dix, not closed a bargain with Charles F. Murphy, under which he furnished the Tammany legislative combination an "emergency message" which permitted the bill to pass "unsight, unseen," without printing or inspection, the Levy bill would have been killed.

But Mr. Murphy, Governor Dix, Speaker Frisbie and all but six of the insurgents were for the bill, and it was passed, receiving just seventy-six votes in the assembly and twenty-six in the senate, barely the required constitutional number. In the senate Senator Loomis of Buffalo voted "no," while his independent colleague from Erie county, Senator George H. Burd, while criticising the measure in private, voted for it on roll call.

If up state communities do not like the Levy bill when it is put into operation they need only blame the up state senators and assemblymen whom they elected last fall on a distinct pledge and promise that Mr. Murphy should not dominate either the governor, the legislature or the state administration, all of which promises have been repudiated and violated. Not a single Republican legislator either from city or rural constituency voted for the infamous Levy bill.

Lays Hands on Judiciary.

Disregarding the protest of Attorney General Carmody, a Democrat, and of Presiding Justice Peter B. McLennan of the Fourth appellate division that the bill is not only vicious and unnecessary, but unconstitutional, the Tammany combine applied the party lash so effectively that the Loomis bill to upset the state court of claims and fix it into a "board of claims" to which three faithful followers of the Dix-Murphy combination may be appointed to six year jobs at $6,000 a year was forced through the legislature.

Similar action was taken in the Kings county "ripper bills" and a score of other grabs which were disapproved by the local authorities affected, but were rushed through the legislature over vetoes.

A WIDOW'S WANTS

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

It was generally understood in the village of Crowell that Deacon Henderson had his eye on the Widow Glazier. Why not? The deacon was fifty-five and a widower and wanted a home. The widow was fifty and lonely.

Deacon Henderson dropped into the widow's cottage one day, and after complimenting her on her hollyhocks and tomato vines he said:

"Widder, do you know what the folks are saying?"

"La, no!"

"They are saying that you'n me ought to get married."

"But I can't get my breath! It's all so sudden. Deacon, if we get married we'll live in your house, won't we?"

"We will."

"And you'll put down a new carpet on the parlor floor?"

"For why? The one there is a good one."

"It's a rag carpet, and it's twenty years old. I helped Sarah cut and sew the rags. I shall want a brussels with patterns of roses."

"Um! Too much extravagance."

"Then I won't marry you."

The deacon went away in a huff and trying to make himself believe that he had a lucky escape. However, after thinking it over for a week he returned to say:

"I guess I'd be willing to buy that carpet."

"But I want something else. We must have three lace curtains. They must be long 'nuff to sweep the floor."

"Store carpet and store curtains!" shouted the deacon in dismay. "Why, widder, you'd bankrupt us in a month! No, no! Green paper shades are good 'nuff for us."

"Then I guess we won't get married. Folks have hinted that you was stingy, and now I see you are."

Away went the deacon for the second time, and for two days he patted himself on the back. He could figure that he had saved over $50 on that deal. The rag carpet and the paper shades looked good to him as he sat in the parlor, but after three or four days he found the old loneliness creeping over him. He would give in to her. He waited one day more and then called on her under pretense that he had mislaid his family almanac and wanted to know when the moon would be in her third quarter. After finding that out he said:

"Deacon, I've been thinking sides you were here we must have four stuffed chairs to put in that parlor to go with the new carpets and curtains?"

"Saints and sinners! Stuffed chairs! Stuffed chairs in our parlor! Never, Widder Glazier, never! The carpet and curtains would tempt Satan 'nuff. I don't propose to risk any more."

"Four stuffed chairs, deacon, and mebbe a sofa to boot."

"I'm going home. Good day!"

Those stuffed chairs, with an additional sofa looming up in the near future, were a shock to the deacon. They meant extravagance; they meant vanity; they meant the breaking down of long erected barriers. No; it could not be. He must continue his lonely life by his lonesome. He did continue it for ten long days and nights. Then he went over to ask the Widow Glazier if the tater bug had yet appeared in her garden and to offer to lend her some paris green to dope him with if he had. No, the bug had not appeared. But the deacon had other things to say. Leaning on the well curb and the widow standing in her kitchen door, he observed:

"I s'pose one can sit down on a stuffed chair?"

"Oh, yes!"

"And they don't make a body vain?"

"Never heard of it."

"And they are wuth the money you have to pay for 'em?"

"They surely are!"

"Well, we might get 'em. Shall we be married next month?"

"I—I dunno. What about your house?"

"Why, it's there in the same old place, ain't it?"

"Yes, but it needs repainting."

"You mean it wants another coat of whitewash. Well, me and you will do that together."

"But we won't, deacon. It's got to be paint—real paint, and two coats at that. It's got to be pea green with darker green for trimmings."

For the first time in his life the deacon lost consciousness and things whirled around with him. When he braced up the widow was saying:

"And new front steps, and a new sidewalk, and a new picket fence, and a pump in the well, and then we must have brass bedsteads and china dishes."

The deacon got home with shaking knees and fell upon the bed and sent for the doctor and the minister. The doctor said he'd get well, and the minister said he wouldn't lose his soul even by having a gold framed mirror in the parlor. It was a terrible struggle, but after two weeks the day was set and a marriage duly followed. There were those who thought the deacon would droop and die, but he didn't. He is hale and hearty and very proud of his wife and house and stuffed chairs and things, and he may even have a bell at the front door before he goes hence.

FRANCHISE GRANTED

For Artificial Gas for Light and Fuel

On Monday evening the village council granted to Joseph A. Sloan, of Defiance, O., a franchise giving him the right to lay, maintain, operate, remove, alter, repair and extend gas pipes and appliances in the streets, avenues, lanes, alleys and public places of Napoleon, for the purpose of supplying the village with artificial gas for fuel and light.

While the franchise gives the Defiance gas man the use of all streets of the town, still all excavation is to be done under the supervision of the council and street commissioner and at such place as they must approve.

The franchise is for a period of 25 years, subject, however, to be terminated by the failure of Mr. Sloan to at all times furnish the citizens of Napoleon with merchantable gas.

At the same time as the granting of the franchise an ordinance was passed fixing the price of gas at $1.25 per 1000 feet to consumers, with a minimum charge of 50c per month, the price to prevail for a period of ten years from November 1, 1911.

Should bills not be paid promptly the above rate is subject to a 10 per cent increase.

Mr. Sloan is forbidden a make a charge for meters and must bring all piping to the curb line of property.

It is understood the franchise and ordinance are favorable to Mr. Sloan and that work will be started immediately to lay a pipe line from Defiance to Napoleon, which is expected to be completed this fall. The gas will be manufactured at Defiance and piped to Napoleon until such a time as the consumption here would warrant a plant here.

The force granted was drafted after the one given by Defiance and the price, $1.25 per 1000 feet of gas, is the same as at present in force at Defiance.—The Northwest News, Napoleon, O., June 29, 1911.

MR. MURPHY GETS HIS.

Thomas M. Osborne Leads a Revolt Against Tammany Leader.

Albany, July 4.—Governor Dix and Mr. Murphy know now that they are to face the determined opposition of the Democratic State league. At least the league, through Chairman Thomas Mott Osborne, who was forced out of state office by the Dix-Murphy combination, serves notice that it will not stand by Mr. Murphy or anybody who stands with him.

Mr. Osborne's defi, sent from Berlin, is a scathing denunciation of Charles F. Murphy as state leader and of Tammany domination of the legislature of 1911. In opening Mr. Osborne calls attention to the Murphy domination of the Rochester state convention last fall and declares it has "been even more arrogantly and offensively displayed in the actions of the legislature." Mr. Osborne says the league objects to Murphyism because:

"First, it stands for ignorance; second, it stands not only for lack of knowledge, but for lack of intelligence. It is not only ignorant, but stupid. Not only does it not know, but it cannot learn; when it is told the truth it does not recognize it. Only one word can characterize its treatment of legislation—imbecility. And, third, but more subtly dangerous than ignorance and stupidity, although necessarily related to both, is corruption. In truth, the most serious fault of the present party leadership is that its motive is not political, but commercial.

"There is only one thing that can save the Democratic party, and that is the absolute elimination of Mr. Murphy as a state leader. Speaking for myself individually, as a Democrat desiring Democratic success by the fulfillment of Democratic ideals and promises, I absolutely decline to follow Mr. Murphy's leadership to further disgrace and inevitable defeat."

DEAD SEA WATER.

Its Density Is More Than Double That of the Red Sea.

The Dead sea contains 23 per cent of solid matter and is bulk for bulk heavier than the human body.

Many believe that it is impossible to swim in this sea, and even in Jerusalem ridiculous fables are told as to the impossibility of bathing there and that no animals or vegetation can exist near its shores.

So far as swimming is concerned, the excessive buoyancy of the water simply renders it difficult to make much headway, but a swim is both feasible and enjoyable. Care should be taken, however, not to let the water get into the eyes.

Indeed, did Palestine belong to any power but Turkey probably the northern shore of the Dead sea would be a popular bathing station. No doubt the chloride of magnesia which enters so largely into the composition of the water would be found to have medicinal and curative properties.

Perhaps a better idea of the density of the water of this inland sea may be realized from the following statistics: In a ton of water from the Caspian sea there are eleven pounds of salt; in the Baltic, eighteen pounds; in the Black sea, twenty-six pounds; in the Atlantic, thirty-one pounds; in the English channel, seventy-two pounds; in the Mediterranean, eighty-five pounds; in the Red sea, ninety-three pounds; in the Dead sea, 127 pounds.—World's Work.

MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Margaret Webster and Mr. Arthur McCabe, was solemnized at the parochial residence of the Catholic church on Wednesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. McCabe reside in Fulton.

A quiet wedding was celebrated Saturday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Claus, 215 Utica street, when their daughter, Miss Clara Florence Claus, was united in marriage with Grenville Gerrard Patterson of Fulton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles L. Peck of the First Methodist church and the atendants of the bridal couple were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Eckert. After a wedding lunch Mr. and Mrs. Patterson left for a short wedding trip.

FULTON CHARTER BILLS SIGNED

Albany, July 1.—Assemblyman Sweet's bill amending the charter of the city of Fulton in relation to the compensation of city officers has just been signed by Governor Dix.

The Governor has also signed the bill of Assemblyman Sweet, amending generally the charter of the city of Fulton.

Reasonable Request.

"Ladies and gentlemen," appealingly began the village handy man, advancing to the front of the stage and addressing the few patient persons who remained of the audience which had assembled to witness the beautiful pastoral drama, "The Mad Miller's Daughter," written by the hamlet's accomplished authoress and presented by home talent performers, "I am requested by the members of the company to ask you to remain until the end of the play, in the next act, which I solemnly assure you is the last, the villain gets his due and is slain without mercy, and we want witnesses."—Puck.

A Surprised Poet.

Wife—What is the matter, dear? Haven't they published your poem? Poet—Oh, yes, that's all right, but they're actually selling the paper at a penny, as though there was nothing unusual in it.—London Tit-Bits.

Tickled With a Feather.

"I never knew any one who could be so tickled with a feather as my wife."

"Ticklish, is she?"

"Not usually, but this was an ostrich feather she bought at a bargain sale."—Philadelphia Ledger.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER NEAR PHOENIX

Laborer Murdered, Legs and Arms Securely Tied and Body Thrust Into Weighted Bag and Thown in Canal—Identified as George Moss Once Employed at Brighton—Robbery Probable Motive.

Coroner H. P. Marsh was called to Phoenix on Friday where a fireman in one of the paper mills had discovered a bag containing the body of a man floating in the Oswego canal. The legs and arms were securely bound together and the bag was of strong burlaps. The body had evidently been in the water for some time as it was badly decomposed and work of identification was impossible owing to this fact. The flesh had worn from the wrists by the action of the water and but for a brass check with number and initial such as corporations use to identify their laborers, identification would have been impossible.

Coroner Marsh found that the man had been killed before his body was placed in the bag and thrown into the water. Every indication pointed to his having been struck on the left temple with a blunt instrument, the blow producing death.

After an exhaustive inquiry and running down numerous clues, the coroner located the man as having in March been for a few days in the employ of the New York Central at Brighton. His name was George Moss and when he gave up his job he had his pay envelope and other money in his pocket. When the body was found there was nothing in his pockets other than the brass check by which he was finally located.

When or in what section of the country the man met his death is unknown and the murder and the murderers will probably belong to the list of mysteries to which no solution can be found. Neither Oswego nor Onondaga counties feel at all certain that the crime was committed with in either border and it is probable that nothing can be done to apprehend the criminals.

SMITH ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Alderman George Smith of the Fourth Ward asks the Times to announce his candidacy for the mayorality of Fulton. Mr. Smith states that he has been importuned by so many taxpayers to become a candidate that he cannot refuse. Mr. Smith is a Democrat and has been a deeply interested member of the city council, refusing at all times to vote on a proposition until he fully understood and approved of it. He has been for the past two years a member of the Finance, Claims and Grievance and Property committees of the council.

Alderman Smith announces that if elected Mayor he will save the city $15,000 to $20,000 during his term and that he will at all times try to do the best thing for his city and the taxpayers.

LEGISLATURE TO ADJOURN ON JULY 22

Albany, July 8.—According to the plans of the Democratic leaders the Legislature will adjourn sine die Saturday, July 22. Many important matters are still undisposed of and if the legislators do not display more energy than has been shown in the first days of July the task of law-making will not be completed on August 1st. This week's session was conducted without a quorum in either House and for that reason no important question was considered.

Wisconsin has just had a heavy frost. It was careless of Senator La-Follette to let that happen.

OILING OF STREETS SATISFACTORY

Residents Along Routes so Treated Pleased With Result—Heavy Rain in Third Street Cause for Dissatisfaction There for Few Hours — Remainder of Work Was Right.

In a recent issue of the Times we commented on the oiling of Third street by the Standard Oil company in a way that was not very complimentary to that company's representative.

Some statements in the Times were in error, and upon learning the facts this correction is made. It was stated that the roads were oiled during heavy rain storms on Saturday and Monday, and we are now informed that no oil was applied while it was raining. It had rained a little Saturday about noon, but had stopped when the oil was applied. The severe rain storms and cloudburst of early Sunday morning and Sunday evening caused the oil to be washed and spattered upon lawns and walks, and the residents complained of this.

No oil was applied on Monday, and the Standard Oil company kept its representative here two weeks before the oiling was entirely finished, waiting for weather to advantage, with the result that the residents along the streets oiled are well pleased and satisfied that, with proper application the Standard Asphalt Road Oil does away entirely with the dust nuisance, saves labor, and is a great benefit to the wearing surface of the road.

Even those who were most opposed to the oiling of the streets in this city are now realizing that this is the best way to prevent dust and preserve the roads.

TERRIFIC HEAT EXPERIENCED

For two weeks the entire country has been experiencing a heat wave almost unprecedented, the mercury having reached and maintained a height not known since the Summer of 1876. From Chicago, New York city, Washington, D. C., and all the large cities come reports of deaths, cases of insanity and heat prostrations in numbers heretofore unknown.

Northern New York has suffered with the rest of the country and the unbearable humidity and temperature continue despite storms and local rain fall in many sections. Last Wednesday the thermometer at the city hall gave up the ghost after registering 110, and the bulb and tube parted company forever. In the west window in the Times office at 4 o'clock the same day the mercury went to 120, as high as it could register, while 137 in the sun was reached in all sections of the city.

A slight relief from the intense heat was experienced on Thursday but it was of short duration and on Sunday the most uncomfortable day of an uncomfortable season was endured, sleep being impossible on Sunday night owing to the 75 per cent. of humidity which prevailed.

The Gas Office will be open every evening, from 7 to 9 during the special stove sale. Stoves can be delivered, and connected the same day purchase is made.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Important Session Held in Fulton Regarding Admission of Niagara Power—Adjourned Until Some Future Date at Albany.

Public Service Commissioners J. B. Olmstead and W. A. Huppuch spent last Thursday and Friday in this city, giving a hearing on the application of the Oswego Power Transmission company to enter Fulton.

Eugene M. White of Phoenix and Former Attorney General John C. Davies of Utica appeared for the petitioning company, while G. S. Piper and C. E. Gutle of this city represented the Fulton Light, Heat and Power company, the corporation which is now furnishing the light and power to Fultonians.

E. R. Redhead, president of the Victoria Paper Mills compnay, testified that he believed that Fulton was in need of more power. He cited several instances in which he stated power was desired. He said he had conducted a manufacturing establishment in Fulton for thirty years and that he believed that the hydraulic power was fast decreasing. Cossaamined by Mr. Piper, Mr. Redhead said that he did not know of any manufacturing concerns which had refused to come to Fulton on account of a scarcity of power. Mr. Redhead admitted that the hydraulic power would be greatly increased when the new hydraulic raceway and barge canal work was completed.

Mayor Conners made the broad statment that more power was needed in Fulton. He said that several manufacturers had spoken to him concerning power matters in Fulton and at the request of Mr. White named the men with whom he had conversed.

On cross-examination by Mr. Piper the mayor said that he was aware of the fact that the manufacturing concerns named by him were using the power of the Fulton company and that the results were satisfactory. The mayor said that a great deal appeared to be due mostly to the fact that the Fulton company charges too much for its service. The mayor said that the city is paying more for arc lights than the majority of cities. The commissioners at once became interested and asked how many arc lights there are in Fulton and Manager and Vice President L. W. Emerick answered 120 and that the annual charge per lamp was $75. He said it was formerly $90 per lamp. He said his company has a contract, which expires in 1914, for the lighting of the city streets.

T. H. Webb of the Eureka Paper company said that his company wanted more power and that he had been unable to secure it. His company is now litigating with the Fulton company over a contract for electricity.

B. W. Bennett, manager of the Volney Paper company, said that he could not secure sufficient power from the Fulton Company to operate two-150-horsepower motors, and that frequently when one was operated that his mill was compelled to close when the street lights were turned on.

G. E. Mason of the Diamond Excelsior works, M. M. Conley, president of the North End Paper company, Alderman George Smith, G. E. True of True Brothers, millers, and T. M. Ripley of the barge canal office were also sworn in regard to the need of additional power in Fulton.

The testimony of these men closed the case of the petitioning company, whereupon the opposition opened by calling M. J. Warner of New York, president of the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company. Mr. Warner testified as to the cost of his plant and its ability to furnish sufficient power for Fulton for years to come.

George Chauncey, formerly treasurer of the Volney Paper company stated that the service given the Volney Paper Company at the time of his connection with it was entirely satisfactory. Mr. Chauncey was manager of the old electric light company, which was absorbed by the Fulton Light, Heat and Power company nine years ago.

L. W. Emerick, vice-president and general manager of the Fulton Company, was questioned at considerable length by his attorney. He stated that they had an abundance of power at their plant and could develop about 1,700 horsepower by steam and water and about 1,800 horsepower by steam at their new auxiliary now being built. His company had 960 customers and about fifty miles of wire.

The total capacity of the Oswego river at this point is about 14,000 horsepower, according to Mr. Emerick. Attorney White cross-examined Mr. Emerick.

John Stevenson, superintendent of the American Woolen mills, stated that he believed that conditions did not warrant a competing company in Fulton, as the service being rendered by the local company was very good.

Other witnesses heard were M. L. White of the Aluminum company, G. J. Emeny, Postmaster W. E. Hughes and Edward Cole.

No definite date is set down for the hearing in Albany but Commissioner Olmstead stated that it would be arranged as soon as possible. In the meantime Electrical Expert McClellan of Albany will come here and make an investigation.

PARKER ESCAPES FROM BIG ISLAND

During the past week it has been freely stated that Amos Parker and his confederate who are wanted in Oswego for grand larceny in robbing a pawn shop, and in Fulton for firing upon officers, were encamped on Big Island. Sunday it was reported that a camping party had been approached on the island by Parker, armed to the teeth, and food demanded. To all appearances neither the police of Oswego nor of Fulton made any effort to ascertain whether or not the reports were correct. On Sunday night Sheriff Taft became acquainted with the rumor and at midnight, accompanied by Under Sheriff Dennis and two or three Oswego policemen, a hurried ride was taken to this city where officers Norton and Dyer were picked up and a search of the island was made for the young desperados. They were not found although traces of a camp fire and of a boat having been pushed off were discovered. The birds had flown and left no trace of their whereabouts.

PAPER DAY TOMORROW

The Woman's Auxiliary to the hospital Association propose to hold a "paper day" tomorrow, Thursday, and all residents are requested to collect and save newspapers, folded wrapping paper, old magazines, etc for the collectors. All who will contribute should place a red card in the window and the collectors will thus know whom to visit and not annoy people who are not disposed to contribute to the cause.

The paper thus collected will be sold and the proceeds applied to the hopital expenses. A liberal response is anticipated to the call for the commodity always thrown away by busy housekeepers.

MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Eva Collins to Mr. Henry Carlon took place recently at Niagara Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Carlon are keeping house on the west side.

Prof. C. V. Hartson of the High school and Miss Anna L. Brown were united in marriage at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. E. D. Edick, in Parish, on Wednesday. After an extended bridal trip Prof. and Mrs. Hartson will reside in this city.

Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock Mr. Raymond Flint and Miss Leonora Bruce stole a march on their friends and were united in marriage, starting on their bridal trip before anyone was aware of their intentions. Mr. and Mrs. Flint will make their future home at No. 202B uffalo street.

Sunday evening at the parsonage of the Congregational church, the Rev. Charles Olmstead officiating, a double wedding was solemnized when Miss Mabel Fish and Mr. Chelsea Dann and Miss Neva Palmer and Mr. Raymond Lybolt were united in marriage. The happy young couples left for Thousand Island park [illegible] Mr. George C. [illegible] and Miss Olive Earnshaw, well known and popular young people of the [illegible], were united in marriage on Wednesday evening at State street parsonage by the Rev. F. A. Miller. Miss Clara Earnshaw was maid of honor and the best man was Mr. Glenn Hill. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for a bridal trip to New Hampshire. Mr. Hill is assistant to City Engineer Hackett and the happy pair will make their future home in this city.

UNDERTAKER BADLY INJURED

New Haven, July 8.—George Whitney, the well known undertaker of this place, met with a serious accident while driving with his family near Clifford yesterday afternoon about four o'clock. His son was driving and in some way one of the reins fell between the horses. Mr. Whitney, senior, stepped over the dashboard to reach for the line and in so doing frightened the horses and they started to run.

Mr. Whitney succeeded in grabbing the reach of the wagon and was dragged for some distance before the horses were stopped by John Kimball, of Palermo.

The flesh on Mr. Whitney's right side was torn away in several places and it is feared that he also received internal injuries. However, no bone were broken.

Drs. Green, of Palermo, and Wetmore and Bowers, of New Haven, were called. He was removed to his home in an automobile.

ITALIAN DROWNED ON SUNDAY

On Sunday morning while taking a bath in the river near the VanBuren homestead, Carmello Lorretto, age 17, was drowned. It transpired that neither the boy nor his companions could swim nor could they speak English so when Carmello got beyond his depth his companies could neither aid him nor secure aid for him. The body was taken from the water by Ben Ingersol and Gilbert Spencer, Jr., but not until life was extinct. Coroner Marsh was called and permitted the remains to be removed to Cole's undertaking parlors where many Italians viewed them. The funeral was held on Monday morning from the undertaker's rooms.

Lorretto had only been in this country a few months.

COUNTY R. D. ASSOCIATION

Mail Carriers Hold Quarterly Meeting at Pulaski and Select Delegates to State Convention

The quarterly meeting of the Oswego County Letter Carriers Association was held at Grand Army Hall, Pulaski, Saturday evening, July 8, and was largely attended. Many of the wives of the carriers being present.

Delegates to the covention of the State Association of Letter Carriers were elected. G. W. Hamblin of Altmar was named as the delegate at large. Other delegates were F. W. Blodgett of Fulton, J. V. B. Bayle of Oswego and Mrs. Aurie Palmer of Fulton. The convention will be held at Oneonta August 16 and 17.

The delegates were instructed to use their influence in securing the election of A. A. Wellington of Oswego as president of the state association. Mr. Wellington is now vice-president of that organization and is one of the most active members of the county association, with which he has been identified since its organization a number of years ago.

B. F. Hilton and Almar Earl Manship, [illegible] were admitted to membership, [illegible] session a banquet was served and plates were laid for fifty guests. There was no set list of toasts, but brief addresses were made by a number of the members.

The next meeting will be held at Parish October 7, when officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

A number of the carriers came to Pulaski in their touring cars.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Blodgett, R.D. 5; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Middleton, R. D. 1; and Mrs. Aurie Palmer, R. D. 9, representing the Fulton office.

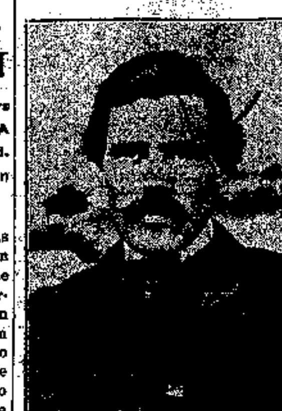
NO TETANUS CASES REPORTED IN STATE

Albany, July 5.—For the first time in the history of the State Department of Health no cases of tetanus have been reported as a result of Fourth of July celebration this year. There were eighteen cases a year ago. The department furnished antitoxin to those localities which desired it, and instructed local health authorities how to proceed in cases of emergency.



TAFT IN PHYSICAL TRIM

A writer in Collier's says that Mr. Taft is in his best physical trim at 300 pounds and that in order to keep there he must diet and exercise under a regimen prscribed by a physical trainer. If he gets up to 340 he is too heavy to do good work and if he gets down to 270 or 280 he loses strength and vigor.

It's not so hard to be reasonably sick if you don't have to be nursed by any of your relatives.

CHANDLER GROWS REMINISCENT

Writes Interestingly of By-gone Days —Complete Roster of Company A —Times Secures Sketch of Chandler's History—His Photo Taken in 1861.

S. E. CHANDLER

Editor Times: Human nature was the same from the earliest wars in America down to the present time We of this age are apt to surround the soldiers of the revolution with a halo, and the school children of the present day are inclined to wrap the same halo around the veterans of the war of 1861-66 and so it will be, through out the future ages.

If everyone who gets a copy of the Times containing this roster will make it a point to lay it away,"future ages" may be glad that it was preserved. I haye the original descriptive book of Company A, giving date of enlistment, age, color of eyes and hair, etc., etc.,

The following is made up from the descriptive book of Company A and is correct. This Company like every other Company was made up of all kinds of people; good, bad and indifferent. It would be impossible to get together 121 men, all of whom were perfect specimens of manhood, both mentally and physically. I doubt if there was a company that served during the war of the rebellion that did not have its quota of deserters. Company A is no exception. There is no neccesity for me to write the name, "Deserted," opposite any of these names As I look these nomes over the whole Company, I can with the minds eye, see every one of them and could write a long sketch in which I could touch on the good points of many. I wonder how many there are still alive of the 121. I've given place of residence of all those whom I know are alive and if any one can inform me as to the present whereabouts of any of the rest of the company I would be very thankful. Those marked veterans served a full enlistment before.

In order to make the record of Company A complete. I will say that when Captain Taylor was promoted to Major he was succeeded by Eugene Smith, who was promoted from Company B and when Lieutenant Charles Taylor was promoted to the captaincy of Company E he was succeeded who was (a Cook of 7th U.S. Cavalry with Custer on the Little Big Horn, and John Hutchinson of Company E became our 2nd Lieutenant. This makes 124 names but we never in our minds think of these three men as belonging to the company.

Roster of Company A, 24th N. Y. Voluntary Cavalry recruited at Fulton, N. Y., by Albert Taylor and mustered into the United States service December 28, 1863, at Auburn, N. Y., and arranged in alphabetical order:

NEW YORK STATE'S ONLY LADY BANKER

Among those attending the convention last week, whose winning personality made her always the center of a large circle of friends, was Mrs. M. F. Willard, who for a long period has guided the destines of that strong, clear and progressive little institution, the Citizen's National Bank of Fulton, N. Y. Mrs. Willard, the only lady banker in the State, has been a prominent figure at our conventions for a number of years and always brings with her a jolly party of ladies from Fulton, who enjoy the meetings greatly under her efficient direction, while she holds her own with her many friends among the bankers of the State, who esteem her highly.

A suggestion which was made before the close of the convention and that met with instant and flattering endorsement by everyone who heard it was that Mrs. Willard be made vice president of the association next year It would be a fitting recognition of a delightful character that has lost none of its womanliness and charm though connection with sordid business matters. Mrs. Willard is rather tall, good looking and would make a charming presiding officer of the association.—The Financial Age, July 1, 1911.

SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDED

Mrs. Donald Dey, Syracuse, Makes Gift to Smith College at Northampton

When Smith college at Northampton opens in the fall, among teh scholarships which will be available for the students one will be given by Mrs. Donald Dey of Syracuse, called the Mary Duguid Dey scholarship. The amount given by Mrs. Dey to found this scholarship is $5,000.

"I gave it," said Mrs. Dey, "in recognition of many honors which I have received through my alma mater and in appreciation of all that Smith has done for me."

The whole income from this sum of money may be given to one student alone or it may be divided among several.

Accompany the gift are the words, "An honorable scholarship, to be awarded annually to such member or members as the committee on scholarships deems worthy."

It is further stated that it may be awarded more than one year to the same student or students and that the preference is to be given to daughters of teachers or clergyment. In asking for this preference Mrs. Dey feels that girls of this class are appreciative of what is done for them and make the most of their opportunities. Only the members of the three upper classes are eligible, as it is generally conceded by educational authority that it takes one year in college to really find out the value of a student and whether or not she is worthy of a scholarship.

This gift was the first of its kind presented to President Marion LeRoy Porter when he was inaugurated last winter and was, therefore, received by him with great enthusiasm.

Mrs. Dey was for six years a trustee of Smith college and for four years president of the Alumnae association. In 1901 she represented Smith at the 50th anniversary of the mounding of Glasgow university in Scotland and at the inauguration of President Burton she represented the Alumnae association and presented the greeting to the incoming president from all the graduates of Smith college.

SALARY INCREASE R. D. CARRIERS

Postmaster General Hitchcock's Order Now In Effect—From $900 to $1,000 per Annum

The 40,000 odd rural mail carriers in the United States are to receive a salary increase as a result of a decision reached last Saturday by mean an increase of $100 over the present salary of $900 for all carriers on standard routes, with proportionate increases on the shorter routes.

Congress provided last session for the expenditure of this extra $4,000,000, but left it to the discretion of the Postmaster General how much of it should be expended.

Mr. Hitchcock decided to authorize the expenditure of the full amount. His desire to compensate the carriers for any additional burden which which may be placed on them if the parcel post system he has recommended for rural routes is approved by Congress was the most important consideration, Mr. Hitchcock, declared which eld him to make the authorization.

"Now that the men are to receive such generous increases in pay," he said, "I feel that Congress should lose no time in authorizing the carrying of parcels on rural routes. A parcel post system on rural routes can be conducted without any extra expense to the government other than the $4,000,000 salary increase, which, in my judgment, would be more than offset by the parcel post revenue."

Fulton's nine rural carriers will be benefitted by this increase.

PUBLICITY BUREAU AND GOOD ROADS TWO STATE NEEDS

C. H. Howe Says East Is Full of Inquiries About Colorado's Beauties

Colorado can attract thousands of tourists in addition to those who now come here for the summer if proper encouragement is given to the movement for good roads and the fact is advertised in the East. A municipal publicity bureau should be maintained in Denver, and through it the attractions and advantages of this city made known to the people of the Eastern states.

Such was the opinion expressed by Charles H. Howe, chairman of the the publicity committee of the Real Estate exchange and member of the mountain park executive committee of the commercial bodies. Mr. Howe returned from the East Monday night, enthusiastic over the good name he found Denver enjoys in the East, and filled with ideas which he hopes to put into practice for the beautification and benefit of his home city.

The good roads movement is at its height in the East, he said, and hundreds of inquiries were received by him as to the condition of the highways in Colorado. Once it can be impressed upon the Eastern mind that Colorado's magnificent scenery is made accessible by good roads, the tourist travel to this state will double, in Mr. Howe's opinion.

Des Moines, Iowa, with a fund of $30,000 has established a publicity bureau and is reaping extensive benefits from municipal advertising. Denver, with nearly three times the population and many times the advantages, Mr. Howe declared, should adopt this plan.

"I believe there will be the largest attendance in the history of the National Association and of Real Estate exchanges when the annual convention meets here this month," said Mr. Howe. "In every city I visited all the leading real estate men assured me they were coming and would bring large delegations. The convention means much for Denver and Colorado, for the men who are coming here control the investment of millions of dollars and we will try to see to it that they are properly informed as to the investment possibilities offered here."

SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER

The commission appointed by the President, under a resolution of Congress to ascertain the cost of transporting and handling second class mail matter and to determine what should be the rate for different classes of second class matter will begin its public sessions in the Post-office building, New York city, July 17th.

All persons and organizations desiring to appear should file notices of their appearance with a statement of the names of the persons through whom they will appear, and of the particular matters as to which they desire to be heard of to present evidence with Colley W. Bell, secretary to the commission, at his office in the Colorado Building, Washington, D. C., on or before July 10, 1911.

On account of the large number of interests involved, it is desired by the commissioners that the various organizations and persons appearing should arrange for common representation so far as practicable, as it will be impossible for the commission to hear separate representatives indiscriminately.

The members of the Commission are Charles E. Hughes, A. Lawrence Lowell and Harry A. Wheeler.

Tags for dog licenses can be procured on and after Wednesday, July 5th, at the City Clerk's office, City Hall, from 9 to 4 o'clock. Dogs not tagged two weeks from date are liable to seizure by the dog catcher.

Fulton, N. Y., July 5th, 1911.

7-12 City Clerk.

PRESIDENT TAFT FOR PARCEL POST

Prospects of post office relief from extortionate epress rates become more tangible with the announcement by Secretary Hills that the President is strongly in favor of the establishment of a general parcel post and will recommend the same without qualification in his next message.

The statement shows the President committed to a policy which he had previously recommended for trial on rural routes and of the advantage of which for general adoption he has become convinced. His promised advocacy of a complete parcel post system will give a strong impetus to the agitation for its establishment and should favorably influence congress. The President's attitude will be generally approved. The parcels post is in the public interest. To secure it would be one of the greatest services of Mr. Taft's administration.—New York World.

CITY OF FULTON, ss:

I hereby certify that the above resolutions were duly adopted at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Fulton held in the City Hall, on the 5th day of July, 1911.

J. C. Harrington, City Clerk.

Approved this 5th day of July, 1911.

Joseph H. Conners, Mayor.

The intense heat that has spread over the country this summer has had the effect of checking some of the debate in the Senate on the reciprocity bill. It is now believed that the bill will be finally passed by August 1st., President Taft will promptly sign it, and our trade with Canda will rapidly spread and develop, thus adding to the prosperity of both countries.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1911.

Sheriff Taft has made the best sheriff Oswego County ever had, and this statement is made guardedly and after doing full justice to his many predecessors. Courageous to a tremendous degree; quick of intellect; possessed of excellent judgement and with a determination and spirit that never falters while duty is unfulfilled, he has made more than very good in the office he was called by the electors to fill. When the Board of Supervisors canvassed the county bills last session the sheriff's were found absolutely flawless. The spirit and the letter of the law had been complied with in the conduct of the business end of his administration. He is just and merciful in his dealings with criminals but when he starts in pursuit of a lawbreaker and a fugitive from justice, the sheriff will either secure the man or the man will secure the sheriff. The work done during the past week by Sheriff Taft carries with it a wholesome lesson to miscreants under his jurisdiction and the moral effect upon the lawless in the community has been most convincing. The death of young Parker was sad and no one regrets its necessity more than Sheriff Taft, but his oath of office was to protect the people, not the criminal. Oswego county may well be proud of her sheriff and his conduct of his exacting office.

Considerable righteous criticism of the conduct of the local and the Oswego police force in apprehending Amos Parker and his confederate to escape from Big Island on Sunday after having been in hiding there for a week, and without exerting the slightest effort to prevent it, has been heard this week from many sources. Each police force claims that the other should have taken the desperados, and during the "you-first-my dear Alfonso" attitude assumed by these guardians of the law and protectors of public life and property, the guilty men escape. Grand larceny was committed in Oswego; assault in the first degree in firing upon officers, was committed in Fulton, and the end cannot be foretold as the young outlawe must live and they are outside the pale of honest labor; yet two bodies of officials, both and either directly responsible for the arrest of these young fellows, permitted them to escape while they quibbled over some technical point. The Times and the residents of both cities would like a reason advanced for this reprehensible conduct.

That hearing given by the Public Service Commission in the City Hall last week relative to the operating of Niagara Power in Fulton, brought out sufficient facts to prove that the Times was warranted in its position against the incoming of the foreign company. The Times regrets exceedingly that the stenographersminutes couldn ot be secured in time for this week's issue as it would have made most interesting and instructive reading for electricity users, and will thrown many new lights upon the local situation. The commission and its chairman were most fair in their rulings and both sides express themselves at satisfied with the treatment accorded to them in this court of last resort.

SURROGATE'S COURT

In Surrogate's court this morning objections were filed by Clinton N. Haws, one of the executors of the estate of Isaac Haws to the accounting of Ray A. Peterson as administrator of Charles W. Patterson as executor of the Haws estate. C linton Haws alleged that in several transactions the amounts returned are not correct. Particular objection is made to an item of $700 over a mortgage.

Letters were issued to I. Ernest Marsh on the estate of Edward N. Brown valued at $400.

SUDDENLY STRICKEN WITH DEATH

Prominent Newspaper and Business Man Stricken With Apoplexy At Home in Oswego on Monday — Passed Away Without Warning — Was Part Owner of Palladium.

L. L. Sherman was stricken with apoplexy at his home in Oswego on Monday evening and passed away without regaining consciousness. Mr. Sherman had attended to his duties as business manager of the Oswego Palladium up to the close of business on Monday evening, and went to his home where the evening was spent with his family, and in his usual health to all appearances. He retired at 10:30 o'clock and passed away at 4 o'clock before medical attendance could reach him after he was stricken.

DEATHS

Leslie, the 2-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Antonow, died with scarlet fever at the home in West First street on Friday. Burial was made in Mt. Adnah.

The death of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Torrey Ball of Oswego occurred last week. This is the second child Mr. and Mrs. Ball have lost during the past year.

Mrs. Mary Ackeroyd, aged 55, died on Wednesday at the home of her son, Fred, in West First street. The funeral services were held from the late home on Saturday afternoon. Burial was made in Mt. Adnah.

The death of Earl Loomis, at one time one of the best known and most prosperous farmers in this section of the county, occurred at the home in Volney on Thursday after years of ill health. Mr. Loomis was at one time manager of the Great Bear Spring farm and a successful cattle raiser and buyer. The widow, one son and one daughter survive.

After a residence of over fifty years in Fulton, J. J. Halstead, aged 82, passed to rest on Thursday at his home in Leitch street, at the close of a long, painful illness. The funeral services were held on Saturday morning from the late home and the Catholic church. Interment was made in St. Mary's. The deceased is survived by his widdw, seven sons, John Halstead of Michigan, Seymour, Sylvester and Harrison of this city, Chester of Dexterville, Elain of Lamsons, and George of Oswego; also three daughters, Mrs. Fred Bache and Mrs. Anna Dingle of this city and Mrs. Cora Delaney of New York city.

From the Phoenix Register the following notice was taken of the death of James Longstreet Breed, who is well known to the older residents of Fulton: Again death has entered a family circle and taken the father, who, only two short months ago, laid to rest in our cemetery the body of his son is believed to have been his son is believed to have bene largely instrumental in hastening the fatal result. Always in robust health he seemed to be very well until the last three months, when the disease made rapid strides to the end, which came at half past ten o'clock, June 30, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Clemons, 134 Palmer ave., Syracuse. Mr. Breed was born November 4, 1840, at Volney, Oswego county. He was a son of Dudley Breed and Samatha Wood, and a decendant of Allen Breed, who came to this country in 1630. He came to Phoenix when about eighteen years old and worked for his uncle, the late Oliver Breed. Later he was engaged in the grocery business and he was for many years in the boat building business here, being one of the pioneers in that line in this section of the State. He received his education in Falley seminary, Fulton. On October 2, 1862, he was married to Miss Frances Northrup, who died March 11, 1905. Three daughters and one son were born to them Of this family only one daughter, Mrs. Clemons, his son's widow and a grandson remain. In 1880 he removed with his family to Syracuse and was a prominent figure in the business circles of that city. For twenty years he was the treasurer and general manager of the New York Brick and Paving company, building up a large and lucrative business. He was for years a member of Callimachus lodge, F. and A. M. and he was a veteran mason in Syracuse. He was also a popular member of the Citizens' Club of Syracuse, where of late he spent much of his time. He was always warmly welcomed by relatives and friends on his frequent visits to Phoenix, and his last visit was when, sad and worn, he brought his loved son here for burial. On Monday, July 3, the funeral services were held at his home on Palmer avenue, Rev. Mr. Betts officiating, friends and and beautiful flowers, his body was committed to rest in his plot in Phoenix Rural cemetery by the beautiful burial rite of the Masons. The sympathy of a large circle of friends, both in Syracuse and Phoenix, goes out to the daughter, who is left very lonely by the home going of this dear father.

NORTH VOLNEY

The L. A. S. is to meet at the usual place Wednesday of this week July 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weideman of Vermillion and Mr. Ernest Carey of Phoenix were guests at F. A. Hall's on Sunday.

Howard, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Ingersoll was kicked in the face one day last week by a horse, however, no bones were broken. Dr. Keller of Fulton attends.

Mr. Glenn Trimble of Jennings Corners while in town on business last week had an accident, the steering wheel came off and his automobile ran off the bank on Burr hill. Mr. Trimble was uninjured.

The friends of Mr. George Whitney of New Haven were pained to learn of his injuries from a runaway when he was dragged about a mile. No bones were broken and he is doing as well as could be expected.

WINS OWN GIFT

F. A. Emerick won the cup presented by himself at the golf tournament at the County Club Friday but refused to accept it. The cup will be contested for again at a tournament to be held the first Saturday after the new trolley line opens if whenever that may be.

"Gas Cookers," with three top burners, and large oven burner, $9.50 during the special sale at the Gas office.

SHERIFF TAFT

Charles H. Taft has been the sheriff of Oswego county from the moment he entered the office. His eye has been on the job every minute of the time. He has filled the bill to the fullest. He has been faithful, efficient and courageous. Also he has been tireless and resourceful, honoring the office in every way in which duty well performed could honor it. He has known no such word as fail or let up when the demands of the position have called for action. The capture of Eddy for the killing of Reed at Pulaski and Eddy's escape without being apprehended at the time, served to show with what astuteness and promptness as sheriff he could pick up clues and unerringly follow a trail till it led to capture. His relentless day and night pursuit of the four jail breakers till he overhauled them is another example serving to bring out the qualities of the man in every way so well fitted for the shrievalty office. The killing of Parker, who was doing his utmost to kill his pursuers, was a demonstration that Sheriff Taft is a bad man for the criminally disposed and desperate to run up against. The moral effect of a spirit so determined and fearless in the discharge of duty is of inestimable value in compelling respect for law and order and in the suppression of the criminal elements in any community.

In the election of Charles H. Taft for sheriff, no mistake was made.—Oswego Times.

Now the coronation is over the British parliamentary fight it is predicted will be resumed in fiercer form than ever.

While bemoaning his fate, it being so hard to get out of prison, Iceman Morse should remember what a hard time the government had putting him in.

THE WEEK

Actual business is reduced by the extreme heat extending over a wide section of the country; otherwise, developments of the week are generally favorable. Sensational reports of damage to the corn crop and of considerable injury to spring wheat by reason of heat and drought were exaggerated. As an offset to any injury to grain is the splendid government report on cotton, which gives promise of the largest crop in the records of the country. In addition to what this means in the creating of a balance in foreign commerce, the effect on the dry goods trade is most encouraging; the temporary effect is, of course, to augment the curtailment of cotton goods production, for manufacturers naturally wait for the expected lower prices as a result of the big crop, but if the outlook is realized the ultimate effect is an important price readjustment in a great industry. The betterment in iron and steel is maintained, and the ratio of production to capacity in the case of the chief producer has advanced. There are signs of increased inquiry for shoes, but purchases are for current requirements. The security markets have been unsettled by the conflicting crop news and the renewed international complication over Morocco. The holidays as well as the heat have interfered with retail trade. Bank clearings in the first week of July, outside of New York, show, nevertheless a fair distribution of business, the totals being only 0.6 per cent. less than in 1910, but 13.3 per cent. more than in 1909; at New York there were declines of 9.1 and 0.9 per cent., respectively. Railroad earnings during four weeks of June declined 2.7 per cent. Notwithstanding all the drawbacks of the first half of the year, which served to retard enterprize, the statistics show an increase of more than $181,000,000 of new corporate securities issued in six months. Foreign trade continues a very bright spot in the business position and the redeeming feature in both dry goods and iron and steel. From the port of New York in the latest week the exports were $[illegible]21,437, a large increase over the two previous years, and comparing with $14,826,128 imports, which show a reduction of $2,706,506 from 1910.

Inquiries for pig iron continue in excess of actual trading but there is a steady buying in all sections of the country. The improvement in the steel trade during June is indicated by the monthly statement of the Iron Age, which shows a daily output of the steel plants in June of 42,791 tons against 42,270 tons in May. There was some decline, however, in the output of merchant furnaces. The total estimated daily capacity of furnaces in blast July 1 was 54,979 tons against 61,844 June 1, and the total output in June 1,787,566 gross tons against 1,893,456 tons in May. For the six months production is placed at 11,630,654 tons against 12,319,807 the first half of 1910, the high record production. The daily output in June, 59,585 tons, compares with 61,079 in May and only 56,752 in January.

Business in dry goods at wholesale continued quiet after the holidays. In cotton goods the chief feature was the opening of lines of fine goods for spring at prices that show a closer margin of profit to mills than any named in several seasons. Export figures continue very favorable and the depletion of stocks in first and second hands is emphasized by the curtailment of production, which reached its highest level this week. The probability of a large cotton crop this year serves at this time to reduce drastic curtailment at the mills to conserve limited supplies of the raw material, while purchases of goods are delayed in anticipation of lower prices. Secondary distributors of dress goods are doing a fair full business in rough fabrics. As showing the spotty condition of trade it was noted that the largest woolen goods mill in the country is sold up for fall, while many of the worsted mills are idle.

There is more animation in footwear, due to the arrival of quite a large number of buyers in the New England market, but purchases are generally confined to current requirements. The leather markets hold firm, but the recent holiday served to check the demand, and shoe manufacturers are now engaged in inventory taking. Supplies of sole leather are limited. Union sole and oak tannages are very strong. Upper leather is in demand for current requirements, but high prices for calf still serve to check the demand to some extent. The hide market continues well maintained, with a further advance of 1-4, for native steers, July salting selling up to 16 1-4c. Buying, however has been on a more conservative basis. Native cows continue scarce and branded varieties are firm in price. Colorado steers are reported sold at 14 3-4c. The foreign hide markets are also strong and at the recent Paris auctions advances were secured for all varieties.

The important factor, not only to the cotton market, but to the cotton goods trade as well, is the promise of the largest cotton crop grown, the Government crop report on Monday placing the condition at 88.2, a small gain as compared with the condition a month earlier. The speculative market was little affected by the report. In the cereal market, sensational dispatches regarding corn carried the price of that grain 5c. above previous quotations. Results as to the winter wheat harvest continue generally favorable, but there are further reports of damage to spring wheat. Supplies of wheat in sight are much larger than at this time last year or in 1909. Offerings of new wheat increase this week of 3,889,570 bushels comparing with 2,282,895, the reports from all parts of the United States, flour included, were 1,156,277 bushels against 338,516 bushels a year ago. Arrivals of corn at primary markets of 3,318,662 bushels were larger than the 3,006,907 bushels in 1910, while Atlantic coast exports were 497,483 bushels against only 273,518 last year.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for June amount to $13,652,025 of which $7,253,635 were in manufacturing $4,8907,24 in trading and $1,507.66 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 176 in the United States against 189 last year, and 21 in Canada compared with 26 a year ago.

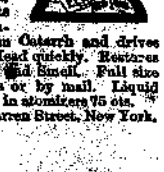
MINE PROMOTERS INDICTED

A. L. Wisner & Company Charged With Using Mails to Defraud

Indictments charging conspiracy to use the mails to defraud were filed Friday by the federal grand jury against Archie L. Wisner, Emmett S. Wisner, John J. Meyers and Charles F. Humphrey. A separate indictment was filed against the firm of A. L. Wisner & Company, of No. 225 Fifth aveque, with which all the defendants were connected.

The charges grew out of the sale of stock by the concern in the "United Tonopah and Goldfield Mines, Limited." The Fifth avenue offices of the Wisner company were raided by postoffice inspectors last March.



A review of the past month will show that there has been no curtailment in the June Bride industry.

SOLVES A DEEP MYSTERY

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Bader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to ridt he system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

AN UP-TO-DATE BUSINESS MAN

As an illustration of W. G. Gage's business sagacity, the following is an example. A friend formerly from a distant county stated to me that Mr. Gage entered his office one afternoon and said, "Fred, don't you want to take a ride?" He replied, "that depends". They took a train for Lyons, Wayne County, where Fred Bennett, formerly of this cyit used to live; hired a team and drove around among the farmers buying up some twenty thousand bushels of wheat. In two or three days the price advanced so that he received five thousand dollars for his afternoon's work. The above illustration shows that farmers should be equally ambitious, alert and intelligent in regard to their business. Mr. Bennett told me that the Gage firm owed their success to the fact that they were such tremendous workers. Mr. W. G. Gage succeeded in whatever he undertook.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

For their next week's offering commencing with the performance on Monday evening July 17, the Empire Stock company at the Empire Theatre will present that funny farce, "Charley's Aunt."

Here is a comedy that is a continuous ripple of laughter; every bone in its body, so to speak, is a funny bone; every line is a laugh, every situation a scream, every character bubbling over with jollity. Fifteen years ago England began to laugh over "Charley's Aunt" and it has not stopped laughing yet. Every now and then when London wants to howl with laughter, she calls for Charley's Aunt."

Jack Chesney, Charley Wykeham and Lord Fancourt Babberly are cronies. The first two are in love with Amy Spettigue and Kittie Verdum. Lord Fancourt's adoration is centered on a girl whom he has seen only once and that was at Monte Carlo.

Charley has received word that his aunt, Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez of Brazil is coming to visit him. She is reputed to be the wealthiest woman in South America and Charley is her only heir.

Naturally the young man is very much delighted in anticipation of his aunt's visit. He and Jack make preparations to receive her and invite Kitty and Amy to their rooms to meet her. Jack also tells his father of Donna Lucia's coming and intimates to him that it would not be a bad idea for him to be attentive to her, as she has millions. Sir Francis Chesney being a widower, takes the cue from the hint and spruces up for the distinguished visitor. The girls arrive in due time but find no aunt. The boys are in a dilemma. Just when they had expected her, a telegram arrives stating that she has been delayed and cannot come that day.

Without her presence the girls cannot properly remain in the student's rooms. Jack and Charley are both anxious to have a quiet talk with the girls—in fact are ready to "pop the question" and no time is to be lost as the girls are going away for the summer the next day.

In his desperation, Jack hits upon a scheme. Lord Fancourt or "Babby" as he is called, is quite a hand at amateur theatricals and is especially good at making up as female characters. "Babby" is dressed up as the aunt and presented as Donna Lucia. What follows the deception, can be better imagined than described. At the height of the fun, the real aunt arrives with the girl whom "Babby" loves. The situation becomes ludicrous and continues so, until the boys make a confession and clear up the mishaps and put things back in their normal condition. How amusing the bogus aunt will be can be surmised from the announcement that Mr. Kellard will play the part.

The usual matinee will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. 25 cents.

A LOVER'S TEST

By MARGARET KELLY

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

In Constantinople there once lived a young girl whose father and mother dying, had left her a snug fortune Moreover, her parents being dead, she was at liberty to choose a husband for herself.

Now, Fatima—that was the girl's name—was very particular about one thing in the man who should be her husband. She wished him to be a brave man. Superstition at that time hung like a pall upon the Turks as well as the Christians. But Fatima was more enlightened than others and had a contempt for any young man who would be terror stricken at a supposed apparition.

Three lovers sought her hand. To the first she said: "My father last night appeared to me in a dream and told me that if I would send one whom I thought of marrying to the sepulcher in the cemetery where his body and those of others of our family lie he would appear to the suitor and give me to him. Go there and receive me from my father, and in the morning return to me. Then I will marry you."

The young man, whose name was Abdallah, reluctantly accepted the situation and said that he would go to the sepulcher as soon as it was dark and wait for the ghost's appearance.

Then Fatima told the second lover, Hamid, what she had done, adding that if he would go to the sepulcher and appear to Abdallah as a ghost and scare him away she would accept Hamid for her husband. Hamid was quite pleased at what he considered an easy way to get a rich wife and agreed to abide by the result of his effort.

The third suitor, Bismillah, was an independent fellow, and Fatima preferred him to either of the others. She told him of the arrangement she had made with them and said that she would also give him a chance for her hand. Whoever of the three was found in the sepulcher in the morning she would marry.

"Nonsense!" replied Bismillah. "I'm not going to make a guy of myself by sleeping in a tomb."

"Oh, I thought you loved me," replied Fatima.

"So I do, but not well enough to risk my life by remaining all night in a cold sepulcher. What good would it do me to win a wife and die?"

"It's very plain," said Fatima, "that you do not love me."

"I don't call love giving way to a whim."

"It is not a whim; it is a test."

"Very well, test these other men. I have no mind to enter such an absurd competition."

He turned on his heel and left her. She was very much disappointed. She had given her word to the other two to marry the one who should fulfill the conditions, relying on Bismillah, whom she knew to be brave and free from superstitious, to occupy the sepulcher and thus win her. His refusal upset all her plans and would give her a husband she did not wish to marry.

She lay awake all night bemoaning the miscarriage of her plan and thinking how foolish she had been to undertake it. She knew Bismillah would not fear to remain all night in any uncanny place, and she respected him for not being willing to win her in such fashion. Besides, his indifference only made her more anxious to have him for her husband.

She fretted over the matter till just before dawn, when she determined to go herself and try to frighten away the suitors she did not wish to marry. Dressing herself, she wound a sheet about her and hurried to the cemetery. Approaching the sepulcher of her ancestors, she heard a sound and stopped to listen. Could it be a snore? Surely it was a snore. One of the men she had sent there had got rid of the other, gone into the sepulcher and fallen asleep.

All now depended on Fatima's frightening away the man in the sepulcher. The moon had risen, and there was light enough from this and the coming of dawn for her to be distinctly seen, though it was too dark for her to see the man in the sepulcher. Standing before the door, which was open, she gave a shriek. There was a sound as of some one turning, the creaking of some sort of a bed, and a voice came:

"Leave this abode of the dead," said Fatima in a sepulchral voice, "or I will drag you with me to Tartarus."

"That would please me greatly," replied the voice inside. "By coming here I have put myself in an unpleasant position. A girl told me that if I would occupy this place till morning she would marry me. I refused; then, lest she should think me cowardly, I came. I brought my bed with me and drove away two fools I found here. Now I suppose I shall have to marry this girl. I would prefer going with you to Tartarus."

There was silence for a few moments, then Fatima gave a sob, then a laugh, and Bismillah, who knew from the first it was she, sprang from the cot he occupied, took her in his arms and checked her sobs and her laughter with kisses.

Then, taking up his bed, he carried it, walking home beside her.

There wasn't any trouble about her choosing a lover after that. The two other suitors took a back seat, and Bismillah occupied the only front one.

PRISONERS ESCAPED

Murderous Assault on Under Sheriff Dennis at Oswego Jail—Capture and Death of One of the Culprits and Arrest of the Remaining Prisoners.

Four men escaped from the Oswego County Jail last Tuesday after making a murderous assault on under sheriff John M. Dennis and attempting to shoot him.

The men were Walter Parker, brother of Amos, who is alleged to have robbed Cohen's store at Oswego recently, and Wallace Kelly, both serving sentences for burglarizing Smith's hardware store in the same city about a year ago; Vino Barneretl and Louis DeBilo, both of Fulton, one serving a sentence and the other awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

In taking Kelly from the southwest section of cells to the office to have his hair cut. He had to open a door leading from a corridor into the jail. Several of the prisoners including aPrker were in the corridor. As soon as the door was opened Kelly jumped on the under sheriff, Kelly followed by Parker and the two Italians fled from the jail and to the river bank

Kelly, gaining possession of Mr. Dennis' automatic revolver pressed it against his body and snapped the trigger. It failed to explode, and this fact alone saved Mr. Dennis' life. The men threw the revolver away, and, followed by Parker and the two Italians, fled from the jail and ot onto the river bank.

When Mr. Dennis saw that Kelly did not understand operating the revolver he grappled with the prisoner. Kelly got his finger into the officer's mouth, and in pulling it out took two of Mr. Dennis' teeth.

The men were unable to get the under sheriff's keys, but Parker and the two Italians raced htrough the door and escaped, running through the jail office to the river road.

The regular deputies were off duty for the day and Sheriff Taft was in the city on business. Mr. Dennis quickly locked the corridor door, and, though dazed and bleeding, hurried to the telephone and notified the sheriff and the police. Within a few minutes they were on the scene making a search for the fugitives.

Mr. Dennis came to Oswego on the trolley and the injuries on his head were dressed by Dr. J. E. Mansfield. The wounds consisted of several bad scalp wounds but not of a serious nature.

Sheriff Taft, Deputy Sheriffs Byron Curtiss of Central Square, Eddie Vickery of Phoenix and Patrolman Brannigan of this city followed clue after clue regarding the whereabouts of the fugitives until Thursday morning early when the four men were found near Cicero and a fierce battle on the one side for life and liberty and on the other side for law, ensued. The Italians were taken without effort, handcuffed and left with a deputy. As soon as the sheriff and his posse came within hailing distance of the other prisoners they called to them to surrender Parker responded with a running fir of bullets aimed at his pursuers. Some of the bullets came so close to the party of officers that one passed through one leg of the trousers worn by Sheriff Taft. When it was seen that the desperate characters were about to make their escape into some heavy timber, the sheriff gove the order to his men to cease firing into the air to frighten the men, and to shoot to halt them. Parker was the only armed man in the crowd. He still carried Under Sheriff Dennis's automatic revolver, and the revolvers were turned on him. One bullet entered Parker's left side just below the heart and he fell writhing in agony. Kelly then threw up his hands and surrendered. Parker's body was placed in the sheriff's automobile and he was hastened to Dr. Tripp's office in Cicero where he expired before he could be carried into the house. Neither of the deputies knows which one fired the shot. Parker's body was turned over to the coroner of Onondaga County and his remains were finally taken to the Syracuse Medical college, his father, who lives in Fulton, refusing to have anything to do with it.

Sheriff Taft brought the other three prisoners to Oswego with him in his automobile and they will undoubtedly be indicted on heavy charges when the Grand Jury sets in October.

Under Sheriff Dennis says that he feels so bitter toward Kelly that he never wants to see him again.

Sheriff Taft and his posse were completely worn out with their three days and nights ceaseless search for the self liberated desperadoes and they are to be congratulated upon their courage and the success of their quest.

MAGEE ASSAULTS UMPIRE

During the progress of a game between the Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals in Philadelphia on Monday, Sherwood Magee, who is well known in Fulton, made an assault on Umpire Finneran and injured him so severely that it was necessary to remove him from the field.

In the second inning Magee made a kick when he was called out by Rigler, the field umpire, while trying to steal second base. In the next inning Magee was called out on strikes by Finneran, whereupon he threw his bat in the air and started away from the plate.

For this exhibition of disapproval Finneran ordered him to the clubhouse, Magee then turned and made a rush at the umpire, who stepped toward the player. The men clinched but Magee stepped back and, pushing Finneran away, shot out his left with full force. The blow landed on Finneran's mouth, and he fell to the ground as if knocked out. It took several seconds for the players, who were dazed by the unexpected assault, to gather their wits togteher and then a score of them rushed to the spot.

Finneran finally managed to get to his feet. Blood was flowing from the gash in his lip. He made a rush toward Magee, but the players prevented a further outbreak.

After going to the dressing room and finding that he could not stop the flow of blood, Finneran was taken to a hospital for treatment. Rigler finished the game alone.

Magee says that the assault was provoked by Finneran calling him an offensive name when he was ordered off the field.

Finneran denies that he called Magee any names, saying: "I simply told him to get out of the game. I will leave it to Roger Bresnahan, who stood near and heard all that was said."

SAGA-BONDIA CAMP SOLD TO BALDWINSVILLE MAN

A. J. Tooley, a manufacturer in Baldwinsville, has purchased the camp in Second Wright's woods, on the Seneca river, known as the Saga-Bondia. Mr. Tooley and his family took possession this week.

This camp was built and used for a number of seasons by Rev. Francis J. Quinn of Syracuse, who sold it to to party of young men from Syracuse and Baldwinsville at the time he built his new cottage at Skaneateles lake. The camp is pleasantly located and is considered one of the best places on the Seneca river above Baldwinsville.

HOW TO RESTRAIN LOAN SHARKS

Albany, July 8.—Governor Dix signed Mr. Brooks' bill requiring all persons or companies engaged in the business of loaning money on salaries to file with a county clerk a certificate under oath giving names and residences of individuals, partners, or in case of a corporation of officers and directors, managers or trustees and the place where the business is transacted. The new law is designed to prohibit charge of exorbitant rates of interest.

UP STATE FOOLED AGAIN?

Are Patronage Promises by Tammany to Be Disregarded?

Albany, July 11.—Controlling reasons which prompted up state support of the Tammany election, highway, conservation, court of claims, state fire marshal and other "grab bills," are gradually becoming public.

Surprise has been manifest that up state Democratic leaders and legislators would be so foolish as to put their heads, so to speak, in the tiger's maw. It appears, however, that the Tammany men assured the up staters that Tammany has no desire to grab for its followers the vast amount of patronage provided by these grab bills, but is content with what is afforded them by the New York city administration now and what will come after the proposed new charter is passed and the Republican and independent officials elected by the people two years ago are shorn of much of their powers by the New York "charter ripper bill."

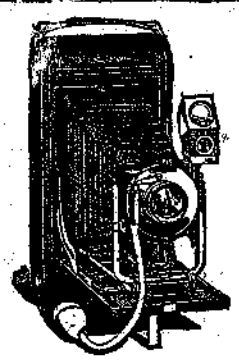
"We want to help you build a fine up state Democratic organization," say these Tammany sirens, "and these bills will provide the means. All the patronage they carry will go to up state men, and we will not confirm any of Governor Dix's nominations until they are satisfactory to our up state allies. Not a man nominated by Governor Dix, however, be he up state or New York, who has trained with Thomas Mott Osborne or William James Conners or the Democratic State league can be confirmed by the senate. We control that absolutely."

It is whispered here, however, that the Tammany men have tricked their up state allies once more and that all the jobs created by the grab bills will go either to Tammany men or to mutual friends of Governor Dix and Charles F. Murphy. If up state does not like this program it may as well possess its soul in patience, as it will go through whether it likes it or not. Tammany is in the saddle, and Charles F. Murphy is a hard rider.

Are Farmers to Be Punished?

Albany, July 11.—It is current rumor here that, not satisfied with grabbing control of up state elections, Tammany proposes to further punish the rural communities of the state for their audacity in voting the Republican ticket in large measure. It is said that Tammany has issued orders that no more state aid be given to "county roads," but that appropriations are to be made only for "main state highways" owned and controlled by the state and upon which the Tammany magnates travel in their high power cars at breakneck speed. Either specific repeal of the "state aid laws" is to be jammed through the legislature or the appropriations therefor are to be omitted from the appropriation bills of 1911 and so accomplish the desired result by indirection.

Grabbing the Places.



The Tammany legislature is proceeding along the lines of grabbing everything in sight—and out of sight—in the way of salaried positions.

Having a pliant governor, Tammany evidently proposes to pick everything possible while the picking is good, fully realising that this will be their last chance. They are getting bolder as the session hangs on, and some pretty tough propositions may be forced through.

Democratic control is showing itself, horns and all. How do the people of the state relish it? Have they had about enough?

SKETCH OF LIFE OF S. E. CHANDLER

In the year of our Lord, 1637, William Chandler emigrated to this country from England and settled in Roxbury, Massachusetts. The subject of this sketch descended from William Chandler in the following order: William, John, Joseph, Josiah, Stephen, Clark, Stephen E. Stephen Chandler enlisted April 17, 1777, in the 5th regiment of Massachusetts Bay volunteers under Colonel Rufus Putnam for three years and was mustered out April 12, 1780, having served three years lacking five days. He participated in all the battles in which the regiment was engaged in the Revoluntionary war. Was at the surrender of Burgoine. Soon after the close of the war he moved to Rochester. In 1810 the family moved to Potsdam, St. Lawrence County, New York. Clark Chandler married Hermona Slafter about the year 1837 and moved to Calhoun County, Michigan, where he bought a farm of 120 acres from the United States. This farm was six miles north of Marshall.

The subject of this sketch was born November 20, 1841, in a log house on this farm. In September, 1847 the family returned to St. Lawrence county, N. Y., having been forced to leave the State on account of fever and ague. They located at what was later Stockholm depot. The Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain railroad was built and in running order in 1850. In 1852 the family moved to Westbury, Wayne county, nineteen miles southwest of Fulton, and in April, 1856 they moved to Granby Center where two members of the family still reside.

Stephen Edwin Chandler, the subject of this sketch enlisted about April 25, 1861 in a company that was being organized by Orwell J. Jennings in answer to President Lincoln's call for 75,000 volunteers to put down the rebellion. This company was afterward known as Company E. of the 24th Regiment N. Y. Volunteer Infantry. He served with the company and on detached duty in the engineer department 'till May 26, '63, when he was mustered out with the regiment at Elmira, N. Y. by reason of expiration of term of service. October 5, 1863 he re-enlisted as Quartermaster Sergeant in Company A. 24th N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry, and participated in the campaign from the "Wilderness" up to and including the seige of Petersburg, Va. up to August 16, '64, when he was wounded, which passed him to the hospital. Upon his return he participated in all the movements of the regiment during the winter of '64-'65 and later, in the campaign with Sheriden that finally compelled Lee to surrender the army of Northern Virginia to Grant at Appomattox Court House, Va., April 9, 1865.

He had a horse shot from under him April 5 and also April 6, '65. April 5 he went between the firing lines at Amelia Springs, Va., and assisted Corporal Eugene VanBuren who had been seriously wounded from the field, for which he was awarded a Congress medal of honor. The medal having been sent to him by order of President McKinley. Later he was presented with a medal of honor of the new design.

In November, 1865 he went to Dayton, Ohio, where he was in the employ of the Cincinnatti, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, remaining there until July, 1872. He married Mary A. V. Gill of Canton, N. Y. in 1868. In July, 1872 he moved to Worthington, Minn., and in November, 1880 he moved to Minneapolis, Minn., where he is at present residing.

Some of Mr. Morgan's costly pictures may be fakes, but the decision handed him by Secretary Fisher in the Cunningham cases is the genuine article.

TROLLEY LINE COMPLETED

S. L. S. & N. R. R. Completed Between Syracuse and Oswego—Cars Will Probably Be in Operation Within a Fortnight—Last Spike Driven on Saturday in Presence of Large Number of Residents.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, the last spike wasd riven in the rails connecting Oswego and Syracuse with each other by electric road. The spike was driven in the presence of a large number of citizens who were interested spectators of the event which means much in the line of progress for the company, and will either make or break the retail life in Fulton.

It was a fact noted by many, that few of the city officials were present at the final connecting of the lines of rail; perchance they were not invited formally; perchance they do not feel pleased with the work and the methods of its accomplishment.

The bridge is being strengthened by the company at an expense of practically $25,000. This work is not completed as yet, although nearly so, and in all proability the work car will pass over the lower bridge and the route to Oswego the latter part of this week. The roadway does not permit of the passing of two teams on the bridge when a car is passing, and care must be exercised all the time to prevent accidents with heavy negligence suits attendant.

The citizens present who were photographed after the clinching of the rails were: Resident Engineer T. M. Ripley, E. J. Schem, Superintendent of Public Works Stephen Martin, President J. A. Foster of the Board of Public Works, C. A. Bennett, Marvin Thompson, Joseph Fitzgerald, George Jackson, I. L. Jones, H. L. Gilman, George True, George Morton, Clinton Gardner and M. Wells.

GUESTS AT LAKE NEATAHWANTA

Dr. B. F. Mason of Fulton gave a delightful shore dinner to a few of his friends from Syracuse yesterday on Lake Neatahwanta. The party enjoyed themselves with games and races, of which Miss Gussie Dopffel won the first prize in the 100-yard dash. Those who enjoyed the day were: Miss Carrie Dopffel, Miss Lulu Dopffel, Miss Gussie Dopffel, Miss Elsa Dopffel, Dr. B. T. Mason, Christ Priggle, Charles Shafer and H. Reisinger. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. William Dopffel and Mrs. Olive Mason.—Journal.

NEW FURNITURE FIRM IN FULTON

Progressive and Popular Young Business Man Purchases Established Business—Associated With Aunt Who is a Practical Business Woman

On Tuesday morning a business transfer of considerable importance took place in this city when Mr. Bert C. Van Buren and his aunt, Miss Fanny Van Buren of Cortland, purchased the furniture business of E. S. Brown, who will conduct a modern undertaking establishment in the DeBarber block in First street.

Mr. Van Buren, who is an engineer and surveyor by profession, is a life long resident of Fulton, having been born here. He is exceedingly and deservedly popular with all classes of people, having a most enviable reputation for strict squareness and integrity. While he does not bring to the business much experience in that particular line, he does possess a determination to make a success of the furniture business and to build each day for a permanent future success. His host of friends will gladly see him forge ahead and they will undoubtedly give him very substantial proof of their desire to see him succeed, by bestowing liberal patronage upon him.

Miss Van Buren was a former resident of this city and she has a host of friends here who will be pleased to again have her with them.

The new firm starts off under the most auspicious circumstances and with every outlook bright for success. Their business card appears on page 5 of this issue.

MANUFACTURERS AND BOATMEN HINDERED

Owing to the low water in the river the Oswego canal in this city is practically dry, there being but a few inches of water between the banks. Even though the canal was being used by boats to any extent, it would be impossible to pass them through this point. With the normal depth of water, the three or four pleasure boats, which have passed through, have become grounded at the canal bridge near First street. At times when some of these small boats have been passing through the canal it has been found necessary to shut down the big head gates leading to the hydraulic canal so that the water could be thrown into the canal. This in some instances has helped to keep up the level.

Superintendent Hartnett is in a quandary. On account of throwing many out of employment he has hesitated to close the wheels of the mills. In the meantime he has received many complaints from patrons of the canal.

Contractor Bradley has been engaged by the manufacturers to stop the leaks at the head gates of the hydraulic canal.

BETTER TRAIN SERVICE AT ALTMAR

Albany, July 17.—The Public Service Commission, Second District, has ordered the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company to either stop its train No. 44 at Altmar, Oswego county, to take on passengers for Utica or points on the main line, or to make an arrangement whereby train No. 49 shall take passengers to Richland to connect with train No. 44 without expense by reason of the necessity of doubling to Richland in order to secure passage on train No. 44.

THOUGHT THEY SAW PARKER

The report that Amos Parker was seen in the Second ward, Saturday, created quite a furore among the residents of that section as the reports emanated from people who were acquainted with him. The report seemed confirmed when it was found that the store of Angelo Peluso had been robbed Saturday night of bananas and other fruits as well as a few groceries, and the cash drawer had been opened and a small sum of money taken.

The news of Parker and his friend being in town was brought to the attention of the police and officers McGrath and Dairymple were detailed to make a thorough search. They learned that a man answering Parker's description had bought meat at the store of Patrick Dowd at the corner of East Seventh and Seneca streets. From there they traced the supposed Parker to the lake shore in the vicinity of Hessler's foundry where they found six hoboes cooking meat and preparing supper. They saw the man who answered to the description of Parker but Parker himself was not to be found. The police were inclined to believe that the fugitive has left this section of the country.

To further complicate the story, a man who works for Mr Dowd and who knows Parker well reports that he saw him in the vicinity of Fulton.

There was a rumor around this morning that Parker had probably landed in Canada long before this. A man who had known Parker a year or so ago claims that he saw a man, who he would almost swear was Parker, board a barge at the Lackawanna trestle on Wednesday afternoon.

According to the report Parker came down the lake shore bank and hurried out on the trestle, boarding the barge just as the lines were cast off. The man supposed to be Parker was carrying a suit case at the time. If it was Parker, he would have landed in Canada and could have beat it almost anywhere after that in perfect safety.—Oswego Times Monday, July 10.

McNAMARAS WILL BE TRIED OCTOBER 10

Los Angeles, Cala., July 14.—The trial of John and James McNamara on the charge of murder in connection with the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times will begin October 10.

The two prisoners were brought before Judge Bordwell today and pleaded not guilty. After a brief perfunctory argument by counsel the court set October 10th as the date.

The specific charge on which they will be tried is covered by the indictment relating to the death of J. Wesley Reeves, an employe of the Times. The attorneys for the defense intimated that they would ask separate trials for the McNamara brothers.

CERTIORARI PROCEEDINGS

The Sweets, of Phoenix, Want Their Assessment Reviewed

Issued raised in the certiorari proceedings brought by Kirk N. Sweet and Thaddeus C. Sweet against William S. Blake and others as Assessors of Phoenix, will be heard before a referee under a ruling that Justice W. S. Andrews made. The Sweet's desire the assessment on their factory reduced $10,000. Judge Andrews in this ruling held that the value of the plant was a question of fact upon which evidence should be taken.

MARRIED

At the First Methodist parsonage Monday, July 17, at 8 p. m., Jesse Franklin Brown, a motorman on the Lakeshore and Northern, and Miss Lena Alice Davis, both of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. C. L. Peck. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Guernsey, the former a brother of the bride.

Cards have been received in Fulton announcing the marriage in Brooklyn of Miss Blanche Morse and Mr. E. Carl Anderson. The bride was the recent guest of Fulton friends and was the honor guest at several functions while here. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will make their future home after Aug. 15, at Johnsbury, Vermont.

APPOINTED FIRST CITY MARSHALL

The Common Council at its meeting on Friday night approved the appointment of John W. Youngs at the first city marshall of Fulton, the office having been created by the charter amendments recently enacted. Mr. Youngs is given the same powers as the patrolmen and is also delegated to serve papers in legal proceedures, this work having formerly been done by the patrolmen, adding so much additional labor to their other duties.

The change was gratefully appreciated by the patrolmen and the appointment of Mr. Youngs is most satisfactory.

DOER OF GOOD

A man visited the local postoffice one day last week and riveting his attention on a list of letters and cards exposed to view in the lobby on which postage was not paid, sought the clerk at the general delivery window and insisted on paying the charges on all such mail. He visited the postoffice again in the afternoon but could not find any further necessity for the bestowal of his benefactions. Before leaving, he expressed the fullest confidence in the basic conditions of the country and in the integrity of its leading citizens. His conduct aroused the curiosity of the clerk who inquired how this philanthropic made his rise in life. "I started life in a Canadian bank," he whispered; "the rest was easy."

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS IN THE LARGER CITIES

Washington, July 16.—Postmaster-General Hitchcock today designated the main postoffices in New York, Chicago, Boston and St. Louis as postal savings depositories. They will begin to receive deposits on Aug. 1.

The four cities were named because of their great population and commercial prominence and because in each one is located a United States sub-treasury, which will facilitate the heavy banking business that is likely to result from postal savings transactions.

As in the smaller cities, the system probably will be particularly popular with the foreign-born residents, many of whom now send their surplus savings to their home countries. From New York city alone last year the money orders sent abroad by foreign-born residents aggregated $9,000,000.

The foreign-born population of New York exceeds 1,500,000; in Chicago, 700,000; in Boston, 200,000; in St. Louis, 150,000. Money orders were sent abroad last year to the amount of $5,500,000 from Chicago; $2,300,000 from Boston, and $1,000,000 from St. Louis.

THE JUDICIAL SITUATION

The Herald on Sunday gave a synopsis of the judicial situation in Oswego County as its special correspondent found it upon a tour of the cities and towns. The article was conservative and unbiased and was in part as follows:

Mr. Bartlett's Statemente

Without making this story longer than it is absolutely necessary to give the reader a fair conception of what is taking place in Oswego county just now, let us quote what the opponent of Mr. Hubbs says in his own behalf, and let it be remembered all the time that Mr. Bartlett is the organization candidate for justice. The Herald man had the privilege of meeting with Mr Bartlett, with Congressman Luther W. Mott, with Sheriff Charles W. Taft, who is chairman of the Republican county committee, and with Postmaster John B. Alexander, who is also the editor of the Republican newspaper organ, the Oswego Times, in Mr. Bartlett's office, and at the same time.

"I am well pleased with the prospect of securing the judicial delegates from Oswego county.

"Conservative estimate indicates that I will carry every ward in the cities of Oswego and Fulton and every town in the county except Richland, Redfield, Amboy, Parish, West Monroe and Hastings.

"There is a general feeling all through the judicial district that Oswego county should have a Supreme court judge. I have the most reliable assurances from the leading members of the bar of the various counties comprising the judicial district that I will receive the nomination for the office of Supreme court justice, in case I carry Oswego county. I had these assurances before I became a candidate and have been receiving them ever since.

"As the campaign progresses my prospects grow brighter each day, both in this county and in the district."

Mr. Hubbs' Statement

"I entered the contest for delegates for the Republican nomination for Supreme court justice some time after my opponents had announced their candidacy and after Mr. Bartlett had made an extensive personal canvass of the county. The delay was caused by my desire to ascertain definitely the sentiment of the district. After becoming convinced that there was a decided sentiment throughout the district in favor of giving Oswego county a justice and after believing that I could be nominated if I carried Oswego county, I entered the contest.

"I have made my canvass as a Republican seeking the support of Republicans for a Republican nomination. I have sought the support of all Republicans without regard to factional feeling. There is a widespread feeling throughout the county that this is too important a matter for the county to permit the delegates to be given to any one as a political reward. It seems to me that the people of the county are taking a serious interest in the contest and are trying to do that which will be for the best interests of the county. There is a firm determination on

State's Greatest Fair Looked For This Year

President Taft Accepts Invitation to Speak---Unusual Interest on Part of Exhibitors---New Attendance Record Probable.

THAT the seventy-first New York State Fair, to be held at Syracuse Sept. 11 to 16, will compare favorably with the greatest agricultural and industrial expositions of the year is the opinion of state officers who have kept in touch with the preparations for the numerous departments of the Fair. The interest on the part of exhibitors, many of them from distant states, and the number and character of the attractions arranged for the entertainment of the crowds leave little doubt but that the New York exposition will this year take its place with the big fairs of western states.

President William H. Taft will be one of the distinguished visitors. Announcement is made that President Taft has accepted the invitation extended by Lieutenant Governor Thomas F. Conway, head of the State Fair commission, to visit the Fair and deliver an address in Empire State court. It will be the president's first visit to the New York State Fair grounds, he being forced after accepting a similar invitation last year to cancel his engagement, and he will probably welcome the opportunity of inspecting what New York has done toward providing a $2,000,000 plant as a permanent home for its annual exposition.

The state's first work on the permanent grounds is seen in the magnificent Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts building near the main entrance to the grounds and forming the south side of Empire State court. This building, erected at a cost of $220,000, contains 90,000 square feet of floor space, and this space will be occupied by seventy-seven manufacturers and merchants from nine different states. At the north of the court are the Dairy, Grange and State Institutions buildings, joined by towering white colonnades. The entire new construction represents an expenditure of over $600,000. The next important work to be undertaken by the State Fair commission when funds are available will be the erection of brick cattle buildings with suitable judging rings, a step strongly favored by Governor Dix.

The presence at the Fair of President Taft and Governor Dix, who will follow the custom of chief executives of attending the Fair on at least one day, is expected to help materially toward establishing a new record for attendance. The attendance figures for the past few years show such a healthy growth in the Fair that there seems little reason to doubt but that over 200,000 people will visit this year's exposition. Members of the State Fair commission predict that with favorable weather the attendance will go over 225,000.

The record attendance for the week of the exposition is 197,000, made last year. This bettered the attendance of 1909 by 17,000, and 1909 was ahead of 1908 by 20,000. The surplus from the receipts of 1910 turned into the state treasury by the commission was approximately $71,000. In 1909 it was $41,000; in 1908, $28,000, and in 1907, $20,000.

These figures are pointed to as proving the wisdom of the permanent grounds plan and as warranting appropriations annually for new buildings.

AEROPLANE IN WAR.

Possibilities For Using It to Be Tried Out at State Fair.

After deciding to contract for an aeroplane for exhibition flights about the New York State Fair grounds at the exposition in September, the State Fair commission went a step further and arranged to have a biplane of sufficient size and power to permit of the carrying of passengers. The object of this move is to demonstrate the possibilities in the utilization of the aeroplane in war by carrying messengers, throwing fake bombs and firing rifles from the machine. It promises to be one of the most spectacular series of exhibitions where the heavier than air flying machine plays the important part ever seen in this country.

State Fair Commissioner C. A. Wieting of Cobleskill, who is in charge of the attractions which are to furnish free entertainment for State Fair visitors, has closed a contract for the use of a Wright aeroplane which positively flies on schedule time. There will be two exhibition flights daily of over fifteen minutes' duration each, when the Wright aviator will carry passengers selected by the State Fair commission. When the aeroplane is not in use it will be on exhibition for inspection by Fair visitors.

The Wright brothers positively invented the aeroplane, constructed the first man carrying machine and sold to the United States government its first aeroplane. The Wright machine was the first to fly in America, France, Germany, England, and, in fact, all of the European countries.

The State Fair commission felt it very important in arranging for aeroplane exhibitions that a machine be secured that would fly at the times advertised. An investigation showed that at all of the large aviation meets last year the Wright machines were in the air all of the time regardless of wind or rain. At the Boston meet, where twenty-five machines of different makes were entered, Ralph Johnstone, who was later killed in executing his famous spiral glide, flew for two hours in a Wright machine for the duration prize when other aviators dared not leave the ground.

Concerts by Famous Band.

It will be a source of pleasure to many lovers of good music to learn that the band concerts which have furnished one of the very enjoyable features at the State Fair will be continued this year. Arthur Pryor and his famous American band, which have entertained critical audiences in all of the large cities of the United States, will be heard in the morning in Empire State court and in the afternoon in front of the grand stand at the race course.

Mr. Pryor is known as a leader of exceptional ability, and he has surrounded himself with very able musicians. The musical programs will, it is promised, compare with anything that has been heard at out of door concerts in this country.

A Fearful Punishment.

SOLVES A DEEP MYSTERY

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Bader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid be system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William O. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, as executors, recorded in said Clerk's office in Liber 219 of Deeds, page 123; at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law offices of Wilson & Rice, 17 South First street in the City of Fulton, Oswego County, New York, on the 9th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes till they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

The engagement of the talented Empire Stock Co., Syracuse is rapidly drawing to a close and for the second last week commencing Monday evening July 24, this organization of favorites will present for the first time here by any company at popular prices, the late New York laughing success "The Lottery Man," in which Cyril Scott starred all last season. In "The Lottery Man" the author, Rida Johnson Young, has seized upon a prevalent custom of some newspapers to increase their circulation by various schemes.

Mrs. Young has made the central figure in her successful farce, a newspaper reporter, Jack Wright. Wright owes his employer a sum of money and to square the account, he agrees to turn in one of the most sensational scoops the paper has ever known. His idea is for the sheet to conduct a lottery with himself as the prize. The proprietor explains that lotteries are against the law. Jack points out that the law can be evaded because the law says: "prizes shall not be given away." As the prize in this instance is to be a person who gives himself away, a clear case of evasion is established. The lottery is announced. Thousands of old maids—all sorts and conditions—buy coupons at one dollar each.

Meanwhile, Wright falls in love with a charming girl. Naturally he fears that he may be won by someone else and he starts a crusade to get possession of as many tickets as his limited means will permit. Even his devoted mother pawns some family trinkets in order that she may help her son.

Finally the last day is announced. The winning number is 1323 and it is held by Lizzie, an old maid, and a very old one, in the household of the newspaper owner. Lizzie refuses to give it up. She has waited many years for the opportunity. It is discovered however, that she has stolen the ticket from the cook. With this clue, the reporter threatens her with arrest. Of course, the coupon is surrendered and Jack Wright gets the girl of his choice.

The bare outline of the plot gives little idea of the genuine fun, the wholesomeness of the comedy. Alan Dale, the noted critic of the New York American, declared that he laughed even after he had got to bed. It was one of the solid hits of the New York season, as was indicated by its extremely long run there. The usual matinees will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. A feature of the performance will be special engagement of Edna Craig Randall for the role of "Lizzie." Miss Randall made one of the greatest hits in her career in this role. This play is one of the best which the Empire company will have had the pleasure of producing here and should not be missed by any means.

COMES HIGH BUT REPUBLICANS WANTED CHANGE

It costs about $6,000 a day, seven days a week, to maintain the state Legislature in session. While the senators and assemblyman get no additional salary beyond their $1,500, all the others get paid just as long as the legislative sessions continue. The cost, each week, therefore, is about $40,000 or $42,000. This expenditure is unnecessary and unwarranted. The Legislature should have finished up all its business in April. But the leaders of the Democracy probably recognize that they will not have much of a chance next fall anyway, and so they might as well do their worst and let it go at that. It's a sorry exhibition.—Oneida Dispatch.

PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

Charles E. Trask, Sr., of Clifford, Was a General Merchant

Utica, July 15.—With liabilities of $739 and assets of $862, Charles E. Trask, Sr., lumberman and general merchant at Clifford, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. A. T. Jennings, of Fulton, is Clifford's attorney. C. H. Canfield, of Syracuse, is a secured creditor for $220. Among the other creditors are: Fulton, F. L. Porter, $50; F. D. VanWagenen, $45; W. G. Gage & Company, $4.18; Grant Wallace, $10.48; Hubbard & Son company, $12.30; G. B. Palmer, $5.25; First National bank, $22; Oswego, Oswego Oil company, $5.

Trask's assets include land in Palermo, which he values at $15. His petition has been referred to Referee Wright.

APPELLATE COURT DECISIONS

Uriah H. Lewis, respondent, vs. N. Y., O. & W. R. R. company, appellant. Judgment and orders reversed and new trial granter with costs to appellant to abide event. Opinion by Krause, J. All concur except Spring, J., who dissents in his opinion.

LIGHTENING PLAYS PRANKS

During the continuous performance thunder storm which prevailed all night Sunday night, the lightening played some pranks not altogether comfortable for the residents in proximity to it when it played. The terrific flash and crash that startled our residents about 9 o'clock, was the result of the lightening striking in the river in the rear of the Barker bakery in First street. An immense ball of fire was seen by Mrs. Barker to leave the heavens and fall heavily earthward, bursting with a loud report and emitting millions of sparks when the ball was within a few feet of the river. The frightful noise and shock quite upset the family for a short time although there was no real damage done.

Near midnight a second loud report awakened sleepers, and in the morning it was learned that at this hour the last trolley from Syracuse reached Step 28, and met the bolt, all metal machinery being melted and set perfectly solid so that no progress in either direction could be made. Employes worked diligently to correct the trouble and to permit the conveying of their passengers to their destination, but the car had been stopped for keeps until the damaged machinery was removed and other had been installed. The car contained several passengers for Fulton who, in the storm all night awaited the coming of daylight and means of transportation to their home city. The cars commenced running on schedule time at seven o'clock, the wrecked car having been removed to the car barn for repairs.

A PAEAN OF THE PEANUT

(Ohio State Journal)

In a consular report it is told how the street vending of French fried potatoes is carried on in towns in the North of France, and it is suggested they would make a fine substitute for peanuts. But who wants a substitute for peanuts? There is in the taste of a good peanut, well roasted and hot from the oven, something that fits the appetite that is out on a lark. It is right in tune with a light heart and a fancy free. And then, properly appreciated and masticated, it helps along the brain and nerve. Besides, it is clean. Nature hands it over right out of her lap. It doesn't loiter along with microbes from the hills to lips, as those fried potatoes might. No; they come out of their shells as pure as dewdrops. And one does not have to have a hammer or iron tool to get out the kernel. It is the one nut in the world that one can crack with teeth or snap with his fingers. So it was made to be eaten at all times and everywhere. The man who doesn't like a peanut belongs to the codfish aristocracy.

Do the right thing if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the catarrh powders and snuffs for they contain cocaine. Ely's Cream Balm releases the secretions that inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas medicines made with mercury merely dry up the secretions and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real remedy not a delusion. All druggists. 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS AUGUST 1

Washington, July 14.—Conferences of the Senate leaders in progress today are expected to result in the arrangement of a general legislation program which will permit Congress to adjourn not later than the first week in August. It is proposed to dispose of statehood, reapportionment and the tariff bills already passed by the House after the reciprocity measure is out of the way. The only objection comes from Senator Kenyon, Republican, who resires action on the campaign contributions publicity bill.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, JULY 19, 1911.

County Political Matters

The date for holding the Republican caucuses in Oswego County will probably be decided upon this week by the County Committee, and the candidates for office are becoming more and more active.

Assemblyman T. C. Sweet is unopposed for renomination, his record having been so excellent during his term of service.

In the judicial situation two surprises of the past week that developed have been the staunch stand openly taken by Congressman Mott and Sheriff Taft for Attorney Udelle Bartlette; and the whirlwind canvass made of the county by Supervisor P. G. Hydorn of Sandy Creek in Attorney Hubbs' interest.

For County Superintendent of the Poor C. A. Stone is as yet without opposition. He has been the most painstaking official the office could have and the reforms and improvements he has inaugurated have met with the approval of Oswego County residents, regardless of party.

The nomination for Sheriff has many aspirants. Myron A. Stranahan of this city is far in the lead of his competitors and it is a foregone conclusion and a fact upon which Fulton proposes to insist, that he be nominated.

Messrs. Dennis and Chiler are still in the race and are not without friends.

In the race for the District Attorneyship are three active contestants, Attorneys G. M. Fanning of Fulton, F. D. Culkin of Oswego and the present encumbent, F. J. Davis of Pulaski. Mr. Fanning has not canvassed outside of his home city where he will be accorded the delegations, but the other two aspirants have visited every hamlet and are confident of the nomination.

It has been the policy of the Times not at any time to take part in factional controversies prior to the caucuses, believing that each aspirant to office within the party has a right to his ambition and that it is the privilege of the majority of the electors to decide which they wish to bear the party standard. After the nominations are made the Times never falters in its loyalty to the nominees, be he friend or foe. In the fight now waging within the party in which this city is the storm center, the outcome is to a certain extent in doubt but the belief is here expressed that the best qualified men will be victorious and the Republicans will present an unbroken front to the common enemy in November.

About Parcels Posts

During last week many fervid arguments were presented to the House Committee on Postoffices against the adoption of a parcels post law—one member of a committee arranged in opposition declaring that a parcels past was more to be dreaded than a plague of locusts, gypsy moths or the rabbit pest in Australia. Charles W. Burrows, of Cincinnati, who appeared for the Retail Hardware and Booksellers' associations, told the committee of the pesky nature of a parcels post. "It would prove to be an obnoxious and a harmful influence if once established," said Mr. Burrows. "A parcels post will work more damage to this country than the rabbit pest in Australia or the gypsy moth in New England. It will drive thousands of retailers out of business, and, on the other hand, will never be a paying proposition for the government." W. S. Richardson, representing the National Retail Druggists' Association, was equally pessimistic, and J. V. Williams, of the Travellers' Protective Association, averred that the parcels post would play havoc with the travelling salesman and the country merchant. The mail order houses, he said, would reap the most benefit through such legislation. "We do not believe that the farmers are the real originators of this campaign," said Mr. Richardson. "They would prefer to trade with the home merchant. They know him, and they don't know the mail order houses. The farmer, if compelled to do all their buying by mail, and if deprived of the opportunity of 'going to town' to make their purchases, would become regular Rip Van Winkles, getting out of touch with civilization."

In view of the foregoing arguments it might be pertinent to state that considerable money is sent each day from the Fulton postoffice to mail-order houses by farmers and others. Last week, for instance, a cursory glance over the money order applications revealed that $318.17 had been forwarded to mail-order houses and this is the dull season, too; during the Holidays it doubles in amount. It might occur to those arraigned in opposition to this measure that the express companies reap te benefit and that the interested of the retail merchants were not consulted.

It is difficult to understand why a citizen of this great Republic should be compelled to pay one cent an ounce for the transportation of merchandise through the mails to any section of this country—and the package must not exceed four pounds in weight—whereas a package which might weigh from ten to twelve pounds can be sent to Australia or to any foreign country in the postal connection for 12 cents a pound. It looks very much as if the express companies had a very decided advantage in the transportation of merchandise to any hamlet in the United States and fallacious arguments are frequently brought forth to support special legislation in their interest.

SENATE WILL VOTE ON RECIPROCITY JULY 22ND

Washington, July 14.—The Senate leaders today agreed to the following voting program which is declared to ensure the adjournment of Congress early in August: Saturday, July 22, vote on reciprocity before adjournment.

Thursday, July 27, vote on wool bill. Tuesday, August 1, vote on the farmers' free list bill.

Thursday, August 3, vote on reapportionment. Monday, August 7, vote on statehood. Penrose, Martin and LaFollette explained that the program met with their approval. The program was adopted.

FULTON-OSWEGO PLAYED WHIST

The Oswego-Fulton whist club held a tournament at Pleasant Point club house last week, the result being a tie, 4 1-2 to 4 1-2.

The Oswego team was composed of H. J. Peebles, Walter Pulver, Dr. H. M. Wallace, George Wilcox, J. E. Otis and C. A. Tanner. The Fulton players were: George C. Webb, Professor Fairgrieve, Charles Allen, F. D. VanWagenen, R. D. Parsons and Mr. Gwynne. They were accompanied by their wives.

A spirited baseball game preceded the whist tournament resulting in favor of Oswego. Duck on the rock was also part of the day's program of sport, but this game had to be called off owing to Prof. Fairgrieve's inability to catch anyone.

Dinner was served at the club house.

New York, July 14.—According to the tax appraisal report filed in the Surrogate's Court today, Samuel M. Clemens, (Mark Twain), left an estate of $471,136 at his death. Of this $296,746 is in this State and the remainder in Connecticut. It all goes to his only surviving daughter, Mrs. Clara Clemens Gabrielowitsch. Among his effects were 929 shares of stock in five different companies all of which are declared by the State

MILLION EXTRA FOR ELECTIONS

That's What the Levy Bill Will Cost Taxpayers.

HEAVY BURDEN IS IMPOSED.

One of the Results of a "Business Administration" Promised So Glibly by Democratic Spellbinders in Last Fall's Campaign—Useless Requirements and Unnecessary Offices Created by Tammany Legislature.

Albany, July 18.—It has been stated before in these dispatches that the administration of the Levy elections bill will add $1,000,000 to the burdens of the taxpayers of New York state. It is no argument to claim that most of this will not come out of the state treasury, but will be borne by the treasuries of the localities. This makes the burden doubly unjustifiable because the state's expenses are met by indirect taxation, while the local taxes are direct. That is the policy of the present Democratic administration—to add to the localities the cost of the fat jobs being created every day by the legislature. This is done so as to fool the people into believing that the Tammany men are decreasing expenditures.

It is necessary to estimate many of the items of expense under the Levy bill until it has been put into operation, but that is not difficult, as there are certain items under present laws which are extended to all the state, and these can be stated exactly.

The additional two days of registration in the rural districts, at $5 a day for inspectors and $5 a day for polling places, will add $100,900 to the 2,018 election districts affected.

"Personal Signatures" Cost Money.

Extension of the "personal signature" law to the whole state will necessitate registration books for each district with twenty-four columns, costing 90 cents each for 3,037 districts outside Greater New York, or $2,733.30. Registration lists by assembly districts must be printed under the law. The average cost where this is done now is $32.26, and as 2,710 districts are affected the added cost will be $87,424.60. Challenge books and duplicate books for 2,917 districts will add $5,250.60 to the cost.

The law permits two or four commissioners of elections in the fifty-three counties of the state where such officers do not exist. Putting the number appointed at only two and allowing $1,000 each for salaries—a low figure—this item will cost $106,000 more. It is hard to say how many employees will be had in each county board of elections. In New York city the expenses of the bureau of elections was $82,900. The cost for each assembly district in New York was $1,316. Taking that figure for the sixty-six assembly districts where no board of elections is at present, that would add $86,856. Office rent, telephone, maintenance and supplies will cost in these districts at least $500 in each of the fifty-three counties affected, or $26,500 in all.

More Places and Expense.

The law adds two more state superintendents of elections, three chief deputies, a score of lesser deputies and an army of minor deputies, the salaries ranging from $4,500 a year to $900. At present the New York office costs $187,300 a year. If the up state offices cost as much, in view of the large territory to be covered, the added cost will total upward of $374,600.

Section 473 provides as follows: "Such superintendents may appoint not to exceed 400 deputy superintendents of elections." If this means each superintendent may appoint 400 deputies, this means 1,200 instead of 400 deputies as at present.

There is also a provision of "not to exceed 150 additional deputies" in the same section.

The salaries of these officials are thus provided in section 487: Five to have $1,500 each; eighty, $1,200 each, and twenty-five, $1,000 each. The additional expense is: Five deputies at $1,500 each, $7,500; thirty additional deputies, the number now being fifty instead of eighty, as in the bill, at $1,200, $36,000; twenty-five at $1,000, $25,000. From which must be deducted ten at $900 each—namely, $9,000—as the number of $900 deputies is reduced from fifty to forty.

The appropriation for expenses and the carrying out of the provisions of this article is increased by the same section from $15,000 to $40,000, or $25,000.

$76,850 More.

Every fourth year the additional ballot made necessary by the provision, a separate ballot for the presidential electors, must be printed. The cost of printing ballots is between $25 and $30 per thousand. In Greater New York, 1,000,280 ballots, costing $38,425, were printed last year, and about one-half the vote of the state is in Greater New York. Assuming that the cost of the ballots will be the same and figuring the number as twice that supplied for the greater city, the increase made by this provision will be $76,850.

Recapitulation.

Salaries of inspectors and expenses of polling places for registration days	$100,900.30
For registration books	2,733.30
Cost of printing registration lists, etc.	87,424.60
Challenge books	2,625.30
Duplicate challenge books	2,625.30
Boards of elections	106,500.00
Clerical service for assembly districts without boards of elections	33,256.50
Maintenance of the 53 counties without boards of elections	26,500.00
Superintendents of elections' expenses, including salaries	374,600.00
Deputy superintendents of elections	59,500.00
Printing ballots (presidential years)	76,850.00
Total	$926,514.80

ROTTEN DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATION

Pre-election Pledges Forgotten — Levy Bill An Outrage on Tax Payers

The much vaunted theories of the Democratic administration, "Economy and Retrenchment", so often spotlighted by Governor Dix and the leaders of the legislative are very likely to take a place in literary history with Col. Sellers' famous candle. They're all right, provided one has a vivid and forceful imagination, but they will not stand too critical an examination. The pleas of economy become ridiculous when one analyzes carefully some of the measures recently signed by Governor Dix. The abolition of the Highway Commission, for instance, which was specifically promised to reduce expenditures will undoubtedly serve the opposite purpose when the new commission gets under way, for there is no limit practically to the number of officials and employes which the commission may engage, nor is there any limit to the salaries which may be placed on the new positions when created. The same applies to the Conservation Bill signed last week, only in a larger degree. It was promised that the expenses of this new commission would be less than that of the boards and bodies which it displaced, but a study of the bill reveals the fact that the cost of this branch of the state government is bound to be enormous. Just to use some of the figures in the bill itself, it is noted that there are to be three commissioners at $10,000 a year each, a chief counsel at $7,000, another at $5,500, and a host of attorneys at smaller salaries. The ten bureau chiefs at $5,000 to $7,000 a year each will more than equal the salaries of all the executives of the boards which are abolished to make room for this new commission. Then of course there are provisions for a vast number of other officials and employes and it is scarcely necessary to mention the fact that Tammany is still hungry and all the jobs possible will be provided.

The Levy Election Bill is another measure that will send the state expenses soaring. Unprejudiced calculators have figures that the total of the increased expenditures under this law will be $926,614.80. But what is a mere item of a million or so, when Tammany can get the jobs?

So much for some of the increased expenditures. But what of the revenues? Scores of bills tinkering with the liquor tax law, the corporation law, the transfer tax law and other revenue producing laws have been enacted, which modify greatly these respective laws and which in the end will tend to reduce tremendously the income of the state. Thus will go for naught the efforts of recent Republican legislatures and administrations to build up indirect sources of revenue which have served their purpose admirably and with absolute justice to all classes, and have at the same time relieved the tax payers throughout the state from the burden of direct state taxation.

THERE'S MONEY IN CHERRIES

One Dealer Cleared Nearly $2,500 From Twenty-seven Tons

The shipments of fruit by express from points in the Oswego district are, according to the records on file at headquarters of the New York Central office in this city, are heavier than for any year in the history of the road, and in addition the canning factories and preserving companies along the line are handling this year a bigger business than ever in the line of small fruits, while cherries and other small fruits which could not be used in other ways are shipped to the Eastern markets. The berries or cherries are packed tightly in tubs or pails and are almost in a jelly or jam like state when they reach the canneries. The harvest of small fruits this year has been exceptionally good especially in regard to cherries, which this year are bringing on an average $110 per ton to growers who ship them to preserving companies.

One grower, who a week ago contracted to sell twenty-seven tons of cherries to a preserving company at the above price, will realize a profit of over ninety dollars a ton on his crop. At this rate it doesn't pay to raise hay, but in the cherry orchard the same grower is harvesting a fine crop of timothy hay which this year will also command a good price. It is expected that the fruit trains will be placed in operation about the tenth of next month and in preparation for the largest business in years brakemen and firemen, especially the latter, are being hired every day at the offices in this city.

THE BOHLEY MURDER

Police Said to be Looking up Whereabouts of Parker at the Time

A report from Fulton had it that the police of that city were looking into the whereabouts of the Parker gang, of which the late Walter Parker was the head, at the time of the Bohley murder near Pennellville three years ago this coming September. The Bohleys, it will be remembered, were shot down in their hut in the town of Schroeppel and their home robbed. The criminals were never apprehended.

Some of the authorities, it is now reported, believe that the Parkers may have been involved in this and intend to trace, if they can, their whereabouts at the time. Walter Parker, according to the records, was at large, but Amos Parker was in the Auburn State Prison at the time of the murder.—Palladium.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

THE WEEK

Prevalence of high temperatures throughout the country have adversely affected business, notably in retail lines. This has also given rise to unsettlement regarding actual crop conditions. The grain markets, after advancing sharply early in the week, reacted on news of abundant rains in many sections of the drought area. Trustworthy advices from the exposed territory show that the injury has probably been exaggerated and a fairly heavy rainfall in the next four or five weeks will repair much of the damage done. Further improvement in steel and iron has been noted in the Pittsburg district, where the mills are working well up to their June capacity. The output of the merchant furnaces appears now to be actually below consumption requirements. A notable feature has been the enlarged demand for structural material at the West and also in connection with some of the large building enterprises in New York city. Railroad earnings for the month of June show a decrease of 1.5 per cent., but there are evidences that the great systems are making headway towards lowering operating expenses to a degree commensurate with the smaller volume of business. While bank clearings this week at New York city alone reflect a loss of 3.5 per cent. as compared with the total reported in the corresponding week of last year, there is a gain in the territory outside the metropolis of 0.3 per cent. Foreign trade continues highly favorable, the notable feature being the continued increase of exports over last year. The dry goods trade shows a hesitant tone, although conditions are sound and prices firm; arrangements are being made to attract buyers through the organization of special sales next week. The movement of footwear is satisfactory and the leather market rules notably strong. The outlook for the crops as shown by the government's July report is certainly reassuring. The indications are for a total wheat crop of more than 702,000,000 bushels, which would be the fourth largest on record, and a corn crop second only to the record production of last year.

In response to the broader demand for finished materials, the steel mills are rapidly resuming operations having taken less time than usual for repairs and inventories. Plants in the Pittsburg district are working fully up to the June rate, while the leading interest is running at slightly over 67 per cent. of its steel ingot capacity.

Buyers are still hesitating about placing forward orders in dry goods. Prices are generally well maintained, exceptions being noted in some gray cloths. A readjustment in the methods of selling finished goods, following the abandonment of the restricted price system, is under way. This, with the uncertainty regarding cotton conditions, has complicated the market somewhat. Jobbers have extensive plans for merchandizing under special sales during the coming week, when many of the largest buyers will be in the East to attend an important meeting. Curtailment of mill operations is still very large in all textiles. Dress goods agents will open their new lines about the 20th or 25th inst. The best trade reported in men's wear is on wool suitings of a fancy description, but there has been some substantial business offered and accepted at values on staple serges for the spring season. Yarns show an easy tendency.

Movement of footwear gradually increases. Buyers are more numerous in the New England market, but caution continues to be displayed in all transactions. Retail trade, however, continues to show improvement, with dull and colored calf in both men's and women's shoes in good demand. Pronounced strenght still rules throughout the leather market, with special firmness in sole leather. Trade is not active, and business is reduced by the slowing down of shoe factories and by excessive heat. Recent signs of weakness in the hide markets were of short duration and sales of packer native steer hides, butt brands and Colorados were made at advances of 1-8 to 1-4c. Except for a slight weakness in England, all European markets are strong.

Abundant grain harvests are indicated by the goverment report for July, although early expectations will not be realized, as rather serious damage to the growing crops is confirmed. Prices of these cereals failed to reflect the low condition estimates, but the corn markets were irregular and excited. Wheat was heavy on the large arrivals of the new crop.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for July to date amount to $3,199,584, of which $912,650 were in manufacturing, $2,029,123 in trading and $257,811 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 238 in the United States against 247 last year, and 37 in Canada compared with 26 a year ago.

INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

Central New York is to have a mammoth Industrial Exposition and Pure Food show. It will be held in the State Armory at Syracuse next October for a full week commencing on the 23rd and closing on the evening of the 28th.

This exposition, according to the plans now formulated will be the greatest event of the kind ever produced in a city the size of Syracuse. It will be composed of artistic exhibits supplied by the manufacturers and leading merchants from all parts of Central New York, displaying their products in a way that will reveal to the visitors the manner in which these goods are manufactured and prepared for the market.

Th exposition will be highly educational in character and manufacturers are being urged to instal as many working exhibits as possible, showing their products in the actual process of manufacture. There is perhaps no other section in the United States in which the range of manufacture is so wide as right here in Central New York. There is scarcely an article of daily use or necessity that is not made here, and of the very highest quality. This applies to the pure food end of the exposition as well as to the industrial end.

Every afternoon and evening there will be a musical programme of a character that will attract attention for many miles. The famous Na-Vassar Ladies Band of Chicago, the most widely known ladies band on the continent will be the main feature. This organization is composed of Vassar and Navajo girls each of whom is a thoroughly accomplished musician. In addition to these there will be an array of noted soloists who will provide the highest form of entertainment.

This exposition is being promoted through the efforts of Central City Council No. 221, United Commercial Travelers of America. There are five hundred members of the council and they are all boosting for Central New York and the exposition. A Booster's Committee of twenty of the most prominent members has been named to set the pace in spreading the news of the exposition around the country and they the said to be diligent workers in the cause. William A. Papworth is chairman and he is being ably assisted by J. B. Spencer, John M. Quinlan, Thomas O'Brien, R. H. Selfridge, L. W. Manchester, Daniel Gray, C. W. Ostrander, Jr., B. F. Phelps, G. W. Cooper, A. B. Chaffee, F. P. Smith, J. A. Costello, J. J. Coughlin, J. E. Carroll, H. A. McArthur, J. E. Lyons, W. F. Ahlheim, Joseph A. Griffin and W. M. Waite.

CONGREGATION GIVES PICNIC TO PASTOR

Watertown, July 15.—The Rev. C. L. Peck of Fulton, formerly pastor of the State Street Methodist Episcopal church of this city, and Mrs. Peck, were given a surprise when they arrived in this city this morning on their way home from the St. Lawrence river. They had planned to stop over here for a few hours between trains to greet former parishioners of Mr. Peck. When the club train arrived from the Thousand Islands a party of twenty-two members of the State Street church was at the station with an automobile 'bus, and after hearty greetings all, including Mr. and Mrs. Peck, entered the 'bus and started toward Richland. There they stopped in a shady grove to enjoy a picnic luncheon, after which Mr. and Mrs. Peck continued their journey to Fulton by train.

Those in the party besides the Rev. and Mrs. Peck were: Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Danforth, Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Hawkins, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Flint, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Delevan, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Gould, Mrs. C. E. Painter, Miss Lelia Halladay, Miss Knapp and J. T. Peck.

CLUBHOUSE SOLD

Salmon River Power Company Pays $25,000 for Oswelewgois Club in Redfield

At a meeting of the Oswelewgois Club in Syracuse Thursday the members decided to sell their handsome clubhouse and holdings in Redfield to the Salmon River Power company. The price paid for the property was $25,000. Among the members of the club are Judge Stowell and E. B. Powell, of Oswego.

The clubhouse is a large frame structure and may be moved to some other location. Where the clubhouse now stands is to be covered with water when the new storage reservoir is to be built and the clubhouse conveniently located would make an ideal home for the officers of the power plant. It is predicted by residents of Redfield that when the big lake is created at Redfield Center that it will be an ideal home for brook trout.

WHAT THE LOCAL PAPER IS FOR

It is peculiar how some people claim to dislike to see their name in print, but how anxious they are to know the doings of their neighbors. A country newspaper is supposed to give the happenings of the community where it is published. It is supposed to chronicle all of the little happenings, the social and society events, the marriages and deaths, in fact everything that the editor can glean that will make an item. He does not want to slight anybody, nor does he want anybody to slight him. He is glad to have all give him the little items which many times seem insignificant, but which to some reader will be of interest. But that person who does not want his or her name in print, who finds fault because they are mentioned once in a while and who try to keep items of interest from the editor should not think he or she is the only person in the world, for they are not. The editor has to please all classes and he tries to do so. By mentioning something that has happened, or is going to happen, he does not do it to infure, but he does it because it is his business. He is the gossip of the town (would there were no other) and to chronicle the little happenings is what he is here for. So don't hold them from him, don't ask him not to print them and don't find fault with him if he does. That's what makes his paper interesting and it is what you pay for.—Brockport Democrat.

PEOPLE ROBBED BY LOAN AGENTS

Charges from 60 to 400 Per Cent. a Year Revealed in New York

New York, July 12.—A report made to Mayor Gaynor today by Raymond Fosdick, his Commissioner of Accounts, who has been investigating the business relations of city employes with loan agents, shows that interest rates have been charged running from 60 to 400 per cent. a year. The report urges that the Burd bill, now pending at Albany, be passed. This bill provides for the creation of a commission to study the entire question and formulate remedial legislation.

The Commissioner bares some of the facts that have come under his attention.

"It is particularly desired," he writes, "to call attention to the relation of certain loan agencies in this city and other cities to legislation in Albany, in the course of our examination of the affairs of John Mulholland, a loan agent, we came across letters addressed by one O. E. Rowley, formerly the representative of the Mulholland interests in Buffalo, to the main office in New York."

These letters in part are as follows:

No. 874 Sillcott Square,
Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1903.

John Mulholland, New York city:

Dear Sir—You might have noticed in the newspapers that Mr. Dolson is defending the Sheriff of Erie county before the Governor—that brings him into close touch, too, with our District-Attorney and a closer relation with William J. Conners, the leader of the Democratic forces here.

Now, this man Conners owns Assemblyman Burke body and soul, politically, financially and otherwise. It occurred to me that Mr. Dolson, through Mr. Coners, might put a muzzle on this bill of Burke's. Only a suggestion.

Yours very truly,
O. E. Rowley.

GUSTATORY ILLUSIONS OF HIGH-PRICED EATS

The daily humorist of The Paris Eclair has discovered a philanthropic society of grocers which proposes conferring a boon upon its customers thus felicitously expressed:

"Our large business allows of our supplying consumers at very reduced prices with wholesome, nourishing and hygienic produce of a kind calculated to procure to the working classes the gustatory illusion of high-priced eatables which would otherwise be beyond their means."

The produce of which it is thus possible cheaply to obtain a "gustatory illusion" includes coffee, tea and jam.

"Formerly we manufactured our coffee from acorns, but the drawback to the latter is that they become soft and gelatinous in water.

We therefore now use only chestnuts and wheat flour, slightly roasted and reduced to a pulp, which is then shaped as coffee grains. These grains, after treatment by gum to give them the required lustre, remain hard and when roasted constitute an exact imitation of real coffee. To produce the gustatory illusion of tea we employ the leaves of the privet, colored with indigo blue, which offers no danger to the public health, as, indeed, is the case with all our goods. We thus hope to complete successfully with real tea leaves. We manufacture our jams and tomato preserves from pumpkin pulp and very choice carrots."

In short, the Society for the Promotion of Gustatory Illusions will be of inestimable benefit to mankind.

Reducing Our Stock of Women's Coats and Wash Dresses

The reductions are so great in some instances that they may seem like exaggerations until you see the garments themselves. The assortment is so large and the style range so extensive that you are sure to find EXACTLY the style you want and in your proper size.

$3, $4 and $5 Wash Dresses at $1.98.

Most of them clean and pretty, a few slightly counter tossed; some white, others figured; dresses with sailor collars included in this lot.

Figured Lawn Dresses, $2.49.

The prettiest, dressiest styles you could imagine at this price; actually worth $3.50 to $5.00. Manufacturers' overstock; all new and desirable.

$7, $8.50 and $10 Linen and Shrunk Cotton Wash Suits $2.49.

Again we say that you couldn't begin to buy either the coat or skirt alone for double the sale price for the entire suit. Many of them are handsomely embroidered in rich designs.

Women's Beautiful New Silk Dresses, $7.50, $9.98 and $12.50.

None worth less than $15, many worth $20 to $25. To close out at once we've reduced them to $7.50, $9.98 and $12.50. Plain colors, figures and stripes.

$4.98 for Women's Pure Linen Coats, full length, new models, tab or adjustable collar; just the thing for motoring.

$7.50 to close out. Women's Handsome Black Lace Coats, which were formerly $18.50, $20 and $25.

$8.98 for women's full length Dust Coats for traveling.

$7.50 for women's beautiful Pongee Coats, formerly $12.50 and $15. Very dressy for evening wear.

$14.98 for women's navy or gray Mohair Coats that button close to the neck. Were $20 earlier.

$18.50 for women's English Polo Coats, full length, beautifully tailored garments; regular $25 and $29.50.

$9.98 for women's Serge Coats in black or navy. Full length, semi-fitting models; some lined throughout, others to the waist. Were $15 and $17.50.

THE JUDICIAL SITUATION

the part of Republicans to send a delegation for the man who will stand the best chance of being nominated at the judicial convention. I am perfectly willing to submit that matter to the voters of the county and shall be satisfied with their judgment.

"This is not a factional fight and should not be. It should be and is above that. An effort to make it such I believe will be resented by the people of the county.

"The canvass has been a very pleasant one for me, entirely free from personalities, and I have enjoyed it very much. The reports which I have received from my friends throughout the county indicate that I shall be successful in the contest."

Mr. Powell's Position

"Two years ago theR epublicans of the county without any dissent, selected me as their candidate for Supreme Court Justice. There was a strong sentiment in the other counties of the district favoring a "renomination of Justice Scripture, and this could not be overcome.

"I am a candidate for this office again this year and shall make every effort to secure the delegates from this county and the nomination. I find the conditions thoughout the county most satisfactory."

J. W. Stevenson's Pledge

"There can be absolutely no question but that Mr. Bartlett will carry every ward in the city of Fulton. In one or two wards there may be a contest headed by men who are anxious to defeat the local organization, but Mr. Bartlett has the voters with him and will undoubtedly have the unanimous support of Fulton in the convention."

Congressman Mott Active

"Udelle Bartlett will be nominated for Justice of the Supreme court by the Republicans, I believe, I have made a careful investigation and find that the majority of members of the bar and the other counties seem to favor him, and this seems to be true in Oswego county, where the majority are on record for him. There seems to be a feeling through the district that Oswego is entitled to the place if a suitable candidate is presented. Mr. Bartlette has the legal training and experience, and his ability is unquestioned. The Republicans of Oswego very largely feel that his nomination and election would be along the same lines as the appointment of Governor Hughes to the Supreme court of the United States. I am with the people of Oswego county in their efforts to obtain a resident justice and the people want Mr. Bartlett."

Sheriff Taft's Position

Chairman Taft is the head of the Republican county committee, said: "Up to this time I have taken no active part in the contest for judicial delegates. I am for the interests of the Republican party of Oswego county. From talking with the leading Republicans and members of the bar of this district, I am satisfied that a large majority favor the nomination of Mr. Bartlett. I am a good personal friend of Mr. Bartlett and also of Mr. Hubbs, but have not allowed personal friendship to influence my judgment. I am also satisfied that a majority of Republicans of Oswego county favor Mr. Bartlett. This is not because of any personal opposition to Mr. Hubbs but because of recognition of Mr. Bartlett's long experience along judicial lines, such as acting as referee in any number of important cases. While it is a fact that the Republican organization as such is not endeavoring to force the selection of delegates for any man, yet it is a fact that almost all the leading members are for Mr. Bartlett."

The Conclusion of the Whole Matter

After this fight for a justice of Supreme court is ended, so far as Oswego is concerned, it will be found that the question will be finally determined by the men who control politics from the other ends of the judicial district. And in all probabilities these two men who will name the two justices to be elected will be Francis Hendricks, the Republican leaderi n Onondaga, and Jack Davies, the forceful machine man in Oneida county.

These two men are watching the situation in Oswego with critical eyes. They have their agents and confidential men on the ground who are reporting every change in the situation. They are to be found in almost every hotel in the various cities, villages and towns throughout the county. To the average citizen this would appear to be a most unusual and unique situation, but it must be understood that the men who are playing the game are playing for big stakes—the term of a justice of the Supreme court is fourteen years and the salary is $7,000 a year. A nomination usually means twenty-eight years on the bench.

In Fulton Messrs. Thomas Hunter, Wm. Hunter, G. C. Webb and H. L. Gilman are quoted as for Hubbs. Agent J. W. Stevenson of the American Woolen company for Bartlette. These men are not all by a long shot committed to either candidate.

MILLIONS EDUCATED BY TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBITS

Displays Shown in Nearly Every State—National Exhibitions Seen Under Three Flags.

Exhibitions, showing in graphic form the prevention of consumption, have been shown in every state in the United States, except Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Wyoming, and also in most of the Canadian Provinces, and in Mexico, Porto Rico, and Cuba, according to a bulletin issued today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The bulletin also shows that twenty-five states and sixteen cities have permanent and traveling exhibits besides the two operated by the National Association itself, the total number of such displays beingo ver 200, including about 150 small school exhibits.

The first tuberculosis exhibit in America was shown by the Maryland Tuberculosis Commission in January, 1904. In 1908 there were four such exhibits. Today practically all of the larger cities of the country have such displays, and in twenty-five states comprehensive campaigns have been carried on with them. These exhibits are visited annually by millions of people.

The American Tuberculosis Exhibition of the National Association is completing six years of continuous service, during which time it has been shown under three flags, in the United States, Mexico and Canada, and has been displayed in 21 states, including every Southern state east of the Mississippi, except West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. TheW estern Tuberculosis Exhibit of the National Association, just closing its season in Butte, Montana, has been shown in Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana.

As the result of the general educational campaign through the various exhibitions on tuberculosis, millions of pieces of literature have been distributed; millions of people shown how to prevent consumption; and several states and cities have been roused to take legislative action against this disease.

GOV. APPOINTS NEW BOARDS

Albany, July 18.—Governor Dix on Monday night sent to the Senate a confirmation of the nomination of William Catlin of Portchester, N. Y., as the state superintendent of highways, and has fixed the salary, in accordance with the provisions of the law, at $7,400 per annum. The other two members of that commission are State Engineer John Bensel of Manhattan and Superintendent of Public Works Charles Treman of Ithaca.

Other nominations sent to the Senate for confirmation by Governor Dix included those of George E. Van Kennan of Ogdensburg, to serve until December 1916; James W. Fleming of Troy, to serve until December, 1, 1914, and John Moore of New York city, to serve until December 1, 1912, as conservation commissioners, at a salary of $10,000 each. The Governor has designated Mr. George Kennan as chairman of the commission.

James W. Fleming of Troy was appointed by Governor Dix as forest, fish and game commissioner on June 1, 1911.

John D. Moore was born in Springfield, Mass., in 1874. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He has never held public office. He is enrolled as a Democrat, but has not been active in politics. Mr. Moore'sn omination is satisfactory to Tammany Hall.

The conservation department, over which the new commissioners will have supervision, will have three divisions. It will take over the State Forest, Fish and Game Commission, the Forest Purchasing Board, the State Water Supply Commission and the Black River Water Commission.

Governor Dix also sent to the Senate for confirmation the nomination as trustee of the New York State Hospital for the Treatment of Incipient Pulmonary Tuberculosis of Dr. John McCroskery of New York city for a term to expire the first Tuesday in February, 1918, in the place of Dr. Charles S. Stover, whose term of office has expired; and as a manager of the Willard State Hospital, Miss Bertha Peck of Waterloo to succeed Mary S. Acker whose term of office has expired.

Thomas J. Ahearn, an ex-deputy chief of the New York City Fire Department, was confirmed by the Senate as state fire marshal upon the nomination of Governor Dix under a law recently passed by the Legislature. The term of office is five years and the salary is $7,000. Mr Ahearn is a brother of ex-State Senator John F. Ahearn, and his confirmation was brought about immediately when Senator Grady related the heroic acts of Mr. Ahearn as a life saver and a fire fighter.

BODY FOUND FLOATING IN CANAL

The body of an unknown Italian was found floating in an upright position in a lock near the Hunter Arms company, on Sunday. The body had been in the water three days when found and had apparently been for part of that time in the mud at the bottom of the canal. Several contusions on the head and face gave the impression that the man had been murdered but this was dispelled at the autopsy conducted by Coroner Marsh and Doctors A. L. Hall and S. D. Keller. Coroner Marsh had a number of Poles and Italians viewing the remains but the man was not identified and he was buried in theP otter's field at Mt. Adnah by Undertaker Brown on Monday. It is believed that the man had been employed on the Barge canal.

The Erection of the New and Greater Dey Store Necessities Immediate Reduction of Stocks

Operations have commenced for the construction of our new building and expansion of our present quarters. Stock rooms in the rear of our store have been torn down. They held in reserve thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise which is now crowded into regular departments.

Stocks must be condensed. We must co-operate with the contractors so as to complete, with greater rapidity, the erection of our new eight story fireproof structure, and the remodelling of our present building.

During the expansion operations for the new and Greater Dey Store, our efforts will be directed toward the elimination, as far as possible, of all annoyances that accompany construction work of this character.

First consideration will be given to the making of strong price inducements in order to clear out all seasonable merchandise and home furnishings that are in the way of the contractors. The stocks already affected include:

OBSERVED 96th ANNIVERSARY

Fulton's Eldest Citizen Spends Day Happily on Tuesday—Is Showered With Flowers, Telegrams, Letters and Congratulations—Has Been in Feeble Health for Past Six Months

Tuesday Mr. Sidney S. Morrill, Fulton's most venerable and highly respected citizen, observed his 96th natal anniversary at his home in Third street. Up to six months ago when he suffered a severe attack of pneumonia Mr. Morrill had been a wonderfully well preserved man, taking the keenest interest in life's activities and following the standings of the national baseball teams with the same keen zest as of youth. Upon his 95th birthday he enjoyed an automobile ride to Syracuse, witnessed a baseball game in the afternoon and returned to Fulton after a late dinner as fresh apparently, as any one of the party.

Mr. Morrill at present sits up a portion of each day; knows and greets his sons and his friends as cordially as of yore, but is prevented by physical weakness from being very active. No celebration for yesterday's birthday was arranged owing to Mr. Morrill's failing strength, but the event was not permitted to pass unnoticed.

MASONIC TEMPLE CONTEMPLATED

Hiram Lodge, F. & A. M., by a vote of practically four to one, has decided that it would be an excellent proposition to purchase the property now belonging to Miss May Gardner in First street, to be utilized as a Masonic Temple and Home. The officers and trustees of the lodge now propose to sell bonds at a par value of $10 each to raise the requisite money for the purchase. Up to the present time nearly one quarter of the sum necessary has been subscribed and the outlook is most roseate for the speedy securing of the balance.

The property is ideally located. The house is one of the most substantially built in the city and will rapidly increase in value. The purchase of this property will not be burdensome for the lodge membership and in all probability it will soon become the property of the oldest fraternity in the city.

SUPERVISORS TO MEET ON MONDAY

Oswego, July 25.—It was decided at a conference held yesterday afternoon between Chairman F. E. Sweetland, Clerk W. J. Mahaney and County Attorney H. J. Coville that a special session of the Board of Supervisors would be held next Monday afternoon, at which time they will act upon the nominations made yesterday for commissioners of election under the Levy law.

The nominees are D. O. Whitney of Albion, by Chairman Charles W. Taft of the Republican County committee, and Howard S. Baker of Lacona by Fred M. Moore, chairman of the Democratic county committee.

Yesterday being the last day for filing recommendations they were all gathered in by Mr. Mahaney. It is expected that the board will ratify these nominations and will name an office for the commissioners. According to the Levy law the board of elections has the power to hire a clerk and stenographer and it is announced that there are several applications for the positions.

WOMAN LEAPED FROM TRAIN

Mrs. Mary Reynolds, a resident of Oswego, aged 55-years, on Sunday purchased a ticket for Minetto, purposing to spend the day in that place with her daughter, Mrs. Michael Kenny. She took the excursion train for Thousand Islands which was fast pulling from the station when she saw her mistake. The woman was in the rear coach alone and she hastened to the platform and jumped from the train, landing on her head at the foot of a 20-foot embankment, from which she was picked up unconscious. She was taken to the hospital where her injuries were found to consist of a dislocated shoulder, and bad bruises about the head and back. Owing to her age her recovery is considered doubtful.

PROMINENT JURIST DEAD

Hon. John B. Higgins, aged 93, two days prior to his demise, died on Friday at Oswego after a few days illness. The deceased was dean of the Oswego County Bar. He was a staunch Democrat of the old school and had taken a prominent part always in the councils of his party. He had served as District Attorney and deputy collector of the Port of Oswego. His widow and two sons survive.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

CARS RUNNING TO OSWEGO

Regular Schedule of Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern in Effect This Morning—Thirty-four Round Trips Daily—Syracuse to Oswego in One Hour and Forty Minutes.

Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern cars commenced to run on regular schedule to Oswego this morning. The first train left Syracuse at 5:05 o'clock, arriving in Oswego at 6:45 making the trip in one hour and forty minutes.

The cars will be run on a half hour schedule. All trains will make all stops, about thirty-eight in number between Oswego and Syracuse. The first outside of Oswego is at the Oswego County club and the next at the Dorr farm. The trains will be 68 in number, 34 each way daily. There are ten stops between Fulton and Oswego.

For the present only local trains will run, but the company plans in the near future to establish limited trains which will be trains stopping only at the stations. The limited trains will make the run between Oswego and Syracuse in one hour and ten minutes.

Rates of Fare

The rates of fare between the various points are as follows, Syracuse to Oswego, 65 cents, round trip $1.30; Oswego to Long Branch, 55 cents, round trip $1.10; Oswego to Baldwinsville, 50 cents, round trip 95 cents; Oswego to Phoenix, 40 cents, round trip 75 cents; Oswego to Fulton, 25 cents, round trip 45 cents; Oswego to Minetto, 10 cents, round trip 20 cents. The ticket fare between the various stops 5 cents, and between Oswego and the County Club 5 cents. The rates have been filed with the Public Service Commission.

The company has also arranged to issue commutation tickets at reduced rates similar to those issued by steam railroads for the convenience of those traveling daily between cities.

Party excursion rates between Oswego and Long Branch, the popular resort on Onondaga lake, have been arranged. It requires ten or more persons to constitute a party or excursion. The excursion rate will be 35 cents one way or 70 cents round trip.

Splendid equipment

The equipment of the road includes twelve luxurious interurban cars of modern type exclusively for service on the line between Syracuse and Oswego. Each of these cars will seat 56 passengers comfortably, weigh 84,000 pounds and develope 500 horse power and a speed of 63 miles an hour on private right of way.

Best Type of Construction

The construction from Syracuse to Oswego is of the best modern type, curves have been eliminated as much as possible and the road bed constructed in the best possible manner. Near Minetto is one of the greatest fills on any trolley road in the world. A number of trestles have also been built, and at Brinnington, a cross-over of handsome design has been erected. Power is furnished from a transformer station near Ellen street, where the current is changed and power supplied to the city and interurban lines, the Niagara power being used.

The highest standard of steam railroad construction has been followed The track has been rock ballasted and overhead construction of the latest modern type. Most of the way is double track, and the single track is being equipped with an automatic electric signal system. The trains ar run on the highest speed consistent with absolute safety.

The catenary bridge construction has been used throughout to carry wires.

Most Extensive System

The opening of the new interurban trolley line today connects Oswego with one of the most extensive system of interurban electric lines in the entire country. The system controlled by the Beebe Syndicate, with headquarters at Syracuse, extends from Buffalo and the extreme Western limit of the State to Syracuse, including Lockport, Rochester, Lyons Auburn, Skaneateles, Fulton, Baldwinsville and a score of other smaller places, not including the numerous summer resorts in that section.

System over 500 Miles

Included in the Beebe system, of which the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern railroad, with Oswego as its terminus is an important link are the following lines comprising an estimated total mileage of 500 miles:

Rochester, Syracuse and Eastern; Buffalo, Lockport and Rochester; Syracuse, Lake Shore and Northern; Auburn and Syracuse Electric; Auburn and Northern Electric; Syracuse and South Bay Electric; Newark and Marion Railway; Sagamore Navigation Company, (operating a line of steamers on Oneida Lake); Skaneateles Lake Transportation Company.

The Beebe syndicate has for several years had Oswego included in its plan of extensions but the actual construction of the line was deferred and for a variety of reasons until within two years.

History of the Road

About eight years ago, a syndicate represented by W. P. Gannon and others planned to construct a trolley line from Syracuse to Oswego and were granted a franchise through the city streets. The plan, however failed of fulfillment and it was not until the latter part of 1909 that the Beebe syndicate began to develop its plans for the Oswego extension. The line had been pushed North from Baldwinsville to Fulton and the new division was opened early in the winter of 1909.

On June 29, 1909, the Beebe syndicate purchased the Oswego city line from the Oswego Traction Company and merged it into the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern Company. Then the company applied for a franchise to enter Oswego city and, after much discussion and many hearings, the franchise was finally granted late in December, 1909, under Mayor Smith's administration. One of the terms of the franchise was that the company should pay $10,000 as its share of the cost of the Lower Bridge and should agree to keep the roadways in West First street in front of the National Starch works free of snow and ice.

Construction Work Rushed

With these details settled the company awarded the contract for the construction of the line to the I. N. Ludington Company of Rochester. The construction work was started near Minetto, May 10, 1910, and it was expected that the road would be completed by January 1, 1911. The work proceeded satisfactorily and might have been finished on schedule time except that a misunderstanding arose over the construction of a trolley bridge at Fulton. The interested parties could not reach an agreement and the company decided to exercise its right under the franchise to cross the lower bridge at Fulton.

This plan, however necessitated a delay of several months and the work of construction was stopped late in the fall and put over until the spring. The remaining work on the line was rushed through and the bridge work was started as soon as possible with the result that the entire line was completed and ready for operation a week ago. Since that time tests have been made of the entire extension and the first official car arrived Sunday noon. The actual opening of the line was held today, however.

The cost of the road is one of the matters which the company declines to make public. It is of the best and most modern type of construction and built for permanency.

Private Right of Way

The new extension is about 10.9 miles in length and runs from East First street, Fulton, to the lower bridge, across the bridge to and through North Fulton to a private right of way which is followed almost continuously to Oswego, passing through Minetto. Much of this trip is made along the Oswego river and the scenic beauty is exceptional. The line passes over the Brosemer farm, across the land of the Country club and other private lands to a point in West First street, Oswego, a short distance South of Ellen street.

MARRIED

Wednesday, July 19, Mr. William Wilbur, aged 68, and Mrs. Sarah Zutars, aged 67, were united in marriage by the Rev. G. W. Wellburn, at the Presbyterian manse. The groom had never been married before but this was the third matrimonial venture of the bride.

THE HISTORY OF RECIPROCITY

Following is the history of the reciprocity negotiations with Canada and consideration of the bill by Congress:

March 10, 1910—President Taft met Canadian Minister of Finance Fielding, at Albany, N. Y.

November 5, 1910, and January 7, 1911—Representatives of the United States and Canada met and discussed the agreement.

January 3 to 21—Conference held at State Department between Commissioners of both countries.

January 26—Agreement transmitted to Congress.

February 14—Passed House, 221 93; 87 Republicans and six Democrats voting against it.

April 4—Special session convened.

April 21—Passed House, 267 to 89; 73 Republicans and 11 Democrats voting nay.

June 1—Senate began debating measure.

July 22—Senate voted on the bill.

President Taft's struggle for the passage of this bill and its final acceptance by the senate by a vote of 53 to 27, is one of the picturesque features of the Taft administration and it places the President squarely on record before the nations as a figure never swerving when duty is to be done. The sixteen months fight was ended by the passage of the measure and President Taft sincerely believes that in its passage the greatest good to the greatest number has been secured.

The treaty is now squarely up to the Canadian government for ratification.

Twenty bonds of one thousand dollars ($1,000) each, one payable on Aug. 15, 1912, and one on each Aug. 15 thereafter until the whole are paid, with interest at not more than 4 1-2 per cent. per annum. These bonds to be delivered to the purchaser thereof and the purchase price paid on or before the 15th day of Aug., 1911, at the office of the City Chamberlain.

Geo. B. Deuel, City Chamberlain.
J. C. Harrington, City Clerk.

NEW POSTAL BANKS

Ten First Class Postoffices Are Designated

Washington, July 22.—Ten first class postoffices in addition to the four already designated were named today by Postmaster General Hitchcock as postal savings banks. They are: Phoenix, Ariz.; South Bend, Ind.; Pueblo, Col.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Springfield, Mo.; Buttle, Mont.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Dallas, Tex., and Norfolk, Va.

Prior to June 30th more than 1,500 persons had opened postal savings accounts in 400 offices. Mr. Hitchcock says that at Belford, Ind., all of the depositors during the first three days of business were foreign born and 50 per cent. of the depositors during the first month's business at Miami, Fla., were other than native Americans.

Fifty additional second class postoffices today were designated as postal savings banks. They will begin to receive deposits August 21.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES AND CONVENTIONS

The date for holding the Republican county and district conventions is still under consideration by the Republican County Committee. It is probable that a meeting of the committee will be held within a few days at which time a date will be decided upon, and a date for holding the town and ward caucuses will be recommended.

Conditions throughout the county are satisfactory from a party standpoint and nothing is to be gained by longer delaying the calls.

A well known Des Moines woman after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

100 FARM BOYS STATE'S GUESTS

Free Scholarships Granted by Fair Commission.

ALL COUNTIES REPRESENTED.

Commissioner Pearson's Novel Plan For Stimulating a Greater Interest in Improved Agriculture—Camp Life a Feature—All Expenses to Be Met by the State.

The system of free scholarships at the State Fair, planned by Commissioner of Agriculture Raymond A. Pearson, has stirred up an earnest rivalry among farm boys of the state who intend to follow agriculture as a life work. There has been a flood of applications since the first announcement covering the innovation, leaving no doubt that every county will be represented in the company of 100 boys who are to be guests of the state during the week of the Fair.

The scheme, the purpose of which is to stimulate a greater interest in improved agriculture and at the same time to make the great benefits of the Fair more widely known, is meeting with general commendation. Commissioner Pearson has taken an important step, it is declared, in carrying out the broader educational mission of the institution.

The applications will be considered with the greatest care with the object of having the scholarships go to boys of good character who are actually engaged in farm work and anxious to learn the best methods of farming. To encourage a careful study of all the subjects arranged by Commissioner Pearson for the benefit of the boys, prizes will be offered for the best essays on what was seen and learned at the Fair. The prizes will include pairs of pure bred calves, sheep, pigs and chickens, also fruit trees and seed corn.

All of the expenses, including transportation for the boys to and from their homes, will be met by the State Fair commission. The boys will be required to abide by the rules of a camp at the Fair grounds, organized with the purpose of making the most of the Fair's educational advantages. While there will be a reasonable degree of school discipline and a routine of study, embracing lectures, inspection of exhibits and demonstrations, the boys will have plenty of time for pleasure and recreation.

COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE RAYMOND A. PEARSON.

[Who proposed the free scholarships for extending the educational value of the State Fair to the farms.]

In organizing the company, the members of which must be between sixteen and nineteen years of age, selections will be made by counties and in each county by a committee composed of the master of the Pomona grange, if there is one, and the county deputy of the grange, together with the school commissioners or superintendents. The county secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association will be members of the committees in counties where Y. M. C. A. rural work has been organized. The selections will be made between July 17 and 30.

KA-NOO-NO KARNIVAL.

Syracuse Is Busy Preparing For Mardi Gras of the North.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the people of Syracuse for the entertainment of visitors to the State Fair. As has been the practice for the past seven years, the Ka-noo-no Karnival, the big entertainment consisting of brilliant spectacles, electrical decorations, pageantry parades and band concerts, will be given five evenings of Fair week. The Karnival has become known as the Mardi Gras of the north. It costs the merchants of Syracuse about $75,000 each year.

The entertainment is free to the public.

The first Ka-noo-no Karnival was given by the Mystique of Ka-noo-no in 1904, and it became a bigger success with each succeeding year. The idea of a Mystique Kinora, consisting of five tribes, each with its chief, was suggested by the history of the Iroquois federation. The city's leading business men, mindful that the State Fair was helping Syracuse, believed that the city should do something to help the Fair. As there had been no evening program at the Fair it was decided that the organization should provide free evening entertainment which might serve to amuse visitors and attract larger crowds to the Fair. Now no man, woman or child in the city appears contented unless doing something to help along the Karnival.

Famous Miracle Painting.

Arrangements have been made for the exhibition at the State Fair of the famous miracle painting, "In the Shadow of the Cross," which created a furor of comment at the Jamestown, St. Louis and Buffalo expositions. It is a life sized portrait of Christ standing with folded arms in the simple costume of a peasant and, while not a remarkable production as a work of art, being unfinished, has a most interesting effect when seen in the dark. While the artist, Henry Hammond Ahl, was at work upon the picture he went into his studio one evening in the dark and to his surprise found his painting illuminated with a soft radiance. The light was playing upon the figure, while back of it there was the shadow of the cross. The artist had not painted in this shadow, and in daylight it was not visible. He left the picture unfinished. It has been examined by experts, and no satisfactory explanation has been given. It is declared, of this strange light and the shadow of the cross.

STORY OF A MUD HEN.

And the Man Who Tried to Shoot or Drown the Bird.

"It is a mighty hard thing to down a mud hen," said a Portland official. "Every one knows this homely bird, so clever that it can dodge the flash of a gun, making it very hard to kill if any one ever wanted to kill one.

"A friend of mine who was a great hunter, but not acquainted with the mud hen, was out hunting on the Columbia sloughs some years ago when he saw what he thought was some kind of duck floating on the water. He aimed his shotgun and fired, but the bird dived as the gun was discharged, and the shot struck the water where the bird had been a moment before. As the smoke cleared away the hunter saw the bird come to the surface, and he gave it the other barrel, with the same result.

"His obstinacy was now aroused, and he determined to kill that bird before he left the place. He shot away every round of ammunition he had, but the bird dodged every one and still floated in the same spot. In great disgust my friend sat down on the bank and lit his pipe. At the first puff of smoke the bird dived again, and this gave him his inspiration.

"To make a short story, he smoked up all his tobacco in an effort to drown the mud hen, but when darkness fell and he started for home the bird was still floating in the same old spot."—Portland Oregonian.

A CURIOUS DREAM.

Warning That Came to a Granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott.

An instance in which a dream was useful in preventing an impending catastrophe is recorded of a daughter of Mrs. Rutherford at Ederton, the granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott. This lady dreamed more than once that her mother had been murdered by a black servant. She was so much upset by this that she returned home, and, to her great astonishment and not a little to her dismay, she met on entering the house the very black servant she had met in her dream. He had been engaged in her absence. She prevailed upon a gentleman to watch in an adjoining room during the following night.

About 3 o'clock in the morning the gentleman heard footsteps on the stairs, came out and met the servant carrying some coals. Being questioned as to where he was going, he answered confusedly that he was going to mend the mistress' fire, which at 3 o'clock in the morning in the middle of summer was evidently impossible. On further investigation a strong knife was found hidden in the coals. The lady escaped, but the man was subsequently hanged for murder, and before his execution he confessed that he intended to assassinate Mrs. Rutherford.—London Standard.

Sir Roger de Coverley.

Sir Roger de Coverley was the name of a member of the imaginary club of twelve under whose direction Addison's Spectator was professedly published. He was an old school, bluff, good hearted English gentleman. The dance named after him is an English dance corresponding somewhat to the Virginia reel.

"I was cultivating my voice."—Exchange.

HE ESCAPED THE GALLOWS

By R. G. MARTIN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

An old sailor was run into his last port—the Sailors' Snug Harbor. After his first supper he sat on a bench outside, filled a pipe with a short stem and smoked lugubriously. Several of the inmates of the institution approached him, pulling on their own pipes, and sat down near him, and one of them said to him:

"Mate, we uns have made a rule here that every newcomer introduces hisself by spinnin' a yarn. That way we can judge him. A man generally gives hisself away when he's tellin' his sper'ences."

"About meself?"

"In course. How can we judge of you if your yarn's about some one else?"

"Well, here goes," said the newcomer after a few thoughtful whiffs at his pipe. "My yarn happened when I was aboard the bark Sarah Blake. I was young then and full o' life, and, though I say it myself, no man could get aloft quicker and hang on tighter, furlin' a sail the same time, than I could. But I had the misfortune to get the enmity o' the first officer, McWhalley, and after that my life wasn't worth livin'. He did everything he could to get me overboard, sendin' me out to the end of a yardarm when the ship was rollin' and dippin' me in the crest of the seas. Another time he sent me on to the bowsprit when it was covered with ice and pokin' itself into every wave that came along. Well, one day he knocked me down with a marlinspike, and I picked up a capstan bar and hit him on the head."

The old fellow took his pipe out of his mouth, cocked his eye at his hearers and asked if the Snug Harbor was a locker for secrets. Being assured that it was, he proceeded.

"I was desperate and didn't know how hard I struck. I cracked his skull and he died the same afternoon. In course I was put in irons to be towed into port and tried for both mutiny and murder—either one o' which, as you know, mates, is enough to hang a man.

"There wasn't a seaman aboard that didn't like it because I'd downed the mate and got rid o' him. The captain and the other officer didn't think that way. They didn't believe in mutiny nohow, and they was bound to bring me to trial. They didn't know who to trust to guard me in the brig, but it didn't make much difference, for so long as we were at sea there was no way o' gittin' ashore, even if I had my liberty. But the afternoon after I killed the mate my guard, as soon as he was put on watch, put his finger aside his nose, and he said in a whisper:

"'Mate, we seamen has been conspirin' a way to git you out o' hangin'. We're nearin' the coast, and the mate you killed is to be buried at two bells tomorrer mornin'. He's sewed up in his hammock now, with a ten pound shot tied to his ankles. Say the word and we'll take him out and put you in. We kin give you a sharp knife to cut yerself out with, some cork from the lifeboats, a bottle o' water and some herrings.'

"I told him I'd rather die that way than be swingin' at a rope's end, and I might git picked up. So that night when the men that was my friends was on watch they tuk off the irons, give me the things, tyin the cork around my body under the arms, the herrings in a bag the sailmaker had got up for the purpose around my waist, a bottle o' water hung from the waist between my legs, and the knife I put in my pocket. Then they watched their chance to git rid o' the mate's body and after dumpin' it overboard put me in the hammock and sewed me up.

"In the mornin', soon after two bells struck, I heard footsteps on the deck, nobody sayin' nothin' and then quiet for awhile, when the captain's voice sounded solium readin' the burial service. This was more'n I'd counted on. I knew I'd probably die, but I objected to the burial service bein' read over me before I was dead.

"Howsomever, I lay still, and when the skipper got through I felt myself lifted up, laid on an inclined plank and skidded off into the water.

"D'ye know, mates, that was a mighty mean feelin', a weight hangin' to my ankles, draggin' me down. But I didn't have no time to be thinkin'. If I didn't cut the shot loose quick enough I'd go down where the water pressure would keep me down. Besides, I couldn't hold my breath more than fifty seconds, though I'd been practicin' doin' o' it. I whipped out my knife, ripped open the hammock, got my arms out and cut the cord in about twenty seconds.

"The bag fell off while I was risin'. There was a danger that I'd be seen from the ship. So I was, but this had been perwided for. As soon as I was slid off some of my friends tuk up the attention o' one o' the officers, and nobody saw me except men who was in the plot.

"I floated on the water all that day and the next. I'd had a good breakfast before bein' histed overboard and didn't eat nothin' till evenin', when I pulled out some herring from the pouch around my belt and took a little water. I saw several ships that day, but none on 'em came near enough to hail. The next day one passed one about a mile away. Another, twelve hours later, pretty near run me down. I yelled, and they took me aboard."

LEGAL NOTICES

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

THE WEEK

Trade continues quiet, but conditions are essentially sound. Better weather throughout the crop area has largely relieved the apprehension about the staple crops and lower temperatures in the large cities have helped general business, especially retail lines. A favorable sign is a somewhat better inquiry for high grade bonds, the investing public gradually becoming more favorably disposed toward long term securities. The demand is still highly discriminating. Railroad earnings for the first week of July show a small increase, while bank clearings this week are 4.6 per cent. above the total reported in the corresponding week last year. Further improvement in the steel industry is reflected by the release this week of some important orders for various products, including rails. A moderate export demand has been reported. There is still good buying in finished lines, and plants, especially at the West, are quite well employed. Resumption of shoe factories is creating a better demand for leather, and New England jobbers continue fairly busy. The dry goods market is naturally affected by the sharp break in the price of cotton, and there is a consistent effort made in some quarters to stimulate business through price revisions. The disposition is still to buy cautiously until the general trade outlook is better defined. The violent decline in the price of cotton carried the new crop options down over four dollars a bale. The markets here and at theS outh have been much excited by these fluctuations, with quite a stampede of speculators from the bull to the bear side. Crop advices are very favorable and the indications are for record-breaking productions. Abundant rainfall in the corn belt and larger receipts with better conditions in spring wheat territory give a heavy tendency to the markets for those staples. The foreign trade statement for the fiscal year just closed shows total exports of $2,048,691,392, the largest ever reported. Excess of exports over imports was $620,706,804 as against $188,037,290 the preceding year; last year's export excess has been exceeded on only five occasions in the country's history.

Progress in iron and steel augure well for the future. While improvement is not pronounced, consumers are more disposed to cover requirements, and mill operations are steadily broadening. Evidence of the increasing demand is furnished by the placing of orders for about 100,000 tons of steel products for early shipment with a western subsidiary of the leading interest, the greater portion of these bookings comprising rails and track fastenings. The volume of structural shapes, plates and bars included in the contracts was also considerable.

Selling agents in the cotton goods market have cut prices on goods to stimulate the movement in all accumulations of odd lots. A drastic revision in bleached cotton, following the removal of restrictions on staple prints, adds to the uncertainty. The volume of curtailment is increasing. Export trade is still favorable and stocks are relatively light. Dress goods and men's wear merchants rae about opening their new spring lines and prices generally show considerable reduction, but buyers are not ready to proceed at the new quotations and most of them are ordering sample pieces only or very trifling filling-in supplies This lack of anticipation is greatly hampering the mills and curtailment continues large, but sentiment is still healthy because of the certainty that stocks will shortly need replenishment. Manufacturers operate more freely in the Boston wool market, purchases aggregating at least 5,000,000 pounds, at prices current for some time. Foreign advices are strong.

Conservatism is displayed by wholesalers in the footwear markets, although the movement is expected to increase as buyers are quite numerous in the Boston market. There is a fairly steady volume of business with local jobbers. Leather is a little more active. Prices are very strong and the lack of large sales is partly due to the disinclination of tanners to sell much ahead of current receipts.

Continued improvement in the cotton crop prospects caused the decline in prices, liquidation in the nearby options being particularly drastic. The August delivery fell below 12 3.4 cents under especially heavy pressure. Wheat moved irregularly, although the tendency was generally downward in response to continued heavy receipts. Some support was furnished by reports of black rust in the Northwest and evidence of a revival in the export demand, but these influences were offset by other news of a depressing character.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for July to date amount to $5,345,010, of which $1,968,658 were in manufacturing, $3,029,058 in trading and $347,293 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 205 in the United States against 249 last year, and 25 in Canadian compared with 25 a year ago.

GUESTS OF STATE FAIR COMMISSION

At a session held at Mexico on July 18, by the Grange committee and school commissioners of Oswego county, selections were made of the three boys from Oswego county who are to attend the State Fair as the guests of the Fair Commission. The fortunate boys are: Leon C. Howe, Pulaski; Harold Gillespie, R. F. D. No. 2, Fulton, and Allen Lockwood, Hannibal. Leroy Miner of Lycoming was selected as the alternate.

The boys were chosen from eighteen applicants and were judged on the applications made for the privilege of attending. The judges were: F. E. Alexander, Master Pomona; William J. Bradt, County Deputy, and School Commissioners W. S. Gardner, W. C. Richards and L. Carl Sargent.

The expenses of the boys will be paid and they will be shown especial favors in many ways. It will be the event of their young lives.

DANGER IN DIRTY ICE-BOXES

In the August Woman's Home Companion, on "The Doctor's Page," the author talks with great good sense about home sanitation in summer. Following is some good advice about the ice-box:

"It seems scarcely necessary to say here that a dirty, ill-kept ice-box is a grave danger to health. Of course the modern porcelain or glass-lined cabinets are most desirable and very easily kept clean. Unfortunately, these are, as yet, not for the majority. However, a sanitary ice-box is possible to every house-wife who demands it. Be careful not to spill food on the shelves; cover closely all eatables to be put away; insist upon clean ice; scrub and scald the interior of the ice-box with strong soda-water once a week, completing the operation by pouring down the drain a solution of Platt's Chlorides, an odorless disinfectant. An ice-box drain should never be closely connected with the general sewerage system, unless this has been done in a perfectly sanitary way by a responsible plumber. To save the constant emptying of the waste water, a rubber tube may be fitted over the small drain-pipe, in the bottom of the ice-box, and led out of doors through a small hole in the floor and other necessary outlets, being finally carried away as surface-water."

ATE HEARTY

The inmates of Auburn prison, at their Fourth of July dinner, consumed 750 pounds of fresh smoked shoulder, 36 bushels of mashed potatoes, 80 gallons of brown gravy, 3,000 raised biscuit, 300 pounds of fruit jelly, 1,500 apple pies, 225 pounds of full cream cheese, 28 large bunches of bananas, 300 three-pound loaves of white bread, and many gallons of coffee, with milk and sugar.

LINESMAN KILLED AT OSWEGO

Fellow Workman Shocked and Thrown From Pole to Ground When He Went to Assistance of Friend Who Was Already Dead.

While working on a telephone pole near the corner of West Seventh and Albany streets, Oswego, on Thursday morning, Harry Crossman, a Bell telephone lineman, married and living at No. 87 West Schuyler street, was electrocuted, and Aaron Robinson, his companion, whose home is in Pulaski, was seriously if not fatally injured, as a result of a fall from the pole sustained in an attempt to rescue his fellow workman.

The two men had been on the pole but a short time when Crossman, who was fastened to the pole with a life belt leaned back and touched one of the primary electric wires on the pole through which a current of 2,200 volts were passing. As the shock passed through his body he stiffened and lost his hold on the pole but was kept from falling by his life belt. Robinson, seeing the predicament of his companion, although he knew the danger involved, reached over and cut the wire which was electrocuting Crossman. So heavy was the current that it passed through the insulation on his pliers and shocked him severely. He lost his hold and fell thirty feet to the ground. Later he was taken to the Hospital where it was found that he had sustained five broken ribs, badly punctured lungs, and severe burns on his hands and arms.

William Mack, a fellow workman, showed remarkable coolness. As soon as possible he secured a rope and throwing it over the fatal wire, he jerked this down and out of the way. Then fastening a rope to the body of the dead man, he lowered it to the ground and telephoned for the coroner and the ambulance. The injured man was rushed to the hospital where Dr. D. D. O'Brien attended him. Crossman's body was taken to Cullinan's undertaking rooms.

TAKES AN APPEAL

Notice of appeal to the Appellate division was filed Saturday in the case of Horatia A. Allen vs. E. J. Cusack, Fulton parties, by the defendant. The appeal is from a judgment of $359.10, which includes costs. The action involved a horse trade, plaintiff contending that defendant agreed to purchase an animal from him for $175. This defendant denies. Thursday Judge Rowe denied a motion for a trial, with $10 costs, and the appeal followed.

An order was filed in the County Clerk's office Saturday changing the place of venue from New York to Oswego county in the trial of Gussie Rosenblum vs. Silverman Brothers, of Fulton.

SOLVES A DEEP MYSTERY

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Bader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid he system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE

Beginning Monday evening, July 31, at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, the Empire Stock Company will enter upon their last week of their engagement. This talented company has presented more high class plays than any stock company which has ever appeared in Syracuse and this announcement of their final week will be received with genuine regret. The management has selected for the final bill the sparkling comedy entitled the "Marriage of Kitty" in which the renowned comedienne Marie Tempest scored the most pronounced success in her entire career.

"The Marriage of Kitty" is a thoroughly amusing piece of frivolity carried forward in a wholly original fashion. It is full of humorous situations and withal, it is clean.

The chief character in the play is Katherine Silverton, a sprightly young woman, who, after the death of a spendthrift father, goes to London to earn her living and manages to do so in a most unusual fashion. In the first act, which takes place in the law office of the godfather of Kitty, the heroine makes known the fact that she must provide for herself, and arrives at the conclusion that marriage is the easiest way out of the difficulty.

Presently to the same office comes Sir Reginald Belsize, seeking legal advice from Mr. Travers. Belsize, it appears is in love with a Peruvian widow, Madame de Semiano, and is heir to a large fortune left him by his uncle. In the will is a clause that Belsize shall marry before a certain date and that his bride must not be the widow in the case. The lawyer is asked to suggest a way by which Belsize shall get both the widow and the fortune. He hits upon the plan of having Belsize marry Kitty, and when he has come into his fortune, to divorce her, and of course settling a large sum of money upon her. The plan is agreed to by Belsize, but Madame de Semiano is inclined to be jealous of the proposed temporary wife.

To calm her fears, Kitty arranges her hair and dress in ugly, rural fashion, and in this peculiar make-up she becomes the wife of Belsize The second act takes place in Lady Belsize's villa on Lake Geneva, one year after the wedding. Kitty has not seen her husband since the ceremony, he having gone immediately on a long tour with Madame de Semiano, and her aunt, who acts as chaperon. To the villa comes Belsize and Travers for the purpose of arranging with Kitty about the divorce. Belsize is amazed to find that the girl who appeared an awkward ignoramous when he married her, is really an attractive and cultivated society woman. He has thoroughly outgrown his infatuation for the widow, and promptly falls in love with his wife. The widow is not so easily dropped, however She demands her rights as the fiancee of Belsize. She rages, weeps and makes scenes. The poor lawyer, Travers, works valiantly to bring order out of chaos, but to little purpose. Complication after complication arises in which Belsize and his temporary wife Kitty, are drawn closer and closer together. Finally in the last act the Gordian knot is cut by the husband and wife running away together, and Madame de Semiano consoles herself with the determination to marry a former suitor when she threw over for Belsize.

Unusual efforts will be made to make the closing week the most brilliant of the season. Miss Frenyear will as one of the features, appear in a harem skirt just received by her from Paris through a local concern. Matinees will be played as usual on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

SAVES TWO LIVES

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery" writes A. D. McDonald of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 3, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough.—all bronchial troubles,—its supreme. Trial bottle free. 50c and $1.00. Guaranted by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

SPECIAL TERM DECISION

Justice Merrell Denies Motion to Stay Condemnation Proceedings

A motion to stay condemnation proceedings in the case of the N. Y. O. & W. R. R. company against W. S. Nelson of Fulton was denied before Justice Merrell at Special Term Saturday morning.

Sometime ago the railroad company began condemnation proceedings against property belonging to W. S. Nelson. A commission was appointed to determine the value of the property of Mr. Nelson and Mr. Nelson appealed from their decision to the County Court. Judge Rowe found for the railroad company and the case was taken to the appellate division. P. W. Cullinan appeared for the railroad company and Giles S. Piper for Nelson.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Woman at Telephone Injured By a Bolt of Lightning

Brook, July 21.—On Monday morning between six and seven o'clock Mrs. George Schnure went to the telephone to ask about a fire—some barns that were burning—when a bolt struck a telephone pole and came very near killing her. She was unconscious for a long time and her face, hands and foot are burned very badly. It burned a hole in her shoe and in the carpet. Doctor Cusack of Fulton, was called. At present Mrs. Schnure is suffering from the burns.

Possible Candidate for Mayor

Agent John W. Stevenson of the American Woolen mill may become a candidate for mayor of Fulton on the Republican ticket this Fall. There seems a growing demand upon the part of the electors for a young man to fill this highly responsible office and Mr. Stevenson's friends throughout the city believe that he might become a receptive candidate. Mr. Stevenson is a Republican, high in the councils of the county organization and upon him at present devolves the carrying of the city for the candidate for supreme court justiceship, Attorney Udelle Bartlett. Mr. Stevenson is doing strenuous work in every ward in the city. There is a considerable amount of sentiment here for Attorney Hubbs, Mr. Bartlett's most aggressive opponent, but Mr. Stevenson believes that the major portion of this sentiment can be overcome before caucus time and that every ward will roll up a rousing majority for Mr. Bartlett.

In view of this labor, ungrudgingly given, it would seem that Mr. Stevenson's friends were warranted in their insistance that he becomes a candidate for the mayoralty on the Republican ticket. Mr. Stevenson when approached upon the subject waves his hand and says, "one thing at a time."

One fact the Times can assure its readers; if Mr. Stevenson becomes Fulton's next mayor there will be something doing all the term of his service. He is most energetic and active.

Selection Approved by Republicans

From Republicans generally throughout the county come expressions of approval of the nomination by Chairman Taft of ex-Supervisor D. O. Whitney of Albion for election commissioner, in compliance with the Levy election law. Mr. Whitney has never been connected in any way with factional fights nor entanglements and he made a most satisfactory chairman when representing his town on the Board of Supervisors. He could easily have been returned to the Board but retired from politics to devote his attention to his private business interests. There were several contestants for the position which pays in the neighborhood of $1,500 per year. From every view point Mr. Taft's selection of Mr. Whitney was the most commendable one that could have been made and it is sincerely hoped and believed that the Board of Supervisors at their special session on Monday will endorse Mr. Whitney's nomination.

Mr. Whitney's selection is splendid recognition of the eastern end of the county on the part of the Republican county organization, of which Chairman Taft is a very vital part.

President Taft's Victory

It is a remarkable fact that President Taft has secured the adoption of the Canadian reciprocity measure from Congress without creating bitterness. Determined and implacable has been the warfare yet the victory of the President is of so overwhelming a character as to reflect credit on the Republican party as a whole.

Great as is the intrinsic merit of the reciprocity agreement, and potent as it must prove in its influence on the relations of this country with Great Britain and her important colony which is the immediate neighbor of the United States, there is a psychological effect of the President's victory of scarcely less importance, because of the influence it is certain to exert on the Republican party itself.

The people respect the President for the manly determination with which he has faced the opponents of the measure and the prowess with which he has wrestled victory from what at one time looked like defeat.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

"RAW AND ROTTEN"

Mark Twain once asked a New York audience why a Tammany municipal ticket then in nomination resembled a banana which had begun to decay before it was ripe. The answer to the riddle was easier than it seemed to the audience. It was: "Because it is raw at one end and rotten at the other." If Mark were alive now he could bring his riddle up to date and apply it to the present Tammany state administration. Its failure, complete and colossal, and confessed on every hand, is about equally due to the weakness of the good intentions of a Governor untrained to dealings with greedy and unscrupulous politicians, and to the ruthlessly and deliberately evil purposes of the wreckers in and behind the Legislature.

To say that the voters of the Democratic party are discouraged and depressed, and that the independent voters who have lately been inclined to enter the Democratic party or ally themselves with it for several years to come, are disgusted and resentful, is merely to repeat what is on everyone's tongue. But three is worse than this to follow, if we are not mistaken. The reckless creation of new and needless offices by the present administration; the invention of new titles and new powers for old commissions, followed by the dismissal of the old commissioners and by an increase in the salaries of the men appointed to succeed them; the lavish appropriations of funds for wasteful purposes from a treasury unequal to the state's legitimate needs; the disgraceful scramble in every department for places and contracts, are forewarning of scandalous extravagance and corruption.

All this a repetition on a large scale of what we beheld in the State Engineer's Department between 1907 and 1909. A gang of freebooters that does not hesitate to thrust a bankrupt state treasury still further into bankruptcy, compelling the administration to resort to the fatal expedient of a direct tax, will surely not abstain from the easier graft of swollen highway and canal contracts. Unless we are deceived by the record and aims of the men in real control of the party, the state is approaching a saturnalia of plunder—if, indeed, it has not already reached it—that will make Boss Tweed turn in his grave at having lived forty years too soon.

The Democratic party might safely count on being turned out of power for its failure to fulfill its promise to enact a direct nominations bill. It could probably expect to receive a sound thrashing at the next election for the apparent sympathies of its legislators with the crooks who induce poor workmen and clerks to hazard their own and others' money on "fixed" races. Perhaps its general display of inefficiency and stupidity in administrative and legislative responsibility would, taken alone, be quite enough to condemn it to defeat. But its evident eagerness to turn loose a gang of its worst grafters to prey upon the state's shattered finances, is a sentence of self-annihilation. After this week's legislative raid upon the taxpayers, what up-state county can be carried for a Democratic candidate? Possibly Schoharie. But not even that hitherto safe stronghold of the party, if Speaker Frisbie, sponsor for some of the worst of this damning legislation, should be a candidate for re-election.

On the eve of a Presidential election, this is a wretched state for a party that six months ago looked forward to next year's contest with confidence verging on certainty. Only a Presidential candidate of such commanding intellect and character as to throw into shadow the disgraceful conditions in this state can carry New York. Even such a candidate would find it well-nigh impossible to carry through a state ticket, however carefully it might be purged of the influences now dominant at Albany. The ruin of the party in power in New York is so overwhelming as to threaten the national party with like disaster. Nothing but the most thorough casting out of devils in this state can give the Democrats half a chance for the Presidency.—The Rochester Herald.

SEEMED TO GIVE HIM A NEW STOMACH

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

ROSES AND THORNS.

An Old Eastern Legend and Its Application to Human Life.

This world we're living in
Is mighty hard to beat.
You get a thorn with every rose
But ain't the roses sweet?

There is an eastern legend that when the beneficent Creator prepared the earth for man, causing it to bring forth herbs and trees pleasant to the eye and good for food, each bearing its seed within itself for propagating its kind, the roses had no thorns and the lilies, violets and other blossoming plants were free from thistles, brambles and noxious weeds.

But the sons and daughters of men in their greedy eagerness to gather the flowers, each one selfishly striving to secure a larger share than his fellow, seemed likely to despoil the earth of its beauty and leave not even enough blossoms to perfect their seed and perpetuate their species. So the kindly All Father provided the roses with thorns for self protection and sent a host of defenders of the more tender blossoms by causing thistles and briers to spring up around them like wardens of a castle or the bodyguard of a queen. And this is the reason for the thorns and briers—nature's protection against human greed.

The legend has a wider application. The roses signify the pleasures of life and the thorns its pains. A life of ease and pleasure was not only useless, but satiating. It would demoralize him who indulged in it. Satiety despoils the rose of its beauty and the violet of its fragrance; hence kind nature makes true pleasure the reward of virtuous effort and punishes overindulgence with penalizing suffering, to the end that greed may be restrained and self control developed with its attendant virtues of temperance, kindliness, industry and thrift.—John B. Stoll in South Bend Times.

FOES TO SUCCESS.

Don't Be a Victim of Timidity, Shyness or Self Consciousness.

Timidity, shyness and self consciousness belong to the same family. We usually find all where we find any one, and they are all enemies of peace of mind, happiness and achievement. No one has ever done a great thing while his mind was centered upon himself. We must lose ourselves before we can find ourselves. Self analysis is valuable only to learn our strength; it is fatal if it makes us dwell upon our weaknesses.

Timid, shy people are morbidly self conscious. They think too much about themselves. Their thoughts are turned inward; they are always analyzing, dissecting themselves, wondering how they appear and what people think of them. If these people could only forget themselves and think of others they would be surprised to see what freedom, ease and grace they would gain, what success in life they would achieve.

Thousands of young people are held back from undertaking what they long to do and are kept from trying to make real their great life dreams because they are afraid to jostle with the world. They shrink from exposing their sore spots and sensitive points which smart from the lightest touch. Their supersensitiveness makes cowards of them.—O. S. Marden in Success Magazine.

A Congregation of One.

In his younger days the Rev. Sir Cameron Lees, D. D., was a highland missioner in a scattered territory and passing rich on £40 a year. On one occasion on the Sabbath day the windows of heaven opened and there was a deluge on a small scale. The young minister of course was at his post, but only one member of the congregation had the courage to turn up, an old farmer. Cameron Lees suggested that in view of the terrible weather they should adjourn to his study and hold their devotions there.

"No, no," said the old highlander. "It is written, 'Where two or three are gathered together in my name there am I also. You are one and I'm one, so there's the two, and we'll have the service as usual." And there was a service for a congregation of one.—London Globe.

Worrying Happiness.

The bishop of Manchester, speaking at a meeting at Church House, Westminster, said the secret of happiness was to have a sufficient multitude of worries.

The man who had only one worry, a blind that would not be pulled up straight by the servant or a coal scuttle the bottom of which was always coming out, found his way to the lunatic asylum, but the man who had no time to dwell upon his worries because he had to go from one to another and back again and round and round like a squirrel in a cage could be a perfectly happy man.—London Mail.

Elastic.

"An' one other thing I want you to remember when you build the house is to put one of the finest elastic steps on it that money can build.'

"An elastic step, madam?"

"Yes; I was readin' how Miss Blubud had a fine elastic step, an' I want one just like it or better."—Houston Post.

Becoming.

"Isn't my new dress becoming to me?" asked the delighted wife.

"Yes," replied the head of the establishment, "and I suppose the bill for it will soon be coming to me."

Life is a quarry out of which we are to mold and chisel and complete a character.

Schillings band of Oswego held a celebration on Thursday night and presented their genial manager Coroner C. J. Vowinkle, with a handsome handbag. "Chris" was completely taken aback but after collecting himself announced that he would carry the bag to Washington when Taft was re-elected president. Coroner Vowinkle suggested in introducing Congressman Mott that he arrange to have President Taft bear the band. The Congressman expressed his appreciation of the band for the fine music it had rendered and said that it was one of the things that a city should have. He promised the band that if they could arrange to accompany the 48th to the capitol, March 4, 1913, he would guarantee that they would be well entertained.

Dr. E. J. Cusack came near being minus a horse and carriage on Sunday evening when he was called to make a visit to a patient at the Pathfinder club house. Dr. Cusack fastened his horse with a weight on the canal heel path between the canal and the river. While at the club house Dr. Cusack's attention was attracted by shouts and upon investigation he found his horse and carriage in the water. Dr. Cusack and Mr. Holmes put from shore in small boats and the doctor managed to keep the horse's head above water while Mr. Holmes hastily procured help, ropes, etc., to assist the equine to reach land once more. After a battle of nearly an hour the exhausted animal was brought to shore and given stimulents and a vigorous rubbing down while the doctor returned to minister to his patient at the club house. Evidently the animal had become entangled in its weight strap while lunching on the grass by the way side, and had thrown itself into the water in its struggles to free itself.

GOVERNOR SIGNS GOOD ROADS BILL

Albany, July 25.—Governor Dix today signed Assemblyman Sweet's bill appropriating $450,000 to be expended in building State Highway route 34 in Oswego and Onondaga counties. The road extends from Phoenix, South to Onondaga county on the east side of Fulton.

CHEAP FARM LABOR OFFERED

New York, July 26.—Believing that hundreds of farmers in New York State at this season of the year need men to perform light service about the farm, from which the returns are not sufficient to warrant paying a high wage, the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor at 105 East 22nd street, New York, is offering its co operation in supplying this kind of help. The Association is daily receiving applications from men who want just this kind of work and to whom the wage question is a secondary consideration. These men have been cured of tuberculosis in some of the best institutions of the country but are not able to return to indoor work or to perform any laborious outdoor tasks. All elements of danger are passed before they are allowed to leave the institutions. In order to be self-supporting and obtain the fresh air which they need to bring them back to vigorous manhood so that they may compete with those who have been more fortunate, they seek through the Association light work on farms, the pay for which may be regulated by the service performed.

Those who seek this kind of service and those who need the work will be greatly benefited if the farmers will communicate with the Association.

BIG ENTRY FOR RACES AT FAIR.

State Offers $40,000 in Grand Circuit Classes.

STARS OF TURF TO MEET.

Total of Ninety-seven Paid Up Entries For Early Closing Events—Big Stables of Light Harness Horses of United States and Canada to Be at Syracuse.

With a total of ninety-seven paid up nominations for the early closing events to form a part of the State Fair race program, and all of the large stables of light harness horses of the country represented, racing of the highest class is promised patrons of the Fair. The fastest trotters and pacers of the year handled by the famous drivers of the grand circuit will be seen in exciting struggles for $40,000 in prize money offered by the State Fair commission.

The track at Syracuse is one of the fastest mile circular courses, and the meeting held each year in connection with the State Fair is one of the most important in the grand circuit, the chain of racing associations which takes in New England and the states of the middle west and south. At the close of the last meeting the State Fair track was credited with six world's records, and the sport was pronounced the equal of anything ever furnished by light harness horses.

The final payments for the early closing events, forming features of the program, were due July 1. Announcement is made by State Fair racing officials that thirty have remained in the Empire State for trotters eligible to the 2:14 class, the prize money for which is $10,000. This event annually attracts the attention of the horse world and brings together the best trotters of the United States and Canada. The other early closing events, the purse money and the number of entries in each follow:

The Chamber of Commerce, 2:07 trot, $2,000, 13; the Ka-noo-no, 2:25 trot, three-year-olds, $1,000, 17; the Conway, 2:18 pace, $2,000, 11; the Syracuse, 2:11 pace, $5,000, 17; the Onondaga, 2:14 pace, $2,000, 9.

The remainder of the race program will be furnished by the class races, to be announced during the latter part of July. They will be for purses of $1,200 each. With all of the important stables represented in the early closing events, a large entry is assured for the class races.

There are plans for additional features of a spectacular order. Following the custom of other years, the officials will endeavor to arrange for record breaking trials by one or more of the sensational performers of the year.

Melodramatic.

A dramatist was condemning two melodramas that had had an unmerited success among the less cultivated portion of the public.

"The first," said the dramatist in his epigrammatic way, "was all blood and thunder, and the other was all thud and blunder."

LAUGHTER AND TEARS.

A Comedy Scene In Which Grief Played a Leading Part.

"Stage fright is not one of the emotions which get across the footlights," writes Miss Alice Crawford. "Audiences are for the most part as serenely unconscious of it as they are of other individual sentiments in the actors having no relation to the incidents of the play.

"I shall never forget an instance of this curious insensibility of the crowd. Once when I was touring one of the most charming and popular girls of the company died after only a few days' illness. She was one of those sweet, tranquil natures and had endeared herself to us all. Her death in lodgings in the small provincial town had an element of real tragedy in it.

"The news that she was dead reached the theater in the evening just as two of the actors and I were about to go on for a scene of broad comedy. We went on the stage with tears in our eyes, and I can still see the face of one of those comedians with the great tears glistening on the paint. He was dreadfully affected. Try as he would, he could not control his voice, and the tears kept choking him as he rattled off his lines.

"The audience were convulsed every time his voice broke, and it made me cry more than ever to see the grief shaking him as he grinned and chaffed through his tears. Yet that comedy scene never went so well before. The audience never guessed."—Exchange.

A Wedding Ring Superstition.

Although there was a lifelong friendship to back up their business deals, the jeweler was not surprised when his old customer who had married a second time bought the wedding ring at another shop.

"If he should take a third wife he would buy the ring at still another store," the jeweler said. "That is one of the superstitions of the trade. A man may have the marrying habit ever so bad and require several wedding rings in his time, yet he never buys any two of them from the same place. Jewelers do not expect it. They don't want to sell two wedding rings to the same man. Bad luck would surely light on all concerned, and there is enough trouble in the world anyhow without deliberately inviting more of it by defying a good old wedding ring superstition."—New York Times.

Her Recommendation.

A woman prominent as a social worker was in the city to engage a new girl the other day. She visited an employment agency which makes a specialty of finding places for country housemaids and was much pleased with one from the country.

"Why did you leave your last place?" asked the woman.

"I didn't have no last place," answered the girl, "because I ain't had no last place to leave, and I'm still working at it, being for myself that I've been working, and I'm sure I'm a good servant, and I can recommend myself to you, ma'am."—Exchange.

A PROFESSIONAL VISIT

By A. TOMLINSON FORD.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Tom Murphy was a lusty lad not long from the Emerald isle. He could never see any work going on but he must be in it. His fort was emergencies. If a man needed to be dug out from under a pile of bricks or earth Tom's pick and shovel were always in the advance of others. Did some one tumble in a well Tom was the person to go down and rescue him. Indeed Tom was always about when an accident occurred and the principal man in the salvage gang.

But great strength in one direction is usually at the expense of strength in another. Let Tom get sick and he was the veriest coward and whimperer in the land. At the slightest ailment he would take to his bed and groan and fret and wonder why the doctor didn't come, keeping his mother and his little sister Nora waiting on him. Then the moment the pain left him he was covered with shame at his timidity. He kicked off the cover, bounded out of bed and seized upon any method convenient or otherwise to show those about him that he was, after all, a man.

One afternoon Tom was seized with a griping. As usual, he got into bed, dispatched his younger brother for the doctor and reared for restoratives. His mother brought hot water, dipped a towel in it and clapped it on Tom's bare stomach. Tom howled with pain, for the water was near the boiling point and took the skin off. His mother ran to the water cooler with another towel, soused it in and, running back to the bed, put it where she had put the other one. A terrible chill ran through the invalid, and the griping increased fourfold.

"If the docther don't get here within five minutes," he cried, "I shall be a dead man."

But before the five minutes were up the pain suddenly left him. He sat up in bed and looked about him.

"Lie down," said his mother. "The doctor is coming and if he finds you able to sit up he will be very angry. We've been hurrying him, telling him that you were at death's door."

Tom lay back on his pillow and covered himself up. Presently he heard a commotion without and fragments of sentences. "Holy mother, he'll be drowned!" "Run quick." "What's the matter?" and such like phrases. Jumping out of bed, Tom ran into another room where he could look for half a mile down the road. There was the doctor's automobile rolled down the bank beside the road till it hung on the margin over the river. The chauffeur was swimming, while the doctor was holding the auto to keep it from sliding into the water.

"Give me me clothes," cried Tom. "Quick, the doctor's auto will be lost!"

"Bad luck to you, Tom," said his mother, "for an idyet. We've been telyphonin' an' sendin' for the docther to save yer loife, an' now ye'r goin' to lift his automobile."

"Me clothes, me clothes!" was all the reply they received. They brought them, and while he was putting them on he cried:

"Nora, go to bed."

"What for?" asked Nora.

"So we can tell the docther that a mistake was made."

By this time Tom had got into his shirt, his trousers and his boots and dashed down to where the doctor was holding the auto. Tom grabbed it and with the strength of a young bull tugged at it until he got it to a place where it was safe from further injury. Then the doctor looked at him surprised.

"I thought you were dying," he said.

"Ye'r mistaken; it's Nora. Hurry, docther. She's got rumatis and pneumonia and stomach ache all at the same time."

The doctor went on up to the house, leaving Tom to look after the auto while the chauffeur went to dry himself. As soon as the physician reached the house he was hurried into Nora's room. A pompous, opinionated old fellow, he would not brook a suggestion from any one. He felt Nora's pulse and put his ear down to her heart.

"I think it's a bad cold, docther," said her mother. "I hope it won't turn into newmoney."

"A cold be hanged!" said the doctor savagely. "She's got no cold, but palpitation of the heart. I must check it or she'll die."

Poor little Nora! She had been so excited over the recent events, especially the turn they had taken in her being the invalid instead of her brother that it is no wonder her heart beat wildly. She did not know what terrible remedy the doctor would employ.

"It's in me side, docther," she said faintly, hoping to ward off any heart remedies.

"You need something warming," said the medical man. "Bring a redhot poker."

"Holy mother! Docther, are ye goin' to warrum me wid that?"

"I'm going to mull some liquor with it," said the doctor.

But Nora was not convinced, and, while the physician turned his back to get some pills out of his medicine case, she jumped out of bed and ran for dear life.

The doctor, angered beyond measure, stalked out of the house, found his auto at the door and, jumping in, chugged viciously away.

Tom was afterward on one occasion very sick and sent for the doctor again, but he would not come.

HEALTH AND FOOD.

A Doctor's Idea of a Perfectly Balanced All Year Round Diet.

That every one is more or less susceptible to tubercular trouble is a matter on which all old fashioned medical authorities are agreed. They tell us that we may pass through a phase and out again without knowing it. According to Dr. T. Y. Hull in the Dietetic Gazette, there is only one thing very certain, and that is that if we keep in good health or adapt ourselves to a perfectly balanced diet the danger is slight.

He advocates a reduction of vegetable food, relying more upon butter, meat and nuts. Here, of course, one has to face the increased danger of tubercular meat, itself probably a large contributory cause of consumption.

This is Dr. Hull's idea of a perfectly balanced diet, calculated to keep the average individual in perfect health all the year round: The basis for the diet is found in meat, eggs, milk, butter, bread, potatoes and fruit. It consists daily of two quarts of milk, five eggs, four ounces of beef, one and one-half ounces of butter, two ounces of nuts (pecan), four ounces of bread, three and one-half ounces of rice, three ounces each of potatoes, peas and oatmeal, one ounce sugar, one ounce raisins, one apple and one orange.

FOLLIES OF SCIENCE.

Seven Problems That Have So Far Baffled Man's Mighty Brain.

The history of science has seven problems that men in all ages more or less have tried to solve, but which have finally been given up by all. Today they are called follies.

The usual list comprises the following: First, squaring the circle; second, duplication of the cube; third, trisection of an angle; fourth, perpetual motion; fifth, transmutation of metals; sixth, fixation of mercury; seventh, elixir of life. Some lists put the philosopher's stone for the last three and then add astrology and magic to make the seven.

To the unlearned it would seem possible to draw a square which shall be exactly equal in area to a given circle, which is the first problem in the list, but we are told by the highest authorities that it is impossible.

Since the discovery of radium it is claimed that the change of one metal into another has been accomplished, but it is yet too early to dogmatize about the matter.—Chicago Journal.

Learn to Think on Your Feet.

It does not matter whether one wants to be a public speaker or not, a person should have such complete control of himself, should be so self reliant and self poised, that he can get up in any audience, no matter how large or formidable, and express his thoughts clearly and distinctly. In all ages oratory has been regarded as the highest expression of human achievement. Young people, no matter what they intend to be, whether blacksmith or farmer, merchant or physician, should make it a study. Nothing else will call out what is in a man more quickly and more effectively than the constant effort to do his best in speaking before an audience. When one undertakes to think on one's feet and speak extemporaneously before the public the power and the skill of the entire man are put to the severest test.—Success Magazine.

At Sea on Land.

A clergyman who had neglected all knowledge of nautical affairs was asked to deliver an address before an audience of sailors. He was discoursing on the stormy passages of life. Thinking he could make his remarks more pertinent to his hearers by metaphorically using sea expressions, he said:

"Now, friends, you know that when you are at sea in a storm the thing you do is anchor."

A half concealed snicker spread over the room, and the clergyman knew that he had made a mistake.

After the services one of his listeners came to him and said, "Mr. ——, have you ever been at sea?"

The minister replied:

"No, unless it was while I was delivering that address."

Rivulets and the Rivers.

All are to be men of genius in their degree—rivulets or rivers, it does not matter, so that the souls be clear and pure, not dead wells, encompassing dead heaps of things known and numbered, but running waters in the sweet wilderness of things unnumbered and unknown, conscious only of the living banks, on which they partly refresh and partly reflect the flowers, and so pass on.—Ruskin's "The Stones of Venice."

Abrupt.

Judge Stevens had a slight hesitation in his speech, but that affliction did not prevent his using long words. One morning his dog Snip got into a fight with another dog. Tapping him with his cane, Judge Stevens exclaimed, "D-d-dis-con-t-t-tin-ue."—Success Magazine.

Amended.

"James is a physical wreck."

"Why, he used to have a strong constitution."

"Yes, but the doctors have amended it several times."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Nothing raises the price of a blessing like its removal, whereas it was its continuance which should have cost us its value.—Hannah More.

GRAND CANYON.

An Ideal Place In Which to Realize the Insignificance of Man.

There is one place in this country where a man can step back not by hundreds but by thousands of years, back to the time when the continent was in the making. This place is the Grand Canyon of Arizona. There the visitor sees a panorama in a million colors as the mists gather about the rugged peaks and the sunlight glistens on the metallic deposits of the cliffs. A whole chaotic world discloses itself. Rock forms of uncanny beauty stand out on those unrivaled cliffs, and far down runs the river channel.

Stand on some ledge and realize the insignificance of man when compared with the handicraft of nature, watch a party of travelers threading their way down some winding trail that clings to the great wall and see them grow smaller and smaller until they become mere specks in the great rift, then some idea is gained of this wonderful place. Yet the canyon is so symmetrical and so unlike anything else that it is with difficulty that one can acquire any notion of its immensity. Niagara poured in would hardly have the dignity of a mountain stream. —New York Sun.

Humors of "Hamlet."

William Davidge related in his "Footlight Flashes" that during his strolling days in England, when companies were small, he had on the same evening done duty for Polonius, the ghost; Osric and the first gravedigger, and Edwin Booth remembered Thomas Ward dying in sight of the audience as the player king and being dragged from the mimic stage by the heels to enter immediately at another wing as Polonius, crying "Lights, lights, lights!" Hamlet in a one night town, swearing he loved Ophelia better than forty thousand brothers, has watched her through an open grave packing her trunk in the place beneath, while the ghost, her husband, waited to strap it up. There are more things in Hamlet's existence behind the scenes than are dreamed of in the philosophy of all his commentators and all his critics.—From the Green Book.

Corn and Water.

To those engaged in the handling of grain the natural shrinkage of shelled corn while in storage and in transit is a matter of prime importance and often a source of dispute because of shortage reported at time of receipt at warehouse and a further loss at date of final sale. In order to determine the amount of shrinkage or loss of weight occurring in corn the department of agriculture has conducted an experiment with 500 bushels of shelled corn. At the time of storage the moisture content was 18.8 per cent and at close of the test 14.7 per cent, or a loss of 4.1 per cent. The weight per bushel had decreased from 54.7 pounds to 50 pounds, and the total loss of weight was 1,970 pounds, or slightly more than 4 per cent.

The Chinese La-pa.

Gentlemen: We hereby certify that the total cost of the extension of the sewer system on the East and West side of the river, including the cost of the maps, plans, supervision and engineering to be the sum of $20,000.

Board of Public Works.
J. A. Foster, President.

Alderman Malone introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Whereas, The Board of Public Works of the City of Fulton has by a certificate in writing, dated the 24th day of July, 1911, duly certified to the Common Council, that the total cost of the extension of the sewer system on the East and West sides of the river, including the cost of the maps, plans, supervision and engineering to be the sum of $20,000, now, therefore be it,

Resolved, By the Common Council of the City of Fulton, that registered bonds of the City of Fulton in the amount of $20,000 in payment of the extension of the sewer system on the East and West sides of the river in the City of Fulton, according to the maps and plans, adopted by the Board of Public Works of the City of Fulton and filed in its office, be issued and sold pursuant to the provisions of the City Charter; said bonds being of the denomination of $1,000 each, bearing date of the 15th day of Aug., 1911, payable as follows:

In equal annual installments, one on August 15, 1912, and one each August 15, thereafter until fully paid; to be registered in form and bearing interest at the rate of not more than 4 1-2 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the 15th day of February and August of each year and said bonds and interest thereon be made payable at the Citizen's National Bank, Fulton, N. Y., that said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor, City Chamberlain and countersigned by the City Clerk under the seal of said City. Be it further,

Resolved, That for the purpose of paying interest on said bonds and principal as the same becomes due and payable a tax be levied annually upon the taxable property of the City in a manner provided by the City Charter, which taxes shall be a sufficient amount for said purpose, and shall be applied to the payment of said interest and principal and to no further purpose whatever. Be it further,

Resolved, That the City Chamberlain be and he is hereby authorized and directed to cause a notice inviting sealed proposals for the whole or any part of said bonds to be published in the official newspapers of this city, and such other publications as he may see fit for at least one insertion, and that said notice require that all bids for said bonds shall be accompanied by a certified check of an incorporated State or National Bank of this State, payable to the order of the City Chamberlain in the amount of Five Hundred dollars, such check to be returned to the unsuccessful bidders and the check of the person whose bid is accepted to be retained by the city and applied on the account of the purchase price or to be retained by said city as and for liquidation damage in case the purchaser fails to take and pay for said bonds on or before the date specified in said notice for the delivery of said bonds. Be it further,

Resolved, That the said proposals be received up to the 10th day of August, 1911, at 8 o'clock in the afternoon of said date and that this Council meet on said date at the said time for the purpose of considering said proposals, and that said bonds be delivered to the successful bidder at the Citizen's National Bank in the City of Fulton, N. Y., on the 15th day of August, 1911, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

MEET AT DEMPSTER GROVE

The Ontario District camp meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church of the Northern New York Conference will be held at Dempster Grove, New Haven, August 13th to 27th inclusive. The Ontario District, of which the Rev. C. E. Miller, D. D., of Rome, is the Superintendent extends from Rome to Oswego, East and West, and from Westmoreland to Maunsville, North and South. There are forty-nine pastoral charges in the district with eighty-nine churches and a membership of over 8,000.

Dempster Grove is in very attractive condition and a large attendance is expected. There are many cottages and a large number of tents. There is also a large, permanent tabernacle on the grounds with accommodations for a congregation of 1,000 people. There is a store, boarding hall, lodging, telegraph and telephone stations to care for the needs of the people who attend. The grounds are well lighted and supplied with fine spring water.

A tentative program of the meeting includes daily lectures by the Rev. Dr. I. J. Peritz, professor of Biblical literature in Syracuse University; daily Bible reading conducted by the Rev. Dr. David Kippel, Ph. D., of Phoenix; daily meetings under the direction of the Rev. George F. Shepherd, of Mexico, for the promotion of holiness. There will also be young people's meetings every day.

Addresses will be made by the Rev. John Richards, D. D., of Syracuse; the Rev. Dr. C. D. Skinner, President of Cazenovia Seminary, and Mr. Beach, of Syracuse, the latter a member of the Board of Control of the Epworth League. There will also be a children's meeting each morning.

THE SHOOTING OF WALTER PARKER

The reports of Sheriff Charles W. Taft and Coroner C. J. Vowinkel in regard to the shooting and death of Walter Parker in the town of Cicero, Onondoga county, July 8th, was submitted to the Sheriff's office in Syracuse and will be turned over to Coroner G. R. Kinne, of Onondaga, when the latter returns from his vacation.—Palladium.

SANDY CREEK FAIR

The Sandy Creek fair will be held Aug. 22.25. Supervisor P. G. Hydorn is president of the association and Attorney H. Louis Wallace, is secretary.

There will be fast races pulled off. Purses aggregating $1,750 have been hung up for this year's events. C. I. Thomson, Utica, has been secured as starting judge. The Race Committee includes Superintendent Colony, President Hydorn and Secretary Wallace. Following are the events:

HOW HE WAS EXECUTED

By OSCAR COX

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

We may dress up a man in uniform, toot a horn, a rattle, a drum in his ear and he will shoot down his fellow beings with great zest. But try to make him kill even one of them in cold blood, then you will see what a difficult matter it is.

There was once a kingdom not a big as Monaco, and that is small enough in all conscience. Little Sonnesheus when was but five miles in circumference. Yet it was a perfect kingdom for King Shaudigrab was a real royal personage, five feet high, five fee around the girth and wore a crown that weighed pretty nearly as much as himself. He had a cabinet, master of the robes and hounds and courtier galore. There were 5,000 commoners with a number of horses, mules, cat and other animals. The general of the army of forty men (mostly effectives was a terrible fellow, with fierce mustachios as pointed as his sword.

But the army and the general were both for show, for the kingdom was under the protection of its neighbor the emperor of Hollibag, who had been paying it a stated sum ever since the principal part of the territory had been lopped off many centuries before for the benefit of the empire. Besides the little Sonneshons were the most peaceful people in the world. So tender hearted were they that once when a mosquito flew over there from what is now New Jersey they refrained from killing it, so that it planted all the pools with musquitoes.

Nevertheless there was once a murder committed in the kingdom by a man named Hans Gotterman. But that was an exceptional case, for he killed his wife, who was a nagger. Perhaps for this extraordinary incitement to murder he might have gone scot free had he not been lazy and generally worthless. So he was convicted and sentenced to have his head chopped off.

But here arose a difficulty. There was a royal executioner, but, like the general of the army, he was for show. He wore tights, a mask and all that, constantly carrying an ax on his shoulder. But the ax was wooden and its bearer so tender hearted that when he had fried chicken for breakfast his wife was obliged to cut off its head.

At a meeting of the cabinet the matter of Hans Gotterman was discussed, and it was agreed that the royal executioner wouldn't do for the job at all. So it was decided to send a request to the emperor of Hollibag for the loan of his headsman. Unfortunately there had been a revolution in the empire, and the royal executioner was so busy cutting off the heads of rebels that he could not be spared.

At another meeting of the cabinet it was decided to offer a hundred pieces of gold to whomsoever would execute the murderer. The offer was posted everywhere throughout the kingdom, and the king and his cabinet waited for some one to step forward, accept it and put an end to Gotterman. But no one was willing to kill a man at the price, and as no other expedient was suggested Gotterman still lived.

One day a mosquito bit him and impregnated him with bacteria that caused a terrible fever. The court waited expectantly, thinking the man would die, but he disappointed them by getting well, and since it cost considerable to keep him the cabinet decided to let him out on his promise to return when an executioner could be found to behead him. He rather objected to this, but his keeper stopped his food and thus forced compliance.

Every few days he would pretend he had heard that an executioner had arrived and go back to the jail, demanding food ad interim. Thus he got to be an insufferable bore. No one could be found to kill him, he wouldn't die.

One day it was reported to the king that fifty coal miners had been buried in a mine. These were citizens the state could not afford to lose. The cabinet ordered a hundred men collected at great expense to dig the miners out. They dug a month, when one day, hearing a voice, they made their way with pick and shovel toward the sound. After several days' hard work they broke into a compartment and there found Gotterman.

He said he had gone into the mine for work, but when asked how he had lived so long without food pointed to fifty empty dinner pails. He had gone into the place where the entombed men had placed their dinners. None of the laborers was ever got out alive. Gotterman alone survived the catastrophe.

The king was much incensed when he heard the story of Gotterman's rescue and renewed his efforts among the neighboring states for the loan of an executioner, but without success. Then came a written offer from the murderer to cut his own head off for the promised reward. The cabinet could not accept it, because there was a law of the kingdom against suicide.

One day when the cabinet was in council a member presented an offer from a woman who was known to be a frightful shrew to marry Gotterman if she were paid as a dowry the hundred pieces of gold for his execution. The cabinet decided to accept the offer. As soon as Gotterman heard that he must marry the shrew all his courage left him. He had got rid of one nagger and dreaded to be tied up with another. A law was passed compelling him to marry the woman, and she talked him to death within a month.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Republican party cannot elect any more Presidents on the tariff issue. Mr. Taft is going to make a Federal incorporation act and international arbitrations the leading features of his political platform next year. The protected interests will be less prominent than in any previous Republican campaign in the past 30 years. It will be a momentous political change.—Hartford Times.

There has been no constructive legislation enacted; no effort toward bettering conditions of public service. The entire time has been spent in dickering over patronage. The only bills that have received consideration at the hands of the Tammany majority have been those creating places for Tammany followers and providing means whereby its leaders may tighten their grip on the control of the state.—Saratoga Saratogian.

A Financial Anchor

AN anchor in financial matters is as important as an anchor for a craft at sea. Some people just drift through life. They do not have an anchor to hold them in a safe harbor. This is always an unsatisfactory way of living. One of the anchors of life is an active savings account with a strong, safe financial institution.

THIS BANK IS NOW PAYING 4% ON SAVINGS

Fulton Savings Bank

FULTON, N. Y.

Organized in 1871

POSTAL BANK TO BE STARTED SOON

Savings Depository Will Be Established in Fulton, Beginning Aug. 25—Hoped It Will Bring Hidden Money to Light and Lead It Into the Channels of Trade.

The Fulton Postoffice has been designated by Postmaster General Hitchcock a postal savings depository beginning Aug. 25.

By the establishment of these banks it is proposed to encourage economy and thrift among a large class of our citizens and give them every opportunity to husband their resources. The policy is not to compete in any way with the savings banks, but to encourage the habit of depositing savings. The people to be reached by these institutions throughout the Republic are those who have not the facilities at hand for depositing their money in a savings bank, especially the foreign population which is entering our country in such enormous numbers and which is, to a great extent, hoarding its surplus earnings. These immigrants reach the United States suspicious of any private banking institution but with absolute faith in the government. It is hoped by the establishment of postal banks to bring hidden money to light, to instill life into it, and to lead it again into the channels of trade, for the mutual benefit of labor and capital, and thus add to the prosperity of our land.

If the average foreigner is encouraged to deposit his earnings he will not be content to receive merely a 2 per cent. interest, but will seek to purchase a home, and the moment he acquires real property in this country he becomes a better citizen, is more actively interested in the affairs of the nation, and at the same time places himself and his dependents beyond a likelihood of becoming a public charge.

The authority of Congress has been granted to place the deposits from the postal banks in the national banks of the country, not in a few financial centers, but in the banks of the district where the money has been deposited. Assurances have been given by prominent banking officials that the Postoffice Department may count on receiving for such money turned over to them a rate of interest varying from 2 to 3 per cent. The department guarantees the depositor 2 per cent, or 1 per cent. semi-annually. Evidence is thus given to the banks that the postal savings banks will not be in competition with them and that such business would in no wise affect their deposits, their rates being usually from 3 to 4 per cent.

These banks were established in England as early as 1861, in France 1882, and in Austria in 1883. In the New England States the average distance of the savings bank from the post office is about 15 miles; in the Middle and Western States it is about 25 miles; in the Southern States, 33 miles, and in the Pacific States 55 miles.

A careful revision of the figures shows that from $20,000 to $23,000 is sent abroad each year from the Fulton postoffice for savings purposes. It is hoped that some percentage of this amount may be retained in this country.

NEW YORK STATE GRANGE

The next session of the New York State Grange will be held at Buffalo instead of Rochester, as previously announced, beginning the first Tuesday in February, 1912. On account of the fact that the State cannot afford to meet in Rochester that year the convention could not be held in Buffalo.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Erie Boorman Narrowly Escapes Death During Tornado in Adirondacks—Tree Blown on Tent and cot Wrecked on Which Fultonian Slept—Escaped With Minor Injuries.

Erie Boorman, who was ordered by his physician to spend the Summer in the Adirondacks for his health, had a narrow escape from death during the high winds which prevailed last week. Mr. Boorman is assisting in the management of a club house at Cranberry Lake, and together with a friend occupies a tent in the woods at night. During the small tornado which prevailed on Wednesday night a large tree near Mr. Boorman's tent, blew down and fell across the tent, breaking tent pole, lantern pole and shattering the frame of the cot on which young Boorman was sleeping; he suffered badly bruised arm and back and a cut on the face which necessitated two stitches to close. The guests at the cottage were horror stricken at the accident, believing that both young men occupying the tent must have met with instant death. A rescuing party was immediately made up to brave the storm and the occupants of the tent were soon under a friendly roof and an inventory being taken of the numerous bruises and contusions. Mr. Boorman's friends in this city congratulate him upon his lucky escape from death or permanent injury.

NUMBER OF SMALL BURGLARIES

Saturday morning when Trolley Station Agent Taggert reached the station he found that at some time during the night burglars had entered the station, breaking open a window on the south side, anda small sum of money and about 100 trolley tickets had been taken.

On Saturday night burglars entered the Shipman store, George Johnston's hardware store and with a diamond they partially cut an opening in the Lasher store front door. On Monday night two boys of less than 17 years were arrested and are held to await the action of the Grand Jury on charges of burglary, third degree, in connection with some of these cases.

TROLLEY KILLS SIX COWS

Six Holstein cows, part of the herd owned by James H. VanBuren, living two miles south of Baldwinsville, were struck and killed by a northbound car on the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern railroad late Friday afternoon.

The cows were being driven in from pasture, and were caught as they crossed the tracks. Passengers in the car were shaken up, but no one was injured in the collision.

BIG TOBACCO ACREAGE

According to reports the tobacco crop in Oswego county will be a bumper one if present conditions prevail throughout the season. The copious rains of the past two weeks have done a world of good for the crop and placed it in advance of the past two years. At the present time it is estimated that about 300 acres of tobacco are under cultivation in the county.

LACONA POST OFFICE ROBBED

The Lacona postoffice was entered Monday night, the entry being gained through a window on the north side. Papers were taken from the office and scattered about the yard back of the building but no money or stamps to any amount were secured. The papers were put in the soaking rain and consequently Postmaster Hollis suffered a loss that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents as many of his private papers were among the number.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR FULTON

Hunter Brothers Buy Controlling Interest in Parker Transmission & Appliance Co.---Automobile Transmissions To Be Manufactured.

The Hunter Brothers, who have been known among our readers for years as manufacturers, have recently taken on the Parker Transmission & Appliance company, a Massachusetts corporation. They have had this under advisement for the past eight months, and by the purchase of conflicting patents, have surrounded the situation in an ideal manner.

This business has to do with what is known as the Parker All-in-mesh Transmission. The great feature being that with the Transmission Gear always in mesh, it is impossible to ever strip a gear or ever wear out one. In other words, the new device will enable the Parker people to absolutely guarantee every Transmission against any such thing as a breakage, and they will also guarantee it to out-wear any car that is made. This device has been under inspection for the past year and one-half, and has been placed in such cars as the Knox, the Cadillac and the Chalmers.

No one, either the individual users or the manufacturer, who have gone over the matter with any care at all, have ever spoken of it other than in the highest praise, because anyone who drives a car knows that the constant grinding on one transmission gear when the driver is attempting to let in the clutch is a source of worry and expense. Many a careful manipulater has stripped a gear, necessitating the loss of the use of the car, and at the same time, compelled him to lay out a large amount of money.

The place where the Hunters expect to make their greatest hit, is along the line of the automobile truck. The most vulnerable part of the truck at the present time is the transmission. For instance, if a truck that is carrying a 6 ton load, has the clutch thrown in suddenly, when the shaft is speeding, to move so heavy a burden, it is almost sure to either wreck the frame of the car or to strip the gear, while with the Parker, the ignorant driver can speed his motor as high as he pleases and it will pick up the load no matter how large it may be. In other words, it is utterly impossible for him to wreck or injure the transmission in any way whatsoever.

No one knows at the present time, the possibilities or the development of this business. There is an ever increasing demand on the part of suburban electric railways in the far west for what is known as the unit system, that is, where each car is a unit by itself,d riven by oil or gasoline or some other motor power outside of electricity. The expense of maintaining long electric lines, is enormous and the foremost thinkers in this department of development are looking to some firm to get out a transmission that will move such a heavy mass as a suburban car and do it with ease and comfort.

Mr. Parker, who is the patentee, has already developed this idea, and will be able when the right time comes, to satisfy this urgent demand.

At present this business is established in Springfield, Mass., where a fine factory is equipped. In time this will be moved to the Hunter Arms company's building, but not for the present, as there is too much work ahead to admit of this being done, but who knows but that one of these days we may havei n Fulton, an industry that will correspond in size and in the employmento f labor with the very largest, as it is among the possibilities that the Hunter Brothers will develope this phase of the business, although that is not the intention at the present time.

This Transmission is the invention of Mr. Clark W. Parker of Springfield, Mass., who has become somewhat famous throughout the country for his gift of invention in other lines. Associated with him is Mr. James H. Dunn, and he has as his stockholders many of the very wealthiest men in the east. The Hunter Brothers assume the control of the business from the business standpoint as well as the financial, and it is their intention to develope the whole proposition as rapidly as is consistent with the very best results.

Following the New Jersey precedent, some persons would like to dock Gov. Deneen's pay while he was traveling in Washington.

A STATUE OF GOLD

Will Be Erected at a Cost of $300,000 at St. Anne de Beaupre

New York, July 26.—Members of the French Canadian colony in New York have organized the St. Anne Gold Statue Association, which was incorporated at Albany last month and has for its object the creation of a gold statue of St. Anne, the infant Christ and the Virgin Mary, which, having been blessed by the Pope and exhibited in various churches throughout the country, will be erected in the Church of St. Anne de Beaupre, near Quebec, to which thousands of devout Catholics make pilgrimages every Summer.

The statue will be eight feet high of fourteen carat gold, and with the pedestal of Carrara marble, will cost $300,000.

LOST IN THE ADIRONDACKS

Watertown Times: Captain W. J. Dempsey, of Oswego, the railroad detective, well known in this city, passed through here on his way home from a fishing trip in the Adirondacks Monday morning. While here "Cap." Dempsey related a story of a thrilling experience in the North Woods, during which he became lost and was forced to spend the night alone in the woods. Detective Dempsey was one of a large fishing party which went out near Cranberry Lake. The detective during an afternoon trip became separated from the others and not until night did he realize that he was lost. He picked out a spot beside a log and there slept until morning, when the crowing of a rooster led him to a clearing, where he was directed to the place where his friends were.

CONSULTING ENGINEERS ON BARGE CANAL WORK

Albany, July 27.—Joseph Ripley ofA lbany and Mortimer G. Barnes of New York were today appointed by State Engineer Bensel as consulting engineers in connection with the barge canal construction. Ripley is retained at his old salary, $7,500 a year, while Barnes is to receive $60 a day when actually employed. William H. Burd of New York,professor of civil engineering at Columbia University and G. G. Green, former chief engineer and Chief of the New York City Dock Department, will also be appointed as the other members of the board.

SUES FOR $10,000

Mrs. Mary Nielik, has started an action for $10,000 damages against the American Woolen Company, alleging that she fell on a slippery floor at their Fulton plant, West side, and that her hair caught in a machine and her scalp was torn loose. Thompson, W oods & Woods, of Syracuse are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

GOVERNOR SIGNS SWEET'S BILL

Albany, July 27.—Assemblyman Sweet's bill, appropriating $3,000 for the new bridge atP hoenix, was signed by the Governor today.

Also the bill appropriating $50,000 as the State's share of the cost of a bridge over the river at Fulton.

CATHOLIC PICNIC THIS WEEK

One of Most Successful Events Ever Given Scheduled for Saturday — President Bray and Father Lindsman Extend Invitation to Public to Attend—500 Expected From Oswego.

All matters of cardinal importance having been completed in connection with the annual outing to be held on the Fair grounds, Saturday, August 5, 1911, under the auspices of the Catholic church, all details tending to make this picnic the greatest in the history of the church are now being arranged.

At 9:30 a. m. the Sunday school children with a student body of 300, headed by the Citizen's Band, will march from the church to the grounds. There the boys and girls may revel to their hearts content in free auto rides, an incomparable programme of sports, etc.

By reports fully 500 people from Oswego are expected because of additional railroad facilities afforded by the trolley extension and also because of the fact that this outing will at least be one of the greatest ever held on the fair grounds.There is promise also of a big delegation from Phoenix. So far as this city is concerned, seeral thousands are expected because Fulton people as a rule turn out en masse to any event really worthy of attendance.

From 11:30 to 3:00 dinner will be served on the grounds and to assure its perfection, not stopping at excellence, we have only to state that every thing will be home made. The menu par excellence may be seen on the program pamplets just issued.

Rain or shine this affair will be enthusiastically carried out by committees in charge under the presidency of Michael Bray. In event of rain the main building and all the other buildings will be open for the convenience of all present.

The program will be as follows:

Baseball game, 10 a.m. between Catholic Stars and Oswego Stars.

100 yard dash for boys between 14 and 16 years.

100 yard dash, free for all.

One-half mile bicycle race for boys under 16 years.

Sack race, free for all.

Running broad jump.

Baseball 1:30 p. m., Holy Names vs. Phoenix.

Standing broad jump.

Base running contest.

Greased pig contest.

Tug of war, between cloth and yarn departments of Woolen mills.

Throwing baseball for distance.

200 yard dash, four crack sprinters.

Wheelberrow race.

Spoon race for young ladies.

Pie eating contest, for professionalls only.

Nail driving contest for young ladies.

Motor cycle races.

Concert by the Citizen's Band from 2 to 6.

In behalf of the whole people of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, by the wish of President Bray, Rev. Father John L. Lindsman extends a cordial invitation to the whole city to be present.

TROLLEY RATES TOO HIGH

Many rumors are heard of dissatisfaction with the rates for trolley service between this city and Oswego, patrons of the road complaining that the rate of 25 cents is higher than on either steam road and the time consumed is vastly greater between the two points.

President Beebe of the trolley company states that there will be a rate revision within the next 30 days and in all probability the matter will be adjusted without appeal to the Public Service Commission.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TAMMANY'S BIG BURDEN.

Taxpayers Will Have a Large Bill to Pay.

FIGURES ARE COMPILED.

Young Men's Independent Republican Club of Brooklyn Presents an Interesting Array of Statistics Which Will Furnish the Voters Who Elected the Dix-Murphy Administration Food For Reflection.

Albany, Aug. 1.—Testimony from an unprejudiced source as to the great burden of additional taxation which has been laid upon the property owners of New York state by the Tammany controlled legislature is found in the report made by the committee on state politics of the Independent Young Men's Republican club of Brooklyn.

According to this report, the prediction made in these dispatches that the Levy elections grab bill would cost the taxpayers at least $1,000,000 a year is confirmed. And this is only one of the "ripper" and "grab" bills put through by the legislature of 1911, which has not yet finished its labors, but is to reassemble again in September and put through some more ripper bills and a few more grabs.

The Brooklyn report points out that whereas now the county clerks, except in half a dozen counties, take care of primaries and elections, while the Levy bill creates from two to four election commissioners in each of fifty-three counties. The report goes on:

"Commissioner of elections: At an average salary of $2,000 per annum, two commissioners in thirty-six counties and four in seventeen counties, $280,000; rent of office in each county ($500 in each), $26,500; four clerks, one stenographer in each county at an average salary of $1,500 each (total for each county $7,500), $397,000; office expense, stationery, furniture, etc., averaging $500 per annum for each county, $26,500; total, $730,000.

"Extension of state superintendent's control to entire state: Two additional superintendents, $5,000 each, $10,000; two additional chief deputy superintendents, $4,500 each, $9,000; seventy-five additional annual deputy superintendents at from $900 to $1,500 each, $84,500; 400 deputies using maximum time of forty days at $5 per day during election time instead of using only small part of time, as formerly (former superintendents only used these deputies five days each and some thirty days each, although the law permits appointments for forty days each), $68,250; extra office expense provided by the bill itself, $25,000; total increase caused by state superintendent feature, $196,750.

"Four days instead of two days registration in 1,400 election districts in the state, which now only have two days of registration, will make necessary the attention of four inspectors of election at $4 each per day for the two additional days, amounting to $32 in each election district, $44,800.

"Total increase for the expenses of elections caused by the provisions of the Levy bill, $971,550."

The list of measures jammed through by Tammany, compiled by the club's committee, follows:

"By Mr. Saunders (Dem.), increasing salaries in Columbia county sheriff's office yearly $600.

"By A. J. Levy, increasing the number of grand jury stenographers for New York county from one to three, $2,600.

"Removing the limitation upon the amount that may be paid as salaries to 'chief of police,' patrolmen and special patrolmen in the village of Canastota (8,500 population); salaries of eight men involved; probable increase of $800 each will amount to $2,400.

"By Mr. Goldberg (Dem.), increasing salaries of several attendants and three messengers of the New York county surrogate's court from $1,500 each to $1,800 each, $3,000.

"By Mr. Zorn (Dem.), increasing salary of transfer tax clerk, Queens county, from $1,000 to $1,500 per annum, $500.

"By Mr. Washburn (Dem.), increasing salary of Ulster deputy county clerk from $1,500 to $1,800, adding an index clerk at $750 and withdrawing the limitation now placed by law upon the number of other employees that may be appointed at salaries of $600 per annum; total involved, $2,450.

"By Mr. Meyers (Dem.), providing for the payment of deputy sheriff ($1,800) and jailer ($1,800) by the county of Schenectady and for the payment of other such deputies as sheriff may appoint by the fees they receive for services performed; probable total involved, $2,800 plus fees, $3,300.

"By Mr. Zorn (Dem.), increasing salary of Queens county district attorney from $5,000 to $8,000, $3,000.

"By A. J. Levy (Dem.), increasing from ten to fourteen the number of assistant district attorneys, in New York county (salaries of $7,500 each), $30,000.

"By Mr. Geatons (Dem.), increasing salaries of twelve county detectives from $1,200 per annum to $1,800 per annum (these detectives are simply process servers), $7,200.

"By Mr. Heyman (Dem.), adding two assistants to district attorney of Kings county at salaries of $5,000 each, $10,000.

"By M. A. O'Neil (Dem.), adding a bail bond clerk to the office force of Kings county district attorney at a salary of $2,500.

"By A. J. Levy (Dem.), providing for the increase of salaries of four interpreters of court of general sessions, New York county, from $2,000 to $3,000.

"By Mr. Goldstein (Dem.), removing the maximum limit that may be paid to confidential clerks to justices of supreme court for Second district (Kings, Queens, Nassau, Richmond and Suffolk counties), now $2,500, with a view to permitting an increase to $3,000; total, seventeen justices' clerks, $5,500.

"By A. J. Levy (Dem.), increasing salaries of twenty-three special deputy clerks of the supreme court, New York county, from $2,500 to $3,000 each; increasing salaries of assistants to special duty clerk, in three cases; total increase, $24,500.

"By Mr. Zorn (Dem.), providing for two county detectives for Queens county instead of one; increase in salaries, $2,500.

"By Mr. Wheeler (Dem.), making office of county clerk of Delaware county a salaried office, $2,500 per annum; providing for assistants not to exceed $2,500; total increase, $3,500.

"By Mr Oliver (Dem.), providing for warden for additional grand jury, New York county, $2,000.

"By A. J. Levy (Dem.), increasing salaries of seven justices of the court of general sessions, New York county, from $15,000 each to $17,500.

"By A. E. Smith (Dem.), increasing salaries in office of state comptroller; one of the assistants to the comptroller to have salary increase from $5,000 to $6,000, three others going from $4,500 to $5,000; providing for an additional assistant at a salary of not less than $2,500; total, $6,500.

"By Mr. Gray, increasing salaries of stenographers of supreme court, third and fourth departments, from $1,200 to $1,800 per annum; twenty-seven employees affected, $16,800.

"By Mr. Graubard (Dem.), increasing salaries of clerks of record, surrogate's office, New York county, one clerk, $1,500 to $1,800; five clerks from $1,200 to $1,500; total, $1,800.

"By M. A. O'Neil (Dem.), increasing county clerk's salary from $8,000 to $12,000 and increasing other salaries in his office; total increase, $22,250.

"By C. W. Phillips, raising salaries in commissioner of labor's office and increasing factory inspectors from sixty to eighty-five; total, $58,000.

"By Senator Frawley, providing a new state athletic commission, providing three commissioners, secretary and general officers, $20,000.

"By Mr. McClelland (Dem.), increasing salary of state attorney general from $5,000 to $10,000 per annum; permitting attorney general to appoint as many deputies and other employees as he deems necessary instead of limiting the number and salary, as formerly; total, $15,000.

"By Mr. Ferris (Dem.), increasing salary of surrogate of Oneida county from $3,500 to $5,000.

"By Mr. Sanner (Dem.), increasing salary of surrogate of Kings county from $10,000 to $15,000.

"By Mr. Stillwell (Dem.), increasing from two to four the number of newspapers in New York county in which general and local laws are to be published; estimating public advertising of the state in each of these at $4,000 per annum; total, $8,000.

"By Mr. Grady (Dem.), increasing compensation of two sergeants-at-arms of assembly and senate from $600 per annum each to $1,500 each; total, $1,800.

"By Mr. Croain (Dem.), permitting county clerk of Kings county, already receiving a salary of $12,000 per annum, to retain all fees received for performing services under the federal laws (in connection with naturalization, etc.); total, $2,000.

"By Mr. Grady (Dem.), increasing from $70,000 to $85,000 amount of salaries and expenses in office of commissioner of records, New York county, and authorizing commissioner to expend $15,000 additional to purchase certain books, etc., as he may 'deem' of 'historic' value; total, $30,000.

"By Mr. Long (Dem.), providing for new court attendants (two) in Nassau and Suffolk counties, at $1,500 each, $3,000.

"By Mr. Frawley (Dem.), making retired judges of the court of appeals official referees at salaries of $6,000 per annum; one judge retires this year, two in 1912 and one in 1913; total average per annum, $12,000.

"By Mr. Sanner, increasing the salary of the chief clerk in the Kings county surrogate's office, $2,000.

"By T. D. Sullivan, providing fire marshal, two deputies, secretary, clerks and stenographers for the state; fire marshal to receive $7,000 salary, first deputy $5,000, second deputy $3,000, and all to have necessary expenses guaranteed to them; total for this new department, $25,000.

"Senator Burd's commission to investigate loans on salaries, although all the necessary information on the subject has been gathered by other public officials, particularly by Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick of New York city; this commission carries an appropriation of $10,000.

"Senator Cullen's bill for the appropriation for drafting the last New York charter bill, although such bills could well have been drafted by the cities committee with their present staff of clerks, $25,000.

"McCabe appropriation of $25,000 to investigate charges of graft at Albany. This committee is simply formed for the purpose of digging up campaign material to be used by Pucky McCabe, clerk of the senate, who is the Democratic lead[illegible] Albany[illegible]"

The County Fair Cucumbers

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press

When it was known that George Huggins, old bachelor, was paying his attentions to Lucy Smith, old maid, the people of Crowville said that it would be a good match on both sides. When it was known that there was an engagement there were many earnest congratulations.

Mr. Huggins had a little home of his own and kept bachelor hall. Miss Smith had a little home of her own and enjoyed a small income. The principals had known each other for years and love had come about through an incident. Miss Smith was at her well one morning to draw a pail of water when she leaned too far over the curb and fell in head first. Of course as soon as she could get her head above water she began to scream. Mr. Huggins happened to be passing the house and heard her and went to the rescue. She was very wet and very scared, and in the excitement of the moment she fell on his neck and called him dear George. Mr. Huggins was also somewhat excited and the first thing he knew found himself calling her dear Lucy. After that Cupid's work was easy.

The marriage day had not been set, but things were gliding along, when the county fair committee came out with the list of premiums for the fall fair, still many weeks away. It so happened that Mr. Huggins had made up his mind to grow a big cucumber for the fair. He had grown a monster the year before, but had not entered it. And it so happened that Miss Smith decided to do that selfsame thing. Of all the things in her garden, which she worked herself, cucumbers seemed to do the best of any vegetable. It was one evening when they sat on the front doorsteps in their happiness that George mentioned the cucumber business and declared he would take the premium over the whole county.

"Why, George, I'm also going to raise one," was replied.

"All right, but you'll waste your time."

"I know I shan't. I grew one over a foot long last year."

"That won't be enough this time. I think you'd better grow squash or tomatoes. I don't think we should compete against each other."

The matter was argued good naturedly, but no decision arrived at.

"Lucy, dear, I ask this as a favor of you," said Mr. Huggins as he took her hand.

"George, dear, you can raise onions," was the reply.

"But I saved your life when you fell into the well."

"But the water wasn't over my head, and I believe I could have climbed out anyhow."

"I wouldn't have believed you were so stubborn."

"Nor I of you. I've always heard you were open to argument and were seldom in the wrong. Perhaps we have made a mistake?"

"I hope not, but it looks queer to me that you stick out for cucumbers the way you do."

"And it looks just as queer to me, George, do you think a knight of old would have been as finicky as you are? No, sir—he would have told his lady love to go right ahead and given her all sorts of encouragement."

"But I want to beat old Deacon Swift. He has taken the prize on cucumbers for the last three years."

"And he's the very man I want to beat. When his hog rooted up my garden last year he wouldn't pay a cent damages, but told me to sue and be hanged."

When Mr. Huggins left for home that night there was a chilliness in his parting. He was still sticking on cucumbers. The question had become a broad one. His whole future happiness was at stake. He walked slowly down to the gate, hoping to be called back and told that Lucy had relented, but there was no calling. She was also realizing that the question had broadened. Next evening he went down and sat beside the mill dam until a late hour instead of keeping his usual tryst. It was so the next evening and the next. Then it became a matter of gossip that the engagement was off.

As time went on the cucumbers grew and grew. They grew by day and grew by night.

And at last, when the day came that their stems were cut and they were carried off to the fair on pillows, one could detect no difference between them. They were twins. It was said that the cucumber committee would have split the prize, but it didn't turn out so. Deacon Swift drove into the grounds with a whoop and a holler and unloaded a cucumber that took the cake by ten points. Mr. Huggins saw the unloading. So did Miss Smith. They were aware of each other's presence, but hadn't spoken. Now they began to edge around nearer and after awhile found themselves face to face.

"He's a mighty mean man!" exclaimed George.

"Perfectly contemptible!"

"I feel sorry for you after all your trouble."

"And I for you."

"I want to get even with the deacon, and I know of but one way. Will you help me?"

She took his arm, and they walked away, and next month there was a wedding. Some folks have to go through just so much trouble to find happiness.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William G. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, as executors, recorded in said Clerk's office in Liber 219 of Deeds, page 123; at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law offices of Wilson & Rice, 17 South First street in the City of Fulton, Oswego County, New York, on the 9th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated at Fulton, N. Y., this 13th day of June, 1911.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfil their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation and dizziness. Sold ev-

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 10th day of March, 1910, and was made and executed by Charles Gile, mortgagor, to George M. Ives, mortgagee, which said mortgage, with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property, was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego, in said County, on the 12th day of December, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Liber 231 of Mortgages at page 254, which said mortgage has not been assigned, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative and no action or proceeding having been brought or instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice being the sum of fifty-three dollars and fifty-nine cents ($53.59), which is the whole sum secured to be paid by said mortgage now remaining unpaid thereon.

Therefore, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property described in said mortgage substantially as follows;

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Volney, County of Oswego and State of New York, viz., being a part of lot number three of the sixteenth township of Scriba's Patent described as follows: Beginning in the State Road running northwest on the west line of land now owned and occupied by D. Merante to a stake; thence south about eight rods to a stake; thence southeast to the center of the state road running on the north west line of land owned and occupied by Norman Harding; thence north east to the starting point in the center of the State Road being one acre of land; or a part thereof, at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law Offices of Wilson & Rice, Number 17 South First street, in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego, New York, on the 12th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

THE WEEK

A variety of conflicting developments affect trade conditions, among them the passage of the Canadian Reciprocity bill, unsettlement over the outcome of the negotiations touching adjustment of affairs in Morocco, and the decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Spokane rate and similar cases. These influences, however, are mainly of importance in their relations to the future. Of more immediate interest, the excellent progress of the cotton crop toward maturity holds first place.

Moderate improvement marks conditions in iron and steel, although in eastern territory pig iron buying is of restricted volume. The best showing is in finished steel products. There is further slight expansion in mill operations.

The primary cotton goods markets are very quiet. Forward ordering is confined to specialties and fancies. Jobbers are restrainted by cotton crop conditions and are awaiting the result of the retailers' inventories. A further revision of bleached cottons and gray goods has been made. Business in print cloths at Fall River is very limited and curtailment on a large scale continues there and in other sections. Export shipments are light but still show a good gain over a year ago. A great deal of business is being held back in anticipation of a large cotton crop. In woolens, business has varied much with different houses, and, while some sizable orders are reported on better known grades of serges, transactions in many of the fancy lines are very small. There are small stocks in the hands of the manufacturing trades, but marked hesitation is manifested by buyers. In New England some large mills have taken considerable quantities of wool.

The footwear market continues slow. Visiting buyers in Boston are cautious about buying ahead and do not place the number of new orders anticipated.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for July to date amount to $8,32,4822, of which $3,846,622 were in manufacturing, $4,021,589 in trading and 466,611 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 262 in the United States against 235 last year, and 23 in Canada compared with 32 a year ago.

SONG OF THE PRINTING PRESS

"The Light and Knowledge, the Laughter and Tears of the World"

A beautiful bit of prose-poetry is the following, which, written by Robert H. Davis, appeared in a late magazine:

I am the printing press, born of mother earth. My heart is of steel, my limbs are of iron and my fingers are of brass.

I sing the songs of the world, the oratorios of history, the symphonies of all time.

I am the voice of today, the herald of tomorrow. I weave into the warp of the past the woof of the future. I tell the stories of peace and war alike.

I make the human heart beat with passion or tenderness. I stir the pulse of nations and make brae men do braer deeds and soldiers die.

I inspire the midnight toiler, weary at his loom, to lift his head again and gaze, with fearlessness, into het ast beyond, seeking the consolation of a hope eternal.

When I speak a myried people listen to my voice. The Saon, the Latin, the Celt, the Hun, the Slav, the Hindu, all comprehend me.

I am the tireless clarion of the news. I cry your joys and sorrows every hour. I fill the dullard's mind with thoughts uplifting. I am light, knowledge, power. I epitomize the conquests of mind over matter.

I am the record of all things mankind has achieved. My offspring comes to you in the condle's glow, amid the dim lamps of poverty, the splendor of riches; at sunrise, at high noon and in the waning evening.

I am the laughter and tears of the world and I shalln ever die until all things return to the immutable dust.

I am the printing press.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

CIVIL WAR ECHOES

I was a member of Co. F, 110th Regiment and on our way down to Dixie in August, 1862, we were sidetracked at Baltimore and a little later sailed in General Bank's expedition for the Department of the Gulf down next to the equator. The recent heated term reminded us of the extreme heat we experienced on our forced marches through Louisanna all belted up in heavy woolen clothes with our beay back loads over dusty roads with a scarcity of good water. I never saw President Lincoln, that great man of many sorrows. He used to say in the early part of his career if the opportunity ever came his way to give slavery a black eye he should do it. It came to him when he wrote his Emancipation Proclamation and the colored people hailed it as the day of jubilee. Four millions of them were let loose upon the country like a lot of school children and what to do with them was the question of the hour. The Government had confiscated a large plantation about eighty miles above New Orleans and was storing large quantities of cotton there and so it was decided by General Banks to take the liberated slaves and their families there. They fell in with our army all the way as we passed the planations. We finally gathered together an astounding procession.

Chickerings Brigade, the 41st and 52d Mass., 22d and 26th Me., 90th and 114th New York, the 13th Conn. and Snow's section of Nims Battery was assigned the unpleasant and tiresome but highly necessary duty of guarding back over the way by which the army had come several miles of wagons, 5,000 negroes, 2,000 horses, 1,500 beeves; altogether a most motley and astonishing procession, and something that did not have any likeness during the war, unless in Sherman's march to the sea. The nerveless condition into which the enemy had been reduced was shown by their allowing this heterogeneous army to march the long distance by them with only two or three feeble attacks which were easily brushed off and the whole aggregation was brought safely into Brashear City by May 28, to the intense relief of the exhausted infantry. Since the opening of the campaign the 114th New York had marched 500 miles with only three days rest and some of the other regiments had done nearly as much. All of them had their fill of walking. We had been highly favored by having good fat foraging. It is said in history that in 1864 a crow couldn't have flown down through the Shenandoak Valley, Va., without staring, unless he had taken his rations with him.

S. D. Gardner.

The "pure food law" is designed by the Government to protect the public from injurious ingredients in both foods and drugs. It is beneficial both to the public and to the conscientious manufacturer. Ely's Cream Balm, a successful remedy for cold in the head, nasal catarrh, hay fever, etc., containing no injurious drugs, meets fully the requirements of the new law, and that fact is prominently stated on every package. It contains none of the injurious drugs which are required by the law to be mentioned on the label. Hence you can use it safely.

Dr. Wiley, the pure food expert has already analyzed those charges against him and found them in violation of the pure food law.

Having run down testimony enough to get indictments, it is to be presumed that the government has greased the ways leading towards conviction in the oleo fraud cases.

POSTAL SAVINGS SYSTEM

Information for Depositors

Object

The Postal Savings System is established for the purpose of providing facilities for depositing savings at interest with the security of the United States Government for repayment.

Safety

The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made in postal savings depository offices with accrued interest as provided by the postal savings act.

Who May Deposit

Accounts may be opened and deposits made by any person of the age of ten years or over in his or her own name and by a married woman in her own name and free from any interference or control by her husband. No person can have more than one account at any one time.

No person may open a postal-savings account at any post office who is not a patron of that office.

All accounts must be opened in person by the depositor or his authorized representative. After opening an account a depositor may forward subsequent deposits to the postoffice by mail.

Deposits will be accepted only from individuals, and no account will be opened in the name of any corporation, association, society, firm, or partnership, or in the names of two or more persons jointly.

No account will be opened in the name of one person in trust for or on behalf of another persons or persons.

Service Free

The service of the Postal Savings System is free, and no charge or fee is collected or required in connection with the opening of an account or the withdrawal of money deposited.

Privacy of Accounts

No person connected with the Post Office Department or the postal service is permitted to disclose the name of any depositor or give any information concerning an account except to the depositor himself, unless directed to do so by the Postmaster General.

How to Open An Account

When a person applies to open an account he must furnish the necessary information for the postmaster or his representative to fill out an application, which he will then be required to sign. If the applicant signs by mark his signature must be witnessed by a disinterested person.

Deposits

Deposits are evidenced by postal-savings certificates issued in fixed denominations of $1.00, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, each bearing the name of the depositor, the number of his account, the date of issue, the name of the depository office, and the date on which interest begins. The postmaster or his representative will make out a duplicate of each certificate issued, which the depositor will be required to sign and which the postmaster will retain in his records.

No account may be opened for less than $1, nor will fractions of a dollar be accepted for deposit.

No person is permitted to deposit more than $100 in any one calendar month nor to have a total balance to his credit at one time of more than $500 exclusive of accumulated interest.

Savings certificates can not be transferred or negotiated and will be payable only to the person to whom issued.

On opening an account a depositor is supplied with an envelope in which he may keep his savings certificates. On this envelope is printed information for his guidance, and also a blank ledger record on which to keep an account of his deposits and withdrawals.

In case a savings certificate is lost or destroyed the depositor should notify the postmaster. If deemed proper, a new certificate will be issued upon compliance by the depositor with the necessary requirements.

Postmasters are not permitted to receive savings certificates for safekeeping.

Savings cards and Stamps

Amounts less than $1 may be saved for deposit by the purchase of 10-cent postal-savings cards and adhesive 10-cent postal-savings stamps. Each postal-savings card contains blank spaces to which savings stamps may be affixed from time to time as purchased, and a postal-savings card with nine 10-cent savings stamps thus affixed will be accepted as a deposit of $1 either in opening an account or in adding to an existing account.

Savings cards and stamps will be redeemed only by the issue of savings certificates and are not valid for postage. They will not be received in exchange for postage stamps nor will postage stamps be accepted in exchange for postal-savings cards or stamps.

Interest

Interest will be allowed on all deposits at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum, computed on each savings certificate separately, and payable annually. No interest will be paid on money which remains on deposit for a fraction of a year only.

Deposits will bear interest from the 1st day of the month next following that in which deposited.

Interest will continue to accrue on a savings certificate as long as it remains outstanding, certificates being valid until paid, without limitation as to time.

Compound interest is not allowed on an outstanding certificate, but a depositor may withdraw interest payable and include it in a new deposit, which will bear interest at the regular rate.

A depositor may at any time withdraw the whole or any part of his deposits to his credit with any interest payable by surrendering savings certificates, properly indorsed, for the amount desired.

A depositor presenting a certificate for payment in full with all interest payable must indorse it on the back in the presence of the postmaster or his representative and surrender it. The postmaster or his representative, if satisfied as to the depositor's identity, will then make payment.

When a depositor desires to withdraw only a part of thhe amount called for by any certificate the postmaster will cancel the certificate and issue a new certificate covering the amount to be left on deposit. The new certificate will be so dated that the depositor will not lose interest on the amount remaining continuously on deposit.

When a depositor desires to withdraw merely the interest payable on any certificate, instead of indorsing and surrendering the certificate as in case of full payment, he will be required to give his receipt in duplicate for the amount of the interest paid. The postmaster will enter the interest payment on the back of the certificate and return it to th e depositor.

Deposits Not Made in Person

When a person who has opened an account can not appear personally to make an additional deposit, because of infirmity or for other good and sufficient reason, the amount to be deposited may be sent by a representative or forwarded by mail. On receipt of the amount the postmaster will send to the depositor the duplicate of each savings certificate to be issued. When the duplicate or duplicates thus delivered have been signed by the depositor and returned to the depository office, the postmaster will send him the original certificates covering the amount of the deposit. New accounts can not be opened by mail. When an intending depositor desiring to open an account is unable to appear in person he may forward the monty by a representatie, who will be provided with an application form, which must be properly filled out by the intending depositor and returned with the duplicate or certificates.

Withdrawals Not Made in Person

When under similar circumstances a depositor can not appear in person to make a with drawal, a blank order will be furnished for his use upon request by his representative. When such order has been properly filled in and signed by the depositor, with his signature witnessed by a disinterested person, and has been returned to the postmaster, together with each certificate to be paid properly indorsed, payment will be made to the depositor's representative.

When a depositor who is unable to appear in person desires to withdraw merely the interest payable on any certificate, the blank order furnished will include receipts for the interest to be paid, upon return of which, properly signed by the depositor, the postmaster will make payment to his representative.

Death of Depositor

In case of the death of a depositor the amount standing to his credit will be paid to the executor or administrator of his estate upon compliance with the necessary requirements. In case no formal administration is desired by his relatives, the postmaster may, if it is deemed proper, be authorized to pay the amount of the deposit, on application in proper form, to the persons entitled to receive it, without the appointment of an administrator.

Account of Woman Who Marries

A woman who opens an account and afterwards marries must present her savings certificates at her office in order that the certificates may be indorsed as payable to her in her new name. The postmaster will receive no further deposits from a depositor failing to comply with this requirement, nor will he make any partial or interest payment to her.

Postal-savings Bonds

A depositor will be permitted to exchange the whole or any part of his deposits in sums of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of $100 up to and including $500, into United States registered or coupon bonds bearing interest at the rate of 2 1-2 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from date of issue, both principal and interest payable 20 years from date in United States gold coin. Such exchange may be made under date of January 1 and July 1 of each year, provided such bonds are then available.

A depositor desiring to convert his savings deposits into bonds on January 1 and July 1 of any year must make application at least 15 days before either of the dates named to the postmaster in triplicate on a form which will be supplied him for that purpose. At the time of making application he must indorse and surrender savings certificates covering the amount of the bonds desired, for which the postmaster will give him a receipt. Interest will continue to accrue on certificates surrendered until the date on which the bonds are issued. When the bonds applied for are received by the postmaster, the depositor will be notified and the bonds will be delivered by the postmaster on presentation of the receipt for the certificates surrendered. At the same time all interest due on the certificates surrendered will be paid.

Savings deposits converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor, and there is no limitation upon the amount of available postal-savings bonds which may finally be acquired by a depositor.

Postal-savings bonds are exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under States, municipal, or local authority.

Postal-savings bonds can only be procured by the conversion of postal-savings deposits, and will not be issued to persons who are not depositors, but whether in registered or coupon form they may, upon receipt by the depositor, be sold and assigned at any time to any person desired.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1911.

CORRESPONDENCE

Detroit, Mich., July 16, 1911.

Editor Times: We reached Detroit on Thursday, July 13, coming up Lake Erie on the steamer, City of Cleveland, had a very pleasant trip. On Saturday, the 22nd, we took a steamer for Put-in-Bay, O hio. It was a beautiful day and there were two picnic parties, the National Biscuit company and the C. M. B. A., so there was a large crowd but every one was good natured and the band played and the large dancing floor was full pretty much of the time. We started at 8:30 and arrived about noon; after quite a walk we found a nice clean cottage boarding house where we got a good dinner and then we started on a street car to the caves. There are a number of them. Put-in-Bay is an island in Lake Erie where grapes and peaches are raised in great abundance, but, the caves are what bring the crowds, and 15 cents each is charged to go in them. The first one we went into was said that in 1813 Commodore Perry hid valuables in the cave; but that is a legend. Now some one has built a house over the entrance and sells souvenirs of Put-in-Bay. To get to the cave you have to descend steps right down into the ground. I did not count the steps. Then you come to a crevice in the ground they have electric lights as far as you can see but the ground is very uneven and damp and at times you have to stoop to walk and it is dripping damp over head. We went as far as the wishing well; the water yas very cold to drink, there was an old man in there that took people in farther with a lantern but we had gone far enough and were glad to hge up and out into the world once more. We then walked through a long grape arbor to the crystal cave which was not near as deep nor as large but looked as if it was covered all around with chunks of alum; not quite as clear as glass but certainly beautiful.

At 5 o'clock we took the boat again for Detroit arriving at the house about 10 o'clock. It is well said that in Detroit life is worth living for there are so many places and parks to isit that it is a picnic crowd all the time. We have not had any rain here to speak of but it hasbeen much cooler than it was at home.

We expect to start for home some time next week. The windi s blowing hard today nad the lake must be ery rough.

SURROGATE'S COURT

But seventy-seven words are included in the will of Ellen L. Druse which has been filed for probate. Mrs. Druse died in Fulton on July 13th. The deceased left $5,500 to $6,000 personal property to be divided equally between her children, Florence Druse Webster and Amos M. Druse. Daniel M. Druse is named as executor.

Letters on the estate of Edward Cavanaugh, who died in Fulton February 21, were applied for by a brother, John. He left $1,800 real and $100 personal. His wife gets the life use and it then goes to grandchildren.

Henry R. Carrier filed a bond of $5,000 in Surrogate's Court today. He is administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. H. R. Carrier.

Letters of administration were issued on estate of William Munroe of Granby. The estate consists of $100 personal propertty.

The racing card offered by the Oswego County Agricultural Society this year has proven most attractive, and indications are that more horses will be entered in the races this year than ever before. Many horsemen from all parts of the State and Canada have already written the management of their intention to be present.

Chicago had forty-nine automobile thefts in June. The footpad is evidently grown ambitious.

DEATHS

James Conley, aged 45, died on Monday at the home of Mr. Fred Pooler in West Third street. Four sisters and two brothers survive. No funeral arrangements have been made as yet.

Roy, the 11-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sixberry, Oak and W. Fifth street, died with whooping cough on Tuesday. The funeral will be held from the home on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Burial in Mt. Adnah.

The death of John Hennessey, aged, 70, and nearly a life long resident of Fulton, occurred at his home in West Fourth street on Monday after a long period of ill health. The funeral services were held this Wednesday morning. The immediate survivors are the widow, one son, John, and five daughters, the Misses Nellie, Mollie and Sarah Hennessey and Mrs. Kate Frawley and Mrs. Eliza Guilfoyle.

After a long illness Curtiss H. Summerville, aged 33, passed to rest on Monday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Summerville, in Granby Center. The deceased had been a great sufferer at times but was uncomplaining. During the past three years he has been engaged in raising lettuce for the New York markets. The immediate survivors are the parents, and three sisters, Mrs. E. J. Breads, Mrs. Floyd Young and Mrs. Velma McSweeney, all of this city. Funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

Sandy Creek News, Thursday: The remains of Albert Gardner who died in Fulton Wednesday morning were brought here last evening from Fulton where he has been in a hospital for treatment for several months. Mr. Gardner was one of the esteemed citizens in the town of Boylston, residing above the North Boylston church on the Hosea Ballou farm. The remains were taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Will Johnson. He is also survived by one son, Bert Gardner, of Winona. Mr. Gardner was sixty years of age. The funeral will be held at the Methodist church here at one o'clock Friday; burial at Mannsville.

A Chicago, Ills., dispatch of July 30, contains the following information: James Herbert Ross, who was buried from his home, 937 North Fairfield avenue, yesterday, was born in the Fifth ward, Oswego, sixty-two years ago, he was a son of James and Charlotte Ross and a brother of Chief of Police Ross, of Fulton. Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters, Mary and Ada, and a son, George; also by a sister, Mrs. John Burkhardt, of this city. He was a bricklayer by trade and one of the charter members of the Oswego, N. Y., Club of Chicago. The bearers who acted from the Oswego Club were the Hon. Albert W. Beifus, James E. Higgins and J. A. Faber.

The Hawaiian Language.

The language of Hawaii is very simple. To one who hears it for the first time comes the conviction that the aborigines expressed their sentiments in primitive vowel sounds, to which some consonants have been added. Each vowel is sounded as in Latin, and the words are easily pronounced by one who is patient and wishes to speak distinctly. The pronunciation will be all the better if the speaker will draw out almost drawl the vowel sounds, for which reason the language is well suited to the doleful Hawaiian waltz. Say Hoo-noo-lun-lun and let the word sing itself.—Rosary Magazine.

A Consistent Reason.

"Economy" as it is Practiced.

Albany, July 4.—One of the standard slogans of the Dix-Murphy administration has been "economy and retrenchment," which sounds pretty in theory, at least. While it is hard to discover any astonishing evidence of either in the performances of the legislature of 1911, it may be remarked that wherever "economy" is sought to be practiced it is not where any patronage grab is concerned. Although threatened by a direct tax, the legislature passes a state election bill which will add anywhere from $600,000 to $1,000,000 a year to the burdens of the taxpayers; a state conservation bill which will create new places for Tammany men at an expense to the taxpayers of from $100,000 to $250,000 a year; a bill to create the office of state fire marshal for an ex-Tammany officeholder, so it is said, who is now in receipt of an annual pension from New York city of $6,000 a year and if named fire marshal will draw $7,000 more from the state treasury. It cannot find as many cents for other and worthy appropriations. A case in point: The legislature passed an appropriation of $3,000 to erect a monument to the memory of General Alexander S. Webb, who commanded in person at the "Bloody Angle" at the battle of Gettysburg, where his brigade repulsed the brilliant and historic charge of Pickett's division and saved the Union army and the field of Gettysburg. Governor Dix, however, vetoed it because "the present condition of the state finances will not warrant such an expenditure." How ridiculous!

MARRIED

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Osborne in Mt. Pleasant on Thursday evening occurred the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Ruth Osborne, and Mr. Ernest Grant. TheR ev. Mr. Pullen was the officiating clergyman and the ring service was used. The wedding was very quiet, only the immediate relatives and friends of the young couple being bidden, and the home was very prettily decorated with ferns, sweet peas and crepe paper. The color scheme throughout was purple and white, the Sunday School class colors of the bride. The young couple plighted their troth before a bank of ferns and cut flowers. The bride, looking very sweet and girlish in her gown of white marquisette with lact bands for garnature, and carrying a shower of roses and sweet peas, received her guests. The young couple were unattended. After the ceremony and congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Grant left for a bridal trip which included the Thousand Islands and Canadian cities. Upon their return they will occupy a portion of Mr. Grant's father's house in Volney, the house to undergo remodelling into a two family house.

Although there were few invitations issued to the wedding the young couple were the recipinets of many beautiful and useful gifts. T hey are being showered with cognratulations on all sides as they are deservedly popular with a wide circle of acquaintances in this vicinity.

The Green Plover.

Every "man on the land" knows the lapwing, or green plover, though he may not know that this bird is one of the very best friends of the farmer and literally worth its weight in gold several times. It takes its proper name, lapwing, from the regular, slow flapping of the long, rounded wings. Because of its peculiar cry it is popularly known in England as the peewit and in Scotland as peesweep. The Germans call it kiebitz. The French say that it can count "eighteen" (eighteen in French is dixhuit, which is pronounced deezweet). The peewit is found in every country in Europe and Asia. In Great Britain it was once very common, being chiefly found in marshes, moors and meadows, but its numbers are gradually decreasing because its eggs are collected and sold as "plovers' eggs," for which there is a large demand during the proper season.—Smallholder.

One Thing Sure.

"My wife went to town today to get a good plain cook."

"Did she get one?"

"I don't know whether she's a good one yet, but she's plain, all right."—Baltimore American.

HERE'S REAL SOLID CORSET COMFORT FOR YOU

Corsets? Yes, and when you think of Corset comfort, think W. B.

No part of a woman's dress is more important than her corset.

What matters the fineness of her gown, the prettiness of its colors, the sweep of its soft folds, if it be not a good fit?

And how in the name of sense can it be a good fit unless its wearer has the right kind of corset and that corset properly and sensibly adjusted to her figure?

Of making many corsets, there is no end. But there's none better than W. B. There's grace for you. And slim length. And a willowy suppleness. And shape-holding. And comfort!

But while W. B. has all these things, W. B. must be properly fitted to your figure. There are enough W. B. models to suit all forms. The study and knowledge of anatomy is one of the heaviest helps in the building of these famous corsets. They're beautifully scientific.

Now when you get W. B. in the hands of an expert corsetiere who knows exactly what model is best suited to your figure, who sees where she must mold and build, where she must accentuate a curve or eliminate a bit of bulk, who, in a word, knows how to fit you properly—then there's corset comfort and correct appearance ahead for you. The same things may be said of the W. B. corset. The W. B. Reduso for stout figures has no superior.

We've made our Corset Section a mecca for women who care for their figures. We have the service—the right service. We're daily fitting women who tell us they've never before had just the needed touch in the adapting and putting on of their corsets. Our fitters have not only the theory but the practical experience to render them absolutely dependable corsetieres.

There are several new models of W. B. Corsets recently in that we'd like to have you see. Prettier garments we've never handled. As to their quality and ability to give you a good figure we are enthusiastic.

MANY TREATIES

The State Department has been making numerous treaties with the various civilized nations—with Great Britian, Germany, France, Japan; treaties of commerce, peace, comity and arbitration. But among the most important treaties are those with Nicaragua and Honduras, involving national loans guaranteed by the custom receipts. These treaties are not yet ratified by the Senate, but the State Department hopes they will be almost any day, believing that they will prevent future revolutions and result in full protection to American interests in those countries. Nicaragua especially is the scene of much activity by American colonizers and investors, and only assurance of peace and protection is needed to insure the development of the great resources of that country.

He Took Her For a Thief

By DANIEL WINSTON

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Perry Atkinson, immaculately dressed and with a pearl stickpin in his cravat was waiting on the platform of a sea side station at the height of the summer season. A number of persons were there, some to receive friends, some to see friends off, all waiting for a train. When it rolled up to the station Atkinson craned his neck with the rest like a turkey gobbler hunting for some favorable point to fly over a fence.

While thus looking up he suddenly felt two arms thrown around his neck and a pair of lips pressed to his.

Now, at this especial resort, situated not far from a large city, were many different classes of persons, from the highest to the lowest. When Atkinson felt himself in the embrace of a woman who was a stranger to him the first explanation of the situation that entered his head was that it was a game to relieve him of his money. Disengaging himself as quickly as possible, he clapped his hand to his hip where he kept his pocketbook. He was relieved to find the wallet there. Then he instinctively felt for his pearl scarfpin, and it was gone!

By this time the woman who had embraced him—a girl of twenty—was standing looking at him with a puzzled expression which, as she gazed developed into one of horror.

"I greatly fear," she stammered "that I have made a mistake."

"You certainly have made a mistake if you take me for a 'fat.' You hand out my stickpin mighty quick or I'll call the police."

At this the girl put on an expression to describe which language is inadequate. Her face was scarlet; her eyes flashed alternate indignation and fear. Then suddenly Atkinson made a dive for her skirt, where he saw his scarf pin hanging, and caught it as it was about to fall to the ground. Putting it in its proper place, he gave the girl a final glance and was about to turn away when she said:

"Do you mean to tell me that you are not Ben Willard?"

"I don't know the gentleman."

"You are the image of him," the girl added, ready to burst into tears.

Atkinson gave her another look as if undecided whether to apologize or say something harsh, then walked away very much disgruntled. While he had been thus engaged a friend he had come to the station to receive had escaped him. As he walked to the summer residence where he was staying he began to see the episode in its true proportions and to become conscious of having made a guy of himself. Before the day was over he regretted not having apologized to the girl and longed for an opportunity to undo what he had done.

The next time Mr. Atkinson met the young lady whom he had mistaken for a thief he was dancing the cotillion at one of the "cottages." A line of ladies was advancing toward a line of gentlemen, and as the lines met the first gentleman whirled away with the first lady. In the coming line of ladies Atkinson suddenly espied the heroine of the stickpin. This in itself was embarrassing, but when he counted the men ahead of him and the ladies ahead of the girl in question and discovered that she would fall to him for a partner his heart sank down into the heels of his patent leather boots.

When the couples ahead of them were reduced to three Atkinson saw the girl's eyes fixed upon him and shuddered. He saw by her expression that she was about to take her revenge. When all those who had preceded them had sailed away in the dance and they stood face to face the girl turned on her heel, presenting her back to Atkinson in sight of all present, and marched out of the room.

Atkinson made way for the man next behind him, wishing that some of those standing about would shoot him. He made his exit through a door opposite the one by which the young lady had passed out and left the house.

The rest of the evening was given up by those who were not dancing to a discussion of what Atkinson, who was known to be a gentleman and a favorite socially, had done to draw forth an expression of such contempt.

The next fortnight was one of profound suffering to Atkinson. He sent friend after friend to the young lady, Miss Langdon, with explanations and apologies. No reply came from any of them. When he met her on the beach she did not notice him. Had she shown again signs of her contempt he would have liked it better. He declined all invitations, fearing that he would meet her. But when an intimate friend gave a cotillion party at which he was obliged to be present he was in horror stricken to see Miss Langdon among the guests. He tried to shirk dancing the cotillion, but failed. Sitting in his chair, the picture of misery, waiting while the ladies were offering favors, what was his astonishment to see the girl he had taken for a thief advance toward him, smiling, and hand him a favor.

It seemed as if the tortures of Tartarus were replaced by a heavenly balm. Placing his arm around her waist, he sailed away with her, neither speaking, yet both attracting, from the nature of the case, much attention. When they had finished their whirl Atkinson said to her:

"Only an angel would have forgiven me my stupid blunder."

"Only a fiend would have denied you forgiveness."

AN ENGLISH TRIP

By Lena Levere.

[Contributed to The Times.]

My memories of London are very pleasant ones. I did not visit it at coronation time, but as a good many Americans did, the subject is interesting to some people.

There are so many subjects of historic interest in the old city, landmarks of the feudal times. In one of the business thoroughfares, London hall stands, or did a few years ago, the remains of the old wall built by the Romans during their first invasion of Brittain. Within a stones throw is Cripplegate church. The churchyard is a thoroughfare from one busy hustling street to another. Passing along the paved walk with the ancient tombstones on either side you might imagine yourself in the old London of past ages till you emerge into busy hustling Bishopegate street.

Saint Paul's cathedral is but a little way off. Built by Sir Christopher Wren. A connumdrum was asked at the breakfast table one morning:

"Why is St. Paul's cathedral like a birds nest?" The answer, "Because it was built by a Wren."

I boarded in Bloomsbury Square. A west central district, convenient to 'bus and rail. In great Coram street close by the Foundling hospital on Sunday there is a service of song by the children. It was lovely to listen to their sweet clear voices soaring heavenward in their song of praise.

The squares are pleasant on a warm sunny spring day, for the sun does shine in London sometimes. It shines on Chancery Lane, on the lawyers in their wigs and gowns (for this is the lawyers quarter) traversing the narrow old pavements that have been trodden by so many feet for ages and ages.

From Chancery Lane to Fleet street, past the two old churches, St. Clements Danes and St. Mary de Strand, lately the scene of so many spectators of the coronation procession on its way to Westminister.

Coent Garden is worth ones notice. It is a large market and it is quite worth while to sacrifice a few hours sleep and visit it in the dewy freshneseo f the morning, to see the wagons unloading, strewing around such abundance of the earth's riches.

The center aisle, a glass covered colonade is like a scene from fairyland, filled with luscious fruits and flowers, the perfume is indescribable.

The London hospitals too are good to visit. Most of them endowed or support by voluntary contributions, where the sick poor can receive the best of advice and care gratis.

Close by Covent Garden is the National Gallery, containing one ofthe finest collections of pictures in the world.

Westminister Abby and Winchester cathedral contains the ashes of all the kings and queens of England.

Winchester is a quaint little old city on a hill. I went over the cathedral. In the chancel lie the remains of Richard Coure de Lion. The inscription written in old English, such quaint spelling and hard to describe. On our way to Winchester we stopped at Portsmouth, a garrison town, and did the Victory, the famous ship on which Lord Nelson was shot, the spot where he fell was pointed out to us.

There are so many historic spots in England, it is hard to enumerate them.

Along the Thames Valley there are some:

There is Hampton Court built by Cardinal Wolsey, for his sovereign Henry VIII.

I am just going to digress a little at Ipswich where I visited, stands the house where Wolsey was born and also theW hite Horse Inn, rendered famous by Charles Dickens in his "Pickwick Papers."

Well, Hampton Court, one of the show places of the neighborhood is a grand old gloomy place full of ghosts of the past, it always seemed to me.

In the reigns of Harry VIII and good Queen Bess, the walls rang with sounds of revelry. The palace is but a few miles from London, on the Thames and many a pleasure party, sailing from Whitehall down the river, loaded with gay company, to strains of lively music have landed at old Hampton when sounds of mirth and laughter have echoed though the old banquet hall.

Pictures of court beauties line the walls and in many of the rooms stand hugh four post bedsteads with hangings of ancient tapestry.

In the grounds are some old yule trees, cut into fantastic shapes which give a funeral aspect to the old garden.

The old town of Geddington is close by with its narrow walks and quaint stores. On the Geddington road is the house where Claude Dubal lived. I have driven over Hounslow Heath where the famous Dick Garpin used to ride on his bonny mare "Black Bess".

In spring and summer England is a pleasant place to visit,but the winter fogs, deliver me from them.

There is not the hustle and hurry to live over there that there is here. People take life more easily and live longer for it. I like the English, they are somewhat reserved, they do not quote but they are thorough and sincere, refined and hospitable.

GRANULATED SORE EYES CURED

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers.

The Peanut.

The common peanut originally came probably from tropical America. Peanuts were introduced into the United States in the days of the colonies. Botanically the peanut belongs to the same group of plants as beans and peas, but the peanut matures its fruit or nut under the surface of the soil, not above ground, as do most other leguminous plants. Properly speaking, the peanut is a pea rather than a nut, the term "nut" having been added on account of its flavor, which is similar to that of many of the true nuts. The peanut is known under the local names of goober, goober pea, pindar, groundpea and groundnut.

FULTON'S PRETTY WOMEN

"I never come to Fulton," said a traveling man to one of our merchants this morning, "without wondering if every family in this city has a hired girl, for in no other city that I visit does one see so many well dressed women right after dinner on pleasant afternoons, either exchanging calls or shopping in the stores. It seems to me they must all have some one to do their housework for them in order to get out so early in the afternoon, each looking as if she had never seen or heard of such a thing as a kitchen." The merchant explained that the women used gas stoves which took away all drudgery of housework and enabled them to get their meals in one fifth the time it takes with a coal or wood stove, thus allowing them to enjoy life without spending the greater part of the day toiling in the kitchen.

HOW TO TELL A SAFE INVESTMENT

A new and important feature in Lippincott's, beginning with the August issue, will be a Financial Department, to be conducted by Dr. Edward S. Meade. Dr. Meade is a man of exceptional ability, and as Professor of Finance, in the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, University ofP ennsylvania, he is amply qualified to produce articles that will prove a source a valuable information to prospective investors.

The investments principally to be discussed are stocks and bonds. Dr. Meade has specialized on these subjects and will offer suggestions and information that will be helpful to the man of limited means, and enable him to select a secure investment for his funds. Dr. Meade is a writer of considerable note on financial works. He is the author of "Trust Finance" and a contributor to various financial journals.

SEEMED TO GIVE HIM A NEW STOMACH

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

WHAT THE COOK WAS DOING

While a certain Richmond family were in Europe, the dusky housemaid acted as caretaker, and more than once she received in the dining-room an admirer in the person of one Henry Morgan, cab-driver.

One evning, as the maid and the Jehu were making merry, there came from the kitchen a painful scratching sound.

"What's dat noise in de kitchen?" demanded the maid's admirer. "Must be a dawg tryin' to git in."

"Don't yo' worry," answered the maid; "'dat ain't no dawg a-scratchin'" at de do'. Dat's de cook a-writin' a love letter to her honeysuckle." —August Lippincotts'

A STUDENT OF HUMANITY

Mrs. Carter and her cook were discussing the murder which had harrowed the dusky citizens of the countryside.

"Will dey hang him fer killin' of his wife, Miss Cyarter?"

"We can't tell yet, Aunt Jinny. The court will decide. Of course if they prove he did it on purpose——"

"Done it a purpose! Law, Miss Cyarter, in course he kilt his wife a purpose! Honey, ain't I done been married? Don't I know men?"

HON. CHARLES L. KNAPP HERE

Hon. Charles L. Knapp and his neice, Miss Bertha Dorrance, were the guests oer night and today of Colonel and Mrs. John J. T. Mott. Our former ever popular and deeply appreciated Congressman gets the glad hand from every one of his old constituents he served so admirably —everyone that gets the chance to give it. His wide circle of friends will be delighted to know how well he is looking. He is just back from a long auto trip through the Berkshires and to other points of interest. He has enjoyed the outing greatly. Mr. Knapp and Miss Dorrance will be the guests of Congressman and Mrs. Mott at dinner this evening at Pleasant Point.—Oswego Times, Friday.

WHAT IS BEST FOR INDIGESTION

Mr. A. Robinson of Drumquin, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion and recommends Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at all drug stores.

A VALUABLE MAN

"Yes, he had some rare trouble with his eyes," said the celebrated oculist. "Every time he went to read he would read double."

"Poor fellow," remarked the sympathetic person. "I suppose that interfered with his holding a good position?"

"Not at all. The gas company gobbled him up and gave him a lucrative job reading gas meters."
—August Lippincott's.

[Upon rigid investigation the Times finds that the above mentioned gas company was not the Fulton company The local company are too square to resort to such trickery.]

PRETTY GOOD

Earlville has a strictly up-to-date minister of the gospel, pastor of the Baptist church of that village, who not only appreciates the value of printers ink, but how and when to use it. Rev. Morse advertises his work. For some time he has had a quarter column of display space in the village paper, for which he pays cash and into which he places each week, in bold face type, matter that is sure to be read.

BIG ESTATES DISTRIBUTED

The transfer tax appraisals of two unusually large estates were filed in the Surrogate's office Friday morning. The estates are those of Mrs.Amelia D. Robertson of Constantia and George H. Goodwin of Mexico.

The estimated value of the Robertson estate is $33,635.20 and consists principally of personal property, cash in banks and stocks.

The amount remaining for distribution after payment of all expenses is $31,481.26 and it is divided between former Supervisor Horace D. Scoville of Constantia, a son, and Elizabeth B. Whiting, a daughter, each receiving $16,740.63.

Mr. Goodwin, who was a lawyer in Mexico, died in California seeral months ago. His estate is valued at $53,468.17, but there are bequests amounting to $5,600 and exempt under the law and expenses of administration and debts amounting to $2,061.81, leaving $45,886.36. The bulk of the estate is divided between nephews and nieces all living in California.

NO PHOENIX FAIR

There will be no Phoenix fair this year. The directors, after discussing the situation, decided to call it off because of the fact that communications with the grounds and the village via the Phoenix bridge that is to be built will be interrupted. The fair will be held next year.

CONGRESSMAN MOTT TO ATTEND

The 28th annual meeting and banquet of the Anglers' Association of the St. Lawrence river will be held in the parlor of the Hotel Lotus at St. Lawrence Park on Wednesday, August 9th at 11 o'clock. The banquet will be given at 3 p. m.

Congressman L.W . Mott will be present and address the meeting.

GROWING UP TO IT

San Diego was thought to be a small city to aspire to hold an exposition; but before the gates of its Mission City open in 1915 it will be a great deal bigger than it is now.

Japan takes naturally to a front seat in the world's diplomacy.

During the year 1909 and until otherwise ordered, terms of the Surrogate's Court of the County of Oswego, will be held as follows:

On Monday of each week, except in the month of August, at the Surrogate's office in the city of Oswego, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

On the second Thursday of each month, except August at the Court House in the village of Pulaski, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Whenever one of the days above appointed falls on a holiday the Court will be held the day following.

CLAYTON I. MILLER.

EXPOSITION A STIMULANT

There is some question whether an exposition is a real help to a city, but in San Diego, which is preparing to hold one in 1915, the building operations have amounted to $2,352,000 in less than six months of 1911; and for a city of some 40,000 people that is admitted to be "going some."

SUPERVISORS HOLD SPECIAL SESSION

Approve Nomination of Messrs. Baker and Whitney as Commissioners of Election—Salaries Fixed at $500 Per Annum—Will Have Offices With County Clerk and Have Clerical Work Done by County Clerk's Force.

At three o'clock on Monday the special session of the Board was called to order and Chairman Sweetland said that the first business would be that pertaining to the appointment of Commissioners of Election.

He explained that as he understood the law the county committees of the Democratic and Republican parties may make the recommendation and the Board had the option of confirming the recommendation or of considering new candidates.

V. D. Pierce of Altmar, said that he did not understand that the Board could do anything but confirm the recommendation and moved that D. O. Whitney, of Albion, be made the Republican Commissioner of Elections.

This was done unanimously and Supervisor Hartnett, of Fulton, moved that Howard F. Baker, of Sandy Creek, be made the Democratic Commissioner. This was adopted unanimously.

The Board went into executive session to fix the salaries of the Commissioners.

During the executive session the matter was thoroughly discussed, the country members opposing any salary exceeding $500. Messrs. Baker and Whitney were called into the conference, as were County Attorney Coville andCounty Clerk McCarthy. The opposition held to the belief that the County Clerk's employes should do the work of the commission, as the election work had previously been done in that office. It was pointed out, however, that under the law the commissioners had the authority to name the clerks and other assistants.

Dr. Terry of Richland moved that the salary be made $600 per annum and necessary expenses, and that the board recommend the employment of a clerk at a salary not to exceed $500 per year. This was amended by W. M. Gallagher placing the compensation at $500 per year and recommending that the clerks in the County Clerk's office be employed to do the clerical work. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 24 to 8.

The contention of Dr. Terry and other supporters of the resolution was that there would be a conflict of authority between the County Clerk and the election commissioners over the employment of the clerks

Following this action a resolution was offered by Mr. Tighe of Williamstown providing for on increase in the salary of index clerk and special deputy clerk from $720 to $840 per year.

This occasioned more debate and action was deferred. A motion to table the resolution was lost by a vote of 21 to 11. Resolutions for the improvement of First street in Fulton and First street in Oswego, in connection with good roads improvements, were referred to the Highway Committee.

After an executive session of several hours the Board of Supervisors fixed the salary of the election commissioners for Oswego county at $500 per year and recommended that they employ the clerks in the County Clerk's office to do the clerical work, without extra compensation. The County Clerk's office was designated as the office of the commission. This decision was not reached until after a debate, in which considerable difference of opinion was shown. sion was not reached until after a debate, in which considerable difference of opinion was shown.

The Board is not scheduled to take conclusive action on the proposed county hospital until the regular session at the end of the year. At the last session the Orwell site was selected by a two to one vote.

The Outing Committee of the Board of Supervisors, consisting of Chairman J. M. Tighe, Williamstown; Eugene Rowe, Otisco, and M. T. Crimmins, Oswego, decided that the second annual outing of the Board will be held Thursday, August 10th, at Mexico Point when there will be a very merry gathering of politicians for the games and the feed.

MEXICO CATTLE BARONS MOVING HERDS

San Antonio, Tex., July 29.—Regarded as significant is the activity of theM adero family in moving their cattle out of Mexico. Thirty cars were moved yesterday. BIG BUSINESS ENTERPRISE

A Large Department Sanatorium to Be Erected—It Will Occupy 118 Acres

A company has just been incorporated with an authorized capitalization of $500,000; $250,000 of which is guaranteed 8 per cent. preferred stock, while the other $250,000 is common stock. The organization is composed of prominent business and professional men of the cities of Oswego and Fulton, with temporary offices at 113 West First street, Oswego, N. Y.

A $300,000 department sanatorium is to be located on what is known as the Parso's property consisting of 118 acres of land mid-way between the cities of Oswego and Fulton on the west river road through which passes both the D. L. & W. railroad and the Syracuse, Lake Shore and Northern electric railway, both of which it is understood, will establish passenger stations on the sanatorium grounds. The site selected is a most ideal one as it has about twenty natural springs located on the property on various elevations, one of which has been pronounced by experts as sufficient to feed an artificial lake with an area of one-half acre, while another gives a continuous flow of at least five gallons per minute. Analysis shows that the water contains certain properties especially conducive to health.

The sanatorium is to be divided into four departments, one of which will be located on an area comprising about 25 acres, 15 of which is occupied by a grove, and on this site will be constructed a building of fireproof construction probably of pressed brick and Gouverneur marble, five stories high and to contain 100 single rooms with bath, and 25 suites in addition to the general administration offices of the Medical Staff of the entire institution and an auditorium to seat 150 persons. The basement is to contain a gymnasium, bowling alley, swimming pool, and various other modes of entertainment and recreation.

The building will be heated with steam and electrically lighted with a solarium on the roof which will be surmounted by an observation tower fitted up according to the most modern methods.

Patients who are in need of rest and a change of environment and seeking recreation or pleasure will be accommodated in this structure. Various classes of boats will be at the disposal of the guests of this department which is located on the immediate banks of the Oswego river. The sanatorium grounds will be but a short distance above the new State dam near Minetto, and what is known as the Bulger farm is to be flooded by the raising of the water level at this point, practically making a lake of smooth water suitable for boating in summer and skating in winter.

A very active spring located in front of where this main building is to be, will furnish an ample supply of water for an attractive fountain which is to be placed mid-way between the building and the new State road which crosses the entire property.

The general disease department will be located on another beautiful spot comprising about five acres overlooking the river and near the State road. This building is to be not less than three stories in height,and will be constructed according to the most sanitary and up-to-date methods, as well as being of particularly artistic design. No insanity cases whatever, will be admitted to any of the departments.

At a considerable distance, nearly a mile west of these buildings is to be located a tuberculosis colony which will be situated on a high ridge with a southern and eastern exposure, near the D. L. & W. railroad.

An administration building for the physicians, nurses and where friends of patients may be accommodated will be erected immediately with pavilions, cottages, etc., for the accommodation of patients according to the most scientific methods in use in any part of the world today. The plans and specifications are already completed for the buildings required in this department.

Another department will be for the treatment of those afflicted with epilepsy in various stages, and will be located about a half-mile from any of the other departments, on another high elevation in close proximity to the electric railroad. Several physicians who have been working in conjunction with each other on this disease have succeeded in finding a product that seems to be remarkably effectual in producing not only immediate, but permanent results.

We understand that the grounds surrounding these buildings are to be laid out with walks,drives, etc., which will make them accessible for carriages, automobiles or motorcycles, and apparently, when the present plans are completed Oswego County will have one of the most beautiful and up to date sanatoriums in the country.

BARTLETTE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

To further the interests of Attorney Udelle Bartlette and that his friends may have a central point from which to prosecute their fight throughout the county, headquarters have been established in Oswego, Rooms four and five, in the Neal block, which will be open day and night from Monday until the caucuses are held. Frank Dowdle, Jr., is in charge of the headquarters and all Republicans will be welcomed at the rooms whenever they may be in Oswego. The men back of the movement style themselves The Bartlette Judiciary Committee and they are theM essrs. W. V. Burr, W. A. Reid, F. L. Smith, George S. Benz, P. W. Cullinan, Harry S. Rauch, F. D. Evenden, R. L. Moore, W. S. Norton, Dr. C. R. Hervey, Dr. H. S. Albertson, Frank Sayer, M. P. Neal, C. R. Hoey, H. R. Lavere, R. L. Callison, F. A. Scheutzow, J. B. Alexander, William J. Zeller, Hon. M. L.W right, J. B. Farwell, W. A. Kitts, Hon. S. M. Coon, Thomas Moore, C. A. Tanner and C. F. Hancock.

The committee met on Monday evening and organized by electing the following officers: Chairman, Thomas Moore; secretaries, H. S. Lavere and J. T. McCaffery; treasurer, W. V. Burr; committee on resolutions, C. A. Tanner, J. B. Alexander, J. T. McCaffrey.

On Tuesday evening a meeting of the committee was held with the result that a plan for a vigorous campaign for Mr. Bartlette was outlined and resolutions very commendatory of Mr. Bartlette were adopted.

Stunning old pines, and the hemlock and ash,
Six-by-ten rooms for the ten-by-six cash,
Stands the Bird Inn, and I'm telling you true
Bleedem & Soakem are waiting for you!

Out on the Farm, where the chickens and ducks,
Turn out the eggs with quacks and the chucks,
Onions and radishes, limas and corn,
Mother's own pie, and, as sure as you're born
Right up to dat and quite ready to "do,"
Pickem & Pluckem are waiting for you!

Go where you will, for vacation or sport,
Start away long you will stumble back short,
Pocketbook empty; but listen and learn—
Winter is coming, and tables will turn,
Pluckem & Pickem will turn up in Town,
Then we will get them and do them up brown.

The State Department of Agriculture has agreed to send expert lecturers to this Fair and they will give daily lectures on interesting agricultural topics each day of the Fair. Practically all the space in the main building has already been engaged by Fulton merchants and out of town manufacturers. Superintendent Merriam is putting the grounds and buildings in first class shape for the coming season and the management is using every endeavor to make the Fair of 1911 the best one of the 56 annual fairs given by the society. The races will be called promptly at two o'clock each afternoon. The balloon ascension and parachute drop will be given as near four p. m. daily if the weather will permit.

For premium lists, entry blanks, race programmes, and space for concessions or exhibits, call on or address, H. Putnam Allen, Grand Central Block, Fulton, N. Y.

The Secretary's office, Room 1, Grand Central Block, will be open for the taking of entries Monday, August 7.

COMMENDS FULTON TEAM

Oswego, July 31, 1911.

Sporting Editor of the Times:

Dear Sir—Permit me space in your columns to comment favorably on the gentlemanly conduct of the Fulton team in the game here Saturday. They certainly played clean, fast ball all through. While I am a rooter for the Rowan Stars, I could not help but admire the way the visitors conducted themselves on and off the field. I would recommend that the members of the local teams cut out the wrangling that marred the recent Emerald-Rowan series. The fans don't like it. They go to see baseball, not disputations, orations and near pugilism.

FULTON PARTY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. J. H. Hunt, Superintendent of Schools Fairgrieve and Chauffer Ray Loveless in Wrecked Car at Albany—Former Seriously Injured—Others Escape.

Saturday afternoon early as Mr. J. H. Hunt, Prof. J. R. Fairgrieve and Ray Loveless as chauffer were returning from a delightful automobile trip to New York city, Hartford, Conn., and other points, they were the victims of either a careless or drunken automobile driver and their car was wrecked, Mr. Hunt was thrown violently from his car into a field by the road side but fortunately neither Messrs. Fairgrieve nor Loveless were injured.

Two weeks ago the party left for an anticipated vacation trip and they were returning to their homes in this city in excellent condition of health and spirits, expecting to reach Fulton on Sunday. When at Greenbush, 10-miles from Albany on Saturday afternoon, bowling along the road at a 30-mile an hour speed, an automobile driven by three Buffalo men overtook and attempted to pass them on a narrow road. They did not announce their approach with the horn, and the first that the Fulton men knew of their proximity was when their car was struck from the rear and turned completely around in the road. Mr. Hunt, who was sitting on the side at which the collision took place, was thrown out, sustaining a fractured rib and a badly torn face and ear. He was unconscious when picked up by his companions and internal injuries are feared. The occupants of another automobile, seeing the accident hastened back and rendered what assistance they could to the injured, conveying Mr. Hunt and the driver of the offending car, who was also injured, to Albany where Mr. Hunt was taken to a hospital and where he remains in a precarious condition. Two years ago the day he was injured Mr. Hunt suffered the loss of one leg as the result of blood poisoning, and hehas not been in robust health since. Owing to this fact the effects of the shock upon his system makes the outcome very uncertain.

Mrs. Hunt is very ill at Saratoga and it has been thought best so far not to inform her of he husband accident. Mrs. J. R. Fairgrieve left on Sunday for her sisters bedside while Prof. Fairgrieve is with the injured man. Mr. Loveless returned home on Sunday night, after having towed the Hunt car to an Albany garage.

WHAT IS BEST FOR INDIGESTION

Mr. A. Robinson of Drumquin, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion and recommends Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at all drug stores.

SUPERVISOR'S PICNIC TOMORROW

County Gala Day at Mexico Piot Thursday—Fine Program Arranged—Many Features Not on the Program Liable to Add Interest—Hon. P. W. Cullinan and ex-Senator Elon R. Brown to Address Assemblage.

Mexico Point on Thursday will be the Mecca toward which all supervisors, past supervisors and would-be supervisors will wend their way, accompanied by friends, bands and the never to be left behind politicians.

Last year the dinner was a disappointment. Plenty of excellent food had been provided by the management but the service was poor. This year this trouble has been overcome and nothing is lacking to make the event a stupendous success.

A program of sports has been arranged, which will include a ball game in which it is rumored the candidates for judicial honors will forget their dignity and sail in to wallop each others nine.

Thursday is going to be a great day for the boys.

HOSPITAL DONATIONS FOR JULY

The hospital desires to make acknowledgement of the following list of donations during July, 1911:

Mrs. Wm. Pratt, vegetables, old linen; Mrs. Wm. Perry, catsup, preserves; Miss Fuller, 1-2 bushel apples; Miss James Hubbard, magazines; Mrs. Victorine Lee, 25 leading magazines for July; Mr. and Mrs. Earl, 6 quarts blackberries; Dr. Cusack, 1 bushel apples; Women's Auxiliary, 2 dozen mattress covers, 4 dickies, 6 pillow slips, 2 dozen crash towels, 1 pitcher; 3 dozen cans of fruit from the following ladies of the Roman Catholic church, Mesdames F. J. McNamara, John Patrick, F. H. Judd, John Pearl, Martin Dietrick, William Crahan, Frank Pare, Bernard Crahan, William Church, C. S. Murphy, John Brannan, Sr., Daniel Brannan, Napoleon Falardeau, Thomas Coleman, James R. Brannan, Alexander Youngs, Fred Miller, John Owen, J. H. Conners, Fred Schneider, James Tyrrell, John White, A. P. Curtis, Charles A. Bassett, A. E. Kraus, Miss Lindsman; basket committee for July, Mrs. Frank Foster, Miss Grace Tucker, Mrs. Langdon Foster.

The thanks of the Auxiliary are due the following who so willingly assisted the committee on "Paper Day": Miss Virginia Hunter, Miss Irene Hunter, Mr. S. B. Mead, Mr. E. J. Penfield, Mr. Carlisle Hunter. As the result of the day's labor $17.17 was added to the treasury.

LAND IMPROVEMENT

Park and Building Lots Will Be Erected on Flannery Property, West Side—Park to Be Deeded to City.

C. S. Kibble, representing the Genesee Realty Company of Rochester, has secured a tract of land, formerly known as the Flannery property, on West First street, near the north city line. This has been divided into 196 building lots, with dimensions of about 40 x 100 feet, on which several residences will be built this Fall. The plans include the reservation of several lots for a city park, which it is planned to deed to the city authorities. Streets are now being graded and sidewalks are about to be laid, along which it is proposed to plant shade trees. Arrangements are also completed for two trolley stops within the radius of the property.

Hines is ready to admit that he never did work against Lorimer.

HO, FOR THE FAIR

Oswego County Agricultural Society Plan Big Exposition for Next Week—Fireworks During Evenings—Splendid Attractions Secured—All Available Space in Main Building Taken.

The fifty sixth annual fair of the Oswego County Agricultural society will be held on the local Fair grounds next week, Aug. 15-18, inclusive.

Superintendent of Grounds W. H. Merriam has labored ceaselessly to have everything in readiness for the opening day and everyone who has been on the grounds this season speaks in the highest terms of his success. The grounds and buildings have never been in such splendid condition and the directors and officers are delighted.

Every available space in the main building has been taken and the list of entries was never larger. Secretary H. P. Allen has secured many fine attractions for the Fair, and he announces that the midway this Fair time will eclipse all former efforts.

One of the best drawing cards will be the encampment during the Fair of the 24th Infantry, U. S. A., on the grounds. Exhibition drills will be given in front of the grand stand each day and the field life of the soldiers may be studied by the children and all who are interested. This is not only an entertaining but an educational feature.

A slack wire artist, acrobats, wild animal show, baloon ascension with thrilling parachute jumps, races, etc., etc., etc., will be among the features of the Fair of 1911, destined to eclipse all other Fairs for success.

FULTON COMPANY WINS CASE

The Battle Island Paper Company has won out in the seven years war with theJ essup & Moore Paper Company of Oswego.

Referee Jerome L. Cheny has given a decision in the famous case allowing a judgment of $8,774 to the plaintiff. The case was won by Attorney Charles L. Piper with George W. Driscoll as counsel.

The dispute started in 1904, the year of the coal famine, when the Jessup & Moore Company contracted to buy 3,000 tons of sulphite from the Battle Island. Manufacturing was doubtful business that year and with no coal, few cars and lots of anchor ice to encounter, the Battle Island could not fill the order.

After a year only 1,200 tons had been shipped and the buyers refused to pay for about $9,000 worth of that on the claim that their business had been damaged by failure of the pulp order.

The legal war that followed was one well calculated to make mechanical and chemical experts out of the attorneys. The whole process of the manufacture of wood pulp was under study all the time. The claim that the pulp was hard to bleach was one of the most insistent claims and this rendered expert knowledge necessary. The Jessup & Moore company fought to offset the whole claim of the other company and for $10,000 besides. Mr. Cheney was given full power to determine the issue.

FIRE IN FOSTER THEATRE

Saturday evening the fire department was called to the Foster theatre where a defective wire, coming in contact with the inflammable film of the moving pictures, caused a brilliant blaze for a few seconds. Fred Maude, who had arranged the films and machinery for the second performance of the evening, had but an instant before left the room. The automatic doors to the steel cage containing the combustable materials snapped shut at the first danger point, and the flames were kept within.

The employes organized the 150 patrons in the theatre at the time, into two lines and marshalled them out through the two doors and into the street without panic. A crowd was attracted to the spot by the brilliant light which streamed up through the roof opening for an instant.

The flames were extinguished without damage other than to the films and the machine.

STATE WIDE SEARCH FOR PARKER

The police officials throughout several States have been furnished with photographs of Amos Parker, wanted in Oswego for burglarizing Cohen's pawn shop, and for other crimes, and they will co-operate in the efforts of the Oswego county officials to capture the young outlaw, who is yet but a boy in his teens with a record of many crimes to his account.

SEVERE STORM IN OSWEGO

Oswego, Aug. 8.—Bartolo Portenza, a section hand on the New York Central, was killed and two companions were seriously injured by being struck by lightning about 7 o'clock this morning. The fatality occurred as the men were in W. Erie street about 50 feet west of the bridge at that place. The bolt was one of many that terrorized people here, after arousing them from their slumbers.

Portenza's death was on the instant The bolt struck him in the head wrecking a large felt hat as would a giant fire cracker placed under it. It went clear through his body, singing the hair on his arms and legs and coming out through the left great toe, in which there was a hole larger around than a lead pencil.

Assistance come quickly, and physicians and the ambulance was summoned. The two companions were rushed to the hospital and Portenza's body was taken to Cullinan's morgue, where it was viewed by Coroner Vowinkle.

Portenza was about 45 years of age and had lived in Oswego about nine years. He is married and has six children.

George Magner, who lives in West Utica street, near the shops, and a workman were the two others who were injured. All three men were on their way to the shops when the fatal bolt fell.

Both are reported to be in a serious condition at the hospital.

During the height of the storm lightning struck an elm tree in the rear of the residence of Edward Kelly at No. 118 East Seventh street, and running down the tree entered the roof of his residence and started a blaze in the attic.

A telephone alarm was sent in for the fire department and the chemical soon extinguished the fire before it reached serious headway.

When the alarm came into No. 3 Engine house Michael O'Gorman started to hitch the team on the hose wagon and James Bell, an express messenger who was passing the house, ran in to aid in the hitching and in so doing caused one of the horses to rear and he came down upon Mr. O'Gorman's left foot at the instep, mangling it badly and inflicting a serious wound. At the same time Mr. Bell was kicked in the upper leg and received a bad blow in the chest from the horse's knee. The wagon left the engine house with both men laying helpless upon the floor.

The Hook and Ladder company were late in arriving at the fire, caused by the pole on the trucks breaking just as they were leaving the house. It was necessary to omit the three-horse hitch and the truck proceeded to the fire with two horses.

A bolt of lightning hit the residence of Benjamin Hoey at No. 208 East Bridge street about the same time, doing considerable damage to the house and startling a fire but this was extinguished without the aid of the fire department.

Trees in all sections of the city were struck by lightning and the fire alarm system, telephone wires and electric wires received a number of bolts, which did considerable damage. At 8 o'clock the storm had passed and the sun was shining brightly.

FARMER'S PICNIC SATURDAY

The farmer's of Onondaga and Oswego counties will hold their annual picnic at High Banks on Saturday, August 11. Secretary W. N. Giles will make the principal address.

A program of sports has been arranged, including a tug of war between Onondaga and Oswego county representatives, potato race, egg race, shoe race, three-legged race, sack race, 100-yard dash (free for all), 100-yard dash for women, 100-yard dash for men over 50, nail driving contest for women, one-mile run (free for all), wood chopping contest for women, baseball game, bating contest for women, one-mile run-prizes will be given for all sports.

It is expected that there will be a large attendance from the surrounding country.

NOTICE TO HORSE BREEDERS

The breeding bureau of the Jockey Club of New York City offers through the Oswego County Agricultural Society a special prize of $50.00 for the best of the get of the Stallion Fatherland, the property of the breeding bureau of the Jockey Club, money to be divided as follows; $25.00 to the first, $15.00 to the second and $10.00 to the third. ANNUAL REPORT OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

To the Board of Trustees of the Fulton Public Library.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to present to you the twelfth annual report of the Fulton Public Library which is also the report of the fifth year of service in the new library building.

Registration

The total registration June 30, 1911, is 3,503, an increase of 388 borrowers during the year; there have been 126 renewals of borrower's cards, making in effect, 514 new registrations. Of the whole number of cards, about two thirds are in occasional use, the holder of the one third finding it necessary or desirable to make their cards do constant service.

Additions

At the beginning of the year there were 6,842 volumes in the library. We have added by purchase 326 and 161 by gift; a total addition of 487. The withdrawn and missing books number 101. The net increase is therefore, 386. The total number of volumes in the library, June 30, 1911, is 7,228; of these 6,236 are in the adult department and 1,052 are in that devoted to the young people.

Of the missing and withdrawn books, 4 were lost by borrowers and were paid for or replaced; 4 books, having been in quarantine, were destroyed; 91 were too much worn to be continued in circulation.

Binding

This year we have been able to bind a larger number of periodicals. Thirty-nine volumes have been thus added to the reference department, keeping the files of Century, World's Work and St. Nicholas complete to date and adding to the still incomplete files of Harper's, Littell's and other periodicals.

From the circulating department 81 books were sent to a bindery for repair and re-binding. Such books are away from the library from four to six weeks, some of them are necessarily out of circulation a much longer time as they must wait until the whole number is sufficient to warrant a trip to the bindery. Consequently many books must be repaired in the library. The "Binding Kit" purchased in June, 1910, has proven of great value. By its use, books have been kept in condition for constant lending that otherwise would have been withdrawn or at least been out of circulation for two or three months. Miss Forsyth has become quite proficient in the work of rebinding and her skill in the use of the binding outfit has been a source of economy to the library.

Circulation

The library has been open 307 days. The number of books given out for home reading was 25,012, and for reading in the library, 929; the total number used 25,941. This is 178 less than last year and is the first time in the history of the library when the circulation of any full year has been less than that of the previous year. On the contrary, there has been heretofore a steady, if not large increase in the number of people using the library.

In March, always the month of largest use, 2,795 books were drawn for home reading and 144 were read in the library. The smallest monthly use was in July when but 1,745 were issued. The average daily circulation was 85 and the largest number of books drawn any one day was 226 on March 18. The smallest number was 4 on Aug. 17, 1910.

Not considering fiction and magazines, the class most drawn upon was, as in former years, that of literature, from which 775 volumes were sent out; the other classes being used in the following order; sociology, 585; biography, 559; history, 410; travel, 398; useful arts, 278; religion, 265; art, 221. The statistical tables may be referred to for further detail.

To "advertise our wares" lists of books were posted in conspicuous places; the bulletin board was used to display the paper covers of the newest books, and at least, four miscellaneous collections of books, (which were subject to frequent change), were placed easy of access, thus giving opportunity for a good selection without visiting the book shelves.

Two bulletins, the first in July, 1910, the second in January, 1911, were published and given gratuitous circulation. These present a classified list of the additions for the year 1910. Another that should have been ready about July first is in course of preparation and will furnish a similar list for the first six months of this year. The city papers have always kindly given space for publication of book lists and

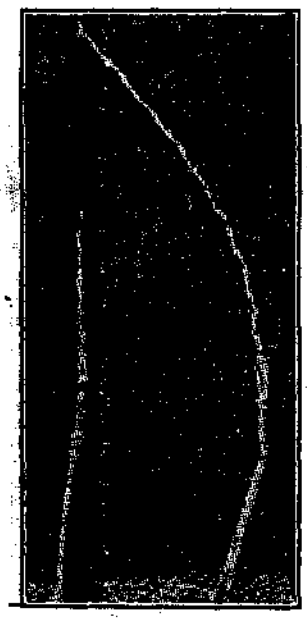
PRIZE EXHIBITIONS OF BARLEY AND HOPS

Over Eight Thousand Dollars to Be Awarded to Farmers Who Raise These Crops by International Barley and Hop Exhibit, Chicago, Oct. 12 to 22.

Notable Feature of the American Exposition of Brewing Machinery, Materials and Products --- Eminent Experts on the Committee of Awards.

AMONG the important crops in the states of the central west, northwest and Pacific coast are barley and hops, both of which require considerable care in cultivation. The chief market for the better grades of barley is the malting industry, which supplies principally the brewing and distilling trades. The principal and almost exclusive market for hops is the brewing industry.



For a number of years American and European scientists have devoted much inquiry to these crops for the purpose of deciding upon which properties are conditioned their value to the consumer.

With regard to barley, there is considerable difference of opinion, the views of American and European investigators diverging to an extent. With regard to hops, scientific inquiry has not yet proceeded far enough to state with any degree of certainty which are the leading characters of the plant that make up its value to the manufacturer who uses it.

Departments of Agriculture Study Barley and Hops.

The agronomists and chemists of the State Agricultural colleges and several specialists of the United States department of agriculture have devoted a great deal of time to the study of barley and hops and their improvement. They have been advising the farmers to devote attention to the production of those properties in these crops which are most desired by the consumer. In this work, however, they have met with considerable difficulty from the fact that they have been unable to state positively what those properties are that the consumer desires.

In the purchase of barley and hops the individual judgment of the buyer.

STEMS OF WHITE CLUB AND MANCHURIA BARLEYS.

based upon personal experience, has been the controlling factor, and as the individual judgment is often biased by personal preference and even prejudice it has been difficult to define what character of goods would best meet the requirements of the market.

Improvement of Barley and Hops.

A movement is under way to bring about improvement in the growing of barley and hops and to lay down certain standards by which they can be valued regardless of the personal equation.

At the present stage this movement is crystallizing in an international barley and hop exhibit, which will take place Oct. 12 to 22, 1911, at Chicago, in connection with the American Exposition of Brewing Machinery, Materials and Products. For this exhibit there will be available a prize fund of over $8,000, which will be apportioned to the different varieties and strains of the crops with a view of giving the greatest possible encouragement to the farmers who raise them.

The growers who may wish to participate in the exhibit should address the committee on awards, 1508 Republic building, Chicago, and ask for the necessary application and entry blanks. The committee on awards embraces not only a number of the most eminent experts among scientific men, growers, dealers and consumers of these crops, but also specialists from the agricultural department of the United States and the several barley and hop growing states. Among those serving on the committee on awards are the following:

United States department of agriculture, bureau of plant industry—Professor M. A. Carleton. Professor H. V. Harlan. Professor W. W. Stockberger; bureau of chemistry—Professor J. A. Le Clerc.

Agricultural experiment stations—Professor G. W. Shaw, Berkeley, Cal.; Professor Charles E. Saunders, Ottawa, Canada; Professor Arvin Keyser, Fort Collins, Colo.; Professor F. D. Farrell, Boise, Ida.; Professor V. M. Shoesmith, East Lansing, Mich.; Professor C. P. Sull, St. Paul, Minn.; Professor Alfred Atkinson, Bozeman, Mont.; Professor R. C. Donoghue, North Dakota; Professor H. V. Tartar, Corvallis, Ore.; Professor E. D. Ball, Logan, Utah; Professor R. W. Thatcher, Pullman, Wash.; Professor R. A. Moore, Madison, Wis.

Cleaning Barley For Seed.

One of the principal difficulties that have obtained in the growing of barley as well as other crops is that sufficient attention has not been paid to the seed, not only in the matter of fanning out all dead and degenerate berries, so as to seed only good and live grain and produce a good crop where no grains will fail to sprout, but also because there has been a lack of uniformity as to variety or strain. This is perhaps of more than ordinary importance in the case of barley and is one of the matters that will engage the attention of the barley and hop exhibition at Chicago in October, 1911. The barley which is used for malting purposes is put through an artificial process of sprouting in mass, in which necessarily all grains are treated alike. It stands to reason, however, that where plump and thin grains, mellow and flinty ones, starchy and albuminous grains are all steeped and sprouted under like conditions they will necessarily grow differently and cannot yield a uniform malt. This causes serious troubles to the consumer when he works up the malt in the further processes of manufacture and makes it difficult for him to finish off a uniform product. It stands to reason that where the different kinds of grains are all seeded in the same soil in like manner at the same season and grow under the same weather conditions the berries of different characters cannot possibly develop alike. The result will be an uneven stand, differences in the time of maturing, different action in the stack, etc.

Pedigree Grain.

Different strains of barley will grow differently on different soils and in different climates.

In order to produce the best crops which will also be the most abundant it is therefore necessary to use pure strains, or, as the scientists call them, "pedigree" grain, where all the berries are of the same variety or strain and will behave alike under similar conditions. It is also necessary to find by experiment what particular strain is best suited to certain soils and climates and also what method of planting and cultivation is best adapted to the varieties and types.

A great deal of work has been done along these lines by scientific investigators, particularly at the agricultural experiment stations of Wisconsin and Minnesota. These scientific men are serving on the committee on awards for the barley and hop exhibition which will take place in Chicago in October, 1911.

GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES.

Chautauqua Seems to Have a Wide Variety of Meanings.

United States geological survey records present these notes on geographical names and their origin and meaning:

Brooklyn: part of New York city; a corruption of the Dutch name Breuckelen, from a village in the province of Utrecht, Holland. The name signifies "broken up land" or "marshy land."

Burleson: county and village in Johnson county, Tex., named for Edward Burleson, Indian fighter, and vice president of the republic of Texas under President Houston, 1841.

Chautauqua: county in Kansas; county, lake and town in same county in New York. An Indian word which has been the subject of much controversy. Webster says it is a corruption of a word which means "foggy place." Another derivation gives the meaning as "bag tied in the middle," referring to the shape of the lake. It is also said to mean "place where a child was washed away." Dr. Peter Wilson, an educated Seneca, says it is literally "where the fish was taken out." Other meanings given are "place of easy death" and "place where one was lost."

Chicago: city and river in Illinois. The Ojibwa Indian form, she-kag-ong, signifies "wild onion place," from a root form implying a "bad smell."

HOLLAND'S RAILROADS.

They Are Operated at a Loss to Aid the Canal Traffic.

In contrast with the history of Belgium, Germany, France and Austria, Holland alone of all European countries presents a situation where the railroads require protection from the competition of the canals.

Holland thus reverses the general rules which apply in all other countries. Railroad development was remarkably slow in Holland. The first Dutch railroads were short local lines, while the waterway system was extensive and strongly intrenched.

At length, convinced that she could not keep pace with other European countries by her waterway system alone, the Dutch government constructed an ambitious line of railroads connecting with the international lines of Europe.

The railroads were built not with any expectation that they would be profitable as investments, but because they were considered absolutely necessary to save the country from industrial decadence. Holland is the only country in the world in which the state has provided both rail and water highways substantially free of capital charge. The railroads are now operated at a loss to supplement the waterways, which carry 90 per cent of the traffic of Holland.—American Review of Reviews.

London's Crystal Palace.

The Crystal palace was a great producer of superlatives in its early days, says the London Chronicle. When Queen Victoria wrote of May day, 1851, as "the greatest day in our history, the most beautiful and imposing and touching spectacle ever seen," she was referring to the whole idea and effect of the exhibition, but "the beauty of the building and the vastness of it all" were important factors in the marvel which she relied upon to astound her uncle Leopold. When the palace moved to the new site Herbert Spencer wrote: "I have been once at Sydenham. It surpasses even my expectations, though I had seen it in progress. It is a fairyland and a wonder surpassing all others." Ruskin said that Mr. Dickens has said that there was nothing like it in fairyland and added bitterly that Mr. Dickens was right.

What America Has Proved.

America has proved that it is practicable to elevate the mass of mankind—that portion which in Europe is called the laboring or lower class—to raise them to self respect, to make them competent to act a part in the great right and great duty of self government, and she has proved that this may be done by education and the diffusion of knowledge. She holds out an example a thousand times more encouraging than ever was presented before to those nine-tenths of the human race who are born without hereditary fortune or hereditary rank.—Daniel Webster.

Modern Improvements.

Patient — Doctor, I'm having an awful lot of trouble with the gas in my stomach. Doctor — Yes, yes; I know. Those old fashioned fixtures are giving people a lot of unnecessary trouble these days. Just step into the next room, and I'll have my engineer wire you for electric lights.—Puck.

Worldly Wisdom.

"Now that my engagement to Edgar is broken off I wonder if he will ask me to return the jewels that he gave me."

"If he doesn't ask for them I'd send them back at once, for in that case they're not genuine!"—Fliegende Blatter.

A Dear Place.

Barchman—Who was it said "Home is the dearest place on earth?" Phamlee—Some married man who had just received his coal and grocery bills, no doubt.—Boston Transcript.

Miss Columbia.

The Little Boy—Mamma, who is Miss Columbia? The Mother—Uncle Sam's affinity.—Life.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William G. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, as executors, recorded in said Clerk's office in Liber 219 of Deeds, page 123; at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law offices of Wilson & Rice, 17 South First street in the City of Fulton, Oswego County, New York, on the 9th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

AWAKENING INTEREST

The prominent given the Director General of the Pan-American Union, Hon. John Barrett, in connection with the ground-breaking ceremonies for the San Diego 1915 Exposition, has reawakened the interest of all Spanish America in that event, which will probably witness the greatest exploitation of the resources of North and South America that has ever been known.

THE WEEK

Moderate betterment in trade conditions appears this week. The extraordinary Government cotton report showing with one exception the highest July condition estimate for thirteen years and affording reasonable expectation for a crop of more than 14,500,000 bales, or much the largest ever produced in the United States, caused some hesitation among buyers of dry goods, although the tone in this line was a trifle better both at wholesale and retail. In iron and steel there is further moderate expansion and railroads are disposed to enter the market for rails and equipment. Leather trade is unsettled by the decline in hides and this has caused some buyers to withdraw their bids. Bank clearings this week are only a trifle under the total shown in the same week in 1910, and railroad earnings for three weeks of July show small gains over last year.

Consumers of iron and steel constantly place moderate orders for early delivery. Mill operations reflect further expansion and there is promise of increased activity in the fall. The railroads show more disposition to provide for needed equipment.

Moderate improvement appears in dry goods both at wholesale and retail, although the Government report on the cotton crop, showing further marked gain, creates considerable hesitation with buyers who limit their commitments until they are assured of the market's stability. Prices in the primary markets reflect the weakness in raw material.

Exporters are withholding orders, but shipments to date are materially ahead of a year ago. Men's wear trade in woolens is somewhat backward, but buyers concede that values are more attractive than a year ago, and it is noted that while purchases rule small requests for prompt shipment are frequent.

New business in footwear continues conservative, changing styles still being a paramount factor in restricting trade.

With next to the highest condition estimate in a decade, the Government cotton report holds out promise of an unprecedented yield, favorable advices predominate and speculative sentiment is generally bearish. Prices early fell below 11 cents for the new crop options, but there was a sharp recovery from the low point touched. Wheat derives support entirely from insistent complaints of black rust in the Northwest, sensational reports of damage causing a sharp advance.

GRIM REAPER HAD FEW VICTIMS

If Oswego's Mortuary record for the past two weeks should be maintained this city would make a showing that no other city could excell. There have been but five deaths since Sunday, July 24. There were but two deaths within the city up to last Saturday night and but three the past week. All those that died were past fifty years of age.—Oswego Times.

YEAR ROUND EXPOSITION

While San Francisco will be content to keep its exposition open for six months, San Diego will keep its open the full year of 1915. After all, when the climate is so well adapted to that purpose, why should not San Diego make the most of its show?

Further more we will learn whether LaFollette is tariff reforming or just running for president.

Governor Has Surrendered.

The signing of the Levy election bill is taken by every one as final proof that Governor Dix, willingly or unwillingly, is supporting the effort of Boss Murphy to gain control of the whole state and to direct its politics as well as its patronage. By making fusion opposition in New York practically impossible and by discouraging voting in the rural sections Tammany hopes to have things its own way for an indefinite period, and the governor appears disposed to help along the plan in every way possible.—Troy Record.

The Horse's Comment.

Reaping the Crop.

Those reformers who hailed Governor Dix as another Cleveland and defeated Stimson to punish Roosevelt steadily month by month have the privilege of seeing the Tammany grip grow tighter on the Empire State. J. Sergeant Cram, one of the most prominent of the Tammany leaders, was selected for the public service commission to replace an excellent man and incidentally to make more unlikely the solution of the subway question, one of the most complicated municipal problems in America.—Collier's Weekly.

BARTLETT CANVASS FOR JUSTICESHIP

Committee in Charge Gives Out Statement Claiming Majority in Convention of 25—Claim That Quoted Declaration of Mr. Hubbs Regarding Onondaga County Has Changed Situation—Stated That Primaries Will Be Called for Monday, August 21st.

Special to The Syracuse Herald.

Oswego, Aug. 5.—Thomas Moore, formerly county treasurer and chairman of the Bartlett judiciary committee, gave out the following statement on the judicial situation this afternoon:

"Ever since the interview of Irving G. Hubbs, printed in The Sunday Herald of July 16th, in which he was quoted as conceding that Onondaga county might support Udelle Bartlett for Supreme court judge in case Mr. Bartlette secured the judicial delegates from Oswego county, there has been a constantly growing sentiment in favor of Mr. Bartlette and a corresponding weakening of the support of Mr. Hubbs in Fulton, and, as I believe, all through Oswego county.

"In this interiew Mr. Hubbs was quoted as saying: "Senator Hendricks, the Republican leader in Onondaga county, I am told, feels inclined to throw the support of his county to any candidate from Oswego county who goes to the convention with a solid delegation behind him and who is acceptable as a man and a lawyer. I feel certain that this support will come to me if I win and I have no doubt that if I should be defeated and Mr. Bartlette should be put forth as Oswego county's candidate that Onondaga would be loyal to him."

"This concession that Onondaga county will support Mr. Bartlette, coming as it does directly from Mr. Hubbs, has created confusion all along the line of the Hubbs forces. It was not a hasty, off-hand, verbal declaration, but a carefully considered statement made by Mr. Hubbs himself, after deliberation, and for the purpose of publication.

"It has checked the progress of his campaign and set the tide running rapidly towards Mr. Bartlett. The reason for all this is most apparent.

"Until this late admission of Mr. Hubbs, the principal and most potent argument or reason offered by him and his supporters in Fulton and everywhere in Oswego why Mr. Hubbs should have the delegates from Oswego county and that Mr. Bartlette should not have them was that no one in Oswego county could be nominated in the Judicial convention without the assistance of Onondaga and that Hubbs could get Onondaga county and Bartlette could not.

"After Mr. Hubbs and his friends made this claim for nearly 6 months and asked the people to believe it and on the faith of it to give Mr. Hubbs the delegates, he admits that Bartlette can get the support of Onondaga county in the judicial convention. This admission is a direct reversal of the stock argument of the opposition of Bartlette. It discredits the whole campaign against him. By it Mr. Hubbs has disarmed himself and it is no wonder that his campaign is now in confusion. Since perple here learned that the claims that Bartlette could not get Onondaga county was mistaken and without foundation, there is a strong reaction in Bartlette's favor."

The Lewis Campaign

When asked regarding the situation in Fulton and the county generally, Mr. Moore said:

"Some weeks ago there was a feeling against Mr. Bartlette in Fulton among the friends of T. D. Lewis, growing out of his defeat in the senatorial contest with Mr. Gates. It was charged that Mr. Bartlett asisted in the defeat of Mr. Lewis and for that reason the friends of the latter favored Mr. Hubbs. Of late that feeling towards Mr. Bartlette has greatly changed because after investigation Mr. Lewis's friends have learned that Mr. Hubbs, with as much concealment as possible, contributed much more to Mr. Lewis's defeat than Mr. Bartlett did and they now say that the opponent who works in the open and lets the world know where he stands is more to be admired and respected than the one who conceals his position.

"Mr. Bartlette will get four and possibly five wards in the city of Fulton, the delegates from the city of Oswego and the western and southern towns. He will also be successful in Sandy Creek and several other eastern towns. His success in these towns will be due to the support of the independent voters who are with him to a man. Mr. Bartlette will have a majority of at least twenty-five delegates in the district convention."

The Bartlette Committee

The Bartlette judiciary committee issued an address to the independent electors of the county this week. They deplore the fact that Oswego county is without representation on the bench and expressed the belief that if Udelle Bartlette is presented as a candidate of Oswego county at the next judicial convention that the injustice will be removed. The committee concludes its address in the following words:

"The people of this city and county are today enjoying the fruits of Udelle Bartlette's efforts to reform civic conditions. His course during all these years prove his absolute fearlessness when a matter of principle is involved, and fearlessness is one of the most necessary attribute of a judge. His defeat for this office would be a distinct and positive setback for political reform in public life. It is up to the people to determine whether or not the ground that has been gained shall be lost.

"The selection of Bartlette delegates in the district convention to be held at Pulaski is a matter of great concern to every rightminded citizen. If Oswego is to win, she must put her best men forward. Let every citizen do his duty in the approaching primaries and the result will be success. We will regain our lost judgeship by the elevation of Udelle Bartlette to the bench for which his high character, absolute integrity and magnificent legal equipment and experience so splendidly fit him."

It is stated tonight that the caucuses will be called on Monday, August 21, as it is not believed that the Democratic majority will push any direct primary legislation at its September session.

After having enjoyed a nice long vacation, the House of Democrats are preparing to go back home and settle down to serious work of life getting re-elected.

THE ARTIST'S IDOL.

She Didn't Know Anything About Music; She Only Loved It.

The incident happened upon one of the great ocean liners during an autumn trip when a famous violinist was among the passengers. At first he firmly refused to play, but was finally persuaded, and upon the appointed evening the salon was crowded with eager passengers.

It was a most enthusiastic audience, intelligent, sympathetic and appreciative, yet as the evening wore on people began to notice that the violinist's glance went always in one direction, and after a time others followed it.

They saw a plain little woman, plainly dressed, with no marks of wealth or culture. But she was looking at the master with shining eyes, her face wet with tears, unmindful of everything except the magic of his violin. When the program was ended, pushing his way through the people who would have detained him, the musician went straight to the little shabby figure.

"Madame, I congratulate you—you are ze great artist!" he cried.

She looked up at him almost in alarm.

"I—oh—I cannot 'play a note,'" she stammered. "I don't know anything about music. I only—love it."

The violinist shook his big shaggy head impatiently.

"Is it not what I say? You have ze artist soul—ze artist to listen. What good to play to ze deaf—like ze rest?" with a disparaging gesture toward the crowded room. "It is to ze one wis ze heart to listen zat we masters play."—Youth's Companion.

A Borrower.

"Has Dinguss any occupation?" inquired Ruggles.

"Yes," said Shadbolt. "He's a solicitor."

"Solicitor? For what?"

"Small and unsecured loans."—Chicago Tribune.

Official City Paper

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1911.

Should Not Be Permitted

Fulton citizens in general object to the Ontario & Western railroad company acquiring by condemnation proceedings the property in the southern section of the city between Fourth and State streets, upon which to place additional trackage. The proximity to the Albert Hindley Lee Memorial hospital and to many residences being the reason for the objection.

Messrs. W. P. Goodelle of Syracuse, E. R. Redhead of this city and Thomas H. King of Oswego are a commission appointed by the court in the matter of the condemnation proceedings and they held a meeting in the office of Attorney W. S. Piper on Thursday. Attorney H. W. Cullman of Oswego, attorney for the railroad company, was also present. The commission organized by electing Mr. Goodelle president.

The commission in company with the attorneys and Mr. Nelson, visited the property in questioned then adjourned until Aug. 16.

The placing of the tracks on this property will render practically valueless for residence purposes a considerable portion of property in Fay, Division and Fourth streets and will make the Lee hospital far from the haven of rest and healthful comfort it is at present. The noise and smoke from the engines being most offensive and detrimental to the patients.

CATHOLIC CHURCH PICNIC

Patrolman Michael Bray is a host in himself in the matter of organizing for a successful picnic and nothing was left undone to make the event of Saturday successful from every viewpoint.

The boys and girls of the Sunday school headed by the Citizens band, made a pretty spectacle as they marched from the church to the Fair grounds where dinner and a long program of sports were enjoyed.

The Fulton contingent was substantially augumented by a large number of friends of the local church from Oswego and Phoenix; the happy throng enjoying to the fullest extent the pleasures of the day. Over a thousand were in attendance.

OBSERVES 75th ANNIVERSARY

Zion Episcopal church on Sunday fittingly observed the 75th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone. The pastor preached an appropriate sermon and especial music was prepared for the morning service.

SPECIAL W. C. T. U. MEETING

There will be a special meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the "Girls Home" on Friday, Aug. 11, at 3 o'clock, to finish business in regard to the home.

By order of president.
Mrs. W. McCully.

PERFORMED OPERATION

At the hospital this morning Dr. H. M. Wallace performed an operation on the little daughter of James Casey of Fulton. Adenoids and tonsils were removed. The child recovered quickly and is doing well. Dr. Wallace was assisted by Dr. E. A. Gladman of Fulton-Oswego Times.

DOG CATCHER BUSY

E. J. Thomas, the newly appointed dog catcher, is very busy this week hunting up untagged dogs. The recent canvass showed over 400 canines in the city without tags and these the dog catcher is trying to secure. He will have some thrilling experiences undoubtedly.

A well known Des Moines woman after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

PUBLIC LIBRARY REPORT

Reading and Reference Room

No way has yet been devised whereby, under present conditions, a correct record can be kept of the users of this department. The usual attempt has been made, however, and the statistics show that 9,612 persons visited the library for reading and study, and that 593 persons applied for individual assistance. Those desired information on a wide range of subjects, but there is a marked increase of interest in matters pertaining to social and domestic science, in economics and in municipal, state and governmental affairs. The increased interest in debating has been responsible for much study of the "live questions" of the day. Books on printing, photography, drawing, gardening, farming, the dairy; books on the care of the sick, care of the house, care of the baby, are in demand, as well as such as discuss smoke prevention, self-propelled vehicles, machine design, steam, gas, and all other kinds of engines. It must be confessed that the library does not possess as many volumes on these and kindred subjects as could be used but those we have are given good service, and with every year the number is augmented.

Among the additions to this department, other than the 29 bound volumes of periodicals mentioned above are: Hawkins' Mechanical Dictionary; Statesman's Year Book, 1910; Stedman's Anthology; Thomas' Manual of debate; vol. 2, Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, 1905-'09; Fulton City Directory, 1910-'11; New International Year Book, 1910; Wiley's Foods and their adulterations and five volumes of the Rural Science Library which is edited by Dean Bailey of Cornell University.

Ninety periodicals and newspapers have been regularly received during the current year and comprise six dailies, 23 weeklies, 1 fortnightly and 60 monthlies.

Young People's Room

The young people are such voracious readers, devouring rapidly every volume placed on the shelves of their room that the 114 new books given them in the past year is an inadequate supply. Children, however, will re-read a favorite book many times with pleasure.

Nearly 5060 visits to the library were made by boys and girls who came to read the papers and magazines. A "story hour" seemed at one time probable but failed to become a fact. We hope to give the idea a trial this Fall.

Among the new books added to this department are the "Children's Hour," a set of books comprising ten volumes of the best things in literature for young people; 5 volumes of the "Every Child Should Know" series; 5 books of travel of the "Little People Everywhere" series.

Gifts, Events of the Year, etc.

Gifts of 161 books and valuable pamphlets have been received. The list is given in the tables at the end of this report. The gift of Mr. Arvin Rice consists of 9 bound volumes of the Atlantic Monthly and a bound copy of the Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors of Oswego county for 1905-06. Through the generosity of Mr. Rice, the library owns a complete set of these Proceedings from 1854-1906, handsomely and uniformly bound. A Business Directory of Oswego County for 1866-67 was presented by Mr. C. R. Dines and has proven a satisfactory source for information concerning persons and things of nearly fifty years ago. These are placed in the reference department and the others are classed with the books that circulate.

A framed portrait of Horace Greeley, a gift from Mrs. Marian K. Woodbury, hangs in the children's room. Two old newspapers were presented last December by Mrs. John Fratt. One is a copy of the New England Journal for April 8, 1728, and is framed in such a manner that both sides of the sheet may be read. The other is an unframed copy of the New York Daily Gazette and bears date of May 1, 1789.

A gift greatly appreciated by the working force are two handsome Axminister rugs; one for the floor of the office, and the other for the space back of the delivery desk. These were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter and form very comfortable and harmonious additions to the furnishings of the library.

According to your instruction, a flag, size 6 x 10, was purchased for use at this building and has been displayed on three occasions.

This library was not represented at the State "Library Week" meeting last fall; the librarian, however, was in attendance for two weeks at the Library Summer School at Chautauqua in August. The library was inspected this year by Miss Anna Phelps, Inspector for this section of the state. Miss Phelps presided at the "Round Table" which met in Syracuse Library on the day previous, at which meeting both the regular attendants of this library were present.

The working force remains the same as last year. Miss Frances Forsyth, is daily proving her helpfulness. Mrs. Glenn Streeter, a former assistant, has not entirely severed her connection with the library and very kindly comes to our aid in times of emergency. Mr. Charles House, though not in robust health, is still faithful in the performance of his various duties in and around the library building.

There seems to be no diminution of interest in the welfare of this institution on the part of these associates, and the librarian again desires to express her appreciation of their loyal co operation and to acknowledge with thanks, the continued encouragement and courtesies of the Board of Trustees.

Respectfully submitted,
Helen Byington Emens,
Librarian.

THE BOY SCOUTS MOVEMENT

The Boy Scouts movement in America comes a little late for active enrolment upon the part of some of us, but there are few who cannot apply for at least honorary membership. To be empowered to don a uniform, sling a haversack, grasp a stave and strike off upon the wonder trail into the danger country, has long been a favorite juvenile fiction; the Boy Scouts movement is rendering it fact—or, at least, near-fact. The enemy must still be, and let us hope long will be, invented.

"Boy scout"! There is magic in the name. For lives there a man with soul so dead that he never yet to himself hath said (as he raptly dreamed in his trundle-bed): "Cutlass and plank and the Spanish Main! Rifle and scalp and boundless plain!" (And waked him to home and to school again!) And speaking of myself, I had rather today be an earnest urchin with wooden pistol and broomstick gun, a-hunting the bandit or the tiger in some back-yard, although that be within smell of the cookies of civilization, than any mighty nimrod stalking the grizzly in wild realm previously untrodden of human foot. A boy-scoutship for mine, every time. And here is a movement which recognizes and authorizes such a province among youth. Youth is coming into its own, at last. aPrents, please take notice.

What luck!. No longer must glowing youth secretly hoard (as did you and I, brother reader,) a cap-pistol, a jack-knife, an apple, five crackers, and a Beadle's Library, and, slinking valorously out via the bed-room window and the porch roof, while the powers-that-be nodded, strike straight for the Indian country, where scalps were to be had for the plucking. No longer shall the foe ahead prove to be principally brakeman or suspicious farmer, and the foe behind loom irrevocably as Father. The boy scout has gained his rights, and is a part of respectable society.

In these booming days, how is youth favored! He takes no back seat, as he did in our days. He begins early to be a citizen. With his regulated play-grounds, his foot-ball, his chaperoned dances, his "commencements," he has become a personage. No modest stool is made his seat, nor are "yes," "nay," made his speech. And now is he organized into the Boy Scouts; the glamour of the trails, the art of woodcraft, the lore of the camp, the secrets of that peace which always is prepared for war, proffered to him as the heritage proper and not furtive of his good red blood. It is granted that youth has sense, and that his oft-caricatured hatred of conventionality may be turned to useful purpose.

The Boy Scouts movement in America has a great work ahead. It can exalt fresh air over pipe-smoke and cigarette-smoke. It can spread widely the healthful curriculum of the out-of-doors. It can establish respect for the bird and the beast as sentient beings. It can substitute a modest manliness for that cheap "smartness" which is so apt to brand the American school-boy, in street and at home. It can form a happy medium betwixt the blind fervor of a crusade and the selfishness of a clique. It can be an open, generous, democratic, systematized, yet flexible brotherhood of youth, wherein trained preparedness, prompt conclusions, common sense, reverence for the flag, consideration of other creatures, recognition of authority, natural instincts in partnership with human intelligence, and a military discipline without militarism itself shall effectively and pleasingly combine; and wherein the boy shall play the man, but lose not the spontaneity of his years.

—Edwin L. Sabin in August Lippincott's.

RETURNED TO FULTON

George Reynolds, John Brennan and Louis Larrabee, all about eighteen years of age, left home Saturday, bound for the West. Larrabee developed cold feet and returned home. Chief Ross then notified the local police and yesterday morning Reynolds and Brennan were taken into custody by Patrolman Loughray and returned to their homes. The young men say they were bound for Detroit to get places to work. They had tickets to Niagara Falls.—Palladium.

BOND SALE

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Fulton will sell to the highest bidder at not less than par therefor, on the 10th day of Aug. 1911, at the Common Council chamber at the City Hall at eight o'clock, p. m., twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) of the bonds of the City of Fulton. Twenty bonds of one thousand dollars ($1,000) each, one payable on Aug. 15, 1912, and one on each Aug. 15 thereafter until the whole are paid, with interest at not more than 4 1-2 per cent. per annum. These bonds to be delivered to the purchaser thereof and the purchase price paid on or before the 15th day of Aug., 1911, at the office of the City Chamberlain.

Geo. B. Deuel, City Chamberlain.
J. C. Harrington, City Clerk.

KEEP DOWN YOUR SPEED

Friday City Marshall Young and Chief of Police Ross were instrumental in having the automobile speed signs posted at points adjacent to the city so that none might exceed the speed limit without knowledge that they were so doing. The instructions on the signs are to cut down the speed to 15-miles an hour.

A motorcycle is to be purchased for use by the patrolmen in enforcing the law and we may yet find a condition on our streets that will permit a pedestrian to think that even though he may not own an automobile, life is worth living. This year with trolley service every few minutes and the motor cars buzzing up and down the main thoroughfare without regard for the side of the street nor the turning of corners, it has been a nerve racking experience to cross the street during the busy hours.

In all probability arrests of some of our residents will follow the enforcing of the law, but no guilty one should escape, whatever his or her social standing.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

UPHELD THE LEVY LAW

Justice DeAngelis granted a formal order upholding the law Saturday in the action brought by Elon R. Brown, of Watertown, to test the validity of the Levy Election law. As the result of an agreement between Mr. Brown and the Attorney-General the case is to be put through the Appellate Division and Court of Appeals as speedily as possible. The principal question involved is whether or not it is constitutional to compel personal registration in cases where a voter neglected to cast his ballot the year previous.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, sick headache, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

110 Oneida Street Fulton, N. Y.

Among the Fultonians attending the State Council, O. U. A. M., at Cooperstown are Messrs. Draper, Foster, Bolgeol, Reed, Tallman and Hoisington.

Miss Sara Lewis has returned to New York city after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Lewis. She will attend the marriage of a former school friend, being one of the bridal party.

Chief of Police and Mrs. W. H. Ross are entertaining Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Crouch of Grand Forks, Dakota. Prof. Crouch is at the head of the electrical engineering department of the University of North Dakota. He was born in Scriba where he has relatives.

Mr. F. J. Meagher, secretary to Congressman Mott, returned on Sunday from a four months sojourn in the capitol city. Mr. Meagher wishes that he might before another Summer session can up several Lake Ontario breezes for use in that hottest spot on earth.

Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Haviland were called home by the serious illness of Mrs. Haviland's father, the late William S. Newton, from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hubbard, of Ocean City. Dr. Ross Haviland of New York and Dr. Floyd Haviland of King's Park, Long Island.

While swimming in the canal near the Hunter Arms on Monday, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miner struck his foot on something sharp in the water, sustaining a very deep gash. His cries soon brought help and a physician found it necessary to take several stitches in the wound.

Some of the Boy Scouts of the First Methodist Episcopal church during their recent outing learned to dive off into the water where it was twenty feet deep and swim. They also took lessons in cooking. Rev. C. L. Peck, the scout master, lost his glasses in the water but they were recovered.

Among the Fultonians who spent Sunday at Pleasant Point club house were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bennett, Winton J. Bennett, J. D. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, Verna Irene Hunter, Mrs. B. S. McKinstry, Mrs. L. McCully, Mrs. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Morton, Mrs. O. C. Breed, Mrs. George Wellburn, Rosamond Wellburn, Ruth Wellburn.

The Beebe Syndicate may place in commission a line of boats to ply between Oswego and points on the St. Lawrence river. The move would become very popular with residents of this section as since the Arundell was taken from the route, the beautiful lake trip which was each week enjoyed by so many, has been missed.

Congressman L. W. Mott made a hurried trip from Washington, D. C., to his home in Oswego on Sunday, returning to Washington on Monday night to be present at the vote on the wool schedule. Mr. Mott was to play substitute on the Republican congressional baseball team on Monday but had to forego the pleasure owing to business reasons. The congressman was a guest at the reception given by President Taft to Admiral Togo on Saturday evening.

Wm. F. Johnson of Rochester, who has studied the subject, says that wilted lettuce is the most effective means of disposing of the dreaded browntail and gypsy moth. He says catch one or two of the caterpillars feed them on leaves that have been soaked in water four days. After they have eaten all they want, let them go. The feed gives them the cholera and they quickly infect the other caterpillars. It works finely wherever tried, and the pests become weak and lazy, stop eating and soon die.—Ex.

State Street church has undergone extensive repairs and remodelling during the Summer vacation period and it will be reopened with anniversary services in September, celebrating the tenth anniversary of the dedicating of the church. The exterior of the parsonage and church have been repainted; a new cement porch has been constructed at the side entrance to the church. The interior of the church has been newly decorated and a new carpet has been added to the auditorium. The church is in splendid condition financially and great credit is due the pastor, Rev. F. A. Miller, and his rapidly increasing congregation for the interest and spirit evinced in all that pertains to the advancement of the church and society.

One of the citizens thought so much of his wife that he bought a very costly monument for her after she died of worry and overwork. A friend of his, reasoning as did Ingersoll, that loving kindness is more appreciated by the living than the dead, bought his wife a gas range and lessened her worry and hard work. This man's wife is still alive and he hasn't had to go to the expense of buying a monument.

Mr. E. T. Osborne does not gain in health.

Miss Gertrude Farrell is entertaining Mrs. Coats and Miss Emma Coats of Brooklyn.

On Friday Mrs. James Keeler, Mrs. Mark D. Ewall, Miss Gertrude Farrell and Miss Grace Tucker spent the day with Mrs. Steves at Lakeside.

The Ladies Aid of First Methodist church will serve ice cream and conduct a check room for parcels at the Fair grounds each day of the Fair.

Mr. Norm G. Cooper writes the Times that he will be in Fulton next week, unless something unforeseen occurs. His many friends are hanging the latch string outside in anticipation.

John O'Neil was washed overboard from the Burgard company's scow, the John Mahar, on Wednesday. Engineer Blythe leaped to the rescue and pulled O'Neil out in an exhausted condition.

Rural Carrier F. W. Blodgett has been elected a delegate to the convention to be held at Oneonta on August 10-11. Mr. Blodgett is carrier on route 5, Fulton, and was elected a delegate from the Oswego County Rural Carriers Association.

Juan Ancona, through his attorney, H. L. Gilman, has sued the New England Engineering company for $500 for personal injuries. Ancona fell from a scaffold at the new plant of the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company and sustained injuries. The summons is returnable on Aug. 15, at 9:30 o'clock.

NEW BUSINESS DEAL

Harry Walldorf Has Bought Out Mrs. Renkes

Negotiations have just been completed whereby Mrs. A. E. Renkes has disposed of her interest in the furniture and undertaking business of Renkes & Walldorf to Harry Walldorf, late of Fulton, N. Y.

The new firm will be known as Walldorf Brothers and they will continue the furniture and undertaking business at the old stand on East State street.

Harry Walldorf who comes here to join his brother in business, is far from being a stranger in Hastings, or in Barry county. About eight years ago he went from this city to Albion and two years later to Fulton, N. Y. In the latter city he had an excellent position in a large dry goods house and owned a pleasant home. He has severed his relations there and sold his home in order to come back to this city. Milan, or as he is familiarly called, "Mily," has been constantly in business here in company with the late A. E. Renkes for the last sixteen years and has a host of friends and acquaintances. The two brothers will make a strong team and we wish the new firm abundant success.

The Hastings, Mich., Herald of July 27, contains the above item of interest to a large number of our residents. Mr. Walldorf successfully managed the O. Henderson & Company's store for three years. His many friends wish him unlimited success in his new venture.

LEVY ELECTION LAW IS DENOUNCED

Albion, Aug. 3.—The Orleans County Board of Supervisors in special session adopted the following:

"Whereas the members of the Board of Supervisors of Orleans county are compelled against their wishes by the provisions of the Levy election law to appoint two commissioners of elections with unlimited power to employ numerous assistants and hirelings, for the county of Orleans, and it being the opinion and judgment of every member of the board that there is no necessity for the creation of said offices in Orleans county, and that the same is a legalized steal and moral larceny of the public funds, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we call upon our representatives in the Legislature at the earliest possible moment to seek the repeal of said law and to introduce appropriate bills to that effect, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to our Assemblyman and Senator and the Governor of the State. Be it further

"Resolved, That we approve of the conduct of our Assemblyman, Hon. Frank A. Walters, in opposing this outrageous and unnecessary legislation."

The board refused to name the men for commissioners of election recommended by the County committees and will make independent appointments.

WORLD'S SPEED KINGS.

Fastest Drivers of Motorcars to Compete at State Fair.

Some of the world's greatest drivers of high power motorcars, including "Wild Bob" Burman, who has traveled faster than any other living thing, have been secured for the automobile race meet to be held at the State Fair Sept. 16. It will be one of the regular meets of the grand circuit, which includes the fastest and safest mile circular tracks of the country.

Burman now holds the Remy grand brassard and trophy, which he won July 4 at Brighton Beach, when he drove his machine a mile in 43.72 seconds. The most desirable prize competed for by the speed kings for the past two years has been the brassard and trophy. This trophy was designed by Tiffany at a cost of over $3,000, while the brassard carries to the winner a salary of from $50 to $75 a week.

The State Fair track is pronounced by automobile racers one of the safest in America, and an effort will be made to lower the world's record for a circular mile track. Besides Burman, De Palma, Knipper, Patschke and other famous drivers will compete.

Special arrangements are to be made for the holding of a national championship race, which will be in the free for all class at a distance of five miles and for which a special prize will be offered as well as a trophy supplied by the American Automobile association.

Farm Boys to Be Addressed by Governor at State Fair.

There has been such a rush by farm boys all over the state for the State Fair free scholarships arranged for by Commissioner of Agriculture Raymond A. Pearson that the matter of picking the company of 100 boys who are to be guests of the state for a week has been no simple task for the county committees. The scheme has won general favor, and the State Fair commission is satisfied that it is one of the most important steps that could have been taken to give New York state farmers a knowledge of the numerous educational features of the Fair.

The farm boys who receive the scholarships will be organized into a company, much after the order of a military company, and a camp with 125 tents will be established in the northwest corner of the Fair grounds. A building has been provided for shower baths, and everything possible will be done for the comfort and safety of the boys.

Governor John A. Dix has accepted an invitation to address the farm boys. The chief executive will give his views as to what the future in the farming business offers when conducted after the most approved methods. Other prominent public men will talk to the boys and show them clearly that the day of the farmer as the big man of the world has really arrived. With the coming of the agricultural college and the automobile the "hayseed" is disappearing like an early morning mist.

A series of lectures by agricultural experts has also been arranged for the benefit of the young farmers.

FORMS OF OATH

A Chinaman has been thus sworn in: On entering the box the witness immediately knelt down, and a china saucer having been placed in his hand he broke it. The officer of the court through an interpreter then addressed him thus: "You shall tell the truth and the whole truth, and if you do not tell the truth your soul will be cracked like the saucer." A Mohammedan witness first placed his right hand on the Koran, put the other hand to his forehead and brought the top of his forehead down to the book and touched it with his head. He then looked for some time upon it, and being asked what effect that ceremony was to produce answered that he was bound by it to speak the truth. The deposition of a Gentoo has been received who touched with his hand the feet of a Brahmin. Buddhists have been sworn by "the three holy existences—Buddha, Dhamma and Pro Sangha—and the devotees of the 22 firmaments," and a Parsee on the Zend Avesta, or by binding a "holy cord" round his body.—Law Times.

CIVIL WAR ECHOES

Lincoln and the Giant

The president himself visited the hospitals as often as he could and his visits were never forgotten by the men to whom he spoke as he passed up and down the wards, shaking hands here, giving a cheering word there, making jocular comments everywhere. There are men still living who tell of a little scene they witnessed at Armory Square in 1863. A soldier of the 140th regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, had been wounded in the shoulder at the battle of Chancellorsville and taken to Washington. One day as he was becoming convalescent, a whisper ran down the long row of cots that the president was in the building and would soon pass by. Instantly every boy in blue who was able arose, stood erect, hands at the side, ready to salute his commander-in-chief. The Pennsylvanian stood six feet seven inches in his stockings. Lincoln was six feet four. As the president approached this giant towering above him, he stopped in amazement and casting his eyes from head to foot and from foot to head, as if contemplating the immense distance from one extremity to the other, he stood for a moment speechless. At length, extending his hand, he exclaimed, "Hello, comrade, do you know when your feet get cold?"

The incident above is from my scrap book. S. D. Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bateman spent Sunday with relatives out-of-town.

Miss Elizabeth Garrison entertained the G. L. B. Club last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. George Coles and family of Fulton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Whitney.

Misses Lula and Mildred Brady of Scriba were the week-end guests of Miss Anna Jewett.

Miss Jennie Lappin has returned to Rochester after a two weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. Fred Jewett.

Foster Simpson is visiting his sister, Mrs. Manley, at Albany.

New York State went on record Wednesday night in favor of a six year term for President, when the Senate adopted the resolution of Assemblyman Franklin Brooks requesting the State's representatives in Congress to favor a constitutional amendment lengthening the present term of office two years and making the President ineligible for a second term.

HOTEL FULTON CHANGES HANDS

Bernard J. O'Grady of Fulton has assumed charge of the Hotel Fulton at Second and Oneida streets, Fulton. The former proprietor, R. E. Sullivan moves to Brooklyn. Mr. O'Grady is well known in Oswego, and his friends wish him success in his new venture.—Palladium.

ALL THE OTHERS BUSY

An Irishman with one side of his face badly swollen stepped into Dr. Wicten's office and inquired if the dentist was in.

"I am the dentist," said the doctor.

"Well, thin, I want ye to see what's the matter wid me tooth."

The doctor examined the offending molar, and explained:

"The nerve is dead; that's what's the matter."

"Thin, by the powers!" the Irishman exclaimed, "the other teeth must be houldin' a wake over it!"

GRANULATED SORE EYES CURED

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers.

CAUSES THAT BRING WOMEN TO PRISON

The causes that bring women to prison are seldom of personal or even of direct moral significance. Women seldom use their wits to break the law nor do most of their crimes demand a quick intelligence. They are in the main the result of a lack of training in trades, inconsidered marriages, ignorance, youth, friendlessness, the general unguided condition of girls; non-employment, low wages, overcrowding in tenements, nervous tension, and the high-pressure life of the average female factory employee. These and other like causes produce the so-called artificial offenses, such as inebriety, unruliness, and minor breaches of the law which are mostly the result of overstrain. It has often been said that the barometer of crime rises as that of prosperity falls, and this is particularly true as regards the crimes of women. The thousands of women factory workers in every manufacturing city are never more than a few days from actual want. Given a period of overproduction or a depression in trade and the women's prisons fill with these despairing, idle workers. In New England, when the factories are running with a full force of operatives, there is a decided slump in the prison population, for all goes well with even these weaker spirits so long as they earn enough to eat every day and have a place to sleep every night."—From "the Care of Women in State Prisons," by Jeanne Robert, in the American Review of Reviews.

Now Miss Canada step up to the reciprocity office and sign her name.

NATIONAL CONVENTION IN ROCHESTER

The National Association of Letter Carriers will hold their biennial Convention at Rochester from Sept. 4 to 11.

Over a thousand delegates representing associations from every city of the United States will be in attendance. Besides these an immense crowd of visitors is expected.

Labor Day, Sept. 4, will be the big day. A monster parade with over 7,000 uniformed letter carriers in line will be given during the afternoon. In the evening Postmaster General Hitchcock, Congressmen L. W. Mott of Oswego and Sereno E. Payne of Auburn and several other men prominent in public life will speak.

The Oswego branch of letter carriers is planning to run an excursion to Rochester on Labor Day to accommodate themselves and the public.

"Job Grabbing."

Minority Leader Merritt of the assembly "hits the nail on the head" when he says the session of the legislature has been a "job grabbing festival." Wherever it has been possible Republicans have been legislated out of office to make room for Democrats. The pledges made in the Rochester platform remain unfulfilled, and no other session in years has been so barren of constructive legislation.—Newburg News.

Murphy a Hard Master.

The people of the state of New York are finding the boss of Tammany Hall a hard master. If he would only consent to the establishment of the profit sharing plan which has worked successfully in other great business enterprises, that would be some consolation, but the only thing that the people are called upon to do is to foot the bills. — Albany Knickerbocker Press, Ind.

"Dictating and Ordering."

The Evening Post speaks feelingly of "the evil spectacle of Murphy dominating, dictating, ordering legislation over the telephone, as Boss Platt used to, and being received by Governor Dix as a power in the affairs of the state—almost his co-equal in the government." Can this individual be the "Mr." Murphy of "room 212," with his high ideals and new standards for Democracy?

When one witnesses the care exercised by the crews on the S. L. & N. trolley line to prevent the frightening of horses on the lower bridge one realizes that the danger has been reduced to as low a point as possible. Farmers need not hesitate to drive over the bridge with their spirited teams as the cars promptly come to a standstill as soon as the least signs of fright on the part of the horses is noted. This the company insists upon and this the employes do.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge, is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to satisfy. Sold by all druggists for 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

Statistics compiled show that there are about one-tenth as many savings banks deposits as there are persons resident in this country. If the total amount in savings banks had been equally distributed among the population of the country, the amount to go to each person would have been—in 1820, 12c.; in 1840, 82c.; in 1860, $4.75; in 1880, $16.33; in 1900, $31.78; in 1910, $45.05. The individual deposits in the Pacific States are larger than in NewE ngland or the Eastern States, but when we consider the average per capita the opposite is the case. In Massachusetts and Connecticut the average per capita amount of deposit is abut $250, and in none of the New England States does it fall below $100. New England and the six Eastern States furnish over three-fourths of the total deposits in the savings banks of this country.

The new election law is to lay a still heavier burden on the already overtaxed resources of the taxpayers of the State. Take Onondaga county for example. The salary of the present commissioner of elections is $2,700 and that of his clerk $1,000, a total of $3,700. It has been decided by the Board of Supervisors to pay the two commissioners of election appointed under the new law $2,000 each, with two clerks at $1,000 each, a total of $6,000. And the people will yet have to be shown that any additional benefits will arise from this extra expenditure of $2,300.—Skaneateles Free Press.

LEVY ELECTION LAW TEST

Proceedings Instituted to Determine Legality of New Statute

Watertown, Aug. 5. —Proceedings have been brought in this county to test the validity of the Levy election law, in requiring personal registration in the country. Under that law voters not residing in a city or village having more than five thousand population may only be registered without personally appearing if they voted last year. If they did not vote last year they must appear in person and comply with the same requirements imposed by law on voters in large cities.

The suit is brought by Peter W. Fraser and Reuben Ladd, voters in the town of Rutland, against the inspectors of election there, who have signified their intention of complying with the law and refusing to register voters who did not vote last year unless they personally appear. Application for a peremptory writ of mandamus will be made at the special term of the Supreme Court at Utica on Saturday. It is a test case, brought by ex-Senator Elon R. Brown as attorney for the applicants.

He says this suit has the backing of the Republican State committee. It is estimated that there are 2,500 voters in country districts in Jefferson County and 100,000 in the State affected by this provision of the law, as they did not vote last year, and, if the law is sustained, will not be able to vote this year unless they personally register. The claim that the law is invalid and cannot be enforced rests on the provisions of Section 4, Article 2, of the constitution.

J. Erwin Lewis, Republican, and Henry J. Wortz, Democrat, of Lowville, named as election commissioners of Lewis county, refused to serve when the Board of Supervisors fixed the salary at $100 per year. The Board then appointed C. Dix Mitchell, Republican, and Charles J. Donnelly, Democrat, both of Lowville. The salary was not changed.

COMMISSIONERS ORGANIZE

D. O. Whitney and H. F. Baker, the new commissioners of elections, held a meeting at the County Clerk's office Tuesday afternoon and organized by naming Mr. Baker for chairman and Mr. Whitney, secretary. The members also filed their acceptances.

The commissioners declined to stat what action would be taken on the employment of the clerks in the County Clerk's office to do the election work. The members assured the Board of Supervisors that they would accept the arrangement. County Clerk McCarthy also asquiesced and the clerks affected, Messrs. Coulter and Little, are also said to have agreed.

FIRST WOMAN LAWYER DIES IN ILLINOIS

Aurora, Ill.,—Mrs. Bella A. Mansfield, 65 years old, the first women ever admitted to the practice of law in the United States, died suddenly at the home of her brother, Judge W. J. Babb, of Aurora.

Mrs. Mansfield was admitted to the Iowa bar in 1868, two years after she had graduated from Iowa Wesleyan University.

Mrs. Mansfield was widely known as an educator. At the time of her death she was the dean of the College of Arts at Depauw University, Green Castle, Ind.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

Mary A. Flynn, Helen Mangeot of Fulton and Catherine Donahue of Watertown have sold property in Fulton to Delia Richardson of Melrose, O., consideration $1,500.

A 15-acre farm, owned by Samuel B Terpenning in the town of Granby, has been sold by Whitaker and Lovejoy to George Ebbs of Waterport. He will take possession next spring. To Lucius Atwater of Batavia they have sold twenty-seven acres of land owned by Mrs. Margaret Emmeluth of Eastchester. This tract is located just inside the city, near the Oswego trolley extension, and is being developed in city lots. Alonzo D. Clark of Alton, Wayne county, has purchased the property of Mrs. Sarah L. Ferris in Fourth street and after taking possession will improve the same. This property, fronting on the park, is one of the most desirable locations in Fulton. Oliver C. Nelson of Phoenix has purchased the Morrow homestead on the East River road and will occupy the same for a home. For Walter Drury they have sold to Mrs. Josie Best the new home at No. 36 West Fifth street, which will soon be occupied by her. Wirt Barker has purchased through the Whitaker and Lovejoy agency one of the Comstock houses at No. 106 North Sixth street and will soon occupy the same. For Ovid Taft they have sold to J. M. Caffrey a desirable building lot in South Fourth street.

OLD SOLDIER TORTURED

"For years I suffered unspeakable torture from indigestion, constipation and liver trouble," wrote A. K. Smith, a war veteran at Erie, Pa., "but Dr. King's New Life Pills fixed me all right. They're simply great." Try them for any stomach liver or kidney trouble. Only 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

SEND IN BLANKS

The Election Commissioners appointed by the Board of Supervisors recently, are having anything but an easy time in getting the town clerks throughout the county to send in the blanks notifying the Commissioners of the offices which are to be filled at the next election. One town clerk was notified three time through the mail by Clerk Coulter that blanks should be sent immediately and failed to do so. When called on the telephone this morning he said that he was so busy haying that he hadn't time to bother opening his mail. All blanks should be filled in and sent to the Commissioners at once.—Palladium.

An Obliging Legislature.

Albany, Aug. 8.—Certainly the Tammany controlled legislature of 1911 was a most obliging body. Notwithstanding he is dictating the patronage for Albany county, has secured fine state jobs for himself and his chums, Patrick McCabe, the Murphy lieutenant in Albany county, insisted that the legislature put through a resolution appointing a legislative committee to be named by McCabe to investigate into certain reports as to how Albany is run, said reports put into circulation by said McCabe and his lieutenants and appropriating $25,000 for its expenses. Lieutenant Governor Conway refused to preside during consideration of this slander upon the capital city. Democratic leaders advised against its adoption, and Democratic senators refused to vote upon it. But McCabe called Murphy's hand, and the Tammany leader stood by his Albany assistant, and the resolution was driven through.

Cannot Regain Confidence.

Is it possible for Governor Dix to win back popularity and regain the confidence of the people by any number of vetoes? We think not. He showed his caliber when he surrendered to Murphy when Murphy crowded him into a corner. Up to that time he had made many admirable appointments and had made none that could be criticised severely. It did seem as though he meant to be the governor in fact as well as in name. But when the test came he weakened. He would not fight back; he would not stand forth unafraid as the champion of the people. "Murphy got him."—Rochester Post-Express (Ind.).

MILLION DOLLAR ELECTION BILL

But $1,500 Cannot Be Provided to Repair Insanitary Toilet Rooms at Washington's Headquarters — Items Held Back That Must Be Taken Care of Next Year In Order to Give Fictitious Impression of Reduced Appropriation Bills.

Albany, Aug. 8.—It is but natural that Governor Dix should come in for a degree of credit for vetoing some of the loosely drawn, ill digested legislation, ripper and grab bills put through by the Murphy controlled legislature. Governors who use the blue pencil in the interests of real economy are entitled to credit and should receive it.

But has Governor Dix really used the executive veto power in the interests of real economy? A cursory analysis of the appropriation bills signed and vetoed will demonstrate this.

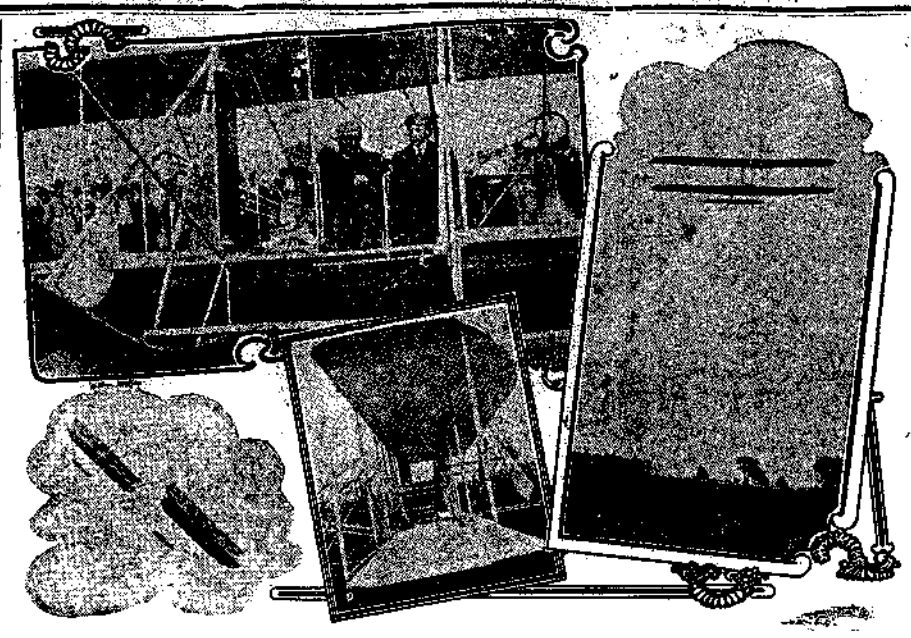
The Levy elections bill will add a million dollars to the burdens of the residents of the state. Not all of this will come from the state treasury, to be sure; but whether it is added to state, county, city or village taxes, it is additional taxation just the same.

The state conservation commission, the state fire marshal's bureau and the state bureau of elections will add greatly to the burden of state taxation in that they provide for a horde of high salaried officials with liberal allowances for traveling and incidental expenses.

Moreover, Governor Dix has vetoed appropriations for new buildings and repairs to state institutions which are absolutely necessary and must be provided for in next year's tax levy or else the state will speedily find itself with inadequate accommodations to take care of its insane and charity wards. The state must either maintain the policy it has entered upon in this respect or go backward. Buildings not repaired soon become unrepairable, and new ones cost money. It is not believable that the enlightened sentiment of the state will tolerate any return to the miserable conditions which prevailed in olden days, when the state's wards were housed in ill ventilated, ill lighted and insanitary buildings.

One noticeable fact stands forth after examination of Governor Dix's vetoes, and that is charities, philanthropy, sentiment, all are outraged by withholding needed and meager appropriations, while not one "patronage graft," not one "ripper bill," not a single "business bill" in the interests of Murphy and his Tammany allies, failed to receive executive approval.

The Levy state bureau of elections carries an appropriation of $27,812 in the supply bill until Sept. 30, 1911, and $443,000 in the appropriation bill for Oct. 1, 1911, to Oct. 1, 1912, or $470,812. It was approved without any objection. In signing it the governor averred that it would not cost the state to exceed $290,000. Apparently he was mistaken, to say the least. And he vetoed a $1,500 appropriation for making sanitary the toilet rooms at Washington's headquarters in Newburg because "the condition of the state's finances will not permit." He likewise vetoed a reappropriation from 1910 to erect a monument in honor of the Union war soldiers who fell at Antietam.



The new state conservation department, although it will not have any real powers until the legislative commission appointed to draft a comprehensive conservation law reports to the legislature of 1912, has an appropriation of $68,583 in the supply bill to run it until Sept. 30, 1911, and $115,700 from Oct. 1, 1911, to Oct. 1, 1912. The attorney general is granted $16,750 to maintain a "conservation bureau," although the commission is allowed a counsel at $7,000 a year. Mind you, this $201,033 is in addition to the regular appropriations heretofore made for the forest, fish and game commission, the state water supply commission and the state forest preserve board, continued by the legislature of 1911 and approved by Governor Dix.

Then there is the new state fire marshal's office. This bureau is given an appropriation of $52,500 until Sept. 30, 1911, and it will cost about $100,000 between Oct. 1, 1911, and Oct. 1, 1912. The new state athletic commission is to have $5,000 now. What it will cost later is problematical, but as it is backed by the Sullivan clan there is no reason to think the Tammany legislature will be niggardly in its appropriations next year.

All these items add $744,345 to the state's taxation burden to which Governor Dix did not interpose any objection, albeit they are all Tammany patronage grabs. But the governor vetoed a bill to appropriate $75,000 to provide free scholarships for exceptionally qualified and deserving students in rural districts because, "while the object is commendable, the condition of the state's finances calls for stern economy." Governor Dix also vetoed a bill carrying $10,000 to inquire into the workings of the laws to pension civil employees in this and other states.

Was it because Senator Hancock of Herkimer is a Republican and Senate Clerk Patrick E. McCabe is a Democrat that the governor vetoed an appropriation of $15,000 to purchase the estate of General Herkimer in the town of Danube and add it to the list of state historical places, while a $40,000 appropriation to purchase the old Schuyler mansion in Albany was passed?

Governor Dix prides himself upon ostensibly reducing the 1911 appropriations $1,950,379 as compared with 1910. As a matter of fact, he disapproved items for repairs and new buildings at state institutions, which will have to be included in the appropriations for 1912, amounting to $1,718,200. When to this amount is added the $744,345 for new jobs created by the legislature and approved by Governor Dix it is readily seen that the appropriation bills for 1912 will necessarily carry $2,462,545 more than this year's, which will necessitate a still larger direct tax than that levied in 1911, which, it is said, was "in order to create a surplus in the state treasury."

SOCIAL HALL

Rev. C. L. Peck and the Brotherhood class of the First Methodist Episopal church have arranged to carpet and frescoe the Brotherhood parlors under the Sunday School room of the west wing of the church. Last week by contributed labor of the class they removed large quantities of stone, dirt and rubbish and leveled off and graded the immense room which constitutes the entire area beneath the upright part of the church. Doctor D. E. Lake, chairman of the Board of Trustees, says that when the church was built, they secured a dry, solid foundation underneath these rooms by tiling and underdraining and now preparations are being made to cement the same.

When this room is completed it will make a large convenient, general purpose hall for the church. John W. Distin of Hannibal street has been superintending the work.

SEEMED TO GIVE HIM A NEW STOMACH

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

VOLNEY

Miss Elizabeth Garrison very nicely entertained the G. L. B. C. Wednesday.

The Ladies Aid will meet at Mrs. Fred Pitcher's Thursday, Aug. 10.

The Grange Picnic held at the Fair Grounds on Aug. 2, was well represented by the Volney Grange.

About twenty from this vicinity attended camp meeting at Pennellville Sunday.

The many friends of Mrs. Mont Whitney are glad to know she is improving.

Mr. Ray Piper came in his fine touring car to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Piper, last week.

Miss Jessie Vant entertained the Misses Leta Gardner, Hazel Thompson and Messrs. Foster, Shafer and Mace on Sunday.

A number of the Volney boys played with the Mt. Pleasant team Saturday. The same teams are to play at the Maccabee's picnic Wednesday, Aug. 9, at Clifford.

DEATHS

The death from typhoid fever of Frank, aged 22, son of Chief of Police Martu of Naples, Italy, occurred at the Lee Memorial hospital on Friday. Undertaker E. S. Brown shipped the body to Utica where the funeral was held. A brother in this city survives.

At his home, 409 South Sixth street on August 7, occurred the death of William C. Newton, after an illness of a few days, he having reached the age of 87 years and 2 months. He was from a long lived family, his father living to be 86 and his mother, 93 years of age. He was born in Massachusetts, moving to Oswego county when a child. He developed a marked musical ability when a young man and was known for his successful singing schools for miles around. At the time of the war, he enlisted in the 184 regiment, company E, as a private but was soon promoted to sergeant. After returning from the war he purchased a farm two miles east of Fulton on which he and his family resided for forty years. Later in life as he became feeble he moved to Fulton where he remained until his death. He was the father of five children, losing his two oldest boys, W. S. and J. D. Newton, over 16 years ago. Surviving him are his widow, Andelusia, two daughters, Emma Haviland of Fulton and Lillian Smith of Syracuse, and one son, F. Jess Newton of Joplin, Mo., three brothers, Isaac Newton of Fulton; Henry Newton of Allegany county and Cassius Newton of Denmark, Lewis county. The funeral services will be held from his late home on Thursday morning at ten thirty o'clock, the Rev. W. B. Bassett officiating. Interment at Mt. Adnah. Friends are invited.

POLICE CHIEF'S REPORT FOR JULY

Thirty-nine arrests were made during July by the local patrolmen. Twenty-one were for public intoxication, four for asault in the third degree, three for petit larceny, two for vagrancy, three for violation of city ordinances, one on what is termed a "miscellaneous" charge, four for violation of the forest and game laws, one for violation of section 1990 of penal code.

One prisoner was discharged, thirty-six were convicted and two cases were not disposed of. A total of $428 in fines was imposed, and of this amount the sum of $310 was collected, leaving an uncollected balances of $118, which will be paid in weekly payments to the Chief of Police. The patrolmen's fees for civil service and Chief Ross's accounts amounted to $8.15, while $20 in fines imposed in April and May were collected in July. Thus the total receipts of the department for July were $338.15.

SOLVES A DEEP MYSTERY

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Bader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to ridt he system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

STRENUOUSLY RESISTED OFFICER

The local patrolmen earned their salaries by the sweat of their brows on Monday, five arrests being made, in some of the instances, only after strenuous battles. In other cities the policeman's club would have made it harder for the offender but easier for the policeman, but the local officers are more humane.

The first tussle on Monday was caused when Asa LaRock was ejected from a saloon in Oneida street. He stood outside indulging in profane and obscene language and when Officer Fox told him to stop he was defiant of his authority. The officer seized LaRock and stated for the City Hall with him, LaRock objecting to the move. Soon it became necessary for the policeman to use the "twist" on his wrist, but this painful method did not quell the rebellion in LaRock and he started in to bite, kick and otherwise attack the officer. Fox called for assistance and a crowd of at least a hundred volunteers came into the scrap. LaRock was landed in the jail at last but not until the officer and his assistants were about exhausted.

Officer Dyer at 9 o'clock apprehended one Wilson who was recklessly driving a horse in First street. After a strenuous struggle and with the assistance of a second patrolman who appeared on the scene, Wilson was landed in a cell to ruminate until Judge Fanning could interview him in the morning.

The occupants of the jail kept the neighborhood adjacent to the city lockup well informed throughout Monday night, of their feelings toward the guardians of the law and law abiding citizens in general.

GRANGE LECTURES CONFERENCE

A Lecturers conference conducted by the State Lecturer, S. J. Lowell, will be held in the Grange Hall at Weedsport on Tuesday, August 15, for the counties of Cayuga, Onondaga, Seneca and Oswego. This is for the benefit of Lecturers, but all fouth degree members will be welcome. If other meeting places for the conference are more accessible Lecturers are at liberty to attend them, but it is highly important to subordinate Lecturers to attend some one of these conferences.

The State Lecturer has arranged for an address and a good attendance is desired that the meeting may be a success. The conference will begin at 10 a. m. and close at 4 o'clock.

MUTE STEALS CORONER MARSH'S PANAMA

Monday afternoon while Dr. H. P. Marsh was absent from his office, a mute solicitor, named Charles Fehr, and giving his home as Wallace, entered his office to ask a contribution. He spied the Doctors Panama hat on the table and it looked good to him, so he removed his own disreputable headgear and appropriated the doctors favorite hat for his own use. Upon entering his office soon after Dr. Marsh noticed the change that had been effected in his absence and he was filled with righteous indignation. He seized the old hat and hied him to police headquarters where he entered a statement and left the hat.

Imagine the surprise of Dr. Marsh soon after when he entered the Butts Shoery, to find the miscreant soliciting aid with the Panama on his head. Upon Dr. Marsh's approach the rascal appealed to him for help. Officer Fox was called in and he conveyed Fehr to the city lock-up.

AEROPLANE AT THE STATE FAIR

Big Wright Machine Will Carry Passengers.

ALSO TO PLAY WAR GAME.

Expert Marksman Will Shoot From Flying Machine and Drop Fake Bombs—An Exhibition Flight Across Onondaga Lake—Some of the Records Held by Wrights.

The aeroplane which will be seen in daily flights at the New York State Fair at Syracuse, Sept. 11 to 16, will be one of the largest and most powerful heavier than air flying machines ever operated in this country. It is a biplane manufactured by the Wright brothers, the great American inventors of the aeroplane.

Besides the regular aviator to be assigned from the Wright brothers' school the machine will carry a passenger and a supply of war material, the object being to demonstrate the usefulness of the aeroplane in modern warfare. An expert marksman with an army rifle will, while flying at a rate of about forty-five miles an hour, fire at a series of targets on the ground. Fake bombs will be dropped on an imaginary enemy, and a messenger service will be attempted similar to that conducted by the government on the American border during the recent Mexican revolution. The New York State Fair commission promises the most interesting exhibitions of this nature ever provided at an exposition.

This will be the first passenger carrying machine exhibited at the State Fair grounds. Its motors are of sufficient power to permit the aviator to defy wind and rain. Announcement is made by the commission that it will positively fly on schedule time and there will be no danger of disappointing the crowds. The flights will be of longer duration than are generally seen in exhibitions.

There will be two aeroplane flights each day of the Fair. When not used for mock war maneuvers the machine will be seen in trials of speed and in exhibitions of soaring, diving and altitude climbing.

The conditions at the Fair grounds are ideal for flying. A broad, level country leaves small chance for dangerous air currents, and it will not be difficult for the aviator to find suitable places for alighting should he desire to descend. One of the exhibitions planned is a flight from the Fair grounds across Onondaga lake and return.

Many of the sensational achievements by aviators in this country in the last two years were with the Wright machines. Brookins flew from Chicago to Springfield, a distance of 175 miles, with but two stops. Hoxey made a continuous flight from Springfield to St. Louis, a distance of ninety-one miles. Parmelee carried sixty pounds of baggage from Dayton to Columbus, a distance of sixty-one miles, without resting. Hoxey flew from Los Angeles over Mount Wilson for a distance of forty miles and reached an altitude of 10,005 feet. Parmelee and Foulois flew from Laredo to Eagle Pass, Tex., a distance of 106 miles, and this remains the two passenger record for a continuous flight.

BIG FRUIT EXHIBITS.

Fair Will Get Benefit of Displays by State Societies.

The fruit exhibits at the New York State Fair, which are in charge of Commissioner Barry Murphy of Medina, will hold more than ordinary interest this year because of the decision of the large fruit societies of the state to provide for special displays. It is promised that the New York State Fruit Growers' association and the Western New York Horticultural society will have more attractive exhibits than have ever been shown in this state.

A big increase in the number of exhibits is looked for by officers of the department. The decision of the State Fair commission to take charge of and properly display exhibits the owners of which are unable to get to the Fair has met with favor among fruit growers, as has the rule restricting entries to all but six classes, which are open to the world, to New York state grown fruits. There had been a protest against the entries of fruits grown farther south, as these fruits, because of climatic conditions, were further advanced at the time of the Fair, and New York growers were placed at a disadvantage.

Eight Parachute Jumps.

One of the very sensational acts at the New York State Fair will be furnished by two balloonists who, after being carried by an immense gas bag to a height of 5,000 feet, jump with parachutes. Each man has four parachutes when the balloon is abandoned. After a descent of a few hundred feet in the first parachute it is released, and there is a drop until the second parachute has been put in use. The three parachutes are abandoned in turn, and the fourth is depended upon to bring the daring balloonist safely to earth.

FOR SALOON KEEPERS

State Commissioner of Excise Farley has sent a circular letter to all holders of liquor certificates inviting them to apply to the department for a decision of any question which may arise in the conduct of their business. He has condensed the most important features of the excise law in reference to the rule governing the traffic in saloons in the following manner:

Keep your bar exposed to public view during prohibited hours.

Keep your liquor tax certificate in the window.

Have all doors of the barroom locked during prohibited hours if you have a saloon.

Refuse to admit minors (under 18) to your place of business.

Permit no women of dissolute habits and questionable character to visit your place.

Refuse drink to intoxicated persons, and warn them to go and stay away.

Have but one bar for each liquor tax certificate.

Take no chances with the law and keep your business on the safe side.

Know that your employes do not transgress the law.

Write the Commissioner of Excise for advice upon doubtful questions.

STRANGER WORKED TWO CITIES.

A clever stranger, a hard luck story and a knowledge of the names of a few of the employes in the Times office was the basis of a little sharp work on the part of a man last night and at least one person in town is looking for him to get back a little money.

The stranger tried to work three of the four undertaking firms in town and was successful in one of them. He would go into the place of business, tell how his father-in-law had just died and that his wife wanted to go to Fonda to bring the body here for burial. Then he would say that he was employed at the Times office in installing some new machinery and he had not heard of the death of his father-in-law until after the office had closed so he could not draw any money. Following this up he would ask for the loan of two dollars so he could send his wife after the body and he would tell the undertaker he would give him the funeral. Incidentally in the place where he did raise the two dollars he gave in exchange an order on the Times for a mythical account. He signed the order, "E. C. Delevan."

At one place where he appeared about 10 o'clock last evening, on being refused any money he announced that he would go to Syracuse where he had plenty of friends and would call at the Herald office where he could get plenty of money. He left to take the 11:05 car.

The man who gave him the $2.00 when he found that no such man as "Delevan" was known in the city, took the order and the story to Chief Richardson for a complete investigation on the part of the police.

It is not known yet whether he tried any other places outside of the undertaking shops or not.

He gave his address at No. 22 East Ninth street. There are no houses on this side of Ninth street at this point and No. 22 seems to be located on the site of the Post cemetery. The opinion exists, however, that the stranger was no dead one.—Oswego Times, Thursday.

The above story was duplicated in this city on Thursday evening and by the same clever rogue, but the local police were a little too swift for him and they landed him in jail on Thursday night. On Friday morning Judge Fanning gave him a sentence of $25 or 25 days, an additional sentence of 25 days if the money was not forthcoming for the fine.

Thursday night every undertaker in Fulton was approached with the same story of family bereavement and of the Fulton Times office, where the rascal alleged he worked, being closed so that he could not secure any advance on his salary. He was turned down by two undertakers but a third one, pitying the relator of the narrative, advanced him $2.50 and accepted an order on E. K. Hughes for the amount. On Friday morning this undertaker went to Postmaster Hughes and asked him to honor this order. Then the fraud became generally known.

In the meanwhile on Thursday evening "E. C. Delevan," who has also been known by the name of Miller, stood at the trolley station talking with Officer Brannigan. The officer saw the red light flashed, stepped into the station and telephoned to know what was wanted; was told by the Chief of Police of Oswego of the occurrence and the local officer was requested to keep his eye open for the slick article. The officer stepped outside and arrested his man.

The undertaker of Fulton who was slim-jammed out of his $2.50 has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Delevan and he will be sentenced on this charge as soon as he serves out his present sentence of fifty days.

OSWEGO COUNTY FAIR IN PROGRESS

The Oswego County Fair opened auspiciously Tuesday morning with a busy lot of exhibitors making ready their displays, with prospects for one of the largest fairs ever held in Oswego county. In the main building among the exhibits are those of O. Henderson & Co. with a fine showing of dry goods, rugs and ladies' suits; M. Katz & Co. with a large display of furniture, dry goods, notions, etc.; Shipman with 5, 10 and 25-cent goods; Livingston & Beckwith with a fine display of shoes and leathers from which some of their stock is made from, with a free ice cold drinking booth which is greatly appreciated by the thirsty fair attendants. William Bogue has an exhibit of pianos, phonographs and sewing machines. Mr. Bogue has two demonstrators with his exhibit on the "White" machine. Messrs. W. C. Elsie and W. Miller are showing some of the capabilities of the "White" as King of the sewing machines. Hallett & Taft have a large exhibit of wall papers, paints and picture frames.

The domestic department has a fine showing of fancy articles and products of the bake ovens. James Green is there with his sweets as usual.

One of the most attractive booths is that of the Sealer of Weights and Measures in which are shown correct scales and measures and a large number of defective implements which have been taken away from dealers.

Fruits and Vegetables.

The earliness in holding the fair precludes a big showing in the fruit and vegetable departments. But some of our old reliable farmers are there with the best collections they can make. George Dumaes and James Cole have large vegetable exhibits and Earl Hill has a good showing of potatoes.

Poultry Show.

There is a good showing of fowls, but not as large as last year.

Amusements.

There probably has never been so many places of amusement on the ground as now. There are besides the merry-go-round and the air-wave, a big wild animal show and various other places of amusements.

Tuesday the exhibits were nearly all in place, and while the crowd was kept away by the rain, Wednesday morning early the crowd commenced to congregate and everything points to a most successful exposition.

Frank Massaro has been energetic in his efforts to have an evening attraction during the nights of the fair and he has solicited sufficient funds from the merchants and business men to assure success. The Sacketts Harbor band will play at the lower bridge during the evening also.

A fine racing program has been arranged for the balance of the week and many fast horses are entered. The soldiers will give an exhibition drill each afternoon and the special attractions, the midway, the fakirs, the negro and the tomato throwing stunt, the cane game, the animal show, Minnie Ha Ha, the Odd Fellows and Citizens bands—all of these coupled with the attractiveness of again meeting and greeting old acquaintances, will bring the gate receipts up to the normal amount.

Every one should attend the fair and encourage the directors and officers to still greater effort.

Big Animal Show.

Every parent should take the children to see the mammoth trained animal show on the fair grounds this week. The exhibition is educational and will delight the children as well as those of older years. Prof. Ferari's gigantic show cannot be duplicated in the United States today. It has played at every exposition of magnitude since the Centennial and is as good to-day as when it first started.

Don't fail to see this immense attraction.

Volney Man in Bankruptcy.

Utica, Aug. 15.—Lewis Kline, Volney, former liquor dealer, filed a petition in bankruptcy to-day with liabilities of $1,650 and no assets except those claimed as exempt. There are twenty-two creditors, mostly Syracuse and Utica concerns, from whom Kline bought merchandise.

WILL TOUR ENGLAND.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Paddock and Daughter to Spend Six Weeks Among the British Isles—Will Visit Many Points of Interest—To Become Guests of Hon. and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Paddock and daughter Imogene left for New York City and they will sail on the 17th inst. on the White Star line steamer Cedric for a six weeks' sojourn among the British Isles. Their landing point will be Queenstown and they will devote some time to visiting the points in interest in Ireland and Scotland. They will make the trip via the English Lake to London.

The last ten days of their trip will be spent in the southwest part of England and they will during this become the guests of Hon. and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan at Torquay.

The return home will be made on the steamer Mauhetania and Mr. and Mrs. Paddock expect to reach Fulton on October 1st.

WILL OPEN LAW OFFICES.

Mr. Gilbert W. Benedict, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benedict, will on or about August 21, open a suite of law offices in the DeBarber block, 59 S. First street, where he will commence the general practice of law.

Mr. Benedict is a graduate of the Fulton High School, of Amherst college and of the New York Law School. He was admitted to the New York State Bar over a year ago and has since been in the law offices of O'Brien, Boardman, Platt and Littleton of New York City. He now returns to his home city to establish himself in the practice of his profession and he will be accorded a warm welcome and will undoubtedly become one of the solid and substantial lawyers of the city. He is thoroughly grounded in law and he has had an experience in the New York office that seldom comes to one without years of time given to the profession. He is a hard and conscientious worker and will practice along the broadest lines.

Attorney Benedict's clients may be very sure that all business entrusted to him will receive his very best thought.

BIG AUTOMOBILE COLLISION.

While returning from the supervisors' picnic at Mexico Point on Thursday evening about 7:30 o'clock, an automobile containing Undertaker E. S. Brown, Messrs. W. H. Merriam and Mr. Maurice Conley, as passengers, and Mr. Charles Morrell, owner of the car, was run into near the intersection of Seventh and Oneida streets by Mr. John W. Stevenson driving his high power National roadster. The occupants of the injured car claim that they saw from a distance the Stevenson car approaching them and that Mr. Morrell drew to the proper side of the road and stopped his machine, fearing a collision. Mr. Stevenson, the occupants of the car claim, turned into Oneida street without slacking speed and on the wrong side of the road. His car collided with the Morrell car, striking the left side back wheel and fender and shoving the Morrell car over five feet across the roadway. The impact was so violent as to throw Mr. Brown, who sat on the left side, from the car backwards into the roadway. The other occupants of the Morrell car were so stunned as not to realize that Mr. Brown had left the car until Mr. Stevenson was picking him up. Mr. Brown had struck squarely on his head and was unconscious when taken to Mr. Maurice Conley's home in Oneida street where Dr. E. J. Cusack attended him. He was later removed to his home where he is still confined.

The other occupants of the car have suffered in more or less degree from bruises and shock but Mr. Brown was the only occupant suffering serious injury. The car was badly damaged.

BOLD BURGLARY IN FULTON

New York Central Telegraph Operator Bound and Gagged on Saturday Night by Masked Men—$65 in Cash Taken—Burglars Escape.

James Gregg, son of Supervisor Gregg of Schroeppel, was doing substitute work for the regular night operator at the New York Central station at Broadway last week, while the regular man was on a vacation.

Early on Sunday morning two men entered the waiting room. One of them asked when the early north bound train was due. Gregg answered that it was scheduled to arrive at 3:36, but was an hour late. The stranger said that he and his companion were going to take the train, but, without purchasing tickets, they returned to one of the benches and lay down.

The men apparently went to sleep. Shortly before the train arrived Patrolmen Pare and Brannigan entered the station and talked with Operator Gregg. The officers saw the men on the bench, but believing they were waiting for the train they did not become suspicious. When the train pulled into the station at 4:22 o'clock the men walked out and Gregg did not notice where they went.

Returning to his office after the departure of the train, Gregg busied himself by flashing the train arrival and departure over the wires and making out a few reports. Suddenly he heard footsteps outside, and glancing up when the shadow fell across his windows he saw the two men passing his office.

Gregg wondered how the men failed to catch the train, but dismissed it from his mind in a few moments. Shortly afterwards there was a knock at the door leading into Gregg's office from the baggage room and a man asked to come in.

Opening the door, Gregg was confronted by two masked men in whom he recognized as his visitors of a short time before. While the first man shoved his way into the office with the command, "Throw up your hands, quick!" the second covered young Gregg with a revolver.

Gregg quickly raised both hands, but an instant later he decided to resist. Striking out suddenly at the first man, who was attempting to tie his hands, he tried to escape.

The armed man came to the rescue of his companion and the two set upon Gregg. They rained blows on the young operator while the one with the gun brought the weapon down on the victim's head several times. Pieces of the handle of the gun were found on the floor after Gregg's rescue.

The operator was felled by the attack, his arms were tied behind his back and then thrown into the cellar.

The thieves failed to search Gregg's clothes, which contained $30, or the drawer in the freight desk, where there was $150. After rifling the cash drawer they left the station, leaving no clew of their flight.

In the dingy station cellar his cries muffled by the closed exit and unable to assist himself, young Greeg lay for some time before he was heard.

His shouts were finally heard by Neal Cummings, an employe of the Nestle Food plant, who was passing the station. Peering through the windows, Cummings saw a heavy letter press across the trap door. Listening carefully, he again caught the faint cries. Running at top speed, Cummings sought Patrolman Brannigan a half mile away in West Broadway. The two hurried back to the station. The letter press was lifted from the door and Gregg was pulled up greatly weakened by his struggle with the thieves and his attempts to free himself in the cellar.

Gregg described one of the men as being about five feet, ten inches in height, about 165 pounds in weight, about 23 years old and wearing a black coat and light colored slouch hat. The other man, he said, was about five feet six inches, weighed about 135 pounds, about 25 years old and wearing a dark green suit and slouch hat.

The Fulton police notified Sheriff Taft of Oswego county and with several deputies he started out on a search. Eight automobiles were pressed into service and all clues run down.

REASONS FOR USING HOPS IN BEVERAGES

Taste and Aroma as Well as Preservative Quality Are Desired.

Some American growers claim that, inasmuch as American hops in many cases are just as rich in the soft resins as the best European hops, their brewing value ought to be equal to that of the Europeans. They have not, however, been able to convince American brewers of the accuracy of this view. They will try to do so at the barley and hop exhibition in Chicago in October, 1911. The principal trouble, however, with American hops as they reach the market is that they are picked carelessly. The only part that is of value to the consumer is the cone, and everything in the shape of stems and leaves that is mixed with the grains not only diminishes the amount of available material, but introduces a decidedly injurious element, the leaves and cones being rich in tannic acid, which imparts a stringent and harsh taste.

In the international barley and hop exhibition, which will be held in Chicago in October, 1911, the item of clean picking will cut an important figure in the valuation of the hops that will be entered for prize competition.

The great importance of this exhibition will lie in the fact that it will tend to put the valuation of hops upon a substantial basis of facts rather than of individual preferences.

All exhibits at this exposition will be in the names of growers, no dealers being admitted to the competitive exhibition. The exhibition is in charge of the committee on awards, 1508 Republic building, Chicago.

RELATIVE MERIT OF BREWING BARLEYS.

It Is Expressed in the Percentage of Points It Receives.

Barleys will be valued according to the standards herewith given at the international barley and hop prize exhibition in Chicago, Oct. 12-22, 1911.

The relative merit of a brewing barley is expressed in the percentage of points it receives.

The total number of points is determined by deducting from the average of the sum of the credits the sum of the penalties corrected for percentage.

The barleys will be valued on the basis of maturity, viability (germinating ability), berry weight, uniformity, albumen (or nitrogen) content. These five divisions standing as credits, while penalties are provided for excessive amount of moisture, for trimmings (screenings, etc.), for inseparable admixtures, damage indicated by off color, off odor or by general impression and irregularity of growth.

BRANCH OF FEMALE HOP FLOWERS.

Barley is disqualified if in any credit division it receives below eighty points and contains more than 20 per cent of screenings or more than 5 per cent of inseparable admixtures; more than 15 per cent of moisture; if color, odor or general impression indicates heavy damage.

Four and six rowed barley should contain approximately for each middle or straight furrowed kernel two lateral or twisted kernels.

The viability (germinating ability) will be determined after proper artificial drying of the specimen.

STANDARDS FOR BREWING HOPS.

Value Reckoned on Basis of Hop-Bitter Acids and Aroma.

The following standards have been adopted by the committee on awards for hops entered at the grand international barley and hop prize exhibition at Chicago, Oct. 12 to 22, 1911:

All hops will be valued under one standard, irrespective of geographical origin, on the basis of their hop-bitter acids and aroma, 20 per cent of hop-bitter acids and exquisite aroma receiving 50 points each, penalties being provided for excessive amount of (1) seeds, (2) leaves and stems (poor picking), (3) moisture and dryness (poor kiln drying), (4) sulphuring, (5) damage by wind, mold and insects (6) off color and appearance.

CLUSTERS OF FEMALE HOPS AT DIFFERENT STAGES OF GROWTH.

Standard hops should range from 100 to 50 points, the relative merit or value of the specimen being expressed in the percentage of points it receives.

For every per cent of hop-bitter acids below 20 and down to 15, inclusive, one point is deducted; for every per cent below 15 and down to 10 two points are deducted; for every per cent below 10 and down to 8 three points are deducted; for 1 per cent below 8 four points are deducted.

The scale of quality as to aroma will range from exquisite with fifty points, to inferior with twenty-five points, the grades being: Exquisite, 50; very good, 40; good, 35; fair, 30; inferior, 25.

Contents of leaves and stems and seeds will be penalized one point for each per cent; moisture 1 per cent for each per cent above 10, up to 14; dryness two points for each per cent below 8 and down to 6 inclusive, as indicated in schedule.

Hops will be disqualified if they contain: (1) Less than 7 per cent of soft resins or hop-bitter acids, (2) more than 14 per cent of seeds (3) more than 12 per cent of leaves and stems, (4) more than 15 or less than 6 per cent of moisture, (5) if strongly sulphured (heavy reaction in five minutes), (6) if heavily damaged by mold or insects, (7) if strongly discolored or strongly off in appearance, (8) if abnormal in odor, disagreeable, cheesy or rank.

THE AWARDS FOR EXHIBITS OF BARLEY.

Cash Prizes Totaling Seven Thousand Dollars.

Awards for exhibits of barley at the second international barley and hop prize exhibit at Chicago, Oct. 12-22, will be made as follows:

The awards will consist of over 100 cash prizes, totaling about $7,000, which have been contributed by a number of associations of brewers, maltsters and individual manufacturers. The highest individual prize is $500.

For the purpose of prize distribution each of the four botanically different types represented by (1) Manchuria, (2) Bay Brewing, (3) White Club, (4) Chevalier will constitute a class by itself.

Prizes are also awarded according to geographical origin—by states—and commercial importance of the crop in the discretion of the committee on awards. Special awards will also be made in accordance with the conditions imposed by contributors.

The amount of barley offered for exhibit must be at least sixty pounds in bulk, with a sheaf of barley of at least twelve heads each.

The specimens must represent a fair average product of one field on which they were grown and must be taken by the grower himself from a quantity of 2,000 pounds at least.

All samples of barley must be properly certified to have been grown by the exhibitor according to the "rules and regulations" to be obtained from the committee on awards, 1508 Republic building, Chicago.

Liszt Fooled Them.

Wrapped in his dressing gown and with feet incased in slippers, Franz Liszt was sitting comfortably one evening in his armchair ready for work and inviting inspiration. On the floor above, in the apartments of a banker, a noisy musical soiree was in progress. Polonaises had succeeded waltzes, and nocturnes had followed polonaises, when suddenly the door of the salon opened, and Liszt entered, still wrapped in his dressing gown. The astonishment of the company may be imagined. With slow steps Liszt walked toward the piano, and the young key pounder who was sitting at it quickly left his place. Liszt sat down at the instrument, carelessly swept his fingers over the keys as if to prelude, and then suddenly he shut down the cover and put the key in his pocket. And immediately, with the same tranquil air with which he had entered, he went out and returned to his room, where he could work at his ease.

Range of Rachel's Voice.

A Prussian prince, a cousin of the German Emperor William I., has left some curious notes upon Rachel, of whom he was a great admirer. These have been quoted in a lecture upon the famous actress. The prince studied her elocution from a musical standpoint and took down notes of her voice as she delivered some of her most effective speeches. He found, for instance, that in a passage of Racine's "Bajazet," she went down to F in the bass. In one of "Andromaque" and another of "Adrienne Lecouvreur" her voice spoke a word on the upper B and uttered a cry on upper F sharps. Her speaking voice thus had a compass of two octaves. But, as a rule, he observed that she used only seven notes, consisting of the first seven ascending notes from the bass of the scale of F sharp minor, but with the D sharpened.

Fruit and Old Age.

Physiologists claim that growth from infancy to old age is a process of gradual ossification and that the stiffness of age is caused by the deposits of calcareous matter or earthy salts. Therefore a diet containing a large proportion of these salts, food rich in nitrogen, such as the cereals, beans, peas and meat, increases the natural tendency to ossification, says Health. For this reason a diet made up largely of fruit, which contains a minimum amount of this calcareous matter, is scientifically best adapted to persons in advancing years. Large eaters add to the liability of ossific deposits from overworking the eliminating organs by an excess of nutritive material until their healthful activity is destroyed, and the whole system suffers in consequence. Old age indicates less food and a maximum amount of fruit as the diet.

Sunken Ships Mark His Grave.

There are many monuments to the "father of the British navy," Sir Francis Drake, throughout the world, but his "tomb" is in the great deep upon which he made his everlasting fame. He died Jan. 28, 1595, in his ship the Defiance, near the town of Nombre de Dies, West Indies, and in a leaden coffin his body was lowered into the waves some six miles from shore. As a last honor to him two of his ships, with all the prizes that were in the fleet at the time, were sunk beside his casket. At the time of his death the great admiral was in his fiftieth year and in the prime of his physical and intellectual powers. Since his death the British navy has never been without a ship bearing his name.—Exchange.

A Judge and an Egg.

Judges on the bench have been assaulted. A litigant once threw an egg at the late Vice Chancellor Malins in an English court. The judge had the presence of mind to duck his head, and at the same time he established a reputation as a humorist by remarking that the present must have been intended for his brother, Bacon, the vice chancellor, who was sitting in an adjoining court.

Lots of Talk.

"What we want," said the peace promoter, "is a system that will permit candid discussion to take the place of actual conflict."

"Don't you think," inquired the man who was reading the sporting page, "that our professional pugilists have come pretty near solving the problem?"—London Opinion.

Transparent Salt.

In the island of Santo Domingo there is a remarkable salt mountain—a mass of crystalline salt, nearly four miles long, estimated to contain nearly 90,000,000 tons, and the crystallized salt is said to be so clear that medium sized print can be read through a block a foot thick.

Sympathy.

Poet—All my life seemed to go into that poem. I was perfectly exhausted when I had finished writing it. Editor—I can sympathize with you. I was in exactly the same condition when I had finished reading it."

Cheaper.

"So you wish to marry an actress?"

"Better go slow. You can buy the record for 50 cents."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Income and Outgo.

Frost—They saw Brown's income is $5,000 a year. Snow—Yes, and $6,000 of it goes for living expenses every twelve months.—Harper's Bazar.

Death From Imagination.

How faith may kill as well as cure is shown by one of the cases mentioned by Dr. Charles Reinhardt in "Faith, Medicine and the Mind." A convicted murderer had been handed over to the physiologists for the purpose of an experiment. He was told that his hour had come and that it had been decided that he should be bled to death. His eyes were bandaged, and he was pinioned, opportunity first having been given him to see the formidable array of surgical instruments, the vessels to catch the blood and the other terror inspiring paraphernalia of the vivisector's liboratory. A blunt instrument was now drawn sharply across his throat and a stream of warm water was made to trickle from his neck into a vessel below the operating table upon which he lay. After awhile the sounds, which had previously been continuous and near at hand, were gradually reduced until the patient, doubtless supposing that he was bleeding to death, gradually lost consciousness, fainted and expired.

The Panama Hat.

A popular comedian at a Lambs club gambol in New York told a panama hat story.

"A young clerk out my way," he said, "gave his girl a present of a panama last year. Then the day before the Fourth he got a couple of complimentaries for a picnic, clambake and corn roast down the river, and he wired the girl:

"'Meet me at pier 13 tomorrow morning at 7. Picnic. Bring panama.'

"The next morning as he stood on pier 13 dreaming dreams of love, imagining a long, sweet day of billing and cooing, he saw his girl advancing with her father and mother. He was terribly annoyed, and on the boat, as soon as he could get her alone, he hissed:

"'What did you want to bring the old folks for?'

"'Why, Will, you told me to,' she said, and she showed him the telegram, which the operator had made to read:

"'Bring pa and ma.'"

Whistler Before Whistler.

Mortimer Menpes told the following story of Whistler, who was to deliver an address one day to the Society of British Artists: "The master at length entered, faultlessly dressed, walking with a swinging, jaunty step, evidently quite delighted with himself and the world in general. He passed down the gallery, ignoring the assembled members, and walked up to his own picture. And there he stayed for quite fifteen minutes, regarding it with a satisfied expression, stepping now backward, now forward, canting his head and dusting the surface of the glass with a silk pocket handkerchief. We watched him open mouthed. Suddenly he turned round, beamed upon us and uttered but two words—'Bravo, Jimmy!'—then took my arm and hurried me out of the gallery, talking volubly the while."

King's Queer Present For a Queen.

In all probability the king of Dahomey's present of pipes and loin cloths never reached Buckingham palace. On one occasion, however, Queen Victoria had publicly to accept a gift of quite as embarrassing a nature. This was in 1856, when the king of Siam sent a mission to England. On being presented to the queen, who received them seated on her throne and wearing her crown, the envoys crawled from the doors to her majesty's feet on their hands and knees and then each drew a present from the folds of his robes. The first object placed in the queen's hands was a silver spittoon.—London Chronicle.

Stagecoach of the Twenties.

Brooks Bowman commenced running an hourly stagecoach between Boston and Roxbury on March 1, 1828. He left the town house on Roxbury hill every day in the week except the Sabbath at 8, 10, 12, 2, 4 and 6 o'clock and, returning, started from the Old South church at 9, 11, 3, 5 and 7 o'clock. The fare was 12½ cents each way.

THE WEEK

There is further evidence of a feeling of confidence that the autumn will bring a broadening in trade activity, while business now continues to expand moderately. The large steel companies are operating a greater percentage of finishing capacity than at any time before this year. Some of them are now turning out steel at the rate of eighty per cent. of their maximum capacity. Less than two months ago the percentage was barely sixty. The Steel Corporation's usual monthly statement of unfilled orders shows that during July there was an increase of approximately a quarter of a million tons. In other lines there is not the same volume of new business, but the output during recent weeks has increased. Conservatism still prevails in the dry goods markets; trade in footwear continues quiet, but in New England, factories are generally well employed; the wool market is steady and fairly active; the yarn markets are irregular and tending downward. The dry goods and footwear trades are typical of the existing situation in genral industry; here the underlying conditions all point to early betterment on account of the depletion in stocks, and when crops are secure business should improve sharply. In the West there is fair activity in retail trade, and in the South and Southwest a substantial expansion is noted in the inquiry for materials entering into daily consumption. The disappointing crop report of Wednesday, the severe break in stocks and unsatisfactory railroad returns temper the feeling of optimism previously prevailing, yet all the statistics bearing on trade movements are hopeful. It is still too early to predict confidently that the crops will be small; there may be some recovery in corn and spring wheat, while higher prices will in part compensate for the reduced yield.

The expansion in the demand for steel products continues very gradual, but the increase in unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation during July was 223,027 tons. Strong competition is noted in finished lines whenever important business is in prospect and concessions in prices are reported.

In cotton goods the adjustment of cloths to raw cotton prices continues the most difficult problem and is complicated by the greater curtailment at the mills. Bleached sheetings have touched bottom for the jobbing season and have been advanced ⅛c a yard. Some advances are named on staple men's wear woolens where orders have been good in volume, but unsatisfactory as to profit. Yarn markets are irregular and tending downward. In the eastern wool market transfers are mostly in small lots, but they cover a wide assortment and are taken by many different manufacturers, indicating that supplies are short in numerous quarters.

In footwear buyers are not disposed generally to take larger amounts than for current needs, preferring to await more certain knowledge as to styles. Leather is still in moderate demand, buyers operating only in a limited way.

The Government grain statemnt issued on Wednesday showed serious deterioration in both spring wheat and corn during July, and condition estimates on these cereals were the lowest at this date in a decade. In corn the indicated harvest may fall 500,000,000 bushels below 1910, while the total wheat yield may be fully 30,000,000 bushels less. Prices advanced moderately after the figures appeared. Western receipts of wheat are diminishing, a total of 6,252,976 bushels this week comparing with 9,786,664 a year ago, but exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 1,997,716 bushels against 828,390 in 1910. Arrivals of 2,120,991 bushels of corn were smaller than the 2,503,305 reported last year, whereas Atlantic coast exports were larger, 385,079 bushels comparing with 131,161 in the earlier period. Alternate strength and weakness prevailed in cotton, conflicting influences producing irregularity.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for August to date amounted to $1,074,326, of which $668,749 were in manufacturing, $1,199,117 in trading and $106,460 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 228 in the United States against 225 last year, and 30 in Canada compared with 23 a year ago.—Dun's Review, Aug. 12.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Detriot, Mich.

Editor Times: Palmer Park is an ideal place to forget the cares of the week. Situated on Woodward Avenue, about six miles from the heart of the city, making a very nice ride on the trolley, the fare is ten cents, round trip. Admission to the park is free.

The car stops at the "Log Cabin," said to be an exact reproduction of the house in which Mr. Palmer, who gave the park to the people of Detroit, lived when a boy. There are nine rooms in it. In the dining room we saw a set of old-fashioned blue ware. In the parlor is an old square piano, a crib, and chairs of long ago. On a stand we see an old horse pistol. Passing an old Grandfather's Clock on the staire, we arrive upstairs where we see two or three "four posters."

The floors are covered with rag carpets, all of which look rather old.

We nearly forgot the old spinning wheel standing in the sitting room, looking as if some maiden of long ago had just stopped her spinning.

From the "Cabin" we went to the picnic grounds where we found swings to rest in while eating cracker-jack, ice cream cones, etc., which are sold here.

The old "bucket well" furnished us with clear, cold water.

Scattered about the park are flower beds of odd shapes and pretty colors. We saw lots of gold fish and ducks in the lake, which is an artificial one. The ducks have a log house on one of the small islands in the lake. In the lake is the Palmer Lighthouse around the base of which grow ferns and flowers. The green foliage and red blossoms look very pretty against the grey of the light house.

In the barnyard are turkeys, hens and doves, also plows, rakes, and an an old one horse "gig."

After seeing all these and more of which we can't remember, we walked up over the bridge and over the "stile" and seeing it was after five o'clock, the time being seen on the sun-dial, which is on a large rock, we left this pleasant spot to go back to the hot, busy city, which we had nearly forgotten while in this pleasant park. SAVES TWO LIVES

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery" writes A. D. McDonald of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 3, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." THIEF GETS $105.

Baldwinsville, Aug. 11.—The Baldwinsville police of neighboring cities and villages, are looking for a very clever pickpocket who yesterday got away with a pocketbook containing $105 from a young woman in Baldwinsville. The Syracuse police were at once notified and have been on the lookout for the man, but in vain. He is not believed to have gone that way.

A meager description of the man suspected of making the rich haul has been furnished the authorities, stating him to be about 22 years of age, smooth face, wearing a light suit and straw hat.

Not the Same Thing.

"Has Mrs. Lowboy any marriageable daughters?" "No, but she thinks she has."—Smart Set.

The Sense of Smell.

"It is the upper part of the nose that smells," said a perfumer. "The lining there is very sensitive and brown in color, not red, as in the lower nose. Men are more sensitive to odors than women. Scientific tests have shown, I believe, that, while many men can detect the smell of prussic acid even when there is only one part of the acid to two million parts of water, the average woman fails to detect the smell if there are less than ten parts of the acid. Though the white man is much less sensitive to odors than the savage, a prolonged stay in a part of the world where smells are few puts a very fine edge on the sense of smell. Dr. Nansen has declared that when returning from the ice world to Franz Josef Land he knew when he was approaching the assistant he had left there by smelling his scented soap long before he saw him. He could, too, when approaching the hut have given an inventory of the stores there, as he smelled everything it contained separately and distinctly."

Ruled His Servants by Fines.

Sir Richard Newdigate, a seventeenth century Warwickshire squire, whose papers were published some years ago by one of his descendants, ruled his servants by a system of fines. The value at which he rated domestic crimes is shown by such entries in his diary as: "Nan Newton, for breaking a teapot, 2s. 6d.; Richard Knight, for pride and slighting, 2s. 6d.; William Hetherington, for not being ready to go to church three Sundays, 18 pence; Thomas Birdall, for being at Nuneaton from morning till night, 5 shillings; cook, dead drunk, 10 shillings." As his cook's wages were only £8 a year she paid pretty dearly for her lapse from sobriety. Sir Richard had a system of rewards as well as penalties. "To my three daughters," he writes, "because they came to prayers, 3 shillings," and "to Tom Cooper, who worked hard after he broke his head, 2s. 6d."

Origin of Foxe's "Book of Martyrs."

Foxe's "Book of Martyrs" was published in March, 1652, as the "Acties and Monuments" of the martyrs, a title borrowed from an earlier book, says the London Chronicle. The famous volume might never have appeared at all but for the association of Foxe with the printer Day of Aldersgate street, in whose business Foxe took an active part. On the tombstone of Day in the church of Little Bradley, Suffolk, the partnership is thus immortalized:

He set a Fox to wright how martyrs runne
By death to lyfe; Fox ventured paynes and health
To give them light; Daye spent in print his wealth.

Even in those days the alien problem troubled industry, for we find Foxe appealing to Cecil to relax the law and permit his friend Day to engage more than four foreign printers.

Iron in Plants.

Iron is the substance which gives the green appearance to foliage. It forms a constituent part of chlorophyll and is the green coloring matter which stains the bodies inside the cells of leaves, called plastids. When the first organized food is being formed in the leaves from water and carbonic acid gas a certain amount of energy is required. This is obtained from the sun's rays, but the work of absorbing it is carried out by the chlorophyll. It requires very little iron for the production of all the chlorophyll found in a crop, and nearly all soils contain an abundant supply.

The Human Clock.

The Spanish painter Ribera, Mr. Haldane Macfall recalls in his "History of Painting," worked with such fervor that all count of time was lost to him. "He made a living clock to check the passing hours. His servant came every hour to the studio to say in a loud and stately voice, 'Another hour has gone, Signor Cavaliere!'"

He Won.

"Before you kiss me, Horace, let me tell you that Fred has given Kitty a diamond ring. You have never given me one."

"Dearest, it is only girls who are not precious in themselves who require the aid of precious stones."

"Oh, you may kiss me twice, Horace."

Pen and Sword.

"Do you believe the pen is mightier than the sword?"

"Of course it is. Who ever had to pay $25,000 damages in a breach of promise case on account of the sword he carried?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

One Was Enough.

Milton was one day asked by a friend whether he would instruct his daughters in the different languages.

"No, sir," he said; "one tongue is sufficient for any woman."

"No, I know you could not, but I believe you are silly enough to try."

What Levy Bill Will Cost Us.

Albany, July 4.—Senators Brackett, Hinman and Newcomb and Republican Leader Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of the assembly made eloquent and vigorous protest against the passage of the Levy election bill as an infamous attempt to kill off independent voting and to outrage the up state communities merely to gratify the spite of Tammany Hall. Mr. Merritt detailed the additional expense saddled upon the taxpayers by figures taken from the bill itself as follows:

Three state commissioners of elections are created, salary $5,000 a year each; three chief deputies, $4,500 a year each; six deputies, $1,500 each; eight deputies, $1,200 each; twenty-five deputies, $1,000 each; forty deputies, $900 each; 245 deputies, $200 each; 150 deputies, $100 each, making a total for commissioners and deputies of $238,500. The commissioners are allowed $40,000 for office expenses. Secretaries, clerks, stenographers and other help are provided for. Then in the fifty-seven counties outside Greater New York either two or four county commissioners, each with a retinue of other officials, are provided for. At a very conservative estimate these county bureaus will cost the taxpayers $5,000 each, or $285,000 in the fifty-seven counties. Printing registration lists adds $75,000. Other expenses will inevitably follow, but the figures here given total $685,500, which the taxpayers must pay. It is claimed by some who have examined the bill closely that if the total were placed at a round MILLION DOLLARS it would still be an extremely conservative estimate.

Is This the Reason?

Albany, Aug. 8.—There is much curiosity all over the state as to why Governor Dix surrendered to Charles F. Murphy after beating him out earlier in the session. One explanation offered here is to the effect that agents of Murphy in the national legislature have induced Democrats of prominence in all parts of the country to write to Governor Dix hinting that he is in line to emulate Grover Cleveland and become president of the United States if he only holds a united Democracy in New York state. It is said that the bait has taken and that the governor argues that only by preserving peace with Murphy can he hope to receive the united support of the New York state delegation in the Democratic national convention of 1912.

View of Doors and Vestibule to Vault Being Installed in First National Bank

MR. J. W. STEVENSON ISSUES STATEMENT.

Editor Fulton Times: For the past two Sabbath mornings the Syracuse Sunday Herald came to our city with personal attacks upon myself because I have expressed a preference for Udelle Bartlett for the Supreme Court bench. The first attack it has been charged by newspapers of the county—and so far as I can learn has never been denied—was written by Mr. Irving G. Hubbs of Pulaski. In connection with the personal and uncomplimentary allusions to myself there was some praise of Mr. Hubbs and the whole so pleased the latter that it is said he bought 3,000 copies of the paper for $100 and circulated them broadcast through our county. I do not know whether it is pertinent or not, but I wish to say I did not purchase any. The second attack made upon me is in connection with an alleged interview that it is said I gave out for publication. The "staff correspondent" who came to our city to look the matter up for his paper never talked with me on the subject; never asked for my side of the story and to this day he does not know whether I repudiate the interview in full or in part. I speak of this only to show how unreliable and how one-sided this "staff correspondent" has been with me, to say nothing of Mr. Bartlett. In all fairness I believe this "staff correspondent" should have given us a chance to be heard.

Since reaching majority I have been a Republican but have never been a politician. I am not a candidate for office; simply a believer in Republican principles. I now and always have contended that any man has a right to favor any man he pleases for public office and that no man has a right to abuse him for taking sides. A year ago I told Mr. Bartlett that I would give him my support for the position which he seeks. There was no other candidate then mentioned. There was no talk of there being another candidate. Recognizing Mr. Bartlett's great fitness for the position very many Republicans, prominent in party councils, pledged him support the same as I had. Then came Myron Stranahan into the contest. His friends called upon me and others who had promised support to Mr. Bartlett. It was good to see the cordiality with which the Bartlett men came to Stranahan and it is not strange that the Stranahan men feel more than friendly to Bartlett for the cordial manner with which his friends espoused the Fulton man's cause. Who can or would under the circumstances blame Stranahan's friends for being loyal to Bartlett?

Some time later came the announcement that Mr. Hubbs was going to be a candidate. That was perfectly proper, as every man who desires office has a right to try for it. Mr. Hubbs' friends went to a number of our Republican citizens and asked them for their support. I was honored with a call and like others I told them that I had promised to support Mr. Bartlett and had no intention of breaking my word. Then they began to bring pressure "to bear," mild and gentle at first until finally came these unwarranted attacks in the Syracuse Herald. Now suppose any of those who pledged Mr. Bartlett support had yielded to the "pressure" and thrown Bartlett overboard what would have been the opinion of fellow Republicans toward them? And again, what kind of a man would stand up and ask his neighbors to do such things? Would he be worthy of a place on the Supreme Court bench?

Mr. Bartlett is my candidate for the Supreme Court bench because I admire his sterling character and integrity. In all of his canvass Bartlett's course has been in striking contrast to the hysterical performance of those who oppose him. The newspapers have not been filled with fulsome praises coming under the head of advertising. He has gone about in a dignified, manly way and has sought the aid and support of Republicans. He has not abused, in or out of a newspaper, any of those who may have a preference for Mr. Hubbs. That isn't Mr. Bartlett's style. From my view point Udelle Bartlett has every attribute that should make him a great Judge. This is the opportunity Oswego county has been waiting for for years past. I am firmly of the belief that Mr. Bartlett will carry Oswego county and that he will be nominated in the convention. I believe that Mr. Hubbs knows this and that it is the desire of Hubbs and his backers to make it appear to other counties that there is a great fight here simply for the purpose of discrediting and trying to defeat Mr. Bartlett in the judicial convention. As an illustration of the methods employed by the anti-Bartlett crowd I wish to take up one more of the stories printed in the Herald to the effect that I had promised a well known resident of the First Ward a government position, through the influence of Congressman Mott, if he and his friends would support Bartlett. The story is absolutely false and the man in question has branded it as such.

The only promise this First Ward man has received came from the supporters of Mr. Hubbs who have made all sorts of wild promises in return for support in the primaries. I have never made a promise to any man either through the organization or out of it of a position or reward of any kind in trade for support for Mr. Bartlett.

I am not alone in my opinion that Mr. Bartlett is entirely fitted for the place of honor on the Supreme Court bench. The members of the Oswego county bar are leading the contest for Mr. Bartlett. They are in a position to judge better than any layman the character and fitness of the man for the position and they have come out for him. I sincerely hope that the Republicans of Fulton will support Mr. Bartlett in the coming primaries and by so doing secure a much needed resident Justice for Oswego county and at the same time add to the strength of the county ticket which for the first time in seventy-nine years will carry the name of a Fulton man for sheriff—a name that every Fultonian should be proud of—Stranahan.

STEPHENS OPERA HOUSE UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Mr. C. O. Widmayer of Syracuse, the present manager of the Crescent Theatre of that city, and last winter the leader of the Symphony orchestra which gave such really classical concerts on Sundays in that city, has taken the management of the Foster Theatre for the coming season, taking possession on September 1st.

The play house will be open continuously, playing one night stands and vaudeville. Nothing definite has been decided upon as yet relative to the winter's schedule but Mr. Widmayer assures the Times that the policy of the house will be to show only high class productions.

The new manager was in Fulton last week as the guest of Mr. L. A. Richardson.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

WILL HAVE FAST SERVICE.

Will Be Put Into Effect Next Month By the Trolley Company.

That it is the intention of the operating management of the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern Railroad to inaugurate a fast limited schedule between Syracuse and Oswego as early as next month became known this week.

Just what the proposed schedule will be has not as yet been made public. In fact, it was stated at the office of Operating Manager W. C. Gray in Syracuse that the running time had not as yet been determined for the proposed limited service.

That some rapid time is planned for the near future, however, is indicated by the activity of the department of Chief Engineer T. H. Mather in the ballasting of the new extension of the Lake Shore road between Fulton and Oswego. Practically the entire surplus force of Lake Shore construction workmen are employed in providing and laying ballast along this new section.

Owing to the extreme difficulty that was experienced by the company in procuring ballast for the new extension along the right of way through which it extended, it was found necessary to open the road for traffic before the final ballasting was more than well started. To the extent that this permitted the track to settle to a substantial foundation before ballast was laid, the making use of the track not entirely ballasted had some advantages although it did make it necessary to operate a slower schedule than would have otherwise been required.

For the purpose of providing a fine quality of gravel for the extension, the Lake Shore Company has acquired a fine and extensive bed of gravel on the Great Bear Spring farm three miles south of Fulton. Tracks have now been laid into that bed and within thirty days the Lake Shore road for its entire length will be ballasted and equipped to the standard that obtains on all of the roads in the so-called Beebe Electric Railway System.

At the offices of the Lake Shore Company it was said that by State fair time the Syracuse-Oswego tracks will be equal to the speed now being made on the Rochester, Syracuse & Eastern Railroad, namely 63 miles per hour on the private right of way.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

Miss Helen Chesbro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chesbro, and formerly Mrs. Frank Elliott of this city, narrowly escaped drowning at Los Angeles, Calif., last week. Miss Chesbro is a member of the girls' life saving corps at that point and she undertook a two-mile swim in a contest for the captaincy. She outdistanced her competitors and was on the home stretch when she became exhausted and but for the timely assistance of a man who was within one hundred feet of her she would have drowned.

The stamps sell for one cent each.

Magee was fined $200 and indefinitely suspended for assault upon Umpire Finneran during the game with St. Louis at Philadelphia July 10.

CORRECTION REGARDING DEDICATION.

Editor Times: Permit me as one of the Commissioners apointed by Governor Hughes to carry out the provisions of the law to erect a monument at Andersonville, to correct the following statement which appeared in the issue of August 9th, as follows:

"Civil war veterans who were prisoners have received notice that the State will give them a free excursion to Andersonville, Georgia, in November next. The National government now owns the Andersonville prison site and has converted it into a National park. New York York State will dedicate a monument there at the time of the excursion."

There has been no official notice sent out by the Commission as to the time of the dedication. Had our economical(?) Governor signed, instead of vetoing our appropriation bill, there would have been a notice to the survivors of Andersonville residing in New York State who served in New York regiments that they could have free transporation to and from Andersonville to the dedication; also to the survivors residing in other states, if they paid their railroad fares to the nearest railroad point in New York State.

It was intended by the Commission to have the dedication this coming November, but the Governor's veto has postponed it for one year or more.

It is a beautiful monument, completed and ready for dedication; the cost was $25,000; on the bronze tablet is the following:

"This monument erected by the State of New York, commemorates the Patriotism, Sacrifices and Fortitude of about 9,000 New York Soldiers of the Union Army in the War of the Rebellion, who were confined in the Confederate States Military Prison at Andersonville, Ga., of whom 2261 are known to have died in prison and were buried in this cemetery.

"Erected A. D., 1911."

In the year 1890 the Department of Georgia G. A. R. purchased the old stockade grounds, paying for the same $1,500; they expended $1,500 more in improvements. In 1896 they deeded it to the National W. R. C. who purchased 57 acres surrounding the stockade, which gave them possession of the surrounding forts and Wirtz' Headquarters; they also secured a strip 100 feet wide running from their property to the depot, a distance of about one-half mile.

The W. R. C. recently offered all this property to the Government and it was accepted.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT B. McCULLY,

VOLNEY'S CENTENNIAL.

Editor: In 1811, the Legislature of the Empire State decreed the organization of a number of towns, among them, not so very far from Fulton, were Little Falls, Lyons and Volney. Of the three, only one, Little Falls, avails itself of the Centennial idea, and for some time, anyone passing through that famous Mohawk Valley place has seen prominently displayed the words, "Little Falls Centennial, Sept. 1-6." One year ago, when visiting Fulton, I talked the subject of observing the first hundred years of the town's existence with several parties who assured me that plans were afoot which would eventuate in the successful recognition of the interesting fact. I was told that the "Booster" Club had the matter in hand and that its president would unfold to me the entire plan. On calling upon the gentleman, I was informed that the Centennial would surely be celebrated in proper manner, during the progress of the next Agricultural Fair in 1911. Since then I have heard nothing about Volney's Century of life, save as I may have soliloquized at times and, in view of the situation, I am wondering if I got the name of the club correctly. Should it not be "Boaster" rather than "Booster?"

Remembering how earnestly and successfully Fulton responded to the proposition to celebrate in 1888 the career of Falley Seminary, I had supposed that the more important story of the entire town would be a source of unequaled local interest. While I realized that much of the Falley incident was due to the untiring zeal and energy of the Rev. W. D. Chase, I did not for a moment suspect that he carried away with him all of these two qualities that Fulton possessed. I know full well how much depends upon a leader and I am loath to believe that a town which, in the remote past, developed the Falleys, Cases, Willard Johnson, W. G. Gage, Frank Bacon, and many others, is really lacking to-day. New England early learned the value of inviting her absent sons and daughters home again. "Old Home Week" is talismanic there. Why may it not be the same here?.

This love for the old home carefully engendered, has brought to the New England part of our country hundreds of library buildings, town halls and churches with, in many cases, ample endowments.

Though this portion of New York State is not so old as Massachusetts and Connecticut, the principle holds good just the same, the former children are not forgetful of happy days in Fulton and Volney. The successful carrying out of the celebration needs long and careful calculation; much more than 1911 can afford; the shouting should begin nearly a twelve-month before the event and all citizens of both sexes and all ages should be ready to lend a hand and shout with all possible ardor. Why not try it next year—the 101st? There's virtue in oddity sometimes.

Announcement to the Public

The studio at No. 61 S. First street, better known as the Langdon studio, has undergone extensive re-modelling and is now opened to the public, ready for business by the well known Oswego photographer.

L. E. RHODES

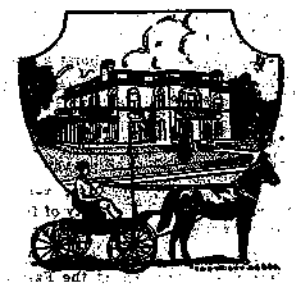
Your patronage is solicited and high class work assured.

Minnie Ha Ha Is Here.

Fulton certainly had an awakening to-day, such as is known only during a big week, when a strong-lunged, loud-voiced barker, seated in a carriage, announced the fact that Minnie Ha Ha was at the Fulton fair. Everybody became curious to know who Minnie Ha Ha was. At Wilkes-barre and Allentown she made a big hit and the ladies and children packed her pavilion every day of her appearance. Minnie is a pleasing creature of some years of age and it would be amusing to know the age at which some people guess her. Some say she is 20, others 30. Like all women, her age is deceiving and the ladies of Fulton have the privilege of guessing it. She comes from Australia and is the only member of the Bush race of people. Some of these people were very small in stature and Minnie's height is only three feet nine inches. She is wonderfully strong, but her drawing card is the fact that she is unquestionably the missing link of which Darwin has written so much. There is provided for her exhibition a pavilion, which is neat and adapted to the purpose for which it is intended and there is absolutely nothing vulgar or repulsive about her performance. See that girl, Minnie Ha Ha.

Langdon Studio Re-Opened.



The Langdon studio, No. 61 South First street, has re-opened for business and the proprietor, Mr. L. E. Rhodes, solicits your patronage, assuring you of high class work at reasonable prices.

In 1896 Mr. Rhodes built the gallery at the upper bridge and he conducted a studio there for three years. During the past twenty years he has been connected with the Armour Studio in Oswego, during this period doing special photographic work in many cities in the United States, Old Mexico and Canada.

Mr. Rhodes will in the near future remove to Fulton where he will make his permanent home. His work is most artistic and finished and will be sure to satisfy the most critical.

CIVIL WAR ECHOES.

Two Lincoln Letters.

President Lincoln once wrote the following letter to General McClellan when the latter was in command of the army of the Union. General McClellan, as is well known, was so careful not to make mistakes that he made but little headway; his slogan being "all quiet along the Potomac." But he was known to be a great organizer and driller of troops.

My Dear McClellan:

If you don't want to use the army I should like to borrow it for a while. Yours very respectfully,

A. LINCOLN.

In November, 1864, Lincoln wrote to Mrs. Bixby, of Boston, Mass., the following letter:

Dear Madam—I have been shown in the files of the war department, a statement of the adjutant general of Massachusetts, that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and the lost and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom. Yours very sincerely and respectfully, A. LINCOLN.

COMMISSIONERS ELECT CLERK.

Election Commissioners D. O. Whitney and H. F. Baker were at the County Clerk's office arranging the affairs of their office. Special Deputy and Court Clerk L. A. Coulter has been designated as the clerk to the commission and will represent the commission at all times when the members are not present.

President Baker said that thus far no separate office had been provided for the commission but that the County Clerk's office had been designated as their office by the Board of Supervisors and they would occupy this.

Congressman Always Available.

Congressman Mott has opened offices in the second floor of the First National bank building in this city. Secretary Meager will be in charge of the office. Anyone desiring information, documents, or having any other business to transact is invited to call at this office. It is expected that after the close of the session Congressman Mott will continue his visits to Lowville and Watertown, and other portions of his district to keep in touch with the people and their sentiments on various matters coming up for national legislation.—Oswego Times.

GLASS FACTORY SOLD.

A New Company is to Be Organized At Cleveland.

The Getman glass plant at Cleveland is to be reopened this fall. Wednesday the property was purchased by Attorney Sidney G. deKay of New York for the Pittsburg Plate Company. The attorneys present at the sale were A. T. Jennings, Fulton, representeing the Moreland Coal Company and the Harroun Lumber Company; E. B. Powell, Oswego, for Rathbun & Company; C. J. Renwick, Buffalo, for the Acme Coal Company, and Henry D. Coville of Central Square, for James Gallagher and Getman Glass Company. Attorney E. A. Barnes of Oswego was also present.

The Plate Glass Company holds nearly two-thirds of the bonded indebtedness of the Getman Glass Company, which is covered by a mortgage which now amounts to about $14,000. By the terms of the sale, the Plate Glass Company, upon the payment of $50, takes over the real property of the Getman Glass Company subject to the mortgage above mentioned.

This arrangement was made that a new company may be organized in Cleveland to take over and operate the plant.

Congressman L. W. Mott has been elected a member of the Watertown Chamber of Commerce.

DEATHS

Mrs. Arthur Akass, mother of Mrs. Thomas Hunter, and a guest at the Hunter home in this city, was suddenly stricken with apoplexy while she, in company with Mrs. Sleeper and Miss Anita Hunter were at Stop 33, on Friday. Mrs. Akass and Mrs. Sleeper had accompanied Miss Hunter to Stop 33, by trolley, and they were admiring the landscape, while Miss Hunter did an errand. Suddenly Mrs. Akass was stricken with apoplexy and she lapsed into unconsciousness before she could be assisted to the station. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter and Dr. E. A. Gladman were summoned to Stop 33, and the ambulance conveyed the stricken patient to her daughter's home where she passed away soon after being taken into the house. The funeral services, which were private, were held from the home on Monday afternoon, the Rev. G. W. Wellburn officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The bearers were Messrs. John Hunter, James Hunter, William Hunter, Robert Hunter, S. B. Mead and Almon Bristol. The deceased was aged 56 years and she is survived by her husband of Larchmont; three daughters, Mrs. Hunter of this city; Mrs. Murdock of New York city and Mrs. W. B. Sleeper of Meetetse, Wyoming.

After a long illness J. B. Birdsall, aged 60, one of the best known residents of this city, passed to rest on Thursday. His death had been expected for several days as he had been vitally ill for weeks. The deceased was until failing health compelled him to give up work, a prosperous business man, conducting a bakery in Second street and owning the block in which his bakery was located. He was popular with all who knew him. In fraternal circles he took an active part, being an officer in the Odd Fellows Lodge and also very active in Masonic circles. The funeral services were held on Sunday, magnificent floral offerings surrounding the casket. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. He is survived by his widow and a wide circle of acquaintances.

Thomas Platt, formerly of this city, died suddenly with heart trouble at his home in Syracuse on Tuesday, as his daughter was granting his request to play him some favorite airs on the piano. The body was brought to Fulton and interment was made in St. Mary's.

Mrs. Eliza Pitcher died on Sunday at No. 858 West Second street. The funeral was held from the late home on Tuesday and burial was made at North Volney.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

Postoffice Department Designates Ten Additional Depositories.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The postoffice department has designated the postoffice in ten additional cities as postal depositories as follows: Pittsburg, Detroit, Buffalo, San Francisco, Cincinnati, Seattle, Indianapolis, Denver, Kansas City and Portland, Ore.

Postmaster General Hitchcock in a statement given out to-day says that the two weeks trial given to the system in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and Boston has been most successful. He says the deposits in these four cities amounted to $110,000 for the first five days of operation, at which rate the annual deposits for the four cities will amount to about $7,000,000.

FRUIT GROWERS ASSOCIATION.

The Oswego County Fruit Growers Association will hold their summer meeting Tuesday, Aug. 22nd, commencing at 10 o'clock, at Dr. Lathi's farm, at Pembers Corners, three miles southwest of Minetto.

Short speeches will be made by D. P. Morehouse, Esq., of Oswego; Mr. S. W. Smith of Orleans county, and Mr. John Remington, General Traffic Agent of the N. Y. C. R. R.; Prof. R. A. Pearson, Commissioner of Agriculture; the Manager of the N. Y. C. R. R. Farm Bureau, and a number of prominent apple growers from Wayne and Monroe counties have promised to attend.

A team will meet the 9 a. m. R. W. & O. train at Metcalf, and the 9:40 trolley at Stop 33.

Everyone interested in modern fruit growing should attend this meeting. The North Hannibal Grange will furnish dinner on the grounds at a reasonable price. Lemonade and hot coffee will be furnished free at noon to those that bring their own lunch.

In case of a heavy storm the meeting will be held the following day.

DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS ELECTED.

In accordance with the new State law passed a year ago, legislating out of office the school commissioners of the counties of the State and providing for district superintendents in their places, the school directors of the five districts of Oswego county met Tuesday and selected the new officers. At the last general election these school directors were elected with authority to name the superintendents in their respective districts. The superintendents will hold office five years and receive salaries of $1,200 a year with $300 per annum for expenses. They will take office September 1st.

Under the old law there were only three districts in Oswego county. The commissioners received the same pay as will the superintendents. Those legislated out of office by the new statute are W. C. Richards of Parish, Warren Gardner of Hannibal, and L. Carl Sargent of Sandy Creek.

The election resulted as follows:

First District.

There was only one candidate for the position in this district, Miss Mildred G. Pratt of Lacona, and she was elected unanimously. The meeting was held at Sandy Creek. The towns making up the district are Sandy Creek, Orwell, Boylston and Redfield.

Second District.

The Directors of the Second District met at Altmar and elected Joseph M. Bonner of Shortsville, Ontario county, formerly of Orwell, by a vote of five to three, over Miss Edith R. Tollerton of Pulaski. The towns in this district are Richland, Albion, Williamstown and Parish.

Third District.

The directors of the Third district, composed of the towns of Amboy, Constantia, Hastings, West Monroe and Schroeppel, at their meeting at Central Square, elected Frank Carr of Constantia. There were two other candidates, one from Phoenix and the other John O'Brien of West Monroe. Mr. Carr received six votes as against two for each of the other candidates.

The Fourth District.

At a meeting of the directors of the Fourth school district of the county, consisting of the towns of Mexico, Scriba, Palermo and New Haven, at the court house in Oswego Tuesday morning, C. I. Kingsbury of Scriba was elected district superintendent by a vote of six to two over Miss Tooley of Palermo. The directors present were W. B. Barker, Dr. W. B. Downes, New Haven; Robert Baker, R. E. Wilmot, Mexico; Schuyler Brown, M. F. Tooley, Palermo; Dr. A. C. Baxter, W. H. Seymour, Scriba. The Palermo directors voted for Miss Tooley. Mr. Kingsbury was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for County Clerk against W. W. Spencer.

Fifth District.

The directors of the Fifth district, made up of the towns of Volney, Oswego, Hannibal and Granby, met at the City Hall, Fulton, and unanimously elected Warren S. Gardner of Hannibal on the first ballot. Mr. Gardner is the present school commissioner.

Congressman Secures Big Attraction.

Congressman Mott was successful in his efforts to secure the Twenty-fourth Infantry and the battalion band of Sacketts Harbor as one of the attractions at the Oswego County fair this week. Orders had been issued by the war department that no practice marches should be taken during August and this prohibited the soldier boys from visiting Fulton. Congressman Mott learned of this and used such persuasive efforts with Secretary of War Stimson and other officials that the order was rescinded and the soldier boys are now encamped on the fair grounds.

CAROLINE

Letter from O. J. Jennings—He Tells of the Charms of Delos, Va.

Delos, Va., July 10.

Now that the yellow fields of grain are harvested and the tobacco set, it gives respite to listen to the silvery voiced bobwhite and hear the whippoorwill's soft voice, then as the evening shades come softly down the mocking bird who is ever a listener for sweet warbles from other birds, will come and perch on the limb of the shade tree beside your piazza and sing so sweetly that every perplexity and care will be forgotten and the joyous happy life of the farmer and his family will be in evidence. Such are the environments of every home about the old historic Trap Tavern, where forty-nine years ago Mosby's scouts held sway. It was right here at the old Trap Tavern that the inceptions of those daring deeds that filled the whole Northland with alarm were concocted.

It was right to the old Trap Tavern that John Wilkes Booth was brought to shelter and care after assassinating President Lincoln, but the notoriety of the Trap had become so great that it was not thought a safe place to leave him. Since then things have changed. It's now the peaceful, law abiding farmer that cultivates the fertile fields about the old historic site, where once stood an inn with a history more startling than any records reveal. But for a few old veterans of the Civil War still living tradition would be all that remains of the old Trap Tavern's history. To-day the environments about this quiet, peaceful hamlet are an evidence that education and morality are the all powerful factors in uplifting and making people better.

Go to Upper Zion church of a Sunday morning and feast your eyes, for you will see one of the most devout and interesting congregations that meet in Virginia. Old and young are alike interested and attentive to God's word as propounded by the able pastor. Think of the conditions existing in and about this locality 50 years ago and contrast them with to-day. Now it's the Christian battle to lead men on to better and upright lives. What it was then is a history of daring deeds unequaled in the annals of civilized war. It was right in this neighborhood that the bravest men the Confederate army knew were raised. Some few of the old heroes are still living, to-wit: Lieutenant (Healman) Boulware, A. B. Marshall, J. H. Martin, Colvin P. Houstin and D. Penny; all are on the retired list, just waiting for the call to boots and saddle and make the last surrender.

It may be proper to say that Delos is not only historic, but is the center of the great tobacco belt of Virginia. It's right here the best chewing tobacco of the world is raised. No county in the states comes up to Caroline in raising high grade tobacco. It also raises corn to beat the prospective railroad that we expect to materialize with a fine station right at Delos. Give us a railroad and Delos will rise to its grandeur of ancient days, when its aristocracy took rank equal to knighthood in England, for it was then our people were descendants of England's most chivalrous people.

O. J. JENNINGS.

SARR ACCEPTS PLACE ON BURGARD CONTRACT.

Fred W. Sarr, who recently resigned as division highway engineer and is now awaiting the appointment of a successor to be relieved of his highway department duties, has accepted, it is said, a place as consulting engineer with Henry P. Burgard on Barge canal contract No. 37 at this city.

Mr. Burgard's contract calls for the dredging of the Oswego river channel and the construction of locks No. 56 and also the removal of a large part of Battle Island. It is one of the biggest contracts in connection with Barge canal construction.

Started on Monday.

Commissioners of Election H. A. Baker and D. O. Whitney were at the County Clerk's office in Oswego on Monday to commence their regular business. The affairs of their office have been conducted by Court Clerk L. A. Coulter.

WANTS A TROLLEY LINE.

Dr. Mary Walker Interviews Mr. O. J. Coughlin.

Mr. O. J. Coughlin, right of way man for the Beebe syndicate, was in the city Friday on business. This afternoon Dr. Mary Walker had a conference with him at Tanner's regarding the extending of the street railway line west from this city. "My dear lady," said Coughlin, when the Doctor broke out that she was not his "dear lady," that she was just Dr. Mary Walker and that she wanted to know when the trolley company was going to run the line out near Bunker Hill.

Mr. Coughlin said that he didn't have the least idea. "Well then, you get in you bubble wagon some day and come out and see me. I'll show you some of the finest collection of curios gathered in all parts of the world. Bring your family along, if you've got one; they'll be welcome, just as much so as you are," and the Doctor stepped into her carriage behind Pegasus and drove off at a brisk trot.—Oswego Palladium.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge, is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to satisfy. Sold by all druggists for 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

Car Stop Causes Gun Club Merger.

Oswego, Aug. 15.—Owing to the abandonment by the street railway of its line between Minetto and Riverside Cemetery, the Riverside Gun Club will abandon its range on the East River Road. This will undoubtedly result in the merger of the Oswego and Fulton Gun clubs, as has been suggested.

A committee composed of Thomas Hunter and Harvey McMurchy of Fulton, Earl Brown and E. H. Stowell of Oswego has been selected to pick out and rent or buy a range between here and Fulton and on the trolley line.

Contract Awarded Saturday.

The Riverview Sanitarium Company Saturday awarded a contract to M. P. Neal & Company for furnishing a car of lumber. The lumber will be used to erect the temporary buildings. Preference will be given, the Sanatarium Company states, to dealers and workmen in this vicinity. The plans for the foundation of the tuberculosis building have been completed and will be opened in a few days.

Phoenix Register: Oliver Nelson has moved his household goods to Fulton where he has recently purchased a house and lot. Last Thursin moving an electric fan while in motion, J. A. Hawks was struck on the back of the left hand by the rapidly revolving fan and severely cut. Dr. Drury dressed the injury.

Alfred S. Roe of Worcester, Mass., has been visiting his father, the Rev. A. M. Roe, Academy street. He goes to Wayne county to visit in Wolcott and Rose. He will attend the National Encampment, G. A. R., in Rochester, next week. At its end he expects to return to Fulton before going East.

"Dad" Mead undertook the responsibility on Saturday of trucking the immense doors and vestibule for the safe to be installed in the First National Bank building. The total weight was fifteen tons and it required eight horses to drag the ponderous weight from the depot to the bank building.

Postmaster W. E. Hughes has received an invitation to attend the eighteenth annual convention of the National Association of letter carriers to be held in Convention hall, Rochester, on September 4-9. Mr. E. J. Cantwell of Washington, D. C., is the secretary of the association.

Among the Fultonians at Pleasant Point on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, Verna Irene Hunter, Miss Blanche Hall, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bennett, Joseph D. Bennett, Winton J. Bennett, Mrs. G. W. Wellburn, Ruth and Rosamand Wellburn, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mason, Mrs. Case.

SEEMED TO GIVE HIM A NEW STOMACH

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

SCHOOL DISTRICT CASE SETTLED.

Sandy Creek, N. Y., Aug. 14.—School Commissioner Sargent of this place is just in receipt of the decision of the Commissioner of Education in the appeal taken by the people of Phoenix from the redistricting of this county done by the Board of Supervisors meeting with the school commissioners in joint session last April. The appellants felt themselves aggrieved by having too large a district, especially as compared with the first district. The commissioner holds that their district is as compact and contiguous as practicable. The commissioner holds that the law was fully complied with and that the arrangement is entirely fair considering the county as a whole. The action of the Board of Supervisors and school commissioners is fully sustained, and the Appeal is dismissed.

The decision is of especial importance just at this time as Tuesday of this week is the time for the election of district superintendents, and the decision establishes the districts as already laid out.

GRANULATED SORE EYES CURED

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers.

Her Good Advice.

They had been courting for only four years when Si|as spoke as follows:

"I think you oughter give me jest one kiss, Sary, you know; it's far better to give than receive."

"You don't say?" said Sary coyly. "Then it seems to me some folk oughter practice what they preach!"

Descriptive.

One little girl was telling her mother how another little girl was dressed at a party. "And would you believe it, mamma," she concluded, "her slippers were so tight I could see all the knuckles on her toes."—Chicago News.

He Was Playing.

First Actress—You say you are hard up. Isn't your husband playing this season, then? Second Actress—Yes, he is. That's just the trouble. First A.—Why, what's he playing—Hamlet? Second A.—No; cards!

The Other Extreme.

Parke—Poor Pilter! His wife is a spendthrift. Is there anything worse, I wonder, than a wife that's too extravagant? Tame—Oh, yes; one that's too economical.—Brooklyn Life.

FITNESS OF JUDGES.

To the Editors of The Herald:

The people of the Fifth judicial district of this State will soon be called upon to elect two judges of the Supreme court. In making the selections of candidates for this high office public attention will doubtless be directed now, as in the past, chiefly to the intellectual and moral qualities of the persons who are being considered for the position of judge.

Of course, the very first and most essential trait of character that a judge should possess is integrity. Few judges, however, are not honest. Probably, no lawyer at the bar of this district has ever appeared in a court presided over by a judge in whose integrity there was not the most general and well-founded confidence.

But there are certain minor virtues, or graces of character, which, it is believed, are essential to the moral makeup of the lawyer. In order that he may become a successful and satisfactory judge if elected to the bench, but to which sufficient consideration is often not given when the choice of a judge is being made because of the undue importance attached to the mental equipment and qualities of those who may aspire to, or be considered, as fit for that honorable and responsible position.

Should not the moral character, on the contrary, be more keenly inquired into than the intellectual ability or the learning of candidates for the judiciary?

As it is unnecessary to say that a judge should be honest, so it also goes without saying that a judge should be well equipped in the learning of his profession and possessed of good perceptive and analytical powers, and of sound judgment. But these are qualities and acquirements common to very many lawyers.

Few Wonderful Lawyers.

It is true that not many lawyers, perhaps one of two in a generation, possess genius, or any very wonderful powers of mind, or are very profoundly learned in their profession. There have been few Blackstones, Kents, Mansfields or Marshalls, but there have been in the past, and there are now, very many able lawyers in every way mentally well equipped for the conduct of their profession.

It has been said that it does not require extraordinary powers of mind to become a good lawyer, but that the exercise of patience, industry and perseverance will enable a man of ordinary intellect to acquire sufficient knowledge of the law to become a wise and safe counselor and to fit him for the judicious and successful conduct of almost any litigation.

The man who is able to do this has surely mind and learning enough to properly discharge the duties of a judge.

If, however, this same man be deficient in certain minor virtues of character; if he be devoid of courtesy and good nature; if he be gruff and irritable, without quiet self-poise, dignity, modesty and patience, he will be apt to come far from filling a judicial position, with either credit to himself or with satisfaction to the public, no matter how brilliant may be his mind or how great his learning.

Puffed Up Judges.

If a judge is so puffed up by election to the bench that he comes to believe in his own omniscience, it is probably that he will lose caution, be easily offended with those who differ from him in opinion, become pompous in manner, excitable, easily disturbed, irritable and peevish.

Lawyers who appear before such a court are often mortified and unnecessarily lowered and degraded in the opinion of their clients by the caustic remarks and the harsh attitude and conduct of the judge towards them. Moreover, such a judge is apt to deliver himself of sudden and ill-considered rulings, and thereby commit errors which often render new trials necessary for the correction, and so justice is greatly hindered and litigants and the State are put to useless and large expense.

When, however, a judge is found who, although perhaps very moderately learned and of no great experience or marked intellectual power, is yet possessed of warmth of heart, modesty of deportment, who is diffident as to his talents and acquirements, is patient, kind and attentive and fair and impartial, it is observed that lawyers hasten to bring their cases on for hearing before him; litigants, even if unfortunate, feel that they have been fairly and kindly treated and are reconciled even to defeat, while the people, soon being informed of the character of such a jurist, honor his name, his fame spreads and he is loved and respected while living and revered and lamented when he has passed away.

The Profession Honored.

How often it has happened that the lawyer who went upon the bench with little experience and no very large equipment of learning, and not overburdened with any protruding mentality has, by his very diffidence, which led him to caution, to painstaking care, to affability of manner, and to modesty of demeanor, become loved and honored by his profession and by the people, far more than other judges who quite outclassed him in learning and in ability. And is it not true, that the decisions of the modest and careful judges have had the better fortune when reviewed by appellate courts?

They have been prudent and conservative, and so have kept carefully within the issue. Distrusting themselves, they have not, in their rulings, their opinions, or in their charges to juries, launched out into general essays, more or less relevant to the point involved in the particular case then being heard.

It was enough for them to navigate through the case in hand without shipwreck; and they were willing to leave the regions of the exploration of other and outlying realms of jurisprudence to the student and to the legal author, who had the time for such extended and scholastic investigations. Whatever call there may be for inspiration in spiritual matters, in poetry, art or oratory, it is believed that there is but little opportunity for its exercise or display in the work of a judge.

The steady hard grind is for him, yet this grind must not be permitted to weary his patience, or to disturb his equanimity. Through all the labors and the trials of his honorable but exacting office he must keep his temper serene and his heart unhardened. His manner must still continue kindly and pleasant under all circumstances, reserving severity and sternness for the curbing of effrontery and impudence, and for the proper rebuke of fraud and deceit, contempt and misconduct, on the part of those whom the discharge of his duties may bring him into contact.

The opportunity is now at hand for the people of this judicial district to provide themselves with judges with whom it will be pleasant to come in contact for the many years during which the successful candidates will sit on the bench.

Let the people now see to it that a wise selection is made, and that the men who are elected to the judgeship shall be not only men of ability and of integrity, but also men of broad sympathies, men kind of heart and patient, men who have learned the lesson of self-control; in short, who will measure up in every way to the grand old standard of a gentleman.

It will be too late to attend to this after the conventions, and it is as rare that a lawyer changes his character after elevation to the bench as it is that a man cold and hard and selfish is transformed by marriage into an affable, affectionate and self-sacrificing husband. L. T. J.

A Word to Be Avoided.

Wife—Well, did you find out what it was I said that offended Mrs. Youngbride? Hub—Yes, her husband told me. TURF STARS TO RACE AT FAIR.

Program Completed For Grand Circuit Meeting.

ALSO INTERCITY MATINEE.

Best Horses Raced by Professionals and Amateurs Headed For Syracuse. Empire State Stake For $10,000 Feature Event—Total of $40,000 Offered by State.

By far the most important harness horse race meeting to be held in New York state this year and what may go down in turf history as the banner meeting of the year in this country will be that in connection with the New York State Fair in September.

The complete program of the grand circuit races just announced by State Fair race officials shows purses for early closing events and class races aggregating $33,000. In addition there will be the Intercity Matinee, the one event of the year which brings together the leading amateur reinsmen of New York, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Pittsburg, Lexington, Goshen and Syracuse, the cities which have clubs affiliated with the League of Amateur Driving Clubs. Other features will be furnished by special trials of speed by the fastest trotters and pacers in the world in efforts to establish new records. The total amount to be offered by the state for four days of race track attractions will be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

The grand circuit program follows:

Monday, Sept. 11.—2:18 pace, the Conway, $2,000; 2:15 trot, $1,200; 2:25 trot, the Ka-Noo-No, for three-year-olds, $1,000.

Tuesday, Sept. 12.—2:13 pace, $1,000; 2:14 trot, the Empire State, $10,000; 2:04 pace, the Onondaga, $2,000; 2:12 trot, $1,200.

Wednesday, Sept. 13.—2:18 trot, $1,200; 2:11 pace, the Syracuse, $5,000; 2:07 trot, the Chamber of Commerce, $2,000; 2:16 pace, $1,000.

Thursday, Sept. 14.—2:08 pace, $1,000; 2:09 trot, $1,200; free for all pace, $1,000.

Friday, Sept. 15.—2:04 trot, $1,200; 2:05 pace, $1,000.

The Intercity Matinee races will be sandwiched in with the professional events on Thursday and Friday.

The feature grand circuit events will be the Empire State stake for $10,000, in which the best trotters and pacers of the year will start, and the Syracuse stake for $5,000, which brings out the best in the pacing division.

Not only are all of the grand circuit stables headed for Syracuse, but the unusually attractive program has won the entries of many campaigners from the half mile track circuits.

The State Fair track is one of the most perfect mile circular courses in the world, and, considering the prospects for the hottest kind of competition, it is not unlikely that new race records will be established. Among the famous drivers now appearing in the grand circuit who will be at Syracuse are Geers, Snow, McDonald, Cox, Benyon, Murphy, Shank, Hersey, McMahon, James, Loomis, Dodge and Sanders.

All of the Intercity Matinee races will be to speed wagons as light as sulkies, and the time made by the trotters and pacers handled by the amateurs will compare favorably with that in the grand circuit events.

Central's Handsome Prizes.

Among the active workers for the success of the coming New York State Fair is the New York Central railroad, which has offered seven handsome cups valued at $100 each for prizes in the exhibits of wheat, corn, hops, barley, apples, white oats and Irish potatoes. The winners of these will not be barred from competition for the company's $1,000 prizes at the American Land and Irrigation exposition to be held later in New York city.

Made It Warm.

"I got a cold supper when I went home tonight, and you bet I kicked about it."

"Did that do any good?"

"Well, my wife made it warm for me."

Do not take upon yourself a load of hatred. It is a heavier load than you think.—Mme. de Sevigne.

COL. FRANCIS FERARI'S

African Jungle and Trained Animal Arena

AT THE FULTON FAIR NOW!

Col. Ferari's Trained Wild Animal Arena that has been the feature of every exposition since the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893 is now at the Oswego County Fair at Fulton, where is presented the greatest trained wild animal acts ever presented in this country. This animal show is the most expensive and gorgeously equipped institution of its kind in the world. The carved golden front of this show is valued at $35,000. The immense and beautiful electric orchestrian is valued at $50,000 and is equal to a 75 piece orchestra. Inside will be found 200 animal actors, including lions, tigers, pumas, leopards, bears, wolves, etc.

In fact every wild animal that has been known to natural history, all trained and mastered by 6 of Europe's greatest trainers.

The Prudent Farmer

THERE is a great deal being said throughout the country about the importance of farming. The fact is that the people are just beginning to understand the value of land and the independent position of the farmer. The farmer who deposits his surplus money in a strong, safe bank can tide over a season of bad crops, when it comes. A progressive farmer takes the precaution to lay aside money in good years for possible emergencies when crops fail.

REPUBLICAN CITY CAUCUSES HELD

The Republican city caucuses were held on Monday night and there were spirited contests in every ward in the city except the Second Ward, Mr. Stevenson's bailiwick. A considerable work had been done in each other ward by the friends of the aspirants to judicial honors, Attorneys Bartlett and Hubbs, and each side was confident of victory. If there is a voter in Fulton who was not importuned many times to "be sure to come to the caucus and vote for me," he has cause to feel slighted.

In the First Ward Mr. Edward Connelly lead the fight for the Hubbs forces and Trolley Station Agent L. E. Taggert lead the fight for the Bartlett forces. Every inch of the ground was contested vigorously and Mr. Connelly's delegations won out by ten votes.

In the Second Ward there was no contest and the delegates were instructed for Sweet, Stranahan, Culkin and Bartlett.

The Third Ward was the scene of the most desperate battle ever waged at a Fulton caucus. Supervisor Wade E. Gayer and Mr. J. J. Little lead the Bartlett forces to victory; there did not seem to be any one-man head to the Hubbs fight in this ward although there was a popular and formidable fighting force for him composed of non-partisans from all sections of the ward. There were 215 votes cast at the caucus of which the Bartlett delegation secured a majority of 35. Last fall the total vote on governor cast in that ward was 273—132 for Stimson; 105 for Dix and 36 for MacNicholl. This shows the difference in the voting strength in the Third Ward when the apathy of the fall election is succeeded by the interest of the present campaign.

The Fourth Ward fight was conducted along intense lines. There were no fireworks; no idle words. Each fighting force got to work with a will and everything was conducted with the greatest degree of decorum and formality. When the ballots were counted it was found that the district delegation headed by Mr. Thomas Hunter had won by a two to one vote.

The Fifth Ward has had the eyes of several of the counties upon it during the preliminaries to the caucuses as it was the home ward of Mr. M. A. Stranahan, the candidate for sheriff, and it was as loyally devoted to Mr. Hubbs' interests as to Mr. Stranahan's. The situation developed complications and there were perhaps more untruths told regarding the situation in the Fifth Ward than all the rest of the city. Never for a moment did the Republicans in that ward falter in their loyalty to their candidate for sheriff, and the 127 Hubbs men in the caucus were also Stranahan men. This ward instructed for Stranahan, Culkin and Stone. The Hubbs delegation, headed by Mr. William Hunter, won without a contest and all the hard feelings that had been in evidence at times through the contest had been entirely banished.

In the Sixth Ward the contest was called off and the delegations were elected by acclamation.

In all wards in the city instructions were given for the county ticket including Sweet, Stranahan, Culkin and Stone. There was no contest on county delegations in any wards, the fight coming wholly on the district delegations.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CAUCUSES.

The Republican county caucuses were held in most of the towns on Monday afternoon, the cities of Oswego and Fulton on Monday evening. Excitement was at fever heat throughout the county and has not subsided to any appreciable extent as yet.

There were no contests so far as the county was concerned, the sentiment being almost unanimous for Assemblyman Sweet's return to Albany, and for the election of M. A. Stranahan for sheriff; F. D. Culkin for district attorney and for C. A. Stone for county superintendent of the poor. The fight was entirely for the control of the delegates to the judicial convention.

The Times on Tuesday morning asked Congressman Mott for his belief as to the status of the two candidates, Attorneys Bartlett and Hubbs. Mr. Mott expressed himself as convinced that Mr. Bartlett would enter the convention with at least 110 delegates and that his nomination was already assured. When this statement became known in Fulton the Hubbs supporters came back with the statement that they were absolutely sure of 109 delegates in the convention unalterably for Hubbs. This would indicate that the outcome is too close for comfort on the part of either the Bartlett or the Hubbs contingent and that the decision will finally rest with the convention. In the meanwhile the average citizen is awaiting the outcome hopefully believing that all this turmoil and struggle will not finally end in losing the justiceship to Oswego county. The breaches must be healed and the end assured that a resident justice shall become ours.

In Volney a fight was waged which resulted in the Hubbs delegation led by V. V. Vant being victorious by one ballot. In Sandy Creek where a close vote was expected the majority for Bartlett was 136. Granby is Bartlett. Albion, Boylston, Constantia, Hastings, Mexico, Orwell, Parish, Redfield, Richland, Volney, West Monroe, four wards in Fulton are for Hubbs. Bartlett won Granby, two wards in Fulton, Hannibal, Oswego Town, New Haven, Sandy Creek, Williamstown and Oswego. Palermo, Schroeppel and Scriba are uninstructed and are claimed by both sides.

The interval between to-day and Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock will be filled with unrest on the part of the contestants and their friends. The county and district conventions will be held in Pulaski on Tuesday.

Volney.

District Delegates—V. V. Vant, Robert Simpson, Sydney Austin, Charles Bradford, Eber Gardner.

County Delegates—Eugene Rowe, Henelym France, Charles Parker, Henry Stevens, Benjamin Coles.

MOTT ATTENDS DINNER; VICE-PRESIDENT HOST.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Representative Mott of Oswego was a guest at a dinner given by Vice-President Sherman at the Dower House this evening. The Dower House is about eighteen miles from Washington and the party went out in automobiles. Among the others present were Senators Lodge, Penrose, Oliver and Wetmore, Commissioner of Indian Affairs Valentine and Dr. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster-general.

Permission to Mortgage Given.

According to papers filed Saturday, St. John's Episcopal Church at Phoenix has been granted permission to mortgage its premises for $1,500 with the Fulton Savings Bank for the purpose of paying for a new guild-house and other improvements.

LOCAL MAIL CARRIERS.

Arrangements Are Being Perfected to Join in Festivities and Celebrations of National Convention at Rochester.

Arrangements are being perfected whereby the city carriers belonging to the local office will be permitted to attend the National Convention of Letter Carriers—a most important convention—which will be held at Rochester, N. Y., for four days, beginning Monday, Sept 4 (Labor Day). Should the plans mature and the necessary authority be obtained from the Department at Washington, the local force will not make the usual one-delivery on the morning of September 4, but the carriers window in the postoffice will be open from 7 to 9 a. m. for the delivery of mail to all who may desire to call at the main office. The usual collection will be made by a substitute member of the force and there will be no change in the usual dispatch of mail. This arrangement, if completed, will enable the local force to join with their collaborators of adjoining cities in the deliberations and festivities including a monster parade at Rochester of probably the largest gathering of postal employees heretofore seen in this State. To be explicit about the arrangements, if authorized, no mail will be delivered by carriers on Labor Day, and the work will be reduced to a minimum.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

New Banking Institution Will Be Prepared to Receive Deposits Next Friday Morning.

Next Friday will mark a new epoch in the history of Fulton; it will be the establishment of a postal savings bank. These institutions are coming into favor throughout the United States and speak volumes for the acuteness of discernment of our worthy Postmaster-General, Mr. Frank H. Hitchcock.

It is not thought that the establishment of the postal savings bank will create a great furore in the financial and commercial circles of the city, but as an infant prodigy it promises to have a marvelous growth through all the ills incident to childhood, youth and manhood, until its success will be assured and the institution become as useful and necessary in this country and as valuable an adjunct as similar institutions have become in nearly all European nations.

It is expected that those who will seek the postal savings bank as a depository for their savings will, in the first instance, be foreigners who have unwarranted suspicion of our State and National banking institutions. It is hoped that some portion of the enormous quantity of money sent abroad each year for savings purposes, may be retained in this country by these institutions.

The postal savings banking institution will be open for business on Friday next, Aug. 25, from 8 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. Prospective depositors will find a large corps of obliging clerks ready to receive their deposits and to give all needed and necessary information regarding details.

POSTMASTER ACCUSED OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Charges of political activity and general unfitness for office were made to-day against Fred Greiner, the postmaster at Buffalo, N. Y., before the House Committee on Postal Expenditures.

Representitive Charles B. Smith appeared before the committee and urged investigation of the charges. The committee decided to ask the Postmaster-General for a report.

The charges cited that Greiner has been a delegate to all Republican state conventions in New York since 1901, that he was a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1908, that he is a member of the New York State Republican executive Committee and that he is the Republican party "boss" of Buffalo and Erie county.

The investigation was also requested in a letter read from H. W. Bendel, former chairman of the Erie County Committee. The Postoffice Committee will take up the matter after it hears from the Postmaster-General, but the investigation probably will not proceed until fall.

N. Y. COPS AT STATE FAIR.

Forty of Best Mounted Policemen of Gotham Will Exhibit.

New York, Aug. 19.—The State Fair at Syracuse will see forty mounted policemen from the traffic squad of New York city in action during the week beginning September 11th. Commissioner Waldo to-day granted them permission to give an exhibition. The forty are skilful horsemen, who were formerly connected with the United States Artillery. They will leave for Syracuse on September 1st, and will be supervised in their manoeuvres by Commissioner Waldo.

Wants Tax Sale Set Aside.

A summons and complaint in an action brought by Caroline F. Barnes of Phoenix against Herman W. Kandt, as County Treasurer, et al., was filed in the County Clerk's office. Plaintiff seeks to have set aside a tax sale deed given in 1880 to Joshua H. Williams of Phoenix, covering property claimed by the plaintiff.

CONGRESSMAN ACTIVE FOR FULTON

Urging All Haste in Matter of Fulton Postoffice—Will Push Action With All Effort At His Command —Architect's Office Handicapped.

Congressman Mott states that the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds of the House of Representatives has under consideration a change in the present system of building public buildings which may work for the earlier beginning of work on the Fulton Post Office if adopted. At present the Treasury Department is placing about ten buildings a month so that it is about four years from the passage of an appropriation for a building before it is completed. A deficiency in the annual appropriation for running the Supervising Architect's office will reduce the number of buildings started to six a month for some months. This delay is very annoying and embarrassing as it is hard to make communities realize that work must be seeking delayed and that no favoritism is shown. The committee at the regular session next December will endeavor to submit a plan whereby buildings may be constructed within a reasonable time after authorization. Congressman Mott is greatly interested in the suggested changes owing to his desire to have the office at Fulton built. Fulton is the only place of sufficient size in this district which is not already provided with a building.

FANNING WITHDREW FROM FIGHT.

Fulton will present but one candidate for county office to the Republican convention to be held on Tuesday next at Pulaski. Myron A. Stranahan, the candiate for sheriff, will have the united support of his home city and he will be very successful in his quest for votes after the convention. It is not thought that there will be any name other than Mr. Stranahan's presented to the convention.

On Monday Attorney G. M. Fanning, who was a candidate for district attorney, gave an open letter to the public and the press announcing his withdrawal from the fight for delegates at the primaries. His letter follows:

To the Electors of the City of Fulton:

The primaries of the Republican party being called for this evening [illegible] to announce to my friends that I have decided to make no effort looking toward my nomination for the office of district attorney of Oswego county. I take this position for the reason that the city of Fulton now has a candidate in the field for the office of sheriff, whose prospects are of the brightest for his nomination, and with the serious struggle that is now going on throughout the county and city for judicial delegates it might embarrass his candidacy if the delegates of the city of Fulton were seeking two such important offices as sheriff and district attorney.

I take this opportunity to thank my friends for the many warm expressions of confidence that have been received by me from the citizens of this city generally, regardless of party affiliations, which is of great satisfaction for any candidate to receive from the citizens of his own city.

Thanking all of the friends who have so warmly supported my cause, I beg to remain.

Very truly yours.

GEORGE M. FANNING.

Attorney F. D. Culkin of Oswego will, it is believed, secure the united delegations from the six wards in Fulton.

CROWD, HEADED BY BAND, SERENADE CONGRESSMAN.

Oswego, Aug. 20.—A large crowd gathered at Fort Ontario this afternoon to hear the first official concert given by the Twenty-fourth United States Infantry Band. A concert will also be given to-morrow evening between 7 and 8 o'clock.

The band serenaded Congressman Luther W. Mott at his home, West Sixth and Schuyler streets, last evening upon his arrival from Washington. Congressman Mott made a brief speech of thanks for the demonstration. It was through his efforts that the band was secured for Fort Ontario.

The band will return to Madison Barracks Tuesday and remain there until Saturday, playing at the military carnival there on Friday next. They will return to Oswego and remain here several weeks. Congressman Mott will bear all expenses of the band to and from the carnival.

Possible Mayoralty Candidate.

The enthusiastic friends of Mr. W. A. Church, the energetic Republican worker from the Sixth Ward, are urging him to accept its nomination on the Republican ticket this fall. When approached upon the subject Mr. Church replies that he is too busy at present to bother with such matters. But his friends keep on trying just the same.

Endorsing Judge Purcell.

Secretary Gilbert S. Woolworth, of the Democratic County Committee of Jefferson county, mailed letters to all of the committee members advising them that Justice Henry Purcell will be a candidate for re-election this fall and suggesting that resolutions be adopted at each caucus endorsing his candidacy.

FAST SCHEDULE POSSIBLE.

That more than one-fourth of the present running time between Syracuse and Oswego will be clipped off when the proposed limited schedule is adopted by the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern Railroad was decided Tuesday at a conference of officials of the Traffic and Operating Departments of that railroad.

Although the officials did not arrive at the exact running time for the new schedule at this conference it was decided that the maximum time that would be set would be one hour and twenty-five minutes and it was stated that it was possible that still faster time would be made.

It was also definitely decided that the new schedule would be put in effect immediately after the State Fair which closes on September 16th. It is likely, therefore, that the limited schedule will go on about the 18th.

Whether the new schedule will call for a limited train every hour from each terminal or one every other hour is not as yet determined nor has it been decided how frequent the local service will be. The plan is, however, to provide as much service as the fall and winter traffic conditions warrant.

Plans are being made for a large amount of service over the Lake Shore road during State Fair and Karnival week. Every other through Oswego-Syracuse train will be run in two-car sections at least and between the Electric Railway Terminal in Syracuse and the State Fair grounds there will be a two-car train every two minutes throughout the day.

TO SPEAK IN BAPTIST CHURCH.

Miss Isabelle Crawford, pioneer missionary to the American Indians and for many years associated with the Kiowa tribe, will be at the Baptist Church Thursday evening and give an address, telling interesting incidents and a history of her work. She will dress in costume and give portions of scripture in the sign language.

The public is cordially invited, especially the "Jubilee" women. Her talk will be interesting to the young people in particular. Miss Crawford has a very pleasing personality and tells her story in an exceptionally charming manner. She is one of the brightest and most successful missionaries in the Baptist denomination.

A reception will be tendered Miss Crawford by the Baptist ladies in the afternoon in the church parlors and a picnic luncheon will be served at the supper hour.

COMPLAINT IS FILED.

Albany, Aug. 21.—The formal complaint of Frank H. Fuller of the town of Scriba against the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern Railroad Company, which corporation it is charged has discontinued service on its trolley line south from Oswego to Seneca Hill, has been filed with the Public Service Commission, Second District. Notice of a hearing has not yet been given. S. C. Turner of Oswego is the attorney for the complainant.

OSWEGO COUNTY FAIR A SUCCESS

Weather Ideal and Attractions Better Than Ever Before — Attendance Record Broken—Positively Proven There is Demand for Such An Exposition—Two Accidents Marred the Sport on Thursday.

Benjamin Ingersoll, an acrobat of this city, was performing on a horizontal bar, twenty feet in the air and when hanging head downwards his bar broke and he fell to the hard ground, striking on his head and shoulders. Drs. Schlappi, Marsh, Fox and Cusack were in the crowd and they hastened to the assistance of the unconscious man. He was carried into Secretary Allen's office where he was revived and he was then removed to his home. Internal injuries were at first feared but he seems to be making marvelous strides toward recovery.

Charles Warner, a jockey, was thrown from his steed, Teddy, and dragged some distance. He was removed to the hospital where he was patched up about the scalp and revived and he walked to his home.

On Wednesday an accident was imminent when the pole horse broke and three horses, sulkies and drivers piled up on the prostrate horse. One horse, freed from its sulky, started to run among crowd but some of the colored soldiers who were drilling at the time, saw the danger and averted it by their quickness of movement. They brought the crazed horse to a standstill when within a step of the crowd.

The midway was the most attractive ever secured for Fulton. The fakirs were funny, the shows better and bigger, the soldiers and the music were deeply appreciated and the crowds were bigger and better natured than at any previous exhibit. The crowds were tremendous, yet they were managed with consumate skill by the policemen so that no accidents could be traced to lack of police protection. The days and nights were strenuous ones for the patrolmen and the chief, but they deserve all the praise they received for the manner in which they handled the crowds.

The total attendance as figured out by Secretary Allen was in the neighborhood of 30,000 for the three days.

During the progress of the Fair frequent rumors were heard that it was to be the last Fair of the society and that the grounds were to be sold. This is absolutely denied by the management. No such thing has ever been contemplated and no such thing will be considered. The stupendous success of the late Fair; the large attendance; the general good time enjoyed by all present was sufficient proof that there is a crying demand for the continuance of the expositions and they will undoubtedly become bigger and better with time, rather than abolished.

HOME-MADE FIREWORKS APPRECIATED.

Fulton may well be proud of her display of fireworks during the evenings of the Fair held last week. The pieces were of unusual brilliancy and they were set off in rapid succession and without accident. Frank Massaro was in charge of the display, and every piece being made in Fulton by a local resident, a relative of the young man who solicited the money for the exhibition and who took personal charge of the firing. The feature was enjoyed by thousands each night.

HOTEL CONTRACTORS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE.

Oswego, Aug. 18.—Work on the new Hotel Pontiac is progressing very rapidly. F. Snyder of Syracuse, who has the contract for the plastering and exterior stucco work, has a large gang of men employed erecting scaffolds and work will be commenced Monday in applying the first of a series of three coats of stucco. It has not been decided yet what the color of the last coat will be, but this matter will be taken up within a few days. The work on the interior of the hotel will also be started next week and the partitions will be built of three-inch gypsum blocks and the floors will be of concrete.

As the contract stands to-day every contractor is ahead of the schedule, and this fact promises an early completion of the hotel.

HARSH CRITICISM OF LEGISLATURE

Independent Press Condemns Record of 1911.

VARIOUS VIEWS ARE SHOWN.

Some Criticise One Bad Feature, Some Another, but One and All Coincide in Condemnation of Its Work So Far. While All Seem to Agree That the Worst May Yet Be In Store.

Albany, Aug. 22.—As a rule, newspapers that are strict adherents of the fortunes of one or the other of the great political parties are judged as a trifle prejudiced in their estimate and viewpoint of the doings of legislative bodies and of state or national administrations; hence it is that one is apt to turn for an unprejudiced opinion on these matters to the independent press. Without exaggeration it may be truly said that the independent press of New York state finds nothing to praise and much to condemn in the record of the legislature of 1911 so far made, while it seems to hold the opinion that the worst is yet to come.

The Syracuse Herald ranks as the great independent paper of central New York. In part its estimate of the legislature of 1911 to date is as follows:

Tammany was supreme in the legislature for the first time since the days of Tweed.

How obediently the legislature, including a majority of the up state Democrats, carried out the instructions of a selfish and clumsy tyrant its written record tells. It raided the canals and highways of the state in the interests of party control. It legislated out of office the present court of claims with the same object in view. It adopted the Levy election bill in order to handcuff the independent vote, as if, forsooth, the independent vote could not find a way to strike back. Finally, it was guilty of monumental perfidy through its failure to fulfill the deliberately recorded pledge of its party in the matter of direct primary nominations. One can hardly decide whether its sins of omission or its sins of commission were the more reprehensible. An independent newspaper in western New York has called the Democratic majority a collection of puppets and dwarfs. It is impossible to challenge this description when we reflect that it dare not take a single step without the sanction of a man whom a fate unfriendly to the Democratic party placed at the head of Tammany Hall.

The recess of the legislature leaves the New York Democracy with but one consolation. That the assembly to be elected next November will be Republican by a large majority is as certain as any future political event could be. With a mixed legislature after Jan. 1 Boss Murphy's power for folly and for evil will be practically nullified. That will be fortunate from the Democratic point of view, for another season of unchecked Tammany supremacy in the legislature would deprive the New York Democracy of any opportunity worth considering to gain the electoral vote of the state in the presidential contest of next year.

The New York Times is an independent paper with strong Democratic leanings. Here is one of its criticisms of Governor Dix:

Governor Dix's memorandum, accompanying his veto of the bill conferring a commission form of government upon the union of Matteawan and Fishkill Landing into the new city of Beacon is not very clear in its wording. The governor intends, he says, to recommend to the next legislature a uniform charter—what sort of charter it will be is not specified—for cities of the third class. In the interest of uniformity, therefore, he disapproves the Beacon bill. The proposed Beacon charter was carefully prepared. It embodied a short ballot for the new city, eliminating the features of initiative, referendum and recall, which in other cities under commission government betray a lingering distrust of the few responsible and able men whom they permit the people to choose as their municipal heads. Why not let Beacon try its experiment? Perhaps its charter would prove of the kind that Governor Dix should recommend for all cities. Perhaps, too, there ought not to be a uniform charter for all. The governor is a Democrat. He believes in the principle of home rule. Lessons are to be gained from diversities in the government of cities brought about by their special needs.

In western New York the Buffalo Express ranks as a representative independent paper. In its sweeping condemnation of the legislature of 1911 the Express goes on to say:

The longest legislative session in many years—the longest but one in the history of the state, we believe—was likewise the most reactionary and the most unscrupulous. Its record of legislation is almost wholly one of spoils grabbing. Hardly a general act has been adopted which has or even pretends to have any higher motive than the transference of office to Democrats of the type that is satisfactory to the ruling machine. Beginning with fine promises about adhering to business principles the legislature has daunted the business interests of the state and has refused nearly every request made by business men when not backed by an equally strong political interest. It defied the business men who are interested in the improvement of roads by abolishing the old highway commission and appointing a partisan Democratic commission in its place with the Tammany state engineer and surveyor as its dominating figure. It was equally deaf to the business interests which feel concern for the canals. Against their earnest protests it abolished the board of advisory engineers, turning its power over to the state engineer and surveyor and authorizing him to appoint assistants. It rejected the careful plans of the canal men for the building of terminals and put through a bill which, if approved by the people, will call for the expenditure of $10,000,000, virtually at the dictation of this same Tammany state engineer and surveyor. Many of the best lawyers in the state, Democrats as well as Republicans, including several former judges and even the present attorney general, protested as strongly as possible against the abolition of the present court of claims and the appointment of a partisan board in its place. But the bill was passed.

The worst act of the session was the Levy elections law, which creates a state wide partisan machine at a cost of nearly $3,000,000, with the purpose of helping the Democratic party to keep itself in power. When first introduced this bill went so far as to abolish machine voting. The bosses weakened on that, but the act embodies every possible discouragement to independent movements.

It has been distinctly a Democratic legislature—a body making laws for the supposed benefit of the Democratic party or of individual members and bosses of that party rather than for the people of the state.

The Albany Knickerbocker-Press, one of the independent papers of the Capital City, contributes this partial estimate of the legislature of 1911 as far as it has gone:

The present legislature has already exceeded the record of its predecessor by $3,000,000, and there is more to come.

Examination of this record will help the people of the state to a better understanding of Tammany rule and of why it has been necessary to revive the direct tax to meet the ordinary running expenses of the state government.

UP STATE IS IGNORED.

Speaker Frisbie Is to Be Retired For Murphy-Tammany Man.

Albany, Aug. 22.—If further evidence were needed as to the insolent contempt felt by Murphy and his Tammany lieutenants toward the up state rural communities it is furnished in the semiofficial announcement that Speaker Frisbie is to be made state commissioner of agriculture on Jan. 1 next, or as soon as his term as member of assembly expires.

It has been no secret that the Murphy-Tammany combine has neither admiration nor respect for Frisbie, who hails from Schoharie, and that he was elected as speaker last January because Tammany was not then so firmly in the saddle as to feel warranted in ignoring up state too much. All through the session Frisbie has been flouted and ignored by Tammany Leader Smith. Notwithstanding that Frisbie has been subservient to Murphy in most things he defied the "big man" when he deserted Sheehan for United States senator and sided with Governor Dix and William J. Bryan on the income tax amendment. For these acts of insubordination Frisbie is to be disciplined. A straightout Tammany speaker is to be elected by the legislature of 1912, and Frisbie is to be "kicked upstairs" into a state job with not one-tenth the influence or prestige of the speakership.

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE

Democrats Promised "Retrenchment." Then Gave Us Extravagance.

The Democratic organization promised retrenchment and economy before election and then devised new schemes of taxation in order that the funds necessary to meet the extravagances of Democratic government might be raised.

The only promise that the Democratic legislature redeemed was the promise to indorse the income tax amendment.

The promise to pass a state wide direct primary law was brazenly repudiated. The election laws as the Democratic legislature left them are, in fact, infinitely worse than they were before. For the benefit of Tammany Hall the legislature passed a bill for the express purpose of rendering abortive any independent movement in the state of New York and in order to make it more difficult for the people to destroy the all powerful and blighting influence of political machines.

So far as constructive legislation is concerned, there has been none that was not intended especially and solely for the purpose of providing jobs for the faithful.

Every Democratic leader in the state was chiefly concerned in the passage of measures that would enable him and his friends to dip their greedy paws into the state treasury, and more "ripper" legislation was proposed and passed at Albany than during any other legislative session in the last twenty years.—Catskill Mail.

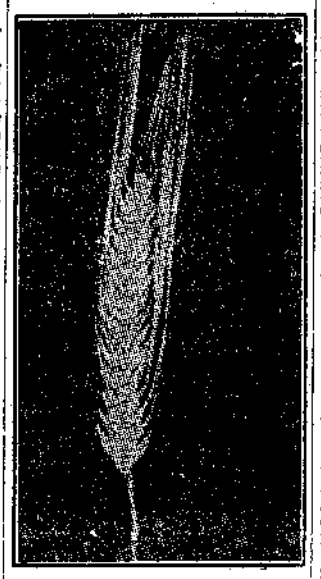
Tammany Hands on Militia.

Albany, Aug. 22.—Even the national guard, long the pride of the Empire State and which has not felt the blighting band of political manipulation before, was not safe this year from the patronage hungry Tammanyites. While Governor Dix ignored party lines and retained a Republican, General Verbeck, as adjutant general, Tammany wants to fasten its grip on the organization of the national guard. Major General Roe is obnoxious to the Tammany men in the New York city portion of the national guard, and he will not please them by retiring voluntarily. Hence Tammany contrived a bill fixing a compulsory age retirement limit which would force General Roe out of the service. Not a few up state Democrats opposed the measure, but they were whipped into line and the bill passed.

"Home to the Taxpayers."

Through imposition of the two new officeholders—election commissioners—at a salary of $3,000 and a probable office expense of $2,000 more, Saratoga county has a fine example of the "business" and "economical" administration promised by the Democrats in their campaign last year and one that comes directly home to our taxpayers.

Such work as these commissioners are required to do has been promptly and well done and without any additional expense by the county clerk.—Daily Saratogian.



CHARACTER.

The gifts of wealth, place, ease and luxury are dispensed with a good deal of caprice, but nobody ever heard that a character was got by chance.

HOPS VALUED BY LOOKS AND AROMA.

Best Are Raised In Bohemia, Bavaria and Parts of England.

According to the prevailing opinions which, according to some American growers, are mere prejudices, the best hops are raised in Bohemia, Bavaria and some parts of England, notably Kent. Most American brewers as well as their European brothers value hops largely by their appearance and their aroma. This matter is being thrashed out thoroughly in connection with the barley and hop exhibition which will be held in Chicago Oct. 12-22. As in the case of other aromatic plants, the sources of the aroma are not well understood. Aroma usually depends upon such minute particles of substance that even the delicate reactions in the chemical laboratory are frequently inadequate to discover them. The high prices which are paid, for instance, for certain wines are based upon their flavor or aroma, and yet this flavor or aroma cannot be discovered by chemical analysis. It is not surprising, therefore, that the substances which contain the flavor or aroma of hops have never been ascertained with certainty. There is a theory that they are closely associated with the soft resins contained in the lupulin, or the hop flour, which is found between the bracts of the cone and which is really the essential part of the hop plant.

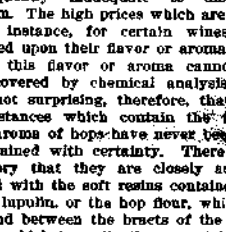
As for the color of the hops, various preferences prevail, some preferring the varieties which are entirely green, while others think the yellowish green is preferable. In this country the yellowish kinds are usually preferred, while in Germany the green ones have the call.

Inasmuch as the brewing value of hops depends largely upon the lupulinic acid and the soft resins and the American hops are unusually rich in soft resins, American hop growers need have no fear of entering the prize competition at Chicago under the rules which have been adopted for the jury which is to judge the hops.



AWARDS OF PRIZES FOR HOP EXHIBITS.

Conditions That Will Govern In This Class.

Awards of prizes will be made according to the following rules for hops entered in the second international barley and hop prize exhibition to be held at Chicago, Oct. 12-22, 1911:

The awards will consist of twenty-one prizes, the highest amounting to $150.

For the purpose of prize distribution each distinct hop growing section (foreign or domestic) will constitute a class by itself. The following American sections are recognized as distinct for this purpose: (1) New York state, (2) California, (3) Oregon, (4) Washington, (5) British Columbia.

LUPULIN GLAND MAGNIFIED 320 TIMES.

Hops grown outside of these sections will be considered as belonging to that section which conforms most closely to their districts geographically and climatically, in the discretion of the committee on awards.

All samples of hops must be certified to have been grown by the exhibitor.

The amount of hops offered for exhibit must be at least ten pounds, with six clusters of about twelve cones each.

SAVAGE SPORT.

Slapping Game of the Bontoc Igorrotes a Unique Contest.

Every nation has its own idea of sport. That of the wild Igorrotes of northern Luzon used to consist principally of head hunting, a grisly and bloody recreation which the American occupation discouraged. But not all the pastimes of the Igorrotes are as horrible as this. One rather amusing game of which they are fond is thus described by Dean C. Worcester in the National Geographic Magazine:

A constabulary officer tells us that if we want to see a unique contest we must ask for the slapping game of the Bontoc Igorrotes. We want to see all there is going and say so.

A wooden bench is brought out, and two lithe and muscular young men step forward. One of them squats on the bench, grasping his right thigh in his hands so as to tighten the muscles as much as possible.

The other stands beside him and stretches out his right arm. He throws his arm back and then sweeps it forward in a full round arm swing. The blow falls on thin air, close to the tightened thigh muscles of his opponent.

He now swings his arm back again, his whole body turning with it, rises on the toes of his left foot and puts every ounce of strength which he possesses into a blow delivered with the flat of his hand upon the rigid thigh of his opponent. Knots of muscle spring out on his arm, back and legs as he strikes and the blow cracks like a revolver shot.

The recipient endeavors, sometimes with poor success, to preserve an expression of contemptuous indifference. The judges examine his thigh. If the blow has been hard enough blood will show just beneath the skin and he will not have the stisfaction of taking a whack at his opponent, but if this result has not been achieved the other must take his seat on the bench and submit to be smitten.

The contest continues until one succeeds in producing the bloody mark on the other.

DECAY OF THE TEETH.

Lime Starvation the Basic Cause, Says a Chemist.

"The almost universal decay of the teeth is proof positive that our nation is suffering lime starvation," writes a chemistry lecturer in the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

"Our dentists prescribe tooth washes and tooth pastes, advocate local hygiene, fill cavities and fit bridges, and all this time ignore the fact that the basic cause is lime starvation.

"Dentists will tell you that the sugar you take in your mouth acts directly upon your teeth. Dentists shut their eyes to the evident fact that decay starts first in the pulp beneath the intact enamel and honeycombs the interior tooth until the shell-like bridge of enamel breaks beneath the strain.

"The enamel gives absolute protection against the external attacks of acids and sugar. I have immersed sound teeth for months in a solution of fruit acids and sugar and have been unable to detect any erosion of either the enamel or the pulp.

"When you eat sweetmeats the sugar, with its irresistible affinity for soluble lime, combines with the calcium of the blood, and the blood retaliates by sapping the soluble from the pulp and substance of the teeth. Druggists make use of this affinity of soluble lime for sugar when preparing the official sirup of lime. Lime forms a solution thirty-five times stronger in simple sirup than in the same quantity of water. If you want your children to have sound, white teeth, see that their diet is rich in lime and poor in sugar."

A Lost Hat.

Note in the Ceylon Independent: "Dear Sir—Mudaliar Harry Jayawardana has evidently forgotten that he handed me his hat at the cremation of the late high priest. I am sorry I failed to inform him before that, carried away by the sentiment of the moment, I flung it to the burning pyre, hoping for future merit. May the merit be his, as he was the owner of the hat."

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William G. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William S. Howard and Giles S. THE WEEK

A strong undertone is in evidence in leading mercantile lines, and while trade continues very conservative there is no lack of confidence concerning the future and the actual volume of business is up to recent averages. More activity is noted in purchases of dry goods by retailers, but in wholesale lines the tendency is to restrict buying as far as possible, readjustment of conditions in cotton and cotton cloths still holding that market in check. Curtailment of production by the large New England mills will be especially marked during the next two weeks. In New England, manufacturers of woolens have additional orders for finished goods and are operating more freely in the raw material market, the week's business being the largest in a long time. Shoe factories are well employed, but new orders are not in large volume. Leather is in restricted request, but prices are very firm. In the steel trade orders are somewhat reduced in volume, but the mills continue to maintain a good rate of activity, and notwithstanding the present production current supplies of new material are kept within actual consumptive requirements. More reassuring advices from the Northwest and exceptionally favorable crop reports from Canada caused renewed liquidation in wheat, prices declining rather sharply. Conditions are apparently more settled in the East and South than in the West, the demand at many southern centers helping most wholesale lines, and the growing certainty that the cotton yield of 1911 in the United States will exceed 14,000,000 bales overshadows all other speculative influences in that market. Bank clearings this week reflect some further improvement, total exchanges being 16.6 per cent larger than a year ago, but 12.6 per cent less than in 1909.

Production of iron and steel in the Pittsburgh district is increasing, but no exceptional activity is expected this year. Export demand is good, but domestic demand is confined closely to requirements. There is a better inquiry for structural material and plates and the pig iron market has developed more activity, especially basic grades. Irregularity in prices is reported on numerous finished products, steel bars being firmer, whereas keen competition in other lines has resulted in further concessions. Contracts for rails and rolling stock are coming forward more freely and inquiries are in the market for a large lot of rails for shipment to Argentina. Demand for structural material comes chiefly from the East and Central West.

There is steady buying of dry goods, but transactions are in small lots to supply actual needs, as stocks are generally depleted. In the primary markets trade is irregular because of the uncertainty regarding future prices. Fall River sold 110,000 pieces of print cloth last week and there is no accumulation. Exports to date are larger than a year ago, although for the moment held up in anticipation of lower cloth prices later on. A distinctly better buying movement is noted in woolens and worsteds, as well as in silks, and the presence of large numbers of buyers in central markets indicates activity that may possibly be underestimated.

Some mail orders for shoes are reported in the New England market, but mostly for moderate lots, and the present volume of business is small, as buyers are operating conservatively, awaiting developments as to the innovations that will be offered.

The selling pressure in wheat, as the result of some slight improvement in northwestern crop advices, was also prompted by another generous increase in domestic visible stocks, the total at Chicago alone exceeding the entire available supply a year ago. Some concessions have been made by flour mills, but present values are not attractive to buyers and demand continues inactive. Western receipts of wheat this week amount to 5,193,448 bushels against 3,918,595 in 1910, while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, of 2,123,135 bushels, compare with 823,361 last year. Early depression in corn accompanied improved crop accounts, but firmness subsequently, developed on the prevalence of high temperature in the Southwest.

Numerous complaints of damage were circulated, but deterioration usually occurs at this season.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for August to date amount to $5,830,630, of which $3,266,292 were in manufacturing, $2,339,538 in trading and $224,810 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 232 in the United States against 215 last year and 34 in Canada compared with 27 a year ago.—Dunn's Review, Aug. 19.

CIVIL WAR ECHOES.

The Silent Man.

General Ulysses Simpson Grant, United States Grant, Unconditional Surrender Grant, was considered one of the great generals of the world. It took the great War of the Rebellion to develop the latent forces that slumbered within him. He wasn't considered brilliant as a boy, young man or even in middle life, but a plain, practical man. Mrs. Grant used to say that the General was a very stubborn man. When he struck a job he hammered away at it if it took all summer.

He had no superior to grasp all the general details of the army and direct them to a successful completion. History says that Sheridan and Sherman both claimed that General Grant could excel them in formulating a plan. He also had excellent judgment as a manager, and was called the "silent man," as he had the faculty to shut his teeth down hard over his cigar stub and keep his own counsel. This caused his enemies to harp that he didn't know anything, and that he was a drunkard because he used stimulants a little, when most everybody else did, when he was Captain during the Mexican War. At that time his biographer says he saw the folly of it and quit. It is said that during the war a delegation called on President Lincoln and tried to inform him of the General's excesses. But he said: "Gentlemen, General Grant fights and if you will find out just the brand of liquors that the General uses I will order some for the rest of my Generals. Good day, gentlemen."

After General Grant had been President and made his tour around the world and wrote his memoirs, he showed some of his sterling common sense. It is claimed that he wasn't profane and that he was a man of great purity of character.

On one occasion when he and Roscoe Conklin visited Syracuse, my wife and I preceded the immense crowd by stationing ourselves in the hallway up stairs of the Vanderbilt House, and just before he stepped through the window onto the balcony to greet the great throng below, he turned and shook hands with us and others. He had a compact and well built form and was easy in his manner and had the appearance of a plain, practical farmer-like American citizen. As I "sized him up" I couldn't see where his greatness lay. One writer has said "that it was the genius of accomplishment that General Grant had that made him great."

OLD SOLDIER TORTURED

"For years I suffered unspeakable torture from indigestion, constipation and liver trouble," wrote A. K. Smith, a war veteran at Erie, Pa., "but Dr. King's New Life Pills fixed me all right. They're simply great." Try them for any stomach liver or kidney trouble. Only 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Railroad Detectives Working on Robbery Case.

The identity of the men who beat young Gregg at the Central station ten days ago, and threw him, bound and gagged, into the cellar while they robbed the station, has not been as yet discovered. Chief Detective Humphries of the New York Central lines has taken personal charge of the work of running down the miscreants and he has pressed into service every detective in the employ of the company.

It is expected that something will materialize in the immediate future.

SAVES TWO LIVES

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery" writes A. D. McDonald of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 8, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough,—all bronchial troubles,—its supreme. Trial bottle free. 50c and $1.00. Guaranted by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

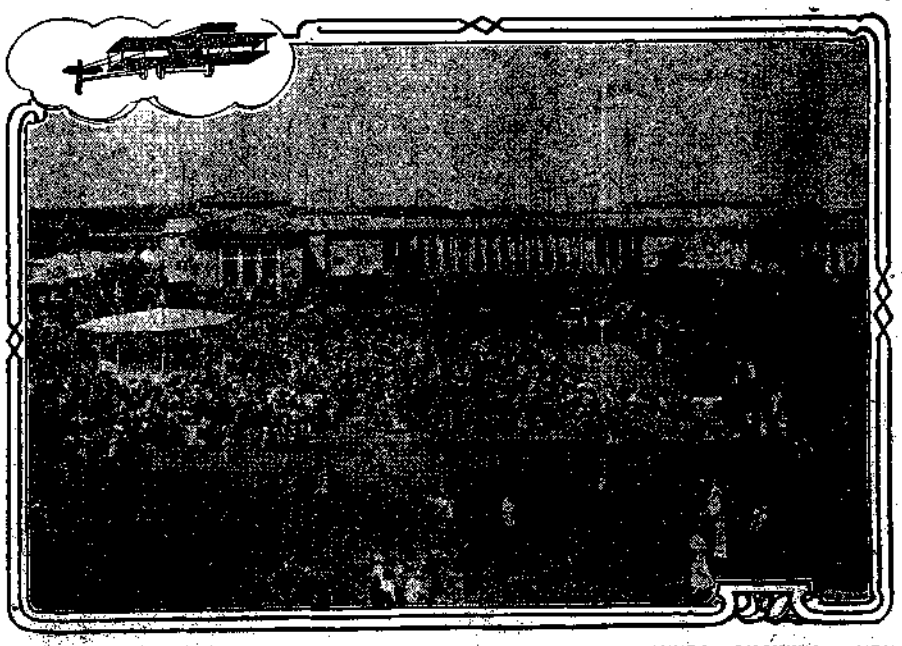
WATERTOWN IS REAL MAD.

The Chamber of Commerce of Watertown is feeling very mad because the 24th Infantry band has been ordered to stay in Oswego for the next six weeks, instead of being ordered back to Watertown.

A carnival is to be held in the barracks on August 25th, and Watertown claims that the band is over 80 per cent of the carnival. Oswego feels that she is entitled to at least six weeks of the superlative music and that Watertown should be magnanimous enough to concede it to her.



Certainly Fulton is deeply indebted to Congressman Mott for the privilege of hearing the crack band of the United States Army during Fair week and does not marvel that Watertown wants the musicians back.

Counterfeit Detectors.

"Few men carry a bigger roll than the professional detector of counterfeits," said a receiving teller of one of the big banks recently. Each of these counterfeit detectors has a special license from the treasury department at Washington which permits him to carry about 150 samples of counterfeit money. It is a felony to have counterfeit money in your possession without proper authority. For each bogus bill the counterfeit detector carries a genuine note of the same kind and denomination for the purposes of comparison. The total value of this good money that is carried side by side with the bad is between $40,000 and $50,000. The bills run from a dollar up to $1,000 in denomination."—New York Sun.

The Solar Plexus.

The Scriptural expression "bowels of compassion" is justified by the discoveries of modern science. Whenever anything affects our nerves we feel it more or less in our "innards." It is the solar plexus which is concerned in such emotionalism. Of course in itself it cannot feel, but it sends messages to the brain, which interprets them as coming from there. The solar plexus is a mass of nerves and nerve structures in the abdomen at the back of the stomach.—New York Tribune.

STRUGGLE.

Did you ever hear of a man who had striven all his life faithfully and singly toward an object and in no measure obtained it? If a man constantly aspires, is he not elevated? Did ever a man try heroism, magnanimity, truth, sincerity, and find that there was no advantage in them—that it was a vain endeavor?—H. D. Thoreau.

When Bunyan Went to Jail.

The bill of indictment preferred against John Bunyan, who wrote "Pilgrim's Progress," ran thus: "John Bunyan hath devilishly and perniciously abstained from coming to church to hear divine service and is a common upholder of several unlawful meetings and conventicles to the disturbance and distraction of the good subjects of this kingdom, contrary to the laws of our sovereign lord the king." He was convicted and imprisoned twelve years and six months.—"Book of Notable Things."

Wonderful Insight.

A negro having won a dollar at a crap game decided to spend it on having his fortune told. The fortune teller led him into a gloomy room with dirty hangings and misty red lights. She took his palm, traced it with a dollar, spread out her cards and then said: "You are very fond of music; you like chicken; you have won money at craps, and you have been in jail." The negro looked at her with bulging eyes and finally ejaculated, "Mah goodness, lady; why you jest read mah inmost thoughts!"—Argonaut.

SOME LIGHT ON LEVY LAW.

Very little is known regarding the provisions of the Levy bill which became a law at the last session of the legislature. An Oswego paper interviewed Commissioners of Election Whitney and Baker on Monday and secured the following information as to their duties. Nothing is known regarding the law and its workings other than the following, as the copies of the law have not yet been received at the County Clerk's office.

The Palladium said:

The commissioners will come here next Monday and every week thereafter until election, unless matters develop which will require their presence here in the meantime.

A copy of the Levy bill, which amended the old election law in many ways, shows that in the nomination for office of a man on an independent ticket who shall at the same time be a party candidate for the same position, objections may be filed and the nomination rejected by the custodian of primary records if it be shown by affidavit that five per cent of the names appearing on the petition are false or forged. It also provides that the board of elections, which in this county refers to the Commissioners of Election, shall as soon as possible after the delivery to them of lists containing the names of electors registered, prepare not less than fifty times as many copies of said list as there are election districts in such Assembly districts. Two pamphlets containing list of registered persons shall be furnished to each police captain in all villages and cities and it is the duty of these officers to investigate and report any case of false registration. The Commissioners shall furnish to the State Superintendents of Election three copies of each pamphlet printed. The others may be distributed wherever thought best and the board shall have the right to charge not to exceed ten cents a copy for these pamphlets. The contract for the printing of such pamphlets shall be let to the lowest bidder by the board.

The law regarding registration outside of cities and villages has been changed so that now the election inspectors shall place upon the rolls the names of all persons who voted at the last general election, and also those presenting themselves in person. The Commissioners must on or before December 15th certify to the Board of Supervisors the total amount of the expenses of the election, including salaries, and if directed shall certify what portion of the expenses shall be borne by the cities and villages in the district. The Commissioners shall be the custodians of all primary records and shall have an official seal, to be adopted by them, and a description of which shall be filed in the County Clerk's office. In the past all records were filed with the County Clerk, but after the coming election all canvass and tally sheets, void and protested ballots, etc., must be filed with the Commissioners.

The offices of the commissioners shall be public and opened for business every secular day of the year and all records shall be public and open to inspection by any citizen. They shall keep a record of proceedings and these minutes shall show how each voted on business before the meeting. The time of the closing of the polls shall be taken to mean when all those in the polling place have cast their ballots even though such time is after the time set for closing the polls. The changes in the manner of choosing presidential electors will not apply at the coming election.

A FINE PROFIT.

Lux Syndicate Said to Have Made $325,000 on Power Scheme.

That Charles A. Lux and his associates in Syracuse who worked on the Salmon river power proposition for several years, and who sold their holdings to the Niagara power people a short time ago, made a profit of about $325,000 on the deal was the the assertion of one connected with the enterprise who was in Oswego on Friday. It was stated that the Niagara Company paid the Lux Syndicate about $500,000 for their holdings. Mr. Lux and his associates had, however, expended about $175,000 on the project before they ever saw any return.

Everybody Wants Choice Cuts.

A Syracuse meat dealer says: "People today want only the best cuts. There are about fifteen customers for every three cuts of porterhouse. You can go to any of the beef houses in town and get any of the poorer cuts for almost a song. Shoulders and forequarters are cheap, but the minute you ask for hindquarters, sirloins and rounds you have to pay the price."

Macready's Caustic Reply.

A septuagenarian baron pawned the coronet he had worn at the coronation of Queen Victoria. Having a slight acquaintance with Macready, the tragedian, he wrote to the actor offering to sell the pawn ticket and suggesting that the redeemed item of headgear would be an interesting theatrical "property." Macready replied with characteristic sarcasm that if the thing had been owned by a nobleman of mark who had got into straitened circumstances he would have favorably considered the application. But he did not think his stock of "properties" would be improved by the addition of a gilded coronet that had been worn by a nonskull and pawned by a profligate.

SIDNEY SMITH MORRILL

Born July 25, 1815 Died Aug. 16, 1911

Thursday morning when it became known that Sidney Smith Morrill, aged 96, had passed to his reward, there was genuine regret felt throughout the city. He was a figure unique in the history of the municipality and not a man, woman or child but knew him and pointed to his great age with reverence. He had lived to witness a century's progress in the world's history. He had lived through many of the most stirring scenes the country of his native state ever has or ever will experience. And during all these years, two average life times, he had kept his interest keen and had never allowed his enthusiasm to flag. In all that pertained to his home city he was keenly interested and his endeavors were always along the line of progression. The conservatism of mature years never became tinctured with malice nor narrowness in Mr. Morrill's life and to the farthest limit of his physical powers he enjoyed the great out of doors and the sports of the younger man. On his 95th birthday he saw a game of baseball in Syracuse and enjoyed it as heartily as did any of the younger men in the automobile. In January Mr. Morrill suffered an attack of pneumonia and for days his life hung by a thread. He rallied from the illness but never regained his vigor. For several weeks he has been failing and On and came peacefully and painlessly on Wednesday evening.

A few of the bare facts connected with Mr. Morrill's birth, life and the events that have transpired during his period of existence follow. They are as interesting as fiction.

Sidney Smith Morrill was born at Stratford, Otsego County, Colonial, July 25, 1815. He was the son of Colonel Nathaniel Morrill of Revolutionary stock. The family consisted of ten children, twelve in two pairs of twins. Mr. Morrill was a twin of Edna M. The old homestead was Senator Justin S. Morrill of Vermont. In early life he learned the trade of a jeweler working at his trade at several places in Canada, also Lockport and Buffalo, N. Y. and Charleston, S. C. On his way to New York down the Hudson river he met in company with a Mr. Mack, a jeweler from Fulton, who described to him the natural advantages of Fulton and he made him an offer to come and work for him. Accepting the offer he came to Fulton in April, 1838, coming from Albany by railroad and canal to Syracuse and from Syracuse to Fulton by stage drawn by four horses, the trip occupying all day. There were ruts in the road which had to be driven around. Fulton at that time had a population of about two thousand. There was a small settlement at the Falls called Phillipsville, later changed to Oswego Falls. In 1841 Lee bought out Mr. Mitchell and later sold to Mr. Morrill. He continued in the business until about 1850 when he disposed of it to Mr. Charles B. Nichols. Mr. Morrill was an ardent Republican, never failing to cast his vote at all elections National, State or City. He was married to Cynthia C. Anthony, July 7, 1843, at Glens Falls, N. Y. General Albert Lindley Lee, who was then attending Union College, acted as his best man. Mrs. Morrill died May 31, 1901. Mr. Morrill's twin sister, Edna M. Carpenter, died in April, 1907. They were prominent in the old-time ladies' circles in the United States.

Mr. Morrill's life covered a period of great historical events, advancements and inventions. He was born under the administration of Madison, the fourth President of the United States, in the last year of the war of 1812 his life, therefore, extended over all the wars of the United States with the exception of the Revolutionary War. The battle of Waterloo had been fought and the great Napoleon's power in the world brought to a close but a month previous to his birth. Mr. Morrill was born before the existence even of the steamship, railroad or telegraph. He was five years old when the first steamship crossed the Atlantic. It required twenty-five days to make the trip from Savannah to Liverpool. He was fifteen years old before there was a railroad in this country.

One of the most beautiful features in Mr. Morrill's life was the devotion of the sons to the parent and the comradeship that existed between them was an inspiration to all who witnessed it. The parent never outgrew his boys and the sons never waned in their devotion and respect for the parent.

The funeral services which were largely attended, were held from the late home, corner Third and Academy streets, on Saturday afternoon, the Rev. C. L. Peck, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment was made in the family lot in Mt. Adnah.

The death of Douglas, aged 15, the idolized and only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sutherland, occurred at the home in Oneida street on Sunday evening after an illness with typhoid fever. For several days the little life had hung in the balance and all that medical care and tender treatment could do to prolong the life was done, but in vain. After intense suffering he passed away. The funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the Rev. C. L. Peck, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The deepest sympathy of the community will go out to the stricken parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Beals.

After years of ill health and several weeks of severe illness, Lamentia M. Terry widow of the late George W. Terry passed to rest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Fowler, on Wednesday night. The funeral services were held from Mr. Fowler's home on Saturday morning, the Rev. C. L. Peck officiating. Interment was made in the family lot in Mt. Adnah in which the husband was laid to rest a few months ago. The immediate survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Claude E. Gnile and Miss Jennie Terry, all of this city. The deceased was a lifelong resident of Fulton and was one of the old Fairley Seminary students.

The body of Mrs. Ellen Kelly was brought to this city from Ogdensburg on Sunday for interment in St. Mary's cemetery. The body was taken to the E. S. Brown undertaking parlors in First street and the funeral was held on Monday morning from the Catholic Church.

NEW LAW EFFECTIVE.

Those who pack apples, pears or peaches for shipment, or immediate sale this summer or fall, will do well to sort out the various sizes, for a new law has gone into effect, making it necessary to do so. The law, a copy of which has been received by Assistant Commissioner C. E. Sackett, of the Department of Agriculture of the State of New York, is as follows:

"No person or persons shall sell, offer or expose for sale apples, pears or peaches as and for New York State grown apples, pears or peaches if they were not grown or produced within the State of New York; nor shall they brand or label the package or barrel containing such apples, pears or peaches as New York State apples, pears or peaches if they were not grown or produced within the State of New York. Any person or persons packing or repacking or causing apples or pears to be packed or repacked, to be sold upon the markets, shall pack or repack or cause them to be packed or repacked in such a manner that each separate package or barrel shall be substantially uniform without intent to deceive the purchaser. Any person, persons or corporation buying from a grower of apples or pears which are packed in packages or barrels, marked or labeled with the name of grower, who causes such apples or pears to be repacked in the same package or barrels or who uses the same package or barrels for the packing of other fruit or apples or pears, shall erase from such package or barrel the name of the grower or packer first or originally placed thereon. But the facing of such package or barrel is not prohibited by this section. The standard grade for apples which shall be shipped or delivered for shipment or which shall be sold or offered for sale shall be:

Apples of one variety, which are well-grown specimens, hand picked, of good color for the variety, normal shape, practically free from insect and fungus injury, bruises and other defects, except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing, or apples of one variety which are not more than ten per cent below the foregoing specification, are standard grade A, if the minimum size of apples is two and one-half inches in transverse diameter; or are standard grade size B, if the minimum size of the apple is two and one-fourth inches in transverse diameter; or are standard grade size C, if the minimum size of the apple is two inches in transverse diameter.

"No persons, firm or association shall misbrand apples as to their standard grade or otherwise. Apples in packages shall be deemed to be misbranded within the meaning of this act if the package bears any statement, design or device indicating that the apples contained therein are standard size A, size B or size C, as the case may be, and the apples do not conform to the requirements prescribed by this act for apples of the particular grade. If the package bears any statement, design or device indicating that apples contained therein are standard grade size A, size B or size C, as the case may be, and the package fails to bear also a statement of the name of the variety, the name of the locality where grown, and the name of the packer or the person by whose authority the apples were packed."

RIVERVIEW PARK ATTRACTIVE.

Lucius C. Atwater, Chauncey L. Kibbe and Harry L. Kibbe of Batavia, N. Y., comprising the Genesee Realty Company, have attractively subdivided the property on West First street which they recently purchased through the Whitaker & Lovejoy agency from Margaret Endicott of New York City, and are placing the same on the market Thursday, Friday and Saturday are the opening days of the sale.

These lots are of good size and dry, in a good neighborhood and as they face the river the outlook is very desirable.

This company has adopted the $1.00 down and $1.00 a week payment until lots are paid for, and this plan particularly appeals to those who would like to start a home of their own but who are unable to pay a large sum down.

New streets have been cut through the property and cement sidewalks are now being laid.

The Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern R. R. have just put in two new crossings over the new streets which are called Fulton Avenue and Batavia Avenue.

The firm have headquarters at Hill's drug store, First street.

Already several lots have been purchased, Editor Bradt, Mail Carrier J. M. Cox and others having invested. A double house is to be erected on one of the four lots sold on Thursday.

Hearken ye, men! This country has 7,670 postmistresses. One out of every twenty greenhouses is run by a woman. Two women have licenses to run taxicabs in Chicago. Six towns in Colorado have women treasurers, and one woman in that State owns a copper mine.

Visiting the Camp.

Captain L. C. Jenks and Mrs. Jenks and Colonel and Mrs. John T. Mott were guests at the 24th Infantry camp at Fulton Thursday. Mrs. Jenks will leave to-night for New York but the Captain will remain here during August.—Oswego Times.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

VOLNEY.

Nearly everyone in this vicinity attended the fair.

Mrs. Ware of New York was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. Vant, last week.

Louis Baker, Jr., of Oswego was the guest of his uncle, Mr. George Cornish.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornell of Scriba are the guests of their son, Louis Cornell.

Mrs. Lent and family have recently moved into Mr. Cusack's house at Bristol Hill.

Mrs. Mont Whitney was taken to her daughter's, Mrs. George Cole, in Fulton last Monday. Mr. Cole took her in his auto. Mrs. Whitney is slightly improved.

Mr. Gilford Mace is home from Syracuse spending a week's vacation with his parents, Mr and Mrs. Henry Mace.

The Volney Grange will hold its annual picnic in Mr. Morehouse's grove on August 23rd.

Miss Jessie Vant entertained the G. L. B. C. last Tuesday, the event being an announcement party for Miss Nellie Cornish who is to be a September bride. The decorations were in the Club colors—blue and white, while the table was in white and gold with a beautiful center piece of love-in-the-mist and bachelor buttons. Covers were laid for twelve. As the young ladies took their heart-shape place card they found attached to a white ribbon which was fastened to a hidden heart under the center piece; each heart had its letter and the letters spelled "Congratulations," and on the bride's-to-be was "Me." The scheme afforded much amusement.

Miss Clara Hills of Palermo has invited the W. C. T. U. and families to picnic on their lawn August 27th. The W. C. T. U. ladies are anticipating a fine time.

Threshers are keeping the Volney farmers busy this week.

Mr. J. B. Atwater has returned home after a two months' stay at Campbell Point and Brownville.

CAMP MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED.

The annual camp meeting at Denister Grove opened on Friday, and Sunday the services were attended by a large concourse of people. The site is ideal for such a purpose and every year the number of people attending the meetings is growing larger.

Rev. C. V. Haven of Mannsville is in charge of the music and a chorus choir will lead the singing during the services.

Sunday evening the Rev. C. L. Peck of this city occupied the pulpit at 7:30 o'clock.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE.

Frank McIntyre in "Snobs" August 28, 29, 30, 31.

The Empire Theatre will open its season on Monday, Aug. 28, when Henry B. Harris will present for the first time on any stage Frank McIntyre as the star of a new comedy by George Bronson Howard entitled "Snobs." This premier also heralds the advancement of Frank McIntyre from leading man to stardom. The big comedian who is perhaps best remembered as Bob Blake in James Forbes' comedy "The Traveling Salesman," has for a good many seasons held down important roles in various plays and his manager, Henry B. Harris, cast about for a long time for a suitable starring vehicle and finally decided upon "Snobs" as the proper play to introduce the rotund actor as the head of his own company. The play was built chiefly for fun but carries a splendid moral. It is a satire on snobbishness as the title indicates and tells the story of a milkman who is found to be a Peer of England. He determines to have some fun out of it and induces a furnace tender to masquerade as the Duke while he goes along as private secretary to the supposed Duke. Thus the pair enter society and pursuant are many complications. Wilmetta Kershaw, who was in "The Country Boy" last year, will be Mr. McIntyre's leading woman and many other exceptional players are in the cast.

Hurt by Collapsing Scaffold.

Henry Bovee and Newton Bacon narrowly escaped death while engaged at work on a swinging scaffold on the new power plant of the Fulton Light, Heat & Power Company on Wednesday afternoon. Bacon escaped serious injury but Bovee was less fortunate. He sustained internal injuries, a sprained back, broken wrist and other minor cuts and bruises.

Dr. E. J. Cusack was called and he ordered Bovee removed to the Lee Memorial hospital.

Tonsorial Artist Otto Scholz is attending the G. A. R. convention in Rochester.

Master Harold Lamphere of Syracuse is on a visit at A. C. Druce's in Ontario street.

The Misses Helen and Marguerite McBride of Utica are guests of Miss Bertha Carroll.

Mr. M. F. Crahan is visiting friends in Rochester, Buffalo and other western cities.

W. Rob Hughes and George Johnston, Jr., will return the last of this week from a fortnight's canoe trip through the Fulton chain of lakes.

Mr. F. E. Sutherland is in a very serious physical condition. The loss of his only son has greatly prostrated him in his weakened condition. He is in the hospital.

The combined labor unions of the city will hold a session in M. W. A. hall on Thursday evening. Program in charge of Peter Gardner, Jay Fuller, William Stauring and others.

The fight is still waging in the judicial situation. Candidates and their friends are encamped in Fulton as during the past six weeks and many ears are to the ground.

The steel coffer dam at the head of the gates of the hydraulic canal will be completed this week. The old head gates will then be ripped up to make way for the construction of the new lower lock.

Mr. J. H. Hunt's many friends rejoice in the information that he has rallied and is slowly convalescing from the effects of the terrible automobile accident in which he participated a month ago. He is still in the hospital at Albany.

Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Miss Virginia Emerick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Emerick, of Oswego, to Mr. George A. Keeney, Jr., of Elizabeth, N. J. The event will take place on Saturday, Sept. 9, at the home.

Mrs. Nettie Druce Lamphere of Syracuse was the over-Sunday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Druce, in this city. The many friends of Mrs. Lamphere will be pleased to learn she is convalescing from a critical operation which she underwent at the Hospital of the Good Shepherd in Syracuse.

United States Express Agent Lockrowe was the real hero in a rescue work in Lake Neahtawanta on Sunday which clearly entitles him to a gold medal. Messrs. George Petrie and John Atwood went for a dip in the lake soon after dinner. They swam about until exhausted and then noticed that their boat had drifted away. Mr. Lockrowe saw their predicament and heard their cries. He lost no time in securing a boat and putting to the rescue of the men, bringing them to shore and clothing.

Attorney Gilbert W. Benedict has opened law offices in the DeBarber block, 59 South First street, and he is now a practicing attorney and counselor of our city. Mr. Benedict will make his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benedict, on Third street. His office telephone number will be 1228; his home phone number will be 1173.

ONLY MODEL IN STORY.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Having left a note blaming her husband, Mrs. Myrtle Reed McCullough, famous author of "Lavender and Old Lace," was found dead of an overdose of sleeping powders in her home here, called "Paradise Flat," to-day. Her husband, James Sydney McCullough, who won wide fame a year ago by winning a prize as a "model husband," was not at home and her note was addressed to a faithful servant for whom she left a check for $1,000.

Mrs. McCullough was known throughout the English-speaking world for her numerous books and was one of the leaders in literary circles of the middle west. Recently she had suffered from insomnia and after her husband left the city on business a few days ago, she spent much time alone.

Her farewell note read: "Dear Annie: I am leaving you a check for $1,000 for your true and faithful service during four years. If my husband had been as good and kind to me and as considerate as you, I would not be going where I am.

(Signed) "MRS. MAC."

Mrs. McCullough's pen name was Myrtle Reed.

Wanted at the State Fair.

Horrors of Leprosy.

That dreaded disease, leprosy, is very slow, and people who suffer from it lose their sight and voice in the long run. Fingers and toes and pieces of flesh drop off in the most horrifying way, the leper gradually getting weaker and finally succumbing after many years of suffering and bitter lonely misery. Curiously enough, few people actually die of leprosy. The disease weakens the constitution to such an extent that a leper becomes susceptible to other diseases, one of which attacks and kills him. To show how slow the disease is, it is sufficient to state that in the leper colony in New Brunswick one patient suffered for fifty years!

Levi Hotaling a Candidate.

Mr. Levi Hotaling of Volney called at the Times office on Friday for the purpose of announcing his candidacy on the Republican ticket for the office of road commissioner in Volney. Mr. Hotaling only makes this announcement after having been urged by his friends to take the stand.

Prominent Manufacturer Dead.

Auburn, Aug. 16.—John H. Osborne, one of the best known citizens of Central New York and the last of the pioneers in the manufacture of harvesting machinery, which gives this city its greatest industry, died to-night at 8:25 o'clock at his home in South street at the age of 80 years.

SLIPPING THINGS OVER.

Small Boy Riding to Fulton and Back For Ten Cents Less Than Rate.

The small boy is slipping things over on O. J. Coughlin, the transportation manager of the Beebe Syndicate, these days and by some clever manoeuvring is sliding up to Fulton and back for forty cents, ten cents under the schedule rate. The game is worked by paying a fare to Stop 33, which costs fifteen cents. From there to Fulton the fare is but five cents, making the total one way fare twenty cents instead of twenty-five cents.—Oswego Palladium.

LUKE McHENRY CRITICALLY ILL.

A dispatch from Clifton Springs on Sunday said:

"Luke J. McHenry, clerk of the Assembly, is critically ill at Clifton Springs sanatorium. He is suffering from Bright's disease and arterio sclerosis. His wife was summoned to his bedside this morning and an effort is being made to locate his son, Joe McHenry, who is camping in the North Woods, forty miles from a railroad or telegraph station. It is said by physicians at the sanatorium that there is little chance of Mr. McHenry's recovery. His wife, who is here, is also ill and under the care of a physician."

Mr. McHenry went to Clifton Springs about a fortnight ago accompanied by his secretary, Frank N. Pennock. At that time he was considered a very sick man. When he reached Clifton Springs he was obliged to be carried from the train to the conveyance which took him to the sanatorium.

Up to a few days ago Mr. McHenry wrote cheering letters to his wife, telling her that he felt much better and was improving. Yesterday morning, however, a telegram was received by Mr. Pennock's father saying that Mr. McHenry was losing ground and asking him to request Mrs. McHenry to go to the sanatorium by the next train.

It is believed by his friends that Mr. McHenry's state of health was aggravated by his close confinement at Albany during the long session of the Legislature, all through which he was one of the busiest men at the Capitol.

Mr. McHenry is editor and proprietor of the Madison County Times at Chittenango, his home, and of the Oneida Union. He is one of the best known newspaper men and politicans in the Empire State.

Selling Papers on the Roof.

Not all enterprising newsboys are in the United States. The small street merchants of Paris, when forbidden to enter tramcars and omnibuses, got over the difficulty in real Yankee fashion. It was easy, of course, to sell papers through the windows to passengers seated in the vehicles, but how was it possible to reach would-be customers perched on the seats provided on the roof? A youth promptly solved the problem. He procured a stick seven or eight feet long, with wire clamps fastened to the sides. Papers were put in the clamps. On top of the stick there was a small cup with a hole in the bottom. The hole was an important part of the apparatus, for it reached all the way down, and through it came the copper coins of one or two sous, according to the price of the paper the patron selected when the boy held up the stick.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Louis' Compliment to Conde.

One need not overlook the enormous shortcomings of Louis XIV. as a man and as a king to admit that in some important respects he "tried to do his duty." He was a hardworking sovereign both in the sphere of administration and in that social sphere which was, to his mind, no less important. So courteous that he never passed the poorest woman about the palace without lifting his hat, he carried politeness consideration to the level of a fine art. In the way of courteous speech there are few things nobler than his remark to the great Conde as the old hero was slowly ascending the great marble staircase at Versailles. Conde apologized for being so long in mounting the steps, at the top of which the king stood waiting. "Ah, cousin," Louis replied, "one moves slowly when one is laden with laurels."

Objected to the Publicity.

Man's instinctive and perfectly reasonable preference for reprimand delivered in private is illustrated by a story told by Lieutenant General Sir William Butler, G. C. B., in his "Autobiography."

A general commanding at Aldershot had been forcibly reprimanded by a royal commander in chief. He openly rebelled.

"I don't mind being called a fool," he said, "if it pleases your royal highness to call me so, but I do mind being called a fool before your royal highness' other fools," sweeping his hand toward the commander in chief's large and brilliant staff.

AN OLD TIME EXPLOSION.

Its Curious Phases Told by a Seventeenth Century Scribe.

An old chronicler tells a curious story of an explosion which occurred in London Jan. 4, 1649. A ship chandler, it seems, "about 7 of the clock at night, being busy in his shop about barreling up of gunpowder, it took fire and in the twinkling of an eye blew up not only that, but all the houses thereabout to the number of fifty or sixty. The number of persons destroyed by this blow could never be known, for the next house but one was the Rose tavern, a house never (at that time of night) but full of company. And in three or four days, after digging, they continually found heads, arms, legs, etc." The most interesting part of the account comes further on:

"In the digging they found the mistress of the house of the Rose tavern sitting in her bar and one of the drawers standing by the bar's side, with a pot in his hand, only stifled by dust and smoke, their bodies being preserved whole by means of great timbers falling across one upon another.

"There was also found upon the upper leads of Barking church a young child lying in a cradle as newly laid in bed, neither child nor cradle having the least sign of fire or other hurt. It was never known whose child it was, so that one of the parish kept it for a memorial, for in the year 1666 I saw the child, grown to be then a proper maiden."

He Was Cured.

A chap once consulted a famous physician about his dyspepsia. The patient was very deaf. The dialogue between the physician and he ran like this:

"What do you usually breakfast on?"

"Oh, no! At least two miles in the morning and a motor ride after lunch."

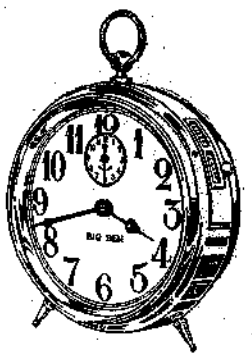
"How many hours do you sleep?"

"Well, doctor, I was fifty-nine my last birthday."

"Are you married?"

"Thirst."

With a gesture of impatience, the physician turned and wrote out a simple remedy for dyspepsia. The patient, as he departed, shouted in the loud, harsh tones of the very deaf:



"Doctor, can you cure deafness?"

The other shook his head in the negative.

"Well," said the patient, "you've been very kind, and therefore I'm going to make you a present of this prescription." He took a folded paper from his pocket. "It cured me."—New York Tribune.

Glass Windows.

The first glass window in England was put up in an abbey about the year 680. Glass windows, however, did not become general for many hundred years, and as late as 1579 the glass casements at Alnwick castle, the Duke of Northumberland's seat, were regularly taken down when the family was away from home.

WATER SUPPLY POLLUTED.

Phoenix is threatened with an epidemic of typhoid fever and Health Officer Drury has issued the following statement:

"In the last few days three cases of typhoid fever have been reported to me, all in this village, and we believe our water supply the cause of this outbreak of that dreaded disease. The State Board of Health, after an analysis of this river water report it unfit for anything but sprinkling and fire purpose. Bacteria typhoid is present in great quantities. The ice supply is not better as it comes from the same source and everyone is cautioned in its use."

SLEEP OF CHILDHOOD.

The way I slept when I was young! My nerves were never then unstrung; I was asleep before my head had fairly touched my downy bed, and then I snored a cheerful song, and night seemed but two seconds long. At morning father climbed the stairs and fondled me with clubs and chairs, and pulled me from my humble bed; and then he stood me on my head, and rolled me round upon the floor until I ceased to sleep and snore. And now that I am old and sere, the night seems longer than a year. I go to roost and kick and toss, but slumber will not come across, or if it comes I have such dreams I rouse the neighbors with my screams. How often have I walked the floor, and envied youths who calmly snore! How often fallen over chairs, and tumbled down the cellar stairs! How often have I stubbed my toes, and barked my shins and bumped my nose, while roaming in the midnight gloom about my sleepless sleeping room! How happy are the drowsy boys! Of all the boons that youth enjoys, this trick of climbing into bed and sleeping like the sheeted dead is first and best, and old, tired men can never have it back again.

WALT MASON.

A CORRECTION.

The Times hastens to give credit where it is due, for the arrest of the stranger, "Delevan," who worked the flim-flam game on a local undertaker last week. Officer Allnut was the patrolman shadowing the fellow at the trolley station when the call came from Oswego to watch out for him. Delevan had told Patrolman Allnut that he was going to stay at the hotel all night but the guardian of the law was skeptical and kept his weather eye wide open and toward the stranger all the time.

The Times was told that it was Officer Brannigan who made the arrest and as there is glory enough for all in the work of the local police force, the Times proposes to place it always where it belongs.

AN UP-TO-DATE FARMING PLANT.

M. V. Connell of Oneida street has just returned from a visit to his son-in-law, E. V. Babcock, at his farm of 215 acres 18 miles from Pittsburgh, Pa., and kindly gave me a description of it.

There are two main houses, besides two new tenant houses on the farm. He has just broke ground for a twenty thousand dollar house for himself on the farm, which will be erected on an elevation, being surrounded by chestnut trees. There is a pleasant view over the entire farm from the house. There are two barns —one new barn 46x96, with a connection for cow stable 66x37, with twenty-two stanchions, eleven on a side, with water basins. It is ceiled with Georgia pine with a skylight the entire length. There is a large silo on each side with a capacity to feed the cows for a year. He is also building a creamery near by 16x24. He has a hen-house 240 feet long, with all the modern improvements, with separate yards 100 feet long. He intends to purchase a herd of Holstein cows from this section. He purchases commercial fertilizers by the carload. The buildings are to be furnished with engines and there will be natural gas piped through all the buildings. There is also running water around the premises.

He has also a deer park containing ten acres, all fenced in. He has a herd of deer of 40 head on his Ashtola place and will transfer some of them to the farm park. He has a head carpenter and head foreman with twenty-four men. He has a large garage 24x24 with covered approach extending out 15 feet, which has living rooms above.

Life Rings on Mountains.

An extraordinary example of the way in which a mountain may afford on a small scale an image of the earth's climates, arranged in successively higher circles, has been found in the San Francisco peaks. These ancient volcanoes rise out of a plateau having a mean elevation of 7,000 feet above sea level.

The peaks are encircled with zones of vegetation which run almost like contour lines around them. Between 6,500 and 8,500 feet the yellow pine is the dominant tree. From 8,500 to 10,300 feet the Douglas fir, the silver fir, the cork fir and the aspen share the available ground. Between 10,300 and 11,500 feet the Engelmann spruce and the foxtail pine take possession and ascend to the tree limit.—Scientific American.

Misleading Book Titles.

Some book titles are distinctly misleading. Ruskin's "On the Construction of Sheepfolds" is a famous example of these, and there are others. Mr. Henry James' novel "The Lesson of the Master" has more than once been catalogued as a religious work. The same fate befell Sir Edward Hamilton's "Conversion and Redemption," a highly technical study of schemes for the reduction of the national debt. "Disloyals; or, The Doubtful Priest," was the title originally selected by Shorthouse for the book we now know as "John Inglesant." It was pointed out to him that such a title would lead people to regard it as an attack on Roman Catholicism, and this induced him to change it.—London Chronicle.

How an Ostrich Shows Temper.

When annoyed or angered by the approach of a human being, says a writer in the Strand Magazine, the male ostrich slightly arches his neck, and, drawing in a big breath, he blows out his neck and issues a three note defiance ("bo-bo-bo-o-n"). It is in the last prolonged note that his neck swells out so abnormally. The hen bird never "drums," as the natives term it, though I have heard of one that tried very hard to ape the male, but the result was ghastly failure.

His Achievements.

"After I am gone," he complained, "people will begin to notice what I have done."

"Well," his wife sadly replied, "if they do it won't take them long."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Shrewd Woman.

Howard—I can't get my wife to pay her bills by check. Edward—Why not? Howard—She says that she won't have the horrid bank people know what everything costs her.—Judge.

Such help as we can give each other in this world is a debt we owe each other.—Ruskin.

A Dandy Razor.

Customer—Is it true that a razor improves if it is laid aside for awhile after honing?

Barber—Yes, sir.

Customer—Then you'd better lay aside the razor you've just used on me for about 4,000 years.

E. C. HAMMOND "TOUCHED."

Expresses No Regret at Loss of the Money—Hopes It Will Do Thief Some Good.

Mr. E. C. Hammond, proprietor of the City Hotel, Oswego—a well-known and popular resident of our sister city—was a daily visitor at the County Fair last week, acting at times in the official capacity of timekeeper at the races. Mr. Hammond was seated on the grandstand on Thursday, and at the conclusion of the races, wended his way home. He was not a little surprised and chagrined to discover his pocket-book missing, which he thought was securely fastened in his hip-pocket. The missing wallet contained $62 in cash, some personal checks and several valuable receipts. On Friday, City Carrier Aurie Palmer, following the routine of duty, found Mr. Hammond's pocket-book lodged in the letter-box on the corner of West Fourth street and Broadway. The money had been extracted from the purse, but the other contents were intact. Mr. Palmer turned the property over to Postmaster Hughes. On Saturday Mr. Hammond called at the postoffice and recovered his property, expressing gratitude that the papers were intact. Like a true sport, Mr. Hammond expressed no regret over the loss of the money, expressing a hope that it had fallen into some needy person's hands.

SIXTY DAYS APIECE.

The connection of Fulton and Oswego by trolley proved disastrous to two men giving their names as James Frawley and Michael McGowan of Fulton, who came into town last evening and, after looking over the attractions, wound up at the Imperial Cafe in East First street at midnight. At 2:30 o'clock this morning Patrolman Miller heard a disturbance in that direction and found the two men attempting to get in. They had apparently been ejected and were raising such a noise that he placed them under arrest on a charge of public intoxication. They would not stand for this and before the officer got them to the station he was obliged to use his night stick on both their heads. As a result, they were a badly battered couple this morning, Frawley having a gash across his forehead which, while not dangerous, will leave a scar which he will carry for life. Miller last night entered a charge of resisting an officer against both of them, but Recorder Gill this morning was not sure of his jurisdiction and they went to the county jail for sixty days, as they didn't have fines of ten dollars each. One of them put up a cry that his clothes were in the cafe and inquiry on the part of the Recorder showed that his trousseau consisted of one sock and a necktie. Each of them claimed to have three dollars coming from the cafe proprietor and an officer was sent to recover this.—Oswego Palladium, Friday.

SEEMED TO GIVE HIM A NEW STOMACH

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

NEW BOWLING LEAGUE.

Arrangements are about completed for a bowling league this winter between Gray's Pets of Syracuse, Stearns' Bronchos of Baldwinsville, Cole's Undertakers of Fulton, and Schilling's Eurekas of Oswego. Cash prizes and trophies will be bowled for. The trolley connections with the four alleys will make things handy for a fine lot of sport this season. Pete Schilling is having his alleys planed and redressed for the season.—Oswego Times.

TROLLEY TIMETABLE.

Trains for Syracuse, making all intermediate stops, leave Fulton as follows:

A. M.—6:35, 7:05, 7:35, 8:05, and every half hour thereafter until 11:35 p. m.; the next and last car leaving at 12:45 a. m.

A. M., going north, cars leave Fulton at 6:15, 6:45, 7:15, 7:45 and every half hour until 11:15 p. m., then at 12:15 and 12:45 p. m.

DUST DEALS IN DEATH.

Consumption Spreads in Dusty Trades—Government Making Study—Open Windows, Ventilation and Cleanliness the Cure.

A warning against the dangers of dust was issued in a statement made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, in which it is shown that the percentage of deaths caused by tuberculosis in dusty trades is more than double that for all employed men in the registration area of the United States.

As a result of the dangers from consumption to those exposed to various forms of dust, and at the request of the National Association, the United States Government has recently appointed a commission to work in co-operation with state authorities in making an investigation into the conditions of the metal mining industries in the United States, with special reference to diseases of the lungs. The work of the commission engaged in this special task will follow lines somewhat similar to those worked out by the Royal Commission of Australia, whose report was recently received in this country.

"Dusts are of three kinds," says the National Association: "factory, street, and house dusts." The statement refers to the results obtained through investigations made for the Bureau of Labor, by Frederick L. Hoffman. While among males generally in the registration area of the United States 14.5 per cent of all deaths are from consumption, the mortality among grinders from this disease is 49.2 per cent, and in hardly any of the dusty trades is it below 25 per cent. The percentage of deaths from tuberculosis among all those exposed to metallic dust is 36.9 per cent; to mineral dust, 28.6 per cent; to vegetable fibre dust, 28.8 per cent; to mixed animal and other forms of dust, 32.1 per cent; to street dust, 25.5 per cent; and to organic, or dust coming from the articles being manufactured, 23 per cent.

The statement speaks also of the dangers from house dust, especially in rooms that are not well ventilated. The Association warns against dry sweeping, and against the use of the feather duster, or other devices that scatter, but do not take up the dust.

Since the ordinary dust blown about in the streets is impregnated with disease germs, the National Association urges the adoption of methods that will prevent the further dissemination of such bacilli. It also urges for the coming months of fall and winter, more open windows and more fresh air in house, shop, and schoolroom.

PLANT FOR MINETTO.

The Minetto-Meriden Company of Minetto is engaged in transferring the shade roller plant from Bay City, Mich., to Minetto. For the purpose of accommodating the extra machinery required the building north of the bridge and on the east side of the street is being rebuilt. It was stated at the plant that the addition to the plant would mean the employment of from 75 to 100 more men. The capacity of the roller plant will be from 500 to 600 gross per day.

Shade rollers have always been made at the Minetto plant but the capacity was previously but 100 gross per day. The Bay City mill is being gradually dismantled and the machinery moved to Minetto. The new plant will be completed by November 1, it is expected.

GRANULATED SORE EYES CURED

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers.

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes to a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, says an exchange, he does not raise hades with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish to one side and wades into the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly, and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of others, make a grandstand play and tell the editor how a paper should be run and what should be put into it. But such people are becoming fewer every year.—Exchange.

French Actress Coming.

Paris, Aug. 16.—Mlle. Gaby Deslys, the charmer who so occupied the attentions of King Manual that he lost the throne of Portugal, will sail for the United States on September 9th, on La Lorraine. She has signed a contract to appear in the United States for three months, giving one 30-minute performance daily, her salary to be $4,000 weekly.

During the year 1909 and until otherwise ordered, terms of the Surrogate's Court of the County of Oswego, will be held as follows:

On Monday of each week, except in the month of August, at the Surrogate's office in the city of Oswego, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

On the second Thursday of each month, except August at the Court House in the village of Pulaski, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Whenever one of the days above appointed falls on a holiday the Court will be held the day following

TROLLEY SERVICE IMPROVED.

Owing to the fact that the original location of meeting switches on the single track sections of the newly finished extension of the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern Railroad between Fulton and Oswego have been occasioning some delays, two additional meeting switches have been installed between those points.

The construction of these long sidings was performed by the Department of the Chief Engineer and have been so designed as to materially improve the service for the entire length of the Lake Shore road from Syracuse to Oswego.

One of the new sidings is located at a point about one and one-half miles north of Fulton and the other is laid at one and one-half miles north of Minetto.

The Operating Department of the Lake Shore road has issued new running orders to all train crews, providing for the use of the new switches as meeting points which is expected to result in permitting all trains to operate on schedule.

The unusually heavy travel between Syracuse and Long Branch this summer, necessitating the maintenance of a four-minute service practically all the time has somewhat interfered with the operation of the through Syracuse-Oswego trains. A new schedule for the lake resort service, equally frequent but designed to clear the interurban service is being successfully tested out.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

A Fine Savage Custom.

The untutored mind of the Indian or savage often appears strange to us, but there is sometimes reason in what at first sight seems eccentric. A South African tribe has an effectual method of dealing with bores, which might be adopted by western people. This simple tribe considers long speeches injurious both to the orator and his hearers, so to protect both there is an unwritten law that every public orator must stand on one leg only when he is addressing an audience. As soon as he has to place the other leg on the ground his oration is brought to a close.—London Globe.

Generosity.

Patrick worked for a notoriously stingy boss and lost no chance to let the fact be known. Once a waggish friend, wishing to twit him, remarked: "Pat, I hear your boss just gave you a brand new suit of clothes."

"No," said Pat, "only a part of a suit."

"What part?"

"The sleeves in the vest."—New York Times.

The One Flaw.

"No; he can't marry without a majority favorable report from his creditors."—Kansas City Journal.

Comfortable.

"That fellow looks rather comfortable in spite of the weather."

"Yes; he takes things easy. He's a pickpocket, you know."—New York Times.

JUST TO MAKE SURE.

The Scheme Looked Good, but the Old Man Lacked Confidence.

Living on a plantation fifty or sixty miles out of New Orleans is an old poker playing, chicken fighting, horse racing sportsman, who is always willing to gamble on anything and who isn't averse to gamble even when he has a shade the better of it. Not long ago a professional gambler came to him and said, "Squire, you know that Phillips man who used to play cards on the river?"

"I do."

"Well, he's showed up here with a lot of money. Now, I've got a scheme to get that money."

"Go on; you interest me."

"Well, I'll get him down here, and we'll pot him into a game of poker—just the two of us and him. Then I'll cold deck him, you'll get the money, and we'll divide."

"How do you propose to do that, son?"

"Why, I'll deal him four queens, and I'll deal you four kings, and he'll bet all the money he has. All you've got to do is to bet against him, show your four kings when he's through, and we'll split the pile."

"You mean you'll deal him four queens and deal me four kings out of a cold deck?"

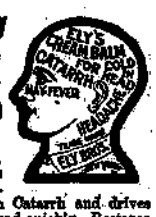
"That's it."

"All right, son, all right. But when you are dealin' them four kings to me just deal me one ace also for a sort of confidence card."—Saturday Evening Post.

Big Noses in Japan.

The nose plays a very important part in Japan, owing, probably, that a difference in noses constitutes about the only distinction between one Japanese and another. The nose is the only feature which attracts attention. As there are very few large noses to be found in Japan, a lady with a large nose is regarded as one specially gifted by nature. She is invariably a reigning beauty and the envy of her less favored sisters. In all Japanese pictures in which ladies are portrayed the artists are particularly careful to make the nose of liberal dimensions. —London Telegraph.

Sweet Voiced Frogs.



In Japan there is a kind of frog very celebrated for his sweet voice. He is called kajiki, and people pay as much as $10 for a pair of these marsh musicians. A poet in Japan keeps scores of singing frogs at his home, and he sometimes gives a party to his friends, when after listening to the music every guest is asked to write a poem in honor of the frogs.

THE SHIP CAPTAIN

His Life Pays the Penalty if His Vessel Be Wrecked.

SAD TRAGEDIES OF THE SEA.

Brave and Skillful Mariners Who Went to Death With Heroic Calmness When Disaster Overwhelmed the Craft Committed to Their Care.

For this is the law without excuse
For all of the lords of the sea—
That each must hold his ship from harm,
Whatever the odds may be.

There are many tragedies of the sea that the world knows very little about, or, knowing, very soon forgets. These are the tragedies of the men whose lives have been spent in the hard and exacting service which the sea demands, whose long years of toil and zeal and skill have brought the high responsibilities of command and whose careers have been cut short by the fault of an hour—yea, even by the error of a minute.

The old rubric that those who never make mistakes have had few opportunities for making them does not apply here. There is never a voyage that does not have its possibility of error, and in many of them arise the sudden emergencies which bring the acid test of presence of mind, cool judgment, expert seamanship and skill. Let these qualities fail the master mariner in his time of need, and, no matter what might have been the stress of body or brain, or of both, his professional career is at an end, if the lapse involves disaster to his ship.

There is that veteran mariner Captain Frederick Watkins. He it was who commanded the City of Paris when the old Inman liner came staggering to port with the Atlantic waves swashing about her hold and surging against her bulkheads, the result of a fog shrouded impact with an iceberg The liner was thronged with passengers. The unforeseen danger came near to sending her and her thousand souls to the bottom, but the energy, resourcefulness and skill of her commander brought her safe to port—a deed to be long remembered.

It was remembered up to a few years ago, when a slight miscalculation on the part of Captain Watkins sent his vessel upon the Manacle rocks, on the Cornish coast. Now you may search all of the obscure places of the earth and you may not locate him.

There was the Prinzessin Victoria Luise of the Hamburg-American line, which drove hard upon the coral beach at Port Royal, in the island of Jamaica. The vessel was thronged with tourists, making a jaunt to the West Indies. Fortunately the sea was calm, and there was no difficulty in getting passengers ashore. When the last had been safely landed the captain went to his stateroom and put a bullet through his brain.

The pitiable part of it all was that he had no need to. It was not the brain he shattered that was at fault, but the Kingston earthquake, which had destroyed the lighthouse.

Captain Griffith of the Mohegan stood on the bridge of his fast sinking ship until the waters engulfed him. Delonde of the French liner Bourgogne, sunk in mid-Atlantic by a collision with the British steamship Cromartyshire, was last seen on the bridge, with hand on whistle cord, as his vessel took the long dive. Von Goessel of the Elbe went down with his ship, standing with folded arms upon the bridge as the vessel slowly sank.

One of the saddest tragedies of the sea was the wreck of the British steamship Waiearapa, which went ashore on Great Barrier island while on a voyage from Sydney to New Zealand. As the vessel neared the entrance to the harbor of Auckland a thick fog shut in. Captain McIntosh, who commanded her, had been many years in the service of the line and was reputed to be very careful and capable, but while the steamer was groping her way through the mist it was noted that he was exceedingly nervous and depressed.

When night came the fog was so thick that the lookouts could not see half a ship's length ahead. A few minutes past midnight there was a sudden crash, which laid the steamship almost on her beam ends, disabling all of the boats on the careened side. Captain McIntosh was on the bridge at the time. A great wound which had been torn in the vessel's side showed the extent of the disaster. As soon as he realized that his ship must become a total loss the captain strode to the end of the bridge and, exclaiming "This is the last watch!" plunged overboard to his death.—Walter Scott Meriwether in Munsey's Magazine.

Those Buried Treasures.

"My speech was rather lengthy, I am afraid," said the young statesman, "but I assure you that it contains numerous gems of thought."

THE COWBOY'S TICKETS.

They Were Good on the Train, but Only For a Little While.

A bunch of old time traveling men were visiting at a Topeka hotel, and talk turned on to courageous conductors "I have known."

A story was told on John Becker, for years a conductor on the Santa Fe. He was practically awarded the palm for being the bravest "con" who ever set foot on a through Kansas train in the old and perilous days.

One day, just after the Santa Fe train had left Dodge City, Becker passed through the car to take up the pasteboards. Two cowboys had boarded the train at Dodge, and Becker went up to them and said, "Tickets, please."

For an answer the cowboys whipped out big revolvers—the Colt's blue steel brand, 44 caliber—and replied:

"Here they are!"

"They're good," said Becker quickly, with a deprecatory wave of his hand, and he passed on through the car. The cowboys chucked their "irons" back into their holsters and settled back comfortably, thinking that the train was theirs.

Becker walked on back to his little wardrobe at the front end of the next car and, unlocking it, took out a sawed off double barreled shotgun loaded with slugs. He cocked both hammers—for it was before the hammerless automatic days—and, getting the gun properly placed in front of him, he marched back into the car where the cowboys were.

He stepped briskly in front of them and shoved the big gun into their faces, holding it at such an angle that a shot would have swept off the heads of both.

Then he said again, gently, "Your tickets, please."

The hands of the cowboys twitched convulsively toward their pockets, and Becker interjected, "Give me those tickets, please, that have handles and shove 'em at me with the handles toward me—toward me, understand?" he added, bearing down hard with the emphasis on "me."

The tickets came across with the handles in the requested direction.

"Now, dig up the coin," he demanded, "to the next station where we stop."

They dug.

"Now, at the next station you fellows unload. Understand?" The sawed off was still at a dangerous location and the hammers still up.

The cowboys nodded vigorously in the affirmative, and they unloaded quickly and without words at the next stop.

Becker made no fuss over the matter; didn't talk about it at all. He just accepted it as part of the day's business and seemed to see nothing in it that was extraordinary.—Kansas City Journal.

MYSTERY CHAMBERS.

Famous Locked Rooms In Some of the Old British Castles.

Perhaps the most famous locked room in the world is at Glamis castle, the old home of the earls of Strathmore. In this rambling pile there is supposed to be a secret chamber, access to which is known only to the Earl of Strathmore, the heir apparent and the factor. The mysterious chamber is supposed to have been, centuries ago, the repository of a grim family scandal, the nature of which could only whispered even in those wild days.

There is in Poulton Old Hall a mysterious locked room which has never been opened except by a representative of the Green family. The hall and its lands have sometimes been let, but the Green family have always retained possession of this mysterious room, which is supposed to contain several relics and other family treasures. It is said that the last tenant, a prominent Mersey shipowner, would have given them an increased rent for it if he could have had access to it or could have cleared away the mysterious contents, but the owners refused to give up possession, and so the tenant left.

There is a very similar tradition at Nether Hall, the Cumberland seat of the Senhouse family. Here, as at Glamis castle, the position of the secret chamber is known only to the heir-at-law and the family solicitor. The room, it is understood, has no window and up till now has not been located by any one not in possession of the key to the mystery.

A tragic interest attaches to the ruins of Minster Lovel house, in Oxfordshire. While it was tenanted by a farmer a concealed vault was discovered, and in it was the perfect skeleton of Lord Lovel, seated at a table on which was lying an open prayer book. There were some jars and barrels which had contained food, sufficient, no doubt, to last some weeks; but, the mansion having fallen into the hands of King Henry VII., the prisoner was unable to regain his liberty. The discovery cleared up a mystery which had surrounded his fate for nearly two centuries.—Pearson's Weekly.

Between Them.

"Yes," said Mrs. Catchem, "those are my daughters over there on the sofa. They have half a million between them."

It was not until they were married to those daughters that the young men who overheard the remark found out that Mrs. Catchem referred to the rich old gentleman who sat on the sofa between the girls. Mrs. Catchem could not tell a lie, but she knew how to speak the truth to the best advantage.

AN EASTER MORNING

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Captain Ned Collins had made preparations to quit a seafaring life, settle down on a little farm that had been the dream of his life and spend the rest of his days with his family. He had sold his cottage by the ocean and bought the farm. One more voyage remained to him, at the end of which he was to give up the one and enter upon the other. The voyage he had laid out would bring him home in the month of April, and his boys were to prepare the ground of his farm for planting against his return. Then when his last cruise had been completed the family would spend the summer on the farm—the first summer they had ever spent together.

Mrs. Collins was one of those women who are always looking ahead for something to happen. When she bade goodby to her husband she remembered cases wherein persons had made a last venture which proved a last one in more ways than one. Several of her friends had sailed on a last voyage intending not to make another and had never returned. She did not take account of the many who had returned and lived to a good old age at home Her husband had no sooner sailed than she showed by her demeanor that this feeling was troubling her. Her eldest daughter, Helen, a girl of strong religious faith, strove to comfort her. She reminded her mother that the same God was supreme upon the ocean as on the land; that if he intended that their dear one should return to them no storm was fierce enough to prevent. For a time such arguments as this would dispel the forebodings of the wife and mother, but not for long.

Letters came from Captain Collins from various points at which the ship, the Helen Collins, named for its master's daughter, touched—Porto Rico and other tropical ports. Then came news of one of those West Indian hurricanes that are a terror both on land and on sea. Day upon day, week upon week, passed after the storm had subsided and no word came from the Helen Collins. From the first the captain's wife gave up all hope. Her children, who were not overconfident, did what they could to instill hope within their mother, but without much success.

The winter passed, and the spring began to peep from beneath the soil. The boys told their mother that they were going to prepare the farm for a crop. In case their father should return and find that nothing had been done he would be disappointed.

In March, when it became necessary to do the first planting, the children begged their mother to remove to the farm, and she only consented because she must give up the cottage to the new owner and if she remained in the same locality would need to rent or buy another. So they moved their belongings to their new home.

"It will never be a home to me," said the mother, "without your father. I had a feeling when he left us that he would never return to enjoy this place, and that foreboding has been realized."

"Mother," said Helen impressively, "I have a feeling. It is more than a feeling—it is a hope. Easter will be here within a fortnight. The day is typical of a renewed life. I believe that father will be with us on or before the anniversary of the rising of our Saviour."

"Oh, my child, you have no foundation on which to rest such a belief."

"Nor is there any foundation for the feeling you experienced when he sailed that he would not return. Of the two mine is by far the better, since it is the more comforting. And was not the great resurrection that occurred nearly twenty centuries ago intended to give hope to mankind?"

But the days passed, the radishes, the peas, the beets and other early vegetables showed their tips above the soil, and Captain Collins did not return. Instead parts of the wreckage of his ship were picked up at sea and their finding reported by a returning ship. This news came the day before Easter, and if there had been a ray of hope in the breast of the mother of these children that their father would return it was abandoned. Only Helen clung to what she called her belief.

Easter morning broke bright and beautiful. After breakfast all went out to have a look at the growing plants. The children kept calling their mother's attention to this and that row of springing vegetables, remarking how rapidly it was growing, in order to divert her mind from her bereavement. A balmy breeze was coming up from the south.

"Mother," said Helen, "I have one of your feelings. Not the same kind of a one, for it is more like a hope. I'm thinking this sweet smelling breeze has come all the way from the tropics to tell us that father is living, even if he can't yet be with us."

"Oh, Helen, you have such absurd ideas."

"Father!"

The exclamation came from little Joe. All turned and saw the child running with open arms to a skeleton of a man who was coming toward them. The boy jumped into the man's arms, and all knew that the husband and father had returned.

Captain Ned Collins, with a part of his crew, had been picked up in a lifeboat and carried far from home.

PRESSURE OF WATER.

Its Effect Upon a Corked Bottle Lowered Into Ocean Depths.

A bottle partly filled with fresh water and tightly corked can be lowered into ocean depths, and on being raised to the surface it will be discovered on opening it that the fresh water has been replaced by salt.

This really extraordinary phenomenon is explained in the following way: The pressure of water increases as the distance from the surface increases. Thus at the distance of a foot beneath the surface the pressure of the water a square inch will be about half a pound; at a distance of, say, 200 feet it will be 125 pounds to the square inch. At ocean level the pressure of the atmosphere is a little over fourteen pounds. Thus if a bottle containing air were lowered thirty feet beneath the surface the pressure of water would more than counterbalance the pressure of the air. Ordinarily at this depth, therefore, the pressure of water should be sufficient to drive the cork within the bottle, but the cork is tightly wedged in position. To squeeze it within the bottle it, too, must first be compressed, and also there is friction to be overcome.

The distance varying, then, according to these conditions, at some point beneath the surface the weight of water will force the cork into the bottle, compressing the air before it. The salt water of the ocean mingles with the fresh water within the bottle. As the bottle again approaches he surface the air that remains within is subjected to less and less pressure till finally, now having itself a pressure greater than that of the water, it drives the cork back into position.—St. Louis Republic.

The Janizaries.

Once in five years all the children of Christian parents who had reached the age of seven years and gave promise of mental and physical soundness were taken from their homes and brought to Constantinople, where they were placed under instruction. They were subjected the meanwhile to severe training to fit them for the profession of arms. From this body was formed the famous organization known as the Janizaries. Forbidden to marry and with no families to engage their affections, their whole business was to fight for the Turkish state and region. Later on the organization experienced a change, its members being allowed to marry, but it remained practically unchanged until the time of Philip II.

OBLIGING CRABS.

Present Their Claws to Fishers Who Shake Hands With Them.

Visitors in Seville see women carrying baskets full of crabs' claws. The claws are cooked, and people nibble at them more for fun than sustenance, just as Russians nibble sunflower seeds. What becomes of the rest of this crustacean, especially if he is a crawfish, of his tail?

As a matter of fact the crawfish has no part in the business. The claws are taken from a salt water crab which lives along the shores of Morocco, Spain and Portugal. Each little crab, with its one little mate, has a cave for a home, and, adopting the eastern estimate of the other sex, he usually keeps his wife shut inside the cave, meanwhile staying about the threshold himself and making a brave show with his big claws.

When the tide runs out the crab fishers prowl along the beach looking for crab holes. Either the crab is stalking up and down seeking what he may devour and thus showing whether he has fine claws or he is still at home, and the size of his doorway indicates the size of the householder. In one case the fisherman cuts off his retreat by blocking his front door with mud; in the other case he digs him out. Anyway, he deprives him of his pincers and sets him at liberty to grow some more.

Right here appears the quaintest feature of the whole affair, for the pincers are not torn away from the crab at all. Instead he presents them to the fisherman, perhaps even with his compliments. It is a fact easily demonstrable that the crab can detach his claw by muscular effort, thus making no hemorrhage, but leaving the stump in such condition that a new claw is soon grown. The fishermen simply take the crab by the hand, whereupon it lets go, leaves the claw with them and romps off home without it.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Snakeskin In a Bird's Nest.

The great crested flycatcher chooses for its nesting place a sheltered hollow bough or the abandoned excavation made by the golden winged woodpecker. His architecture is peculiar on account of the unusual materials he uses. In every nest you will find a bit of dry snakeskin and shreds of soft inner bark of trees. Among hundreds of nests examined not one has lacked these peculiar substances. Naturalists have tried in vain to discover why the bit of dry snakeskin is chosen. It does not seem to be of any use in the structure of the nest, and quite often it lies loosely on the outer rim or carelessly set into the extreme bottom. Possibly the flycatcher regards it as a choice bit of ornamentation.

The Prudent Farmer

THERE is a great deal being said throughout the country about the importance of farming. The fact is that the people are just beginning to understand the value of land and the independent position of the farmer. The farmer who deposits his surplus money in a strong, safe bank can tide over a season of bad crops, when it comes. A progressive farmer takes the precaution to lay aside money in good years for possible emergencies when crops fail.

ANNUAL CLAM BAKE NEXT WEEK

Pathfinder Boat Club Will Hold Its Twelfth Annual Outing at Island on September 8—Excellent Menu Arranged—Number of Guests Limited.

The twelfth annual clam bake and field day of the Pathfinder Boat club will be held at the club house on the island on Friday afternoon, Sept. 8, at 5 o'clock. The island committee, Messrs T. H. Webb and G. W. Morton, have arranged the menu early so that no possible chance for failure to complete the details can mar the event.

Tickets have been placed at $1 each and the number is limited to 100. Chef Mead will be early and late on the job so the guarantee of a satisfactory repast is furnished. A game of baseball will be pulled off at 2 o'clock. The first automobile will leave the City Hall at 2:30 o'clock and every fifteen minutes after until 5 o'clock.

The following tempting menu will be provided:

Olives Pickles
Roast Clams, Hot Butter Sauce
Boiled Red Snappers, Egg Sauce
Roast Chicken
Irish Potatoes Sweet Potatoes
Green Corn
Fresh Lobster Salad Brown Bread
Island Rolls
Ice Cream in Cantaloupes
White Cake Fruit Cake
Tea Coffee Milk

It is necessary that the Island Committee be notified at once if a guest proposes to be present, as no seats can be secured after the 100 tickets have been disposed of.

OSWEGO WANTS NEW POSTOFFICE.

Oswego, Aug. 23.—The handsome postoffice building that has done service here since 1857 has outgrown the business of the local office. When Congressman Mott returns to Washington he will take up the matter of enlargement with the Postoffice Department and try to get a suitable appropriation from Congress that will insure a bigger site and more room for the present working force.

For many years the business of the Oswego office has been growing steadily, but there has been no corresponding increase in the quarters. All of the various offices are cramped, with the possible exception of that occupied by the postmaster.

Congressman Mott has interested himself greatly in the matter of hastening the erection of the Fulton postoffice and that he will be equally active in his demand for larger and more modern quarters in Oswego is believed.

ST. LAWRENCE RIVER FIRES.

Last week four fires visited the St. Lawrence river district, entailing heavy loss of property and destroying the Hotel Frontenac, one of the most beautiful and famous hotels on the picturesque river. In this fire one man lost his life while the guests with which the hotel was thronged, lost clothing and valuables.

At Alexandria Bay the immense barns belonging to G. C. Boldt of New York city, proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria, were destroyed. Thousand Island Park suffered the loss of a pressing establishment and the fire threatened both of the large hotels at the park before the flames could be extinguished. A small hotel at one of the other resorts was destroyed. The numerous fires broke up the season at the river resorts earlier than was anticipated.

TO RENT.

In the residential section of Syracuse, three rooms containing double beds in each, may be secured by Fultonians of respectability during State Fair week or for any portion of the time. The Times will vouch for the desirability of the family. Address all inquiries to R. W. D., care Times office, Fulton, N. Y.

To Music Pupils.

Miss Elder would be pleased to have her piano pupils arrange for their hours with her for the coming season, at an early date in order to accommodate time for new pupils.

FULTON LETTER CARRIERS.

Will Join in Deliberations and Festivities of National Association at Rochester.

Authority has been obtained from the Department at Washington for the local carriers to join with their comrades from other cities in the assembly of the National Association at Rochester on Labor Day. This is a concession which is most heartily appreciated by the men:

Fulton, N. Y., Aug. 17, 1911.
First Assistant Postmaster-General,
Division of City Delivery,

Sir: The letter carriers employed in the Fulton office, being desirous of joining in the deliberations and festivities of the National Association of Letter Carriers, to be held in Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 4 (Labor Day), wish permission to absent themselves from duty on the day named. The men understand that Syracuse and other cities adjacent to Rochester have been granted this concession by the Department.

Should your permission be obtained, the proposition is for the carriers to employ a competent substitute at their expense to make all necessary collections during the day and to keep the carriers' window open in the morning from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The service, in my judgment, will not suffer more than on any other holiday occasion.

Respectfully,
William E. Hughes, P. M.

Post Office Department—First Assistant Postmaster-General—Washington.

August 24, 1911.

William E. Hughes, Postmaster,
Fulton, N. Y.

Sir: Your letter of the 17th instant, requesting permission to grant your carriers leave of absence on Sept. 4, 1911, in order to enable them to attend the National Convention of Letter Carriers, to be held at Rochester, New York, on that date, has been received. As Labor Day is a special holiday which the carriers should be allowed to enjoy, if possible, it is suggested that you consider the practicability of arranging schedules for the least possible service which can be rendered by substitutes, and, if necessary, advise the Department as to what auxiliary allowance may be required.

Respectfully,
C. P. Grandfield,
First Assistant Postmaster-General.

August 26, 1911.

First Assistant Postmaster-General,
Division of City Delivery,

Sir: In behalf of the city carriers employed in this office, I am requested to express appreciation of your consideration and generosity in granting them permission to attend the sessions of the National Association at Rochester on Labor Day. The carriers also beg to assure the Department that any expense attendant upon the services of substitutes in office on the occasion referred to will be cheerfully borne by them.

A conscientious regard for the service, especially on the day named, will be observed by all employes.

Respectfully,
William E. Hughes, P. M.

DEAN BARRY IS RIGHT.

On Sunday the Very Reverend Dean Barry of Oswego made a vigorous appeal to parents to keep their sons and daughters from street walking. The Dean was frequently appalled at the number of boys and girls he saw late at night gadding about instead of being in their homes reading and studying under the guidance of their parents. The Dean said that indiscriminate street walking was not conducive to modesty or morality and would in many cases lead to destruction.

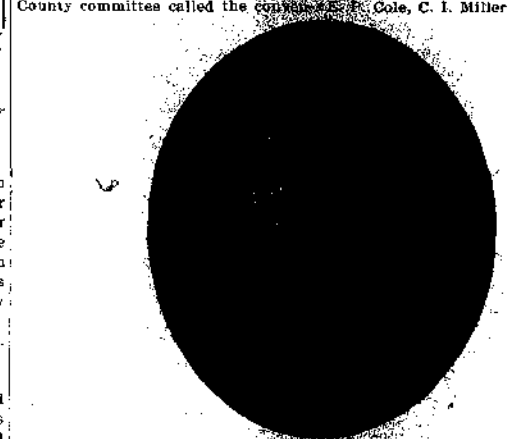
Perhaps the Dean's heart would ache even more should he walk some Fulton streets each night and witness the conditions that exist, either through the carelessness or indifference of the parents.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS

Irving G. Hubbs Becomes Unanimous Choice of Delegates for Supreme Court Judge—No Contest Over Nominees for County Offices.

The Republican County Convention at Pulaski on Tuesday was most spirited. Perhaps it and the District Convention established a precedent for having decided all questions with the ballot.

The convention was called to order at the Court House shortly after 11 o'clock, the room being crowded. Chairman Charles W. Taft of the County committee called the convention to order and recommended the name of Judge Norman S. Bentley of Oswego as temporary chairman. W. Spencer of Oswego and Alvin M. Hurd of Fulton, secretaries and W. Young, Oswego Town, and J. G. Peaco of Richland, tellers.



D. P. Morehouse, Jr., moved that the temporary organization be made permanent. —Carried.

W. C. Mattison of Hannibal moved that the rules of the Assembly be the rules of the convention. —Carried.

On motion of J. S. Parsons of Oswego the Chair named a committee of three on resolutions as follows: John S. Parsons, W. M. Barker, New Haven; A. L. Merriam, Phoenix.

Captain Francis D. Culkin of Oswego was successful over Freelon J. Davis of Pulaski by a vote of 42 to 39 for district attorney.

Myron A. Stranahan of Fulton was the unanimous choice of the convention for sheriff.

IRVING G. HUBBS

M. A. STRANAHAN

Prior to the nominations, Chairman Bentley briefly thanked the convention for the honor conferred.

Mr. C. E. Stewart of Fulton moved that in the future the representation in conventions be five delegates from each town and ward and one additional for every fifty votes or major fraction of the plurality in each town or ward based on the last Gubernatorial election. —Carried.

Mr. Stranahan was nominated for sheriff by E. P. Cole, who reviewed his career and said that he had been successful as a farmer and as a business man and would make an excellent sheriff.

Seconding speeches were made by Alderman Alfred Moran of Oswego and Dr. L. F. Hollis of Sandy Creek.

The secretary cast one ballot for Mr. Stranahan and he was declared the nominee.

Captain Culkin's name was presented to the convention for District Attorney by H. Irving Pratt. The candidate, he said, was an Oswego city man, but one who was widely known throughout the county. He served in the Spanish-American war for the independence of Cuba, and then rose by his own ability from the ranks to the captaincy of the 40th Separate Company and a power in the National Guard. He was instrumental in securing a fine armory for Oswego.

As City Attorney of Oswego he had been unusually successful and had saved the city thousands of dollars through the defense of numerous suits for damages.

Captain Torrey A. Ball seconded Mr. Culkin's nomination.

Attorney Fred G. Whitney of Pulaski placed the name of Freelon J. Davis for the nomination, saying that he was entitled to this recognition for his splendid services in the office. C. A. Larned of Phoenix made a strong seconding speech.

A ballot was then taken which resulted as above.

On motion of F. G. Whitney, C. A. Larned and District Attorney Davis, Mr. Culkin's nomination was made unanimous.

A. M. Hurd named Attorney G. M. Fanning as a candidate for Special County Judge to succeed himself. The nomination was made unanimously.

Surrogate Clayton I. Miller of Mexico named C. Adelbert of Scriba for Superintendent of the Poor to succeed himself. The secretary cast the unanimous ballot of the convention for Mr. Stone.

On motion of E. P. Cole the chairman appointed the following to bring the candidates before the convention: E. P. Cole, C. I. Miller and H. Irving Davis.

As the candidates appeared they were given an ovation.

Resolutions Adopted.

The Republicans of Oswego County in convention assembled, do heartily endorse the national administration and its constructive work in federal affairs.

We believe that the whole country and the world realize that our national administration has been confronted with the most perplexing and momentous public problems that have sought solution at the hands of any national administration since the days of Abraham Lincoln. In this connection, we reaffirm our faith and confidence in the integrity, motives and efficiency of President Taft and believe that his broad experience and sound statesmanship constitute the safest guarantee of the survival of Republican principles and the fulfillment of American hope for national success and development.

The marvelous growth and development of our country has made it the most progressive nation of the globe. The unparalleled rise and development of the United States is so interwoven with the policies and achievements of the Republican party that the history of one is the history of the other.

We commend most earnestly the efficient and loyal services of Congressman Luther W. Mott to his congressional district and particularly to the County of Oswego. Painstaking in his attention to his duties, watchful of the interests of his district, he has already earned for himself a high place in the national Congress. Although in the minority, his success and achievement in the legislative field have been most gratifying to the people of his district. Congressman Mott in his first year's service has given evidence of his loyalty to the great body of our citizens who till the soil. He has protected and insured the development of our harbors and rivers by substantial appropriations. Oswego county is proud of his record and achievements in the national legislature.

We commend the services of Senator George H. Cobb, of Jefferson county and duly appreciate his tireless efforts in the Senate to serve the interests of Oswego county. His influence and worth at the State Capitol give him a commanding position in legislative matters. This convention voices its approval of Senator Cobb and his official acts.

ASSEMBLYMAN T. C. SWEET

The splendid services of Honorable Thaddeus C. Sweet, our member of Assembly, is matter of just pride to all the citizens of the county of Oswego. His loyalty to duty, his constant activity and energy and good judgment place him in the front rank of conservative and useful legislators. His services in procuring the appropriation for the New Normal school in the city of Oswego and in protecting the interests of the city of Oswego, city of Fulton and the town of Schroeppel in the construction of bridges over the Oswego river have resulted in large financial savings to the taxpayers of this county. He has been ever watchful and alert for the interests of our county and his services are highly commended by all citizens.

Levy Election Law Denounced.

This convention voices its disapproval of the Levy Election Law, so-called passed by the Democratic majority in the legislature. This law imposes upon the taxpayers of this county, shameless practices, unnecessary expense, in violation of their constitutional rights, requires people living in towns and scattered communities to register in person.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The District Convention was called to order closely following the adjournment of the County Convention.

The convention named P. W. Cullinan of Oswego for chairman and W. K. Bentley of Albion and M. P. Neal of Oswego secretaries.

A test vote was taken which appeared to indicate that the Hubbs forces would control the convention. This was taken on a substitution in the Orwell delegation. Irving Fisher, one of the original delegates, resigned August 25th because he understood the delegates were bound by instructions. John Cook was named to succeed him. Since then he heard that each delegate might vote as he pleased and Fisher wanted to be resubstituted.

A motion was made by Attorney S. B. Mead that Cook be substituted for Fisher. By mistake Mr. Morehouse of Oswego seconded this resolution. The vote on this resolution resulted in 122 to 78 in favor of the retention of Cook on the delegation.

Mr. Morehouse attempted to withdraw his second but though Chairman Cullinan put the question three times the convention refused to permit it and demanded that the roll call proceed.

Thaddeus C. Sweet was unanimously renominated for Member of Assembly, the nomination being made by M. C. Murgittrod of Phoenix.

On motion of S. T. Reed the district committee was authorized to request John T. Mott to act as chairman for another year. W. A. Robbins of Mexico was elected secretary.

Col. John T. Mott was re-elected chairman of the district committee.

By a vote of 106 to 96 Irving G. Hubbs was accorded the privilege of naming the delegates to the judicial convention to be held in Syracuse in September. Mr. Hubbs named the following, all the delegates and, alternates being attorneys except Mr. Thomas Hunter:

N. B. Smith, H. R. Carrier, C. I. Miller, S. B. Mead, H. D. Coville, W. M. Gallagher, Roscoe Sargent, A. D. Merry.

Alternates—A. G. Whitney, Frank Decker, Claude E. Guile, N. S. Bentley, F. W. Skinner, Ezra A. Barnes, Spencer Brownell, Thomas Hunter.

Following the announcement of the vote Congressman Mott on behalf of Mr. Bartlett's friends and supporters moved that the nomination of Mr. Hubbs be declared the unanimous choice of the convention and it was carried with enthusiasm.

"EVERY LOYAL REPUBLICAN SHOULD SUPPORT HUBBS"

Oswego, Aug. 29.— Congressman Mott, when seen to-night, said:

"Mr. Hubbs was selected by a majority of the delegates as Oswego's choice for the judicial nomination and should have the support of every loyal Republican.

"I hope he will be nominated and elected and shall do everything in my power to this end.

"It was very gratifying to see the unanimity of feeling in the county convention which nominated a ticket with splendid men like Stranahan, Culkin and Fanning on it.

" The confidence of Republicans in Chairman Taft was well shown in his unanimous re-election, and the other committee positions were filled without a contest. Under Mr. Taft's successful management I expect a vigorous, active and triumphant campaign this Fall."

LABOR DAY AT POST OFFICE.

Mail will be delivered from carriers' windows from 7 to 9 a. m. All inquiries for mail must be made at that time. After the hours named the Post Office will be closed for the remainder of the day. The usual collections will be made by substitute carriers, and mail received and dispatched. No street deliveries will be made, as permission has been granted the carriers by the Department to attend the sessions of the National Association of Letter Carriers at Rochester Monday, Sept. 4.

William E. Hughes, Postmaster.

REALTY COMPANY SUCCESSFUL.

The Genesee Realty company, whose advertisement appears on another page, has conferred a great boon upon many Fultonians by opening up the tract of land known as Riverview Park and placing very desirable building lots within the reach of even the small wage earner. Splendid lots may be secured for $100; $1 and 50 cents per week thereafter. The tract was thrown open to the public on Thursday of last week and already 145 of the 196 lots have been disposed of. There are a few choice ones left and those who are interested should make haste to investigate the realty desirable proposition before it is too late.

The trolley line has opened up this territory and makes it an almost ideal residence location.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CITY CHARTER

AN ACT to amend the charter of the city of Fulton, generally.

Became a law June 30, 1911, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Accepted by the City.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Sections seven, nine, eleven, fourteen, eighteen, twenty-three, *forty-eight, fifty (subdivisions three, twenty-one and thirty-six), sixty, sixty-one, sixty-three (subdivision three) one hundred and ten, one hundred and twenty-one, one hundred and twenty-six, one hundred and thirty-four, one hundred and eighty-five, one hundred and ninety-five, two hundred and three, two hundred and forty, two hundred and forty-seven, two hundred and eighty-one and three hundred and two of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and two, entitled "An act to incorporate the city of Fulton," and sections twenty-six and one hundred and eighty-nine of chapter three hundred and fifty-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and eight, entitled "An act to amend the charter of the city of Fulton, generally," are hereby amended to read, respectively, as follows:

Sec. 7. City officers. The officers of the city shall be a mayor, a city judge, a chamberlain, a city clerk, a city attorney, a superintendent of public works, seven members of the board of education, a commissioner of charities, a city physician, a city engineer, a superintendent of schools, three fire and police commissioners, one chief of police, six patrolmen, three commissioners of public works, three members of the board of health, so many commissioners of deeds as may be deemed necessary by the common council, and a city marshal. The officers of the wards of said city shall be one alderman and one member of the board of education for each ward.

Sec. 9. Eligibility to city office. No person shall be elected or appointed to any city office, other than superintendent of schools and city engineer, unless he shall at the time be a resident elector of said city, to any ward office unless he shall at the time be a resident elector of such ward, to the office of supervisor unless he shall at the time be a resident elector of the supervisor district, except that any woman taxpayer of full age shall be eligible to hold the office of member of the board of education provided that at the time of her appointment, if appointed at large, she be a resident of the city, or, if appointed from a ward, that she be a resident of the ward from which she is so appointed. No person shall be elected or appointed city judge unless he shall have been for at least three years previous to his election or appointment, duly admitted to practice as an attorney and counselor in the several courts of this state. No person shall be elected or appointed to the office of mayor, or member of the board of public works, board of fire and police commissioners, or board of education unless he or his wife shall be the owner of real estate assessed to him or her on the last assessment-roll of the city previous to his election or appointment. Whenever any officer of said city, other than superintendent of schools and city engineer, shall cease to be a resident of said city, or of the district or ward for which he was elected or appointed, his office shall thereby become vacant. No person shall at the same time hold more than one city office in said city, except that a commissioner of deeds may hold any other city office, except the office of mayor or city judge.

Sec. 11. Appointive city officers enumerated; by whom appointed, their term of office. The appointive officers of the city of Fulton shall be a city chamberlain, a city attorney, a city clerk, a city physician, three assessors, a commissioner of charities, seven members of the board of education, three fire and police commissioners, three commissioners of public works, each of whom shall be appointed by the mayor, one chief of police and six patrolmen, who shall be appointed by the board of fire and police commissioners, so many commissioners of deeds as the common council may deem necessary, and a city marshal, each of whom shall be appointed by the mayor, subject to the confirmation of the common council; a city engineer and a superintendent of public works, each of whom shall be appointed by the board of public works; and a superintendent of schools who shall be appointed by the board of education.

Sec. 14. City elections. The common council shall provide polling places, ballot boxes and other necessary apparatus and materials in each election district in said city for all elections in said city, and the manner of conducting such elections shall, in all respects, conform to and be governed by the general laws of this state in respect to elections, not inconsistent with this act. At each such election, other than as herein provided, a successor shall be elected to each elective city officer, whose term of office shall expire with the year in which such election shall be held. Public notice of every election under this act, other than as hereinafter provided, shall be given by the common council, the notice thereof to be published in the official newspaper of said city, at least once in each week for two consecutive weeks immediately preceding the holding of such election, which notice shall designate the officers to be voted for at such election and the location of each polling place, and in such manner as may be required by the general election laws of the state. The polls of each general election and of each special election in said city at which one or more city officials are to be elected, shall be opened at 6 o'clock in the forenoon and closed, in each district as provided by the general laws of the state for general elections, and the inspectors shall canvass all votes cast for city officers and declare and make a statement of the result in the manner as required by the general laws of the state, and file the same immediately with the city clerk, other than as provided in this act. The city clerk shall, at least once a week before the date fixed by law for the first meeting of the board of registry for a city election, notify each inspector of election, in writing, of his appointment, as such inspector, and of each day for the meeting of the board of registry in each election district of the city, and of the date of such election. Every inhabitant of said city who shall at the time and place of offering his vote be qualified to vote for member of assembly, shall then and there be entitled to vote for all officers to be elected in the city at large and for all ward officers to be elected in his ward, and the supervisor to be elected in his supervisor district. To entitle any person to vote upon a proposition to raise money by taxes or by bonds, he or she must be a resident of the city, and twenty-one years of age or upwards, and if a male, he or his wife must be the owner of property in the city assessed upon the last preceding assessment-roll thereof. If a female she must be the owner of property in the city assessed upon the last preceding assessment-roll thereof. But both a man and his wife shall not be entitled to vote upon the same propositions unless they are owners of separate property. Except as hereinafter provided, no elector of said city shall vote in any election district except that in which he shall reside at the time he offers his vote, and shall have so resided for at least thirty days immediately prior to the election at which he offers his vote. Each ward of the city shall constitute an election district until some further division be made pursuant to the general election law.

Sec. 16. Filling vacancies. Other than as provided in this act, if a vacancy shall occur in any elective office of the city, or in the office of supervisor, otherwise than by expiration of term, the mayor shall appoint a person to fill such vacancy for the balance of the unexpired term. A vacancy occurring in an appointive office of the city, otherwise than by expiration of term, shall be filled for the balance of the unexpired term by the same authority and in the same manner as an appointment for a full term.

Sec. 23. When expenditures to be by contract to the lowest bidder. Whenever any expenditures to be made or incurred by the common council or city ordinary repairing and macadamizing of streets, shall exceed two hundred dollars, the city clerk shall advertise for and receive proposals therefor, in such manner as the common council or as the board or officer charged with making such contract shall prescribe, and the contract therefor shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall execute a bond to the city with sufficient sureties for the faithful performance of the contract. When the lowest bid, in the opinion of the board or officer charged with making the contract, is too high, they shall have the right to reject it, and may discontinue or abandon the work or may direct the clerk to advertise for new proposals, or such work may be done by such board or officer without public letting, if the common council by resolution consent thereto. But nothing in this section contained shall prevent the purchase of horses for use in the fire department.

Sec. 26. General powers and duties of the city chamberlain. The city chamberlain shall be the fiscal officer of the city, and shall perform such duties incident to his office as the common council may require. He shall keep an office at such place as the common council shall provide and designate, which shall be kept open each day in the year, except Sundays and legal holidays, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until four o'clock in the afternoon, except between the hours of twelve and one, and at such other hours as the common council may from time to time direct. He shall keep separate accounts of the different funds of the city, and shall not pay out any board or any city officer in behalf of the city for work to be done, or materials or supplies to be furnished, except money chargeable to any fund in excess of the amount standing on his books to the credit of such fund, and shall not knowingly pay money from any fund which is not properly chargeable thereto. The city chamberlain shall, before the first meeting of the common council in each month, file with the city clerk a report showing in detail the total expenditures and receipts of city moneys during the last preceding calendar month, a summary statement of the receipts and expenditures of city moneys during that portion of the current fiscal year expiring with the last day of each preceding month, and the balance at the end of such month standing to the credit of each of the city funds. Such statement shall be in such form as shall be prescribed from time to time, by the common council. An abstract of such report shall be published each month, at least once, in the official newspaper of the city. Before entering upon the duties of his office, and within fifteen days after he shall have received official notice of his appointment, the city chamberlain shall execute and file an official bond with two or more sureties or some solvent surety company, in such penal sum as may be fixed by the common council, not less, however, than twenty-five thousand dollars, in accordance with section sixteen of the statutory construction law and sections eleven (twelve and thirteen of the public officers law; and for omissions so to do, he shall be subject to the penalties and liabilities prescribed by section forty-two of the penal code, and sections thirteen, fifteen and twenty of the public officers law. Such bonds shall be approved by the common council, a certificate by the city clerk of such approval shall be indorsed thereon, and the bond so indorsed shall be filed and recorded in the clerk's office of the county of Oswego in the same manner as the official bonds of town collectors, and such bonds shall be a lien on all property of such chamberlain, and of each of such sureties in the county of Oswego, until the conditions of such bonds, together with all the costs and charges, which may accrue upon the prosecution thereof, shall be fully satisfied, whereupon the common council shall by resolution declare that such bond is satisfied, and a copy of such resolution, duly certified by the city clerk, may be filed and recorded in the office of said county clerk and shall operate to discharge the bond and the lien thereof from record. A true copy of such bond and certificate shall be filed in the city clerk's office. It shall be the duty of the chamberlain personally to receive all state, county, city and local taxes and assessments which may be paid at such office. All funds received by him shall be deposited daily in such solvent, national, state or savings bank or banks, trust company or trust companies, within this state, to be selected by him, by and with the advice and consent of the mayor, as will pay the highest rate of interest thereon and as in their judgment shall be for the best interests of the city. He shall pay no money except by checks consecutively numbered, each showing the number of the order upon which the payment is authorized and from what fund payable. The chamberlain shall retain in his office, and not elsewhere the possession of the warrants and assessment-rolls which may from time to time be delivered to him by the clerk of the city. He shall enter daily, in suitable books, all sums of money received by him for taxes or otherwise with the name of the person or corporation on whose account the same shall be paid, and shall, when required, exhibit the same, in his office to the mayor and finance committee of the common council or to any taxpayers for inspection. He shall also enter in a column in the assessment-rolls in his possession, opposite the names of the persons or corporations who shall pay their taxes or assessments, the fact of payment, the amount thereof and the date when paid. He shall also keep a record of all persons, and their respective addresses, who may pay taxes for non-residents of said city, and the residence of such nonresidents as far as he can ascertain the same. The chamberlain shall be the custodian of all securities, obligations and other evidence of debt belonging to said city. He shall annually settle with the common council and as much oftener as it may require, for all tax-rolls and warrants issued to him, and for all moneys received or collected by him for school or other purposes and produce the proper vouchers of the board of education and other boards and officers for all moneys paid upon the warrants, drafts or orders of said officers or board. At the time of the annual settlement and immediately preceding the first session in the term of office and within such time after the annual settlement as the common council may fix, he shall pay to his successors in office all such moneys remaining in his hands and deliver to such successors in office all such assessment-rolls, books, papers and property belonging to said city or pertaining to the affairs of the city in connection with the duties of his office.

Sec. 45. Funds not to be transferred; penalty. No fund or portion of a fund provided for by this act shall be transferred to any other fund or used for any other purpose whatever except the purpose for which the same is provided, except, however, the board of public works may, whenever the earnings of the water department exceed the sums necessary to provide for a sinking fund to meet the principal and interest of the water bonds, and pay the current expenses of the water department, transfer any surplus remaining to the improvement fund to be used in payment of the principal and interest of bonds issued or liabilities incurred for the city's share of pavements or sidewalks; except that when there is a surplus in the general city fund more than sufficient for the purposes specified in subdivision nine of section forty-four of this act for the fiscal year, such surplus or a portion thereof, may be transferred by the common council to the sewer fund or the improvement fund; and except that the surplus of any fund, raised for a special purpose, remaining to the credit of such special fund after such purpose has been accomplished may, by resolution of the common council, be transferred to the general city fund. Any officer or member of a board of the city violating the provisions of this section shall forfeit a penalty of one hundred dollars to be sued for and recovered by and for the benefit of the city, and in addition thereto shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 48. General legislative powers. The general legislative powers of said city for all proper municipal purposes except such power as may be vested in other city boards or officers, shall be vested in the common council. The common council shall furnish the officers of the city with necessary office room, office furniture, books and stationery; shall keep in proper repair the public buildings of the city; may authorize any city officer to inspect any place or places to ascertain whether the same are in safe condition, and if not, may require the same to be made so; may require any officer of the city to furnish reports, information or estimates whenever deemed proper by the council; may employ a pound keeper, a sealer of weights and measures, and such other employees of the city as may be necessary to execute the work which the common council is authorized and required to cause to be executed, and may fix their compensation. The common council may by resolution, and upon unanimous vote thereon expend not to exceed three hundred dollars in any year, for the purpose of providing open air public band concerts within said city, and may contract for such concerts and make such expenditures without advertising for bids therefor and without public letting; the money so expended to be taken from the general city fund.

Sec. 50. Subd. 3. To direct the location of all houses for storing gun powder and other combustibles and explosives, and to regulate the keeping, selling and conveyance thereof, and the use of oil lamps candles and lights in barns, stables and outbuildings and other places.

Subd. 21. To regulate the use and construction of chimneys, smokestacks, boilers, fire-places, stoves and heating apparatus, and the deposit of ashes, debris, waste and inflammable materials; and any member of the common council or any person authorized by it, may enter, when necessary, in the day time, any building within the city, to make an examination with reference to the evasion or violation of such ordinance.

Sec. 50. Subd. 36. Whenever the common council shall resolve by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of its members that an extraordinary expenditure ought, for the benefit of the city, to be made for any specific purpose set forth in the resolution, it shall make an estimate of the sum necessary therefor and for all such purposes. If there be more than one and publish such resolution and estimate for at least three times, once in each week, in the official newspapers, together with a notice that at a time and place therein specified a special election of the taxpayers of the city will be held to decide whether the amount of such expenditure shall be raised by tax, and no expenditure other than authorized by this act shall be made or any sum therefor raised except by authority of a vote taken at such special election. All provisions of law prescribing the duties of inspectors of election and their powers with reference to preserving order at election, and false swearing and fraudulent voting thereat shall, so far as applicable, apply to the special elections held hereunder. The election shall be by ballot, and each ballot shall contain a brief statement of each purpose for which such expenditure is required, and the amount thereof, and be in the form required by the election law for voting upon propositions submitted. The inspectors shall, at the time and place designated as aforesaid, sit without intermission from nine o'clock in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon to receive the ballots cast at such special election and shall deposit the same in a suitable ballot box to be provided by the city. If the right to vote of any person offering to vote at such special election be challenged by any other person entitled to vote thereat, an inspector of election shall administer to him or her the following oath. It a male "You do swear that you or your wife are a taxpayer of the city of Fulton for the present year, and that "your or your wife have not voted at this election?" If a female "You do swear that you are a taxpayer of the city of Fulton for the present year and that you or your husband have not voted at this election?" After he or she shall take such oath, his vote shall be received. The inspectors shall canvass the votes received immediately after closing the polls and immediately make a certificate, signed by them or two of them, stating the whole number of ballots voted at such election, the whole number for each special tax, and the whole number against each special tax, and deliver the same forthwith to the city clerk. The city clerk shall deliver the same to the common council at its next meeting, and it shall cause the result of the said election thus certified to be entered in the minutes. If the sum or sums of money thus appropriated shall, with the other annual taxes, be not in excess of one and one-half per centum of the assessed valuation of the real and personal property of the said city, the common council shall cause the sum or sums of money thus voted to be assessed, levied and raised with and in addition to other taxes in and upon the next assessment-roll. But if the sum or sums of money thus voted shall, with the other annual city taxes as provided for in section forty-four of this act, be in excess of one and one-half per centum of the assessed valuation of the real and personal property of said city, the common council shall cause the sum or sums of money therefor, to be assessed, levied and raised with and in addition to other taxes in and upon the next assessment-roll. No more than one such election in the city shall be held in any one year, except by the unanimous vote of the common council. After such special tax or taxes shall have been authorized as herein provided the common council may proceed to authorize the expenditure of the amount for the purpose or purposes specified in its published aforesaid and sanctioned by such election.

Sec. 60. Organization. The mayor first elected under this act shall appoint three members of the board of public works who shall hold office until the first of January, nineteen hundred and four. Thereafter the incoming mayor shall on or ten days prior to, the first day of January succeeding his election appoint their successors who shall hold office for the term of two years from said first day of January; provided, however, the mayor shall appoint as one of such successors one of the members of the then existing board of public works.

Sec. 61. Powers and duties of board. The board of public works shall be commissioners of highways in and for the said city and shall have all powers and perform all the duties of commissioners of highways in towns, other than as provided in this act. The said board is vested with the construction, change and management of and maintenance of all bridges, streets, sidewalks, public places and public squares within the city; of the water works and light works, if any, of the sewers, and of all buildings and structures appurtenant thereto, and of all reservoirs, pipes, hydrants, wires, machinery, tools, appliances and materials used in connection therewith. The board of public works shall have power to appoint an engineer and superintendent of public works, which engineer and superintendent shall be responsible to the board of public works. To employ all servants, including an assistant superintendent of public works if deemed advisable, clerks and laborers and fix the compensation of all servants so employed by them. To make rules and regulations for its own government and for the government of the superintendent of public works, city engineer and all servants of the board of public works and prescribe their duties. To make all ordinances relating to construction, paving and repairing of the streets and sidewalks.

Among the leading public men who will be guests of the New York State Fair commission during the coming exposition at Syracuse are President William H. Taft, Governor John A. Dix and Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York. All will deliver addresses.

TAFT AND DIX AT STATE FAIR

Strong Attractions For the Big Exposition.

GAYNOR ALSO TO SPEAK.

President Asks Commission Privilege of Picking Day For Visit—Aeroplane Flights, Grand Circuit Races, Auto Races and Horse Shows Among Features.

The president of the United States, the governor of New York state and the mayor of New York city will be guests of the New York State Fair commission, of which Lieutenant Governor Thomas F. Conway is president, at the state's big exposition, which opens at Syracuse Sept. 11 and continues for six days. There will be other distinguished visitors to add to the importance of the exposition, which is expected this year to take its place with the leading state fairs of the country.

Governor John A. Dix will be the first Democratic chief executive to attend the State Fair since the state acquired the plant. Accompanied by his military staff, he will visit the Fair on Thursday, Sept. 14, when he will deliver an address in Empire State Court.

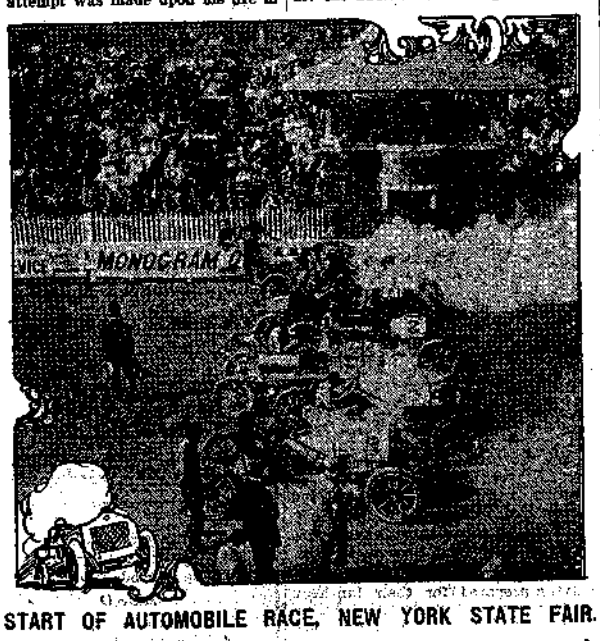
President William H. Taft has asked the privilege of picking, shortly before the opening of the Fair, the day for his visit. The president plans an extended tour and has not as yet completed his itinerary. Mayor Gaynor has also asked that the day of his visit be left open. After completing plans for a visit to the Fair last year an attempt was made upon his life in New York, and his critical condition made it necessary to cancel the engagement.

It is considered likely that Vice President James S. Sherman, Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio and Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, a member of President Taft's cabinet, will attend the Fair.

The preparations for the exposition are on a scale far more elaborate than ever before attempted. The attendance of 197,000 last year and the surplus from receipts of $71,000, which was greater by $30,000 than ever before turned into the state treasury by the fair commission, have satisfied the commission that the representatives of the great interests which make New York the first state in the Union are awake to an appreciation of the importance of the exposition, and the policy now is to rapidly broaden and develop every department.

The premiums and purses amount to $90,000, and the classification in every department is as complete as has been offered at any state fair in the country. There will be a great many new features, educational and entertaining.

A grand circuit race meeting on the scale of the biggest meetings in the country will furnish entertainment for horse lovers. There will be aeroplane flights by a powerful passenger carrying machine, automobile races, in which the most famous drivers before the public will be seen, open air horse shows equal to any on this continent or abroad and band concerts by one of the greatest musical organizations.



The commission, mindful of the numerous educational features of the Fair, is working on the theory that a good part of the public has to be attracted to instruction by entertainment and has provided the strongest attractions obtainable.

The space in the Manufacturers and Liberal Arts building, the $220,000 structure which has been pronounced the finest fair building in the world, will be occupied by seventy-seven manufacturers and merchants, representing nine different states. In the new Dairy building the space not required for the work of the dairy products department will be used by twenty-seven exhibitors. Over fifteen acres of out of door space have been allotted to manufacturers and dealers in farming machinery. It will probably be the best show of farming machinery ever seen in this state.

The entries in the classes for farm breeding and draft horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry are so numerous that the accommodations for these departments will be taxed to the utmost. The conditions will show clearly, state officers say, the demand for the additional buildings called for in the $2,000,000 permanent grounds plan.

The exhibits in the farm produce, fruit and flowers department will be larger, it is stated at commission headquarters, than at any time in the history of the institution. There will be interesting displays by the important fruit societies of the state, the New York State Fruit Growers' association and the Western New York Horticultural society.

Members of the State Fair commission predict that with favorable weather the attendance figures will come close to the 250,000 mark.

START OF AUTOMOBILE RACE, NEW YORK STATE FAIR.

CITY MAIL DELIVERY.

Officials Authorize Postmaster Hughes to Extend Service, Where Reasonable Conditions are Complied With.

The following appeal for the people of the East and West side by Postmaster Hughes has fallen upon appreciative ears, as will be seen by a persual of the correspondence had with the Federal Postal officials. It is important for all who desire to benefit by the generosity of the Department to provide receptacles for the mail in order to avoid delaying the carrier unnecessarily on his round of duty. In winter, too, sidewalks must be kept free from ice and snow.

Fulton, N. Y., Aug. 19, 1911.

First Assistant Postmaster-General,
Division of City Delivery,

Sir: Quite a few new buildings have been erected on the east and west side, many of which are owned by the occupants, and while the territory is not outside the carriers district, as approved by the Department, yet the houses are numbered and cinder paths at present take the place of cement sidewalks.

The carriers on the east and west side can make the delivery, too, without exceeding the number of hours of duty, ad it would be an advatage greatly appreciated by the patrons to grant them the privilege of free delivery.

I a rough estimate, about forty-five families would share the privilege.

Respectfully,
William E. Hughes, P. M.

Post Office Department—First Assistant Postmaster General—Washington.

August 23, 1911.

William E. Hughes, Postmaster,
Fulton, N. Y.,

Sir: In reply to your letter of the 19th instant, you are hereby authorized to extend city delivery service to the houses mentioned therein, with the understanding, however, that no resident will be served who does not provide a suitable receptacle for his mail.

Respectfully,
C. P. Grandfield,
First Assistant Postmaster-General.

A REASONABLE REQUEST.

Mail Carriers Should Be Relieved of the Necessity of Climbing Stairs in Discharge of Their Duties.

Business men and others occupying offices on floors requiring the climbing of stairs are requested to make arrangements for the reception of mail in boxes, either in the hallway or at the foot of the stairs, so as to relieve the city carriers of the burdensome necessity of carrying loaded pouches, weighing on an average 50 pounds, up and down stairs at least twice each day, necessitating, also, delay and loss of valuable time which might be spent to better advantage in a more extensive delivery of mail. It is sincerely hoped that this humane and reasonable request will meet with the approval and prompt action of patrons of the local office.

A Splendid Treat For The Ladies

THE HOOSIER SPECIAL SAVES MILES OF STEPS FOR TIRED FEET

One Entire Week to be Given Over to a Kitchen Economy Exhibit

GREAT HOOSIER CLUB

To Be Organized—25 Members to Be Selected in Fulton

Remarkable Display of the Celebrated

HOOSIER CABINETS

Every Lady in Fulton is Invited

One Cabinet Absolutely Free

A gigantic investigation just completed by the Hoosier Manufacturing Company, world's largest makers of kitchen cabinets, shows that seven out of every ten Hoosier Cabinets are sold on the recommendation of delighted owners.

Scores of women right here in Fulton who have already fallen in love with the Hoosier Cabinet are now saving up to buy one. The great club we will organize next week is a splendid opportunity to all.

25 Women May Join

Twenty-five women during the club week only can join the Hoosier Club we will organize. Each of these women can have a Hoosier Cabinet for the cash price by paying merely One Dollar at the time of entering her name, and for a few weeks.

One Dollar a Week

This is our quick plan for getting a great number of Hoosier Cobinets in use early in the season. We know that every cabinet sold now will sell another soon.

This great advertising plan will last just ten days—not this week, but next week

Commencing Thursday, Sept. 7

One of these celebrated Hoosier Cabinets will be given away during the club week, to a lady who visits the store. No one will be asked to buy anything, but we want you to come in and find out our plan. Some one will get the FREE CABINET.

Remember, the Hoosier saves you MILLIONS OF STEPS to and from the kitchen table.

It saves you reaching up to high shelves. It saves you from the back-breaking strain of bending over bins and barrels. It is a wonderful labor-saving device worthy of your kitchen.

A Word to Farmers' Wives

Your husband has a riding plow, a mower, and a score of other conveniences. The Hoosier Cabinet costs less than any of these You need it more. It saves your health and strength. By our plan a little butter and egg money soon pays for your Hoosier Cabinet. Bring your husband with you next week, and let us show him this wonderful cabinet.

Special Invitation to Mail Order Buyers

When you buy a kitchen cabinet you want to buy where you can get the most for your money. We invite you simply to see this Hoosier Cabinet before you order one.

The Hoosier Manufacturing Company are the world's largest makers of kitchen cabinets. Enormous production enables them to give remarkable value. The low price is fixed by the Hoosier Manufacturing Company. We think the Hoosier gives more for the money than anyone else ever thought of putting into a kitchen cabinet.

In fairness to yourself come in and see if we are right before you buy.

This great exhibit of Hoosiers will be ready next week. No lady in Fulton can afford to miss seeing this remarkable cabinet whether she cares to own one or not. Come in.

UNPRECEDENTED OCCURRENCE.

It is not often that a theatrical attraction has the services of the President of the United States to boost its business. The Hon. John Barrett, Director of the Bureau of American Republics, came rushing into the Columbia Theatre about ten o'clock last night. The treasurer had gone and the tickets were locked up. He hunted up Manager Berger, and said, "I've just been over to the White House and the President told me to be sure and not miss 'The Seven Sisters.' He told Secretary Knox to come up here last night."

The President saw the play on the opening night and broke all official records by reaching the theatre before theorchestra began to play the opening overture, thereby disturbing the routine which is followed on such Presidential occasions. "The Seven Sisters" will be seen at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, Sept. 1 and 2, with Charles Cherry.

FATHER DWYER OPERATED ON.

The Rev. W. F. Dwyer, pastor of St. John's church, was operated on at St. Joseph's Hospital, Syracuse, Thursday afternoon for a mastoid abscess. The operation was a very delicate one but was successfully performed by Dr. T. H. Halsted of Syracuse, assisted by Dr. J. T. Dwyer of Oswego. It was stated at St. Joseph's today that Father Dwyer had passed a good night and that his condition was very satisfactory.

It is hoped that the operation will completely restore Father Dwyer to health.—Palladium.

FOR THE BOYS.

Here are some ways by which men may succeed in life. 1. Have a definite aim and go straight for it. 2. Master all details and always know more than you are expected to know. 3. Do not be daunted by difficulties; they are made to be overcome. 4. Do not be disheartened by failures, but make them stepping-stones to further effort. 5. Never put out your hand further than you can draw it back. 6. Use other men's brains as well as your own. 7. Listen well, answer cautiously, decide promptly. 8. Never engage in questionable or dishonorable transaction.—Ex.

GOOD TEMPERANCE STORY.

Rev. C. N. Howard tells the following story: "In a certain town the temperance people and the liquor people planned to have a street parade upon the same day, the parades to start from opposite ends of the town. At the head of the liquor procession a man carried a banner marked "Men Vote for Your Liberty." At the head of the temperance procession a little boy carried a banner, "Fathers, Vote to Save Your Sons." As the processions met, the man threw down the banner, ran to the boy, and raising him upon his shoulder, faced about, and himself headed the temperance parade. The boy was his own son.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hunter Fan & Motor Company will be held in their office on Hubbard street, Fulton, N. Y., Sept. 13, 1911, for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as may come regularly before this meeting.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS

For Assemblyman
T. C. SWEET

For Sheriff
MYRON A. STRANAHAN

For District Attorney
FRANCIS D. CULKIN

For County Superintendent of Poor
C. ADELBERT STONE

For Special County Judge
GEORGE M. FANNING

The ticket nominated at Pualski on Tuesday is composed exclusively of winners.

Assemblyman Sweet did not have any excitement during his campaign. Everyone wanted him returned to Albany.

Charles W. Taft makes an excellent chairman of the county committee. So excellent that he was selected to succeed himself.

In the melee Fulton did not fare so badly. She secured a sheriff, special county judge and treasurer of the county committee.

Dean Barry's position in regard to the necessity for keeping young people off the streets at night, will be commended by the public in general. It is not in the home that vice begins.

If there is a man in Oswego county who does not know that one Will Church lives in the Sixth ward, Fulton, he has not taken any interest in the judicial situation this Fall. Mr. Church was the man of mystery; also the man of the hour.

Republican County and District Conventions.

The Republican County and District Conventions have been held and the political atmosphere, which had been surcharged for the past several weeks, is clarified. Never before in the history of any convention in Oswego county was the situation so tense; never before has it been recorded that every step taken was preceded by a ballot in order that the will of the electors might be freely expressed through their delegates. Anyone who in the future speaks of Republican conventions in Oswego county as cut and dried will be told that the conventions of 1911 were not. Startling situations abounded from the time the delegates reached the little village of Pulaski until the last work—that of organizing the district committee—was accomplished.

Whatever differences there may have been regarding the contestants for judicial honors, there was perfect unanimity of sentiment regarding the district and county candidates. Together working in perfect accord those who were antagonistic were party loyalists, all harmonized and actively interested in Messrs. Sweet, Stranahan, Culkin, Stone and Fanning. This condition augurs well for an old-fashioned Republican majority in November.

In the judicial situation the tensity was abnormal. The conditions unprecedented. All party and factional lines were torn asunder and it was utterly impossible to know on which side, organization or independent, an elector's sympathies might be enlisted unless he was heard to express himself. Attorney Udelle Bartlett was the organization candidate and had made a two months' canvass before Attorney Irving G. Hubbs consented to enter the lists against him.

The eyes of the Empire State were upon this canvass and scarcely a paper that did not comment upon it.

Of course each county in this Fifth Judicial District has a favorite son, groomed and ready to enter the fray, and each county hoped that the conditions in Oswego county would be such at the conclusion of the contest that the justiceship would be lost to Oswego county. But the opposite is the case. The ground was stubbornly contested and not an inch was untraversed. When in the convention the die was cast, and Mr. Hubbs became the choice of the majority, Congressman Mott, Mr. Bartlett's staunchest advocate, sprang to his feet and speaking for himself and Mr. Bartlett's other friends, moved that the independent candidate, who had, without organization, without aid outside of that volunteered by his friends, had yet succeeded — should become the unanimous choice of Oswego county for the office to which he aspired. That Congressman Mott's attitude struck a responsive cord was evidenced by the cordial reception which greeted his resolution.

As the result of the judicial fight a united Republican party has been born in Oswego county of the two warring factions. The foes have been generous ones, and together the Bartlett and the Hubbs forces will go to the judicial convention next month. United action will bring the boon of a resident Justice to Oswego county because of the righteousness of Oswego county's plea. Nothing can prevent the nomination of Mr. Hubbs to the Supreme Court except treachery in his own county and that will be as sternly censured by Mr. Bartlett's friends as by Mr. Hubbs. Had the verdict of the majority been other than it was the Times believes that Mr. Hubbs himself would have been the first to bring this plea for the "square deal" to Oswego county.

Upon the entire party now—upon the two factions that once existed here—must rest the full responsibility for the action of the other counties in the judicial convention in September.

COUNTY FAIRS TO CONTINUE.

From some source, perhaps a feeler put forth to ascertain sentiment throughout the rural districts, the rumor has been started that the Phoenix, Fulton and Sandy Creek Fairs held this year were the last to be held.

The Phoenix Fair had to be abandoned this year owing to the bridge hold-up. Secretary Allen of the Fulton Fair is authority for the statement that nothing has been heard to his knowledge, relative to the closing of the Fair nor the selling of the grounds and buildings.

President Hydorn of the Sandy Creek Fair association has emphatically stated that there is no liklihood of such an occurrence and that the Sandy Creek Fair will live on and on.

It is true that Gov. Dix and different members of his administration have expressed the belief that all County Fairs should be abolished and all effort be bent toward improving the State Fair at Syracuse.

BIG HOTEL PROJECT.

It is reported that an immense farm at Sodus Point has been sold for $40,000 to a syndicate and that a $200,000 hotel will soon be erected on the property. A country club is contemplated with garage, golf links, etc. Thirty-nine wealthy men of different sections are interested in the project, according to the Wayne County Democrat.

LABOR DAY AT POST OFFICE.

Mail will be delivered from carriers' windows from 7 to 9 a. m. All inquiries for mail must be made at that time. After the hours named the Post Office will be closed for the remainder of the day. The usual collections will be made by substitute carriers, and mail received and dispatched. No street deliveries will be made, as permission has been granted the carriers by the Department to attend the sessions of the National Association of Letter Carriers at Rochester Monday, Sept. 4.

William E. Hughes, Postmaster.

SOLVES A DEEP MYSTERY

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Bader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to ridt he system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Congressional Re-Apportionment Discussed.

Among the possibilities in the Congressional re-apportionment plan is that Oswego may be hooked up with Wayne, Cayuga and a portion of Monroe counties. This district, if it should stand, would give a poulation of 220,000.

Child Meets Horrible Death.

Lewis, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Burns of Pulaski, met a horrible death on Thursday by being thrown from a pet cow on whose back he was tied by his playmates. The rope slippd and the boy fell, frightening the cow who started in a mad run around the field, the child bumping the ground with every step. Before the parents could be notified the child had been mortally injured.

Mr. Taylor purchased the cows a few months ago at a Syracuse sale of registered animals and they were guaranteed tuberculin tested on March 15 last. The State will pay Mr. Taylor $340 for the cattle if the disease is found localized. If general, it will pay but half the amount. The bull alone cost $1,500.

A shabby but strong and able looking individual was doing the business section of Fulton on Thursday, soliciting alms because, according to the card he handed the people he was soliciting, he was deaf. He was selling court plaster. In one place on First street the proprietor did not have any change and offered him two pennies and his package of court plaster back again. The mendicant actually threw the pennies at his benefactor and announced in very positive terms that he did not have to take pennies. The average beggar is as grateful.

Sandy Creek News: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. First Showing of the New Fall Hats This Week

THE WEEK

Agriculture promises well for the future. Further serious damage to wheat is unlikely, although unsettlement is probable until the final harvest is known. New wheat is still moving freely, owing to satisfactory prices, and present stocks at Chicago alone are nearly as large as the entire visible supply a year ago. Reliable information shows improvement in corn, and each week makes more certain the gathering of the greatest cotton crop ever grown. Confidence still marks trading, although the steel mills report fewer orders than at the opening of the month. Prices, too, show further irregularity, and competition is more pronounced. Operations at the mills equal the highest capacity of the year, but this reflects past conditions and the volume of unfilled business has been reduced. Trade in dry goods continues conservative and no extensive buying for foward delivery is in sight. The price of standard print cloths was reduced from 5 1-2 to 4 3-4 c. The woolen goods trade is more active, and with more stable conditions in that market the New England mills, both large and small, operate quite freely in raw material. Values are firm, and fractional advances have been obtained. New England manufacturers report better orders for footwear, and the leather market displays a firmer tone. Upper leather is in fair demand, but the firm views of holders have an adverse effect on sales. Operations at mills and workshops in some important departments are curtailed to a greater extent this year than is customary, but in most instances this is merely a precautionary measure; in the main, labor is quite well employed at remunerative wages. All trade statistics point to a well-sustained volume of business.

In iron and steel operations in the Pittsburgh district are more active than elsewhere, although contracts for finished products are light and no decided expansion is expected until next month.

Purchases of dry goods are still confined largely to goods for prompt shipment in staple lines and to conservative orders on goods to be made. Cotton mills are running to about 60 per cent of their capacity and in woolens and worsteds about 60 per cent. The reduction in standard prints announced by one large producer was quickly followed by others in the trade. There has been some increase in the call for heavy weight suitings and fancy overcoatings, and buyers of cloakings for immediate use in the cutting-up trade find difficulty in obtaining duplicates, although their orders are not very large. Competition for business in staple dress goods lines has led to the naming of a very low price on serges for spring.

Some improvement is noted in the demand for shoes and more orders have been placed this week than previously. Buyers are operating close to actual requirments, however.

Conflicting influences produce irregularity in wheat, further crop complaints being offset by a depressing statistical situation. The milling demand shows no tendency to improve. Low temperatures in Canada were given wide publicity, yet serious damage was later denied. Western receipts of 4,445,165 bushels this week were smaller than the 7,377,945 reported last year, but exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 2,028,731 bushels, against only 488,979 in 1910. Better weather, in conjunction with large country offerings and a slow cash demand, lowered prices for corn. Arrivals at primary markets of 3,108,868 bushels compared with 3,386,775 a year ago, while Atlantic coast shipments were 202,973 bushels against 82,303 in 1910. Sentiment in cotton is confused by contradictory crop advices and trading has fallen off abruptly. Reports of extensive deterioration are not generally credited and there is a disposition to defer judgment until the government estimate is made known next Friday.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for August to date amount to $8,440,713, of which $4,220,340 were in manufacturing, $3,930,304 in trading and $290,069 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 209 in the United States, against 192 last year, and 24 in Canada compared with 23 a year ago.

BENNETT FARM SOLD.

Thomas H. Bennett of Oswego has sold his farm in Albion, near the village of Altmar, to Fred D. Cooley, Niagara Power Company, for a large sum. One of the dams will be located on this farm under present plans.

POSSIBLE MISTAKES.

Governor Dix Criticized and Joked

UPON RECENT INCIDENTS

Springfield Republican Hints That In Appearing at State Camp In Nondescript and Unauthorized Uniform He Was Aping European Overlords, While Union War Veterans Are Wondering Why He Left Rochester So Suddenly.

Albany, Aug. 29.—It may be said that the American people will overlook much in their public men if the latter are not listed as "quitters" or do not permit themselves to become ridiculous or the butt of too many jokes. Without undue strain on the imagination one can recall two distinguished men of this state, neither of whom attained to the dignity which their friends considered their due and for which their native abilities fitted them, and this for no other reason than that early in their public career each became noted in a humorous way and the American people came to treat each as a joke and not of sufficient mental stature to be placed in the White House.

It may happen that Governor John A. Dix may find himself in a similar position ere long because of the recent incident. When the papers said that Governor Dix intended to review the New York state troops in an improvised military uniform the public took it as a joke. It is well known that no uniform is prescribed for the governor, although the latter is commander in chief of the state troops, any more than there is for the president, and the latter ranks as head of the army and navy of the nation. It has been the custom of New York state governors, as well as of presidents of the United States, to review the state troops, when occasion demanded, in high hat and frock coat, leaving to their adjutant general and military secretary the monopoly of elaborately gold laced uniforms.

It must be, however, that Governor Dix did don some sort of uniform at the state camp, as he is coming in for a great lot of raillery, some good natured and some no' so kind in tone. The New York Tribune is disposed to treat the incident in humorous vein and goes on to say:

Nothing can induce us to believe, as one of our grave and reverend contemporaries asserts, that Governor Dix donned uniform as commander in chief of the army and navy of this state merely from "love of show." Assuredly the governor is a fine figure of a man, but the frock coat and top hat of the statesman become him well, and by donning military garb he could only suffer by comparison with his golden staff and radiant military secretary. A governor is not chosen primarily for pulchritude; a military secretary is.

Instead of being an indication of tottering institutions, the governor's uniform undoubtedly is a sign of promise to the people. Some of the governor's critics—and what man has them not?—have accused him of being too pacific. Among the Democratic upliters have been murmurings of discontent because the governor "would not fight." Their idea seemed to be that he was prevented by lack of pugnacity and a proper military spirit from leading a grand, spectacular and sanguinary campaign which should sweep Chief Murphy and his band of marauding Tammany Indians from the state. The wearing of this new uniform should bring joy to the spirits of the uplifters. Does it not indicate an awakening of the dormant fighting spirit in the governor? Is it not likely that meditation on the name he wears and the inspiration of his uniform will make him not a "war governor," but a warrior governor? And then who but him to command the uplift and to wipe out all the "undesirable elements" in Democracy if need be even at the point of the bayonet and with the entire strength of the national guard enlisted in the uplifting?

The Springfield Republican, that Massachusetts paper which is as law and gospel to so many independent voters all over the country, the class of persons the governor must have on his side if he expects to enter the presidential race, takes the incident very seriously and judges our governor guilty of gross impropriety. Here is the Republican's reasoning:

Governor Dix broke the frock coat and tall silk hat tradition by reviewing the New York militia garbed in a military uniform, although it was impossible to indicate his military rank by shoulder straps. The governor is commander in chief under the state constitution, but the impropriety of his performance must be admitted, inasmuch as the citizen's dress which governors usually wear on such occasions symbolizes the fact that the civil is superior to the military power in this country. If President Taft were to review the army in the uniform of a general or the navy in the uniform of an admiral he would be mercilessly criticized—in the first place because congress, in order to emphasize the supremacy of the civil power in the person of the chief magistrate, has not conferred upon the president any particular rank for which a uniform is provided; in the second place because such a performance would be the mere aping of the European monarchs and "war lords" who are always uniformed gorgeously at military ceremonials. Governor Dix must have been very thoughtless indeed.

Undoubtedly Governor Dix looked well when he donned a uniform for his visit to the state camp. He is a good looking man anyway, and his appearance must have been improved by the neatly fitting military garb. We can imagine him soliloquizing in the words of Gilbert & Sullivan:

"When first I put this uniform on,
I said as I looked in the glass
It's one in a million if any civilian,
This figure and form will surpass."

The Boston Transcript and other papers published outside New York state have commented upon the uniform incident and not in a way to make Governor Dix any better pleased with himself.

While it seems to be generally conceded, even by his warmest personal friends, that John A. Dix is not a grim and persevering fighter, no one has up to date accused him of actually dying the white feather, so there must be something more than mere dislike to face a Republican president that made Governor Dix leave Rochester so suddenly last week. It had been arranged that the governor should be the guest of honor at the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Rochester on Tuesday and that he should ride in the big parade with President Taft on Wednesday. The governor came to Rochester as per program on Tuesday, was the guest of honor at a mass meeting of the veterans in the evening, but when Wednesday morning came it was found that the governor had departed for Albany late on Tuesday night without any word other than that "private business of urgent nature demanded his presence in Albany." Not only did the governor run away, but the New York state flags of the civil war, which are in custody of the state authorities and were to have been carried in the parade, came here with Governor Dix and were taken away with him, it is thought, inasmuch as they did not appear in the parade.

Whatever the governor's reasons, the fact remains that he did not remain here and take part in the big veteran parade with President Taft and that the episode has caused much comment, such Democratic papers as the Rochester Herald and the Rochester Union and Advertiser taking occasion to "slate" the governor. The Union remarks: "Governor Dix was conspicuously absent on the big day of the Grand Army encampment. Is it possible that he was afraid of President Taft?"

Trombly Turned Down.

Albany, Aug. 29. — Assemblyman Trombly of Clinton county was one of the "insurgent assemblymen" who stood out against the selection of William F. Sheehan for United States senator. Later on, however, he turned in with the Murphy-Tammany combination and supported all its plans and measures in the legislature, including the notorious Levy election bill. He is a protege of Lieutenant Governor Conway, who also fought Sheehan supposedly in the interests of his own candidacy for the United States senate. It is no secret that Trombly wanted to be warden of Dannemora state prison and that he supposed he had cinched the appointment when he flopped to Tammany. Murphy, however, had not forgiven Trombly for daring to oppose his wishes even if he was not red hot for Sheehan's success, and Trombly was turned down by "that great penologist," State Prison Superintendent Scott, in favor of the candidate recommended by William H. Fitzpatrick, the sturdy Tammany ally in Buffalo. It is understood that Murphy has given ironclad orders that no insurgent is to be recognized in the way of patronage even if he did swing into line with Tammany at the eleventh hour.

Real Peanut Politics.

Here is a case of real peanut politics at last. We have used the term "peanut politics" metaphorically for years, but here is the real article:

"Syracuse, Aug. 14. — A man who sells peanuts and fruit on the Salina street bridge, controlled by the state, has been ordered to quit business. The state will give his stand to another man. The man displaced is a Republican; the new man will be a Democrat."

Evidently the Democrats are going over the state with a fine tooth comb in order to garner all the plums in sight. The conservation of jobs for "the boys" is only equaled by the conservation hypocrisy that is paraded to make the people believe that the power grabbers of the Adirondacks are being held off at arm's length, when really they are preparing for an attack on the state's power resources that will make all previous efforts along that line look like the Syracuse instance of peanut politics by comparison.—Binghamton Republican.

Trying to Fool the People.

The local Tammany organ, the Evening Enterprise, publishes an editorial on the Levy election law, attempting to show that the law will cost the state only $98,500 more than the cost of elections under the old law. Even if that were true what reason was there, except the creation of a lot of useless officials, for the new law by an administration which has pretended to be straining every nerve for economy? But the editorial in question makes no mention of the county election commissioners with their salaries and allowances for clerk hire, which greatly increase the expense.—Poughkeepsie Eagle.

Promise and Performance.

In its state platform the Democratic party pledged itself to the principle of direct nominations, but instead of giving the people a direct primary law whereby the nomination of candidates for office was to be simplified it has placed upon the taxpayers an enormous burden in the way of election expenses and for the salaries of useless election officials. It is expected that it will cost Chemung county several thousand dollars over and above what it has heretofore paid to conduct the elections under the Levy law.—Elmira Advertiser.

CIVIL WAR ECHOES.

The Penalty of Greatness.

General Sherman wept the other day after hearing "Marching Through Georgia" played at a banquet. His neighbor, General Grant asked him "wherefore dost thou weep." General Sherman answered, "I never was so all-fired sorry that I marched through Georgia as I have been for the last five years. Georgia be darned; the people are good enough, but I am listening to that tune for the 3,346,857th time."

"How would you like, Ulysses," he continued, "to hear that infernal melody over three million times? They have played it to me from Maine to Texas, and from Florida to Toronto," and here he wept afresh. General Grant quietly patted the hero on the shoulder, and said, "Sherman, it is only one of the penalties of greatness. I suffer worse than you do. I've had seven millions of cigars given me because people think I like to smoke; 324 bull pups, and more horses than I can count."

"Sherman," continued the General, "whenever I see a cigar or a horse or a bull pup, I feel just as bad as you do, but I never give away to my feelings, I—I—sell 'em."

"Yes," answered Sherman between his sobs, "You can sell cigars, bull pups and horses, but I can't sell that d—— tune for five cents."—Scrap Book.

GRANULATED SORE EYES CURED

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers.

AMERICAN GEM MINES.

It isn't every man who can own a gem mine and keep it solely to serve as a source of supply for gems to use as gifts to his friends. That is what Col. D. C. Collier, of San Diego does. Col. Collier, who is director-general of the Panama-California Exposition, 1915, is pronounced by many persons to be a "typical westerner." He ought to be for he was born in Colorado, has been over all of the Rocky Mountains and coast states, and, although still young was a pioneer in San Diego. If you should chance to see anyone wearing a transparent, violet-colored stone, you would be pretty safe in assuming that you had run across one of Col. Collier's numerous friends, for that is the kind of gem which the Colonel gives to his friends, and thus far has refused all sorts of tempting offers to sell. The gem mines of San Diego County are world famous, and the exhibit from them to be made at San Diego's big Panama Exposition will be of wonderful interest.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

The Democratic Primaries are scheduled to be held in Oswego county on Monday evening, Sept. 11. The leaders claim that they are selecting the strongest men in their party to fill the places on the district and county tickets.

Among the candidates mentioned are Attorney O. M. Reilly of Phoenix for District Attorney; Orrin B ogardus of Fulton for Sheriff; and either Fred M. Moore of Richland or George W. Bacon of Scriba for Superintendent of the Poor.

Electric Bitters

Success when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

MT. PLEASANT.

The second annual reunion of the Distin family was held at the home of Delos Distin, Aug. 26, it being his 61st birthday. About 63 were present, mostly relatives. Among those from abroad were Prof. W. W. Rowlee and family of Ithaca; Geo. N. Rowlee and wife from Niles, Mich; Mrs. Josephine Lindsley and daughter Harriet, from Jersey City; Mr. Arthur Distin and Mr. and Mrs. Milo Austin, Syracuse; Mrs. Loren Austin, South Granby; Mr. Myron Foster and wife and Mr. John Distin and family of Fulton.

It was an ideal day and an enjoyable time was had. There were plenty of good things to eat, a large freezer of ice cream, and bananas.

Prof. Rowlee was chosen president; Earl Rowlee, secretary and treasurer; Byron Distin and wife, Earl Rowlee and wife, Charles Rowlee and wife, were chosen executive committee. There were letters read form those who were not able to be with us. From Oneida county who were with us last year, and a letter from a cousin in West Haven, Conn. After a few remarks by some present a vrey appropriate poem was recited by Mrs. Eunice Root, who is the oldest descendent of the Distin family, being over 80 years old. A pretty poem was read by Mrs. Lindsley.

Some pictures were taken by Mrs. Arthur Lewis.

Mrs. Harriet M. Lindsley returned to Jersey City Saturday night and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rowlee started for Niles, Mich., Sunday morning by way of Niagara Falls. Mr. Myron Foster came with his auto and made the little folks and some of the older ones happy by giving them a ride.

POMONA GRANGE MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Oswego County Pomona Grange will be held at Grange Hall, Hastings, on Wednesday, September 6. H. N. Godfrey, Master of the State Grange, will make the principal address. A good program has been arranged.

ONE BOY SCOUT.

Smallest Scout First to Succeed—Requirements Necessary for Membership—Organization Most Excellent.

Albert Sanford, aged fourteen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sanford of 212 South Third street, is the first of the Fulton Boy Scouts of the First Methodist church to qualify as a First Class Scout. Although Albert is one of the smallest of the forty or more scouts, being under the average for his age, yet he is one of the most faithful and hardest working of the Troop. He is Patrol Leader of the Fourth Patrol known as the "Flying Eagles," and is an excellent official. One of the requirements to be met in order to obtain a first class badge was to swim fifty yards. When Albert went into camp at Big Island with others of the troop June 22, he was not able to swim a stroke, and besides was just recovering from the effects of an operation. Before the nine days of camp life had passed he had learned to swim under the instruction of one of the Camp Masters, Willis P. Morin, and in a few weeks more he swam the fifty yards required and added another fifty for good measure. The following are the tests required of a First Class Scout:

1. Swim fifty yards.
2. Earn and deposit at least two dollars in a public bank.
3. Send and receive a message by Semaphore (or American Morse, or Myer) alphabet sixteen letters per minute.
4. Make a round trip alone (or with another scout) to a point at least seven miles away, going on foot or rowing boat, and write a satisfactory account of the trip and things observed.
5. Advanced First Aid—Know the methods for panic prevention; what to do in case of fire and ice, electric and gas accidents; how to help in case of runaway horse, mad dog or snake bite; treatment for dislocations, unconsciousness, poisoning, fainting, apoplexy, sun-stroke, heat exhaustion, and freezing; know treatment for sunburn, ivy-poisoning, bites and stings, nose-bleed, earache, toothache, inflammation or grit in eye, cramp or stomachache, and chills; demonstrate artificial respiration.

The story runs that a militant suffragist, while speaking in Yorkshire last summer, was interrupted by a farmer, who said: "If thee wor in thee proper place lass, thee'd be up in the field yonder, helpin' to make hay instead o' blethorin' here." "Thank you, sir," retorted the fair speaker. "And if you were in your proper place you'd be eating it."

BIG SHOW OF PRIZE CATTLE

Many Valuable Herds Secured For State Fair.

MAY BEAT RECORD EXHIBITION

More Holstein-Friesian Herds Expected Than Were Shown In 1908. State's Awards Will Be About $8,000. Special Prizes Hung Up by Cattle Associations.

The statement by officers of the department of agriculture that the cattle of New York state have a greater valuation than the cattle of any other state of the Union is not disputed by the leading representatives of the big cattle breeding interests of the west. The high grade New York dairy cattle have made New York the leading dairy state. For several years New York dairy cattle have been in demand for experimental farms not only in all parts of the United States, but in foreign countries.

At the coming New York State Fair there will be exhibited the finest representatives of all breeds of cattle raised in the state. The competitions will also bring out some valuable herds from other states, as is shown by the entries for this department under the direction of Commissioner C. A. Wieting of Cobleskill. The indications are that it will be the greatest cattle show ever seen at the state's agricultural exposition.

In 1908 the Fair had the largest show of Holstein-Friesian cattle ever made in this country, and the indications are that this year there will be more herds of "black and whites" and more valuable individuals than three years ago. However, the Holstein-Friesians will not command all the attention. An announcement from the office of the State Fair commission at Syracuse is to the effect that all of the leading dairy and beef breeds will be well represented. There will be exhibited herds of Shorthorns, Jerseys, Herefords, Ayrshires, Guernseys, Dutch Belted and, in fact, all of the finest breeds.

For the awards in the cattle classes this year the state has appropriated approximately $8,000. Interest in the competitions will be further heightened by the offers of special prizes by cattle associations. The special prizes will be given in the classes for Holstein-Friesian, Shorthorn, Brown Swiss and Guernsey cattle.

ASKS HIS FRIENDS.

Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter to Alexander P. Moore, editor of the Pittsburg Leader, recently made public, says: I must ask not only you but every friend I have, to see to it that no movement whatever is made to bring me forward for the nomination in 1912. I should esteem it a genuine calamnity if such a movement were undertaken.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE.

"Thais," Jos. M. Gaites' Spectacular Production to be Presented Sept. 25, 26, 27.

A sensation followed the announcement that Paul Wilstach, author of "The Life of Richard Mansfield," and associated with the famous actor for eight years during his tours of America, had written a drama based on "Thais" which will be seen for the first time in Syracuse at the Empire Theatre on Sept. 25, 26, 27, under the management of Jos. M. Gaites, with Miss Constance Collier in the name part.

Mr. Wilstach has closely followed the scenes as they appear in the novel. Anatole France one of the greatest of living literary workers, is the author of the novel, which became the basis for the opera by Jules E. F. Massanet, which achieved such popularity in this country when sung by Miss Mary Garden.

Many thought the dramatization of the beautiful opera would be a thankless one, but Mr. Wilstach is a daring chap and Mr. Gaites is what is known as "game," so the production went forward and the outcome is well known for after the first performance "Thais" was a distinct dramatic triumph.

Few operas have been dramatized. Merimee wrote "Carmen" in 1845, but it was fifty years before anyone undertook a dramatization of the story for the stage. In 1895 Miss Olga Nethersole commissioned Henry Hamilton, a British writer, to make such a version for her use, and as all the world knows today, it proved one of the most successful plays ever written by a modern author. Miss Nethersole, alone, has played it over 1500 times, and was the first actress to appear in the part in Paris, although it was 62 years after the novel was written, and it has been one of the most popular works in the entire repertory of French operas.

It may have been a recollection of this episode that stirred Mr. Wilstach to action with "Thais."

"Thais" is a story showing the anchorities of the ancient Theban desart The piece takes its name from a beautiful creature, as sinful as she is beautiful. There comes to her a hermit who seeks to convert her from her wicked life. He preaches and prays and endures the temptations that befell Parsifal. Finally he yields but when he has come thoroughly under the influence of "Thais," and has lost his soul, she suddenly awakens to the new life, has heard his teachings and pleadings, and goes to the "White Sisters" on the African shore of the Mediterranean.

Mr. Gaites in addition to Miss Collier, has engaged Tyrone Power to appear in the part of the hermit. And Julian L'Estrange to play the part of Nicias the favorite lover.

"Thais" is produced with a wonderfully beautiful scenic investure and will be the treat of the theatrical season. Matinee will be given on Wednesday.

Mail orders will receive prompt attention, of they contain certified check, postal or express orders, payable to Theatre. If parties desire tickets mailed, self-addressed envelope must accompany order, thus avoiding possibility of error. Special attention will be given to all out-of-town orders. Special round trip excursion rates will be given on all railroads. For information regarding fares and schedules of trains consult local ticket agent.

Montgomery and Stone in "The Old Town" Will Begin an Engagement at the Empire Theatre, Syracuse, Sept. 4 and 5.

Montgomery and Stone need no personal introduction to theatregoers who have laughed at them and with them in "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Red Mill" of tuneful memory. "The Old Town," the newest vehicle in which these two protean comedians will make manifest their diverse capabilities, is a musical comedy in two acts by George Ade, with music by Gustav Luders. It comes with the re-endorsement of both New York and Chicago, the two cities in which it divided the whole of last season. Charles Dillingham is the managerial sponsor for the production which excites general comment by reason of its opulence during the long run of "The Old Town" at Mr. Dillingham's new Globe Theatre in New York. A cast of superior excellence is promised and as an added feature of the performance "The Old Town" pony ballet are introduced in several dance specialties.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

Every Detail Perfected and the Savings Institution Now Receiving Deposits.

The Fulton postal savings bank began business on Friday, Aug. 25, and while no splash, dash or French theatricals attended the eventful occasion, there was business transacted and considerable money entrusted for safe-keeping. The success of the institution, in this city at least, is assured, exceeding the most sanguine of the local officials' expectations. The results attained by the Fulton office we are confident, will bear comparison with those of other cities of like size, and should be most encouraging news to the founder, the Hon. Frank H. Hitchcock, Postmaster General.

NORTH VOLNEY.

A consultation of doctors was held Sunday over the case of Jas. Allen of this place, who has been very ill with appendicitis the past week. He was thought to be recovering from that, but typhoid has now set in. He was taken to the hospital on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey and son of Phoenix were Sunday guests at F. A. Halls' this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young and son of Oswego were Sunday guests at T. E. Taggert's a week ago.

Mrs. Jenie Carr of Oswego is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Betsy Wright.

Mrs. S. T. Coe and Mrs. Earnest Gardner of Mellen Hill visited Mrs. R. C. Coe Saturday.

The Sunday school has recently purchased new singing books, which is but one indication of its flourishing condition.

Many from this vicinity attended Dempster Camp Meeting the past week.

Mrs. Poole and nephew, Edward Curtiss, are to return home today from visiting relatives in Richland and Demster.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall were injured slightly Saturday night while coming from Oswego by the breaking of the axletree of their wagon and dumping their purchases and themselves to the ground. They were fortunate in escaping from more serious injury.

Miss Alice Hall has returned from a two weeks' stay in Fulton.

Mrs. Addison Hall is visiting her son, Mr. Earnest Hall of Fulton, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Wright and family of Hastings were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McDougall.

CIVIL ACTION FOR ASSAULT.

Nunziata Dambro and Pharia Natole, two Italian women, were in Police Court this morning, charged with assaulting Lazia Santola, another Italian woman. Attorney J. T. McCaffrey, representing the defendents, told the court the complainant had started a civil action for damages for the assault through Attorney H. L. Gilman, of Fulton, so the case was adjourned indefinitely.—Palladium.

A Happy Season

Last Saturday the summer Half Holiday came to a successful close for this season. We trust that this movement has accomplished its purpose and improved the conditions under which we operate.

We are now ready to return to our regular business hours, refreshed from the summer's half day of rest, and with increased health and strength.

Beginning next Saturday, September 2d, this store will be open to give a full day's duty in your service.

If our policy of closing a half day each week during the summer months has not appealed to you we will be pleased to have you write and frankly tell us how you feel about it.

Present and Future Plans

The concrete abutments on which will rise the new eight story fireproof Dey Building, are now taking place. Solid foundations of stone, steel and concrete will presently form the basis of what is designed to be a model institution for dry goods merchandising and for better serving the people.

While the contractors are working without, making preparations to center their activities in our present quarters, we are working within, getting stocks into a condition that will eliminate confusion which may interefere with your comforts or the progress of our building plans.

Stocks that are too large must be reduced. Odd lots and broken lines that have accumulated must be cleared out. In this work we will invite your co-operation by offering special price inducements daily.

Present and prospective housekeepers or home owners; every individual, or member of the family, can share in these timely saving opportunities.

Note—Every day new merchandise arrives. By express; freight; on the ocean greyhounds from foreign ports. The new is brought here from the world's best mills and markets.

Well-to-do People

PERHAPS you know many persons who are well-to-do. They have a little extra money in the bank and are never embarrassed by failure in crops or other financial disaster. They are a little ahead in money matters and can live with a certain assurance that an unexpected loss will not force them to go in debt or suffer some privation. NEW REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATION

Resolutions for Reapportionment of Representation Introduced by C. E. Stewart Unanimously Adopted—Oswego City Not Entitled to so Many Delegates.

It has always been more or less of a thorn in the flesh of the Republican workers in the county that the always-Democratic city of Oswego should have such a large number of delegates to the Republican conventions and yet when election day arrived the majority vote cast was always Democratic. Oswego cast within three of one-quarter of the total number of votes cast in the last judicial convention.

It is now conceded to have been clever political manipulation that caused Mr. Charles E. Stewart of the First ward to introduce the resolution at the district convention last week, that hereafter the representation shall be five for each town and ward in the county, with one additional for each fifty plurality or majority portion thereof. The resolution was adopted without a dissenting voice and it stands, thus taking six delegates away from Oswego and adding them to Fulton.

The following table will show the representation under the old and the new arrangement.

THE NEW FIREARMS LAW.

Attorney General Carmody Gives Opinion.

Albany, Sept. 1—Giving an informal opinion today, Attorney General Carmody said he did not believe that persons having firearms in their homes for purposes of protection would be required to register them if they were owned before the Sullivan concealed weapon law went into effect today.

In a formal opinion, in response to a question asked by a county clerk, Mr. Carmody holds that the Sullivan law affects the issuing of hunters' licenses in that it prohibits the carrying of any kind of a gun by persons under 16 years of age. The hunter's license law does not fix an age limit in connection with the issuing of such licenses.

CLAM BAKE FRIDAY.

Everything is in readiness for the annual clam bake at Pathfinder club house on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. If the weather god is kindly disposed and sends a good sample of weather the event will be a stupendous success. If you have not purchased your ticket yet, you had better see either T. H. Webb or G. W. Morton at once, or the places will all be filled. The plates are limited to 100 you know.

The menu as arranged was published in last week's Times, and it should satisfy the most fastidious appetite. The variety is wide and $1 per plate is not a high price for such an elaborate dinner.

A base ball game will be pulled off at 3 o'clock.

SURROGATES COURT.

Surrogate C. I. Miller resumed surrogate's court on Monday after the Summer vacation. Considerable business was transacted.

Letters on the estate of Charles Gile, Granby, were applied for by a creditor, I. Ernest Marsh. He died February 9 leaving $185.38 real and $100 personal property.

Erinia A. Seaton applied for letters on the estate of Alzina Pletier, who died in Fulton August 12, leaving $1,200 personal.

The appraisal of the estate of Charles H. David, late of Fulton, shows a net value of $26,261.55. Most of it goes to the widow.

MAJOR HALL GOES TO WASHINGTON.

Major A. M. Hall, for the past two years State editor of the Syracuse Herald, severed his connection with that paper on Monday. He will remove to Washington, D. C., where he will engage in newspaper work.

TO RENT.

HOW OTHER COUNTIES VIEW IT

Editorial Comments Taken From Nearby Newspapers Regarding Judicial Situation—All Friendly Towards Irving G. Hubbs.

Watertown Herald.

Irving Hubbs beat out as much of the Oswego county machine as was supporting Udelle Bartlett for supreme court justice, and that settles the matter so far as Oswego county is concerned. That is, it settles who gets Oswego's judicial delegates. But it may not settle the rest. For if Hubbs is nominated, the Bartlett men may stick to that good old custom practiced by Republicans in Oswego county, and Democrats in the rest of the State, of hailing the successful candidate who beat their man.

Oswego has had bad splits in recent years, but the difficulties seemed to have ended with Congressman Mott's decisive victory over Judge Stowell two years ago. Since then Mott has been the unquestioned leader of Oswego county. Personally he did not get into the judicial fight. But so much of his organization did, and supported Bartlett, that Bartlett's defeat is almost a defeat of Mott's organization.

But not quite. And when you have not quite beat Mott you have not damaged him at all. By the fall campaign he will be easily leading the fight again for a Republican victory, and will have Oswego county with him without a struggle.

The chances are that the judicial convention of the fifth district including the counties of Jefferson, Lewis, Herkimer, Oneida Onondaga and Oswego will be held in this city and probably on September 27 or 28. If it is thought by the judicial committee that there will be a prolonged convention it may be called a day or two earlier but it will be during the last week in September. The committee will have a meeting next week to determine whether two candidates for justice of the Supreme Court will be named. One without doubt, will be County Judge Edgar C. Emerson of this city. The other may be Irving G. Hubbs of Pulaski; Emerson Willis of Utica, and Onondaga may trot out another of her favorite sons for the other important position. Both nominations will be for terms of 14 years. One will succeed Justice Pardon C. Williams and the other will be in place of Justice Henry Purcell, named by Governor Dix to succeed the late Justice Watson M. Rogers. If elected both nominees will take office January 1 next.

The judicial committee was not organized last year after Justice Hiscock was nominated, when it was named the organization being inadvertantly omitted. Each county has one member of the committee. Heretofore it has been customary to organize the committee immediately after the adjournment of the convention, but last year it was forgotten. It is expected that when the committee meets next week A. H. Cowie of Syracuse will be re-elected chairman. It is said that half of the committee, the only ones who have expressed themselves to anyone from this city, are favorable to holding the convention in Watertown. If it is held here it will doubtless be held in the court house. Judge Emerson hopes to have the County Court out of the way by that time.

Oswego's Candidate.

Syracuse Post-Standard.

The Oswego County delegation to the Fifth district judicial convention will present as their candidate for Supreme Court Justice Irving G. Hubbs of Pulaski. The contest for Oswego delegates has been vigorous and general. The issue has been carried into every ward in Oswego and Fulton and into every town in the county. Shall Bartlett or Hubbs be Oswego's candidate? In the convention, Mr. Hubbs won narrowly, but he won fairly. He came out of that convention the candidate, not of a fraction of it, but of all of it. His name will be presented to the judicial convention with the support of all elements of the Republican party in Oswego.

It has not always been thus in Oswego county politics. Factional differences have too often been more decided than have party differences. The nominee of the party convention has been assured in advance of the opposition at the polls of a large fraction of his own party. That day, it is hoped, is now happily past. Certainly the Pulaski convention adjourned with good feeling, which is rare at the close of a contest so intense. There were no threats of bolt there. There were no whispers of getting even. The winners and the losers stand together in hearty support of the nominee of the convention.

Mr. Hubbs is a young man. It was in 1892 that he was graduated from Cornell law school and began the practice of law in Parish. Two years after he removed to Pulaski. He has in these years built up a good practice. He stands well as a lawyer, not only in the esteem of Oswego, but of the district. During the campaign which ended with the convention, there was no attack upon his personal character or his professional standing.

Oswego Has Strong Case.

Syracuse Herald.

Oswego county is now the only district that is in the Supreme Court unrepresented in the bench. It is claimed that Oswego will base her claim to recognition upon this deprivation by the Republican Judicial Committee. In point of equity, her delegates have a strong case, and it is to be regretted that they will go into the convention with an acrimonious factional quarrel behind them which may militate against the rests of their candidate and the unity.

Three of the counties of the district have candidates for the Supreme Court. They are County Judge Edgar C. Emerson of Jefferson, former District Attorney Emerson M. Willis of Oneida and Mr. Hubbs of Oswego. So far no Onondaga aspirant has been evolved. The two smaller counties, Herkimer and Lewis, have candidates, and are therefore content. Even if Onondaga should produce a candidate, she will still exercise a great deal of influence in determining the result.

Inasmuch as there are two seats on the Supreme Court to be filled at the coming election, a very considerable and ethical consideration of political propriety calls for the selection of a non-partisan judiciary ticket by the Republican convention. The present opportunity to put this principle in force by the Republican endorsement of Justice Parcell is unusual. If this suggestion is acted upon, political strife will be eliminated from the judicial campaign.

MAY SUBMIT QUESTION AGAIN.

The Board of Education is anxious to have the Common Council resubmit to the electors at the polls in November, the proposition to purchase Talley Seminary for High school purposes. The urgent necessity for a High school building to care for the students is becoming more and more apparent.

This term the accommodations are entirely inadequate to the demand, and more rooms must of necessity be leased in the Talley Seminary building to care for the large number of students.

DEATHS

Mrs. Delia Basset and Mr. Charles Bassett were called to Scriba last week by the death of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Vincent Locke, who had been ill for five months with typhoid fever.

After a residence of 15 years in Fulton, William H. Cook, aged 94, died on Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. Hendrick, in Erie street. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from the daughter's home, the Rev. C. L. Peck officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are two daughters and one sister.

Samuel Boutin, aged 20, was killed by a falling tree on Thursday as he was engaged at logging in Lewis county. Death was instantaneous. The body was brought to this city and the funeral services were held from the Catholic church on Tuesday morning. The parents, one brother, and three sisters, residing at Grand River, Ca., survive.

Joseph W. Dube, aged 17, a close friend of Samuel Boutin, who was killed on Thursday, died on Sunday at the home of Boutin's uncle on the west side, after an illness of a few days. Dube came to Fulton from Canada a few days prior to his being stricken with his fatal illness. His funeral was also held from the Catholic church on Tuesday.

John S. Carpenter, aged 76, and for 50 years a resident of Volney, died at his home on Friday. The funeral services were held from the late home on Monday afternoon. Burial was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the widow, two brothers, Frank of Fulton and Charles of Grand Rapids, Mich., and two sisters, Elizabeth of Syracuse and Mrs. Seely of Ithaca.

Last week The Times made brief mention of the death of Willis S. Nelson at his home in First street on Tuesday evening. The deceased was born in Fulton in 1820 and during the 91 years of his active life he had resided here. His, slight, erect figure and brisk walk were very familiar to all residents of this vicinity and his business interests, especially in his younger days, had made a wide acquaintance for him. At tea time on the night he was so suddenly summoned, the writer saw him walking briskly up the street toward the home which he was never to leave until carried forth. After tea he had a business engagement at his home and was talking with his caller when he complained of feeling ill, leaned back in his chair and expired immediately. In the earlier days when Oswego was a milling center, Mr. Nelson was connected with some of the more prosperous ones. He was engaged in the flouring business in Fulton and owned the Genesee Flouring mills here. Later he added coal and wood to his interests but had not of recent years been actively engaged in any commercial line, looking after his property interests himself. He was one of the charter trustees of the Fulton Savings Bank and was always deeply interested in its affairs. He was a trustee of Mt. Adnah Cemetery association and was vestryman in Zion Episcopal church up to the time of his demise. The funeral services were held on Friday morning from Zion Episcopal church, the Rev. C. G. Wadsworth officiating. Interment was made in the family lot in Mt. Adnah. One daughter, Miss Hattie Nelson, survives.

EXTENSION OF FREE DELIVERY

Permission Granted by Postal Officials for Expansion of Free Delivery on East and West Side.

Postmaster Hughes has obtained permission from the Federal postal officials for an extension of the free delivery system to streets on the east and west sides of the city, where there are at least good cinder paths and the houses are properly numbered.

On the west side the system will be extended so as to include residences between Third and Chestnut and Cedar streets. On the east side, free delivery will be given to the residences on Seward street, between Sixth and Seventh; Fremont street, between Sixth and Eighth, and Manhattan avenue, as far as Eighth street, and on North Seventh street, from Seward to Fremont.

The conditions expressly stipulated and to which a ready compliance will be exacted, are that receptacles must be provided into which mail can be delivered, in order that no unnecessary delay will be caused the carrier in his routine duties; that a [illegible] be maintained which will be kept free from snow and ice in Winter, and the houses numbered in a conspicuous manner.

The following correspondence from the Department should be read by all who are seeking the foregoing privilege, and its instructions closely adhered to:

August 23, 1911.

William E. Hughes, Postmaster, Fulton, N. Y.,

Sir: In reply to your letter of the 19th instant, you are hereby authorized to extend city delivery service to the houses mentioned therein, with the understanding, however, that no resident will be served who does not provide a suitable receptacle for his mail.

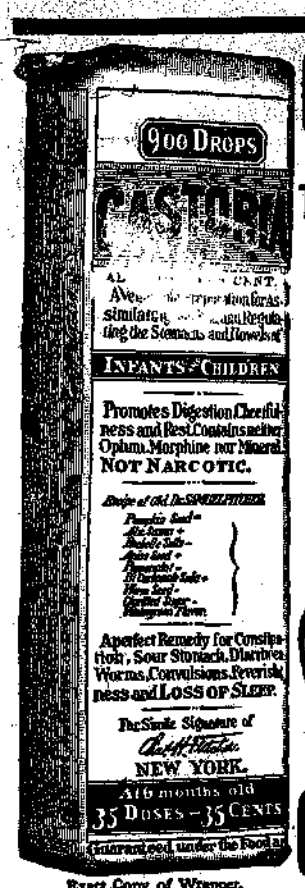
Respectfully,

C. P. Grandfield,
First Assistant Postmaster-General.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Fulton Savings Bank held August 31, 1911, the following memorial was adopted:

The death of Willis S. Nelson removed from the Board of Trustees of this bank the last one of the Trustees who were named in the charter granted by the Legislature of this State in March, 1871. During all the years since that time Mr. Nelson has been one most faithful in his attendance at the meetings of the Board of the bank, and all other trustees have relied upon his good and careful judgment in all matters relating to the welfare of the bank.



Notwithstanding his advanced age, his mind has been unimpaired, and his interest in the success of the bank has not abated. Always kind and courteous in his demeanor, he has held the respect and confidence of the Board of Trustees, and his opinion and advice have been often sought.

Resolved, That we extend to his family and friends our sympathy in their bereavement, and that this resolution be entered upon the records of the bank and a copy sent to the family.

H. Putnam Allen, Secretary.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CITY CHARTER

ures in said city. To construct conduits for carrying telegraph, telephone or electric light wires or cables or other appliances for conducting electricity on any street or section of a street heretofore paved then to be paved, repaved or repaired, and the expense thereof shall be paid out of the improvement fund in the same manner as other expenses for local improvements are paid, and may be raised in like manner. Whenever the board of public works of the city of Fulton shall by resolution determine that public safety requires the removal of telegraph or electric wires or cables or electric taed cables of any street railway company or other appliances for conducting heretofore or hereafter erected thereof heretofore or hereafter erected in the aforesaid business streets of the city it shall have power by an ordinance or resolution to require any company or corporation or individual to remove such wires and electrical conductors from overhead in the street, and place them in conduits under the surface of the streets in such manner as shall be directed by the said board of public works and subject to such regulations and restrictions as such board may make and impose in respect thereto, for the benefit of the public, the city or its citizens and a compliance with such ordinance or resolution in respect to the removal of the poles, wires, cables, or other appliances for the conducting of electricity through said streets may be enforced by mandamus by any court of competent jisdiction upon the application of the city as relator. And if the said board of public works shall construct conduits for the reception of wires and electrical conductors as hereinbefore provided the said resolution or ordinance shall require the wires and electrical conductors on said street or section of a street to be placed within the said conduits constructed aforesaid, and such proportion of the expense of the construction of said conduits shall be paid by the company, corporation or individual using the same, as the common council shall by resolution determine, and the amount of said expense, certified by the common council shall be paid to the city chamberlain and by him placed in the improvement fund. If any company or corporation or individual shall refuse or neglect to pay th amount so apportioned by the said common council upon demand of the city chamberlain, the city may sue for the same and recover the amount thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction as and for moneys had and received. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as authorizing the board of public works to require that any particular patent or appliance shall be used in the construction of the conduits. To cause to be made all necessary surveys, maps and profiles relating to any work within its jurisdiction.

Sec. 63. Subd. 3. Changing grade of street or bridges. If the city has exclusive control and jurisdiction of a street or bridge therein, it may change the grade thereof. If the change of grade shall injuriously affect any building or land adjacent thereto, or the use thereof, the change of grades to the extent of the damage resulting therefrom shall be deemed the taking of such adjacent property for a public use. A person claiming damages from such change of grade must present to the board of public works a verified claim therefor, within sixty days after change of grade is completed. The board may agree with such owner upon the amount of damages to be allowed to him. If no agreement is made, within thirty days after the presentation of the claim, the person presenting it may apply to the supreme court for the appointment of three commissioners to determine the compensation to which he is entitled. As to all such claims presented after the first day of June, nineteen hundred and eleven, such application must be made within one year from the date when such claim is presented to the board of public works, and an omission to make such application within such time shall be a bar to the recovery of any damages under this section. Notice of application must be served upon the board of public works at least ten days before the hearing thereof. All proceedings subsequent to the appointment of the commissioners shall be taken in accordance with the provisions of the condemnation law, so far as applicable, except that the commissioners in fixing their award may make allowance for benefits derived by the claimant from such improvement. The amount agreed upon for such damages or the award therefor, together with the costs, if any, allowed to the claimant, shall be a charge against the city. The common council may borrow money for the payment thereof, or may issue certificates of indebtedness therefor, in the same manner as in case of damages for laying out a street.

Sec. 110. Control of fire and police departments vested in board. The mayor first elected under the provisions of this act shall on or before the first day of May, nineteen hundred and two, appoint three fire and police commissioners who shall constitute the board of fire and police commissioners and shall hold office until the first day of January, nineteen hundred and four thereafter. The incoming mayor on or ten days prior to the first day of January succeeding his election shall appoint their successors who shall hold office for two years from the said first day of January. Provided, however, the mayor shall appoint as one of such successors one of the members of the then existing board of fire and police commissioners. The powers and duties connected with and incident to the control, government and discipline of the fire and police departments of the city of Fulton, shall be vested in and exercised by said board appointed as provided by this act.

Sec. 121. Special policemen. Upon the application of any person or persons showing the necessity therefor, the said board may, whenever expedient, appoint and swear as special policemen not exceeding the number so applied for, who shall serve for a time not exceeding that stated in the application, but the compensation of such special policemen, which shall be fixed by the board, shall be paid by the corporation, society, person or persons requesting their appointment. Said special policemen may be removed at any time by the said board, without cause assigned therefor, and notice of such removal shall be forthwith given to the corporation, society, person or persons who applied for their appointment as aforesaid; such board may also, upon any emergency, appoint not more than special purpose police not more than ten special policemen at a compensation not to exceed two dollars per day for a term not to exceed thirty days. The said firemen, chief and assistant shall have the same powers and shall act as patrolmen when required by said board.

Sec. 126. Powers and duties of police and city marshal. The members of the police force of said city shall possess in every part of the state of New York all the common law and statutory powers of constables, and may serve and execute any warrant for search or arrest issued by any magistrate of the state of New York may be executed in any part of the state by any member of the police force of said city without any indorsement of said warrant and according to the terms thereof. They shall execute the orders and commitments of the city judge in said city, and of all courts held by him for the trial of criminal cases; they shall convey all persons sentenced by him to confinement in any jail, penitentiary, house of refuge, or place of confinement and they, and the city marshal shall exclusively serve and execute all civil and criminal process or proceedings issued out of the city court or by the city judge, and shall keep a correct account of all fees received by them, or to which they are entitled, and shall pay over all fees received to the city chamberlain at least once a month. An account of all fees to which they are entitled which are a county charge shall be assigned by them to said board which shall present the same to the board of supervisors of Oswego county. When collected said board shall pay the same over to the chamberlain; all sums so paid to the chamberlain by said board or policemen shall be by him credited to the police fund. Said marshal shall receive an annual compensation for his services equivalent to the sum of all the fees earned by him and paid over to the city chamberlain as hereinbefore provided, payable quarterly.

Sec. 134. Payment of salaries and expenses. The chamberlain shall pay the salary of the members of the police force, semi-monthly, and the salary of the city marshal quarterly, as it shall become due, on the warrant of said board. The contingent expenses of the police department, and for rent of station houses and telephones, expenses for office furniture, fuel, light, stationery, printing, advertising, policemen's badges and batons, and other necessary expenses shall be paid by the chamberlain of said city upon the warrant of said board. All warrants of said board must be authorized by a vote of the board, and be signed by the president and clerk of the city.

Sec. 155. Penalties. Any person to whom relief shall be furnished by the commissioner of charities, or the city physician, who shall sell or exchange any article or property so furnished, for intoxicating liquor, or for money, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and any person who shall exchange intoxicating liquor for any article so furnished as relief or charity, knowing the same to have been thus furnished to such person as a poor person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 189. Organization of board of governors, its powers and duties. The said board of governors is hereby constituted a body corporate capable of suing and being sued under the name of "The Board of Governors of the City Hospital of Fulton," and shall hereafter have charge and control of the Albert Lindley Lee Memorial Hospital now owned by said city; said board of governors shall hold an annual meeting in the month of January in each year, and shall annually elect from its members a vice-president, secretary and treasurer, who shall hold their respective offices until the next annual meeting, and until their successors are elected. The board of governors shall have full power and it shall be its duty to adopt, and from time to time it may amend, modify or repeal rules, regulations and by-laws for its own government and for the government, regulation and control of the hospital, its inmates and employees, the hospital buildings and the grounds and property appertaining thereto; to build, repair and keep in repair the city hospital and such out-buildings as shall be necessary for hospital purposes. Said board of governors may take from time to time and hold money and property for the city of Fulton, by gift, grant, devise or otherwise, for hospital purposes, and may create therefrom an endowment fund, invest and reinvest the same as it deems best and apply the same and the interest and income therefrom for the benefit of such hospital, or in such manner as directed by such gift, grant or devise. Subject to the payment of its just debts and obligations, the Fulton Hospital Association, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New York, may transfer and convey its property to the city of Fulton for hospital purposes subject to the terms and conditions, if any, contained in a gift, grant or devise to it, and when so transferred and conveyed the same shall be managed and controlled by said board of governors. Such board of governors may establish and maintain in said city hospital a training school for nurses, giving a course of at least two years, and may issue diplomas to graduates from such school. Such school shall be registered by the regents of the university of the state of New York, and said board of governors shall provide such course of study and training and comply with all rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the said regents relating to said school. It shall be the duty of the said board of governors to receive at said hospital the policemen and firemen of the said city of Fulton injured in active service at the expense of the said city of a sum not exceeding five dollars per week. Medical attention and care shall be furnished to such firemen and policemen so injured without cost to them, if attended by the city physician, and not otherwise.

Sec. 196. Jurisdiction in criminal cases. The city court shall have in the first instance exclusive jurisdiction to try and determine all offenses of which courts of special sessions heretofore have had, now have, or shall have exclusive jurisdiction, when said offenses are committed within the city of Fulton and shall have the power and jurisdiction now or hereafter conferred upon the courts of special sessions by section fifty-six of the code of criminal procedure; and shall also have jurisdiction in the first instance, to try, for any other misdemeanor committed in the city of Fulton, any person who is first brought before the city court or city judge charged with such offense. The city judge shall possess all the powers and jurisdiction as a magistrate, which have heretofore, or now, or may be, conferred by law upon police justices and upon justices of the peace concerning offenses committed within the city, including bastardy proceedings, in which latter proceedings it shall not be necessary for the city judge to associate with himself another magistrate. The city judge and city court shall also have exclusive jurisdiction to try and determine all questions of violation of any of the city ordinances, rules and regulations, and upon conviction to impose the punishment provided by law. All persons charged with being intoxicated under any statute, in any street, park, alley, or public place in said city and all persons charged with the violation of any city ordinance, shall be tried summarily without a jury. The city court shall have power upon conviction for a misdemeanor to impose a sentence of imprisonment not exceeding one year or a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or both such fine and imprisonment, except where a different punishment is or may be prescribed by law for such offense. Any charges of misdemeanor pending before said city court, or judge thereof, may be removed to a court sitting with the grand jury by the same methods now or hereafter provided in sections fifty-seven and fifty-eight of the code of criminal procedure, all a complaint or charge for the violation of a city ordinance must not be removed.

Sec. 203. Adjournments. The court may in its discretion grant one or more adjournments of a trial or an action or other hearing or a motion or other proceeding, for such time and upon such terms as it may deem just, and the court upon its own motion adjourn the trial of an action or hearing of a motion or other proceeding, for a time not to exceed eight days, except that when the defendant in a civil action has been arrested, no adjournment shall be made without the defendant's consent. Subject to the approval of the judge of the court, any action or special proceeding may be adjourned after issue is joined, by stipulation signed by the pales or their attorneys and filed with the court.

Sec. 240. Divisions of city into two tax districts.

1. All that pdon of said city east of the Oswego river to be known as the east tax district.

Too Much Papa.

This bit of humor and pathos is from the Hawaiian Star: "An amusing incident is related of a young service matron who had relinquished her husband for two years and who, having before his departure insisted on a good photograph, applied herself assiduously to the upbringing of her two-year-old baby with a view to the child's familiarity with her distant father. Each day she would call the baby girl to her and, kneeling beside her, would hold up the photograph, pointing out each feature to the child.

"One day the officer came home, and the baby girl, then four years old, was summoned. 'Come dear,' said her mother in glee, 'papa has come home at last!' The child surveyed the officer in perplexity and finally shook her head.

"'What is the matter, dear?' asked her mother. 'Well,' replied the child, he looks something like my papa, but my papa hasn't any legs!'"

Humor of the Barometer.

It was a beautiful barometer. It glistened from its splendid wooden case with a spick and spanness that boasted of its newness. Its rich frame-work clearly advertised the large price that had been paid for it. Its owner was justly proud. But it possessed one drawback—it wouldn't work. Ever since it had been purchased it had remained at "set fair" whatever the weather had happened to be. And the weather had happened to be particularly wet. At last its owner grew weary of its external beauty and exasperated over its internal stupidity. One day when the rain was pouring extra hard he tore the weather indicator from the wall and took it out into the road.

For a moment the needle hesitated. Then as the raindrops began to dim the glass it made up its mind and moved slowly round to "very dry."—London Answers.

Napoleon's Vision.

West Point, once analyzed the military genius of Washington.

"Washington," he said, "gave us our independence by campaigning faultlessly. He never made mistakes. There have been more brilliant soldiers than Washington, but there has never been so sure a one. In warfare, you must know, the smallest mistake may lose a whole battle, a whole campaign, a whole cause. And that reminds me of poor Tom White.

"Tom White failed in business owing to the mistake of one single letter made by his stenographer. Tom's patron in business was a deaf millionaire who was very touchy about his deafness. This millionaire turned from a good friend to a bitter enemy—he foreclosed on Tom—because the unhappy fellow's stenographer accidentally began a letter to him 'Deaf Sir.'"

Grown Cautious.

Chatty Lodger (to landlord) — You seem to have seen a good deal. What are you? Landlord—Well, sir, I were a lion tamer, and I'd be there now if I 'adn't a-married; but, you see, my wife were a knife thrower in the same show, and she got to practicing her turn on me. Well, thinks I, life ain't too long to run no risks, so I took on a safe job and become a steeplejack.—London Punch.

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the County of Oswego and State of New York and in the payment of the monies secured to be paid thereby, which said mortgage bears date the 30th day of October, 1907, and was made and executed by William G. A. Pelley and Grace Pelley, his wife, and Paul Greenwood and Mary Greenwood, his wife, mortgagors, to Uriah H. Lewis, mortgagee, and with the power therein contained to sell the mortgaged property was recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Oswego, New York, at the City of Oswego in said County, on the 1st day of November, 1907, at 1:04 o'clock, p. m., in Liber 218 of Mortgages at page 501, which said mortgage has been duly assigned to Harry S. Lee, the undersigned and only assignee thereof, by reason of which default said power to sell has become operative, and no action has been brought to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of six hundred twenty-two dollars and forty cents ($622.40), which is the whole amount remaining unpaid thereon, therefore

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided and by virtue of the power to sell contained in said mortgage recorded therewith as aforesaid the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or a part thereof, of which mortgaged property the following is a description conforming substantially to that contained in the said mortgage, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Fulton, County of Oswego and State of New York, being a part of lots numbers three, four, five and six (3, 4, 5 and 6) of block number four (4) of the former Village of Fulton, according to the printed map thereof now in general use, bounded as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street at a point sixteen (16) rods north of the north line of Ontario street, and running thence westerly parallel with Ontario street sixteen (16) rods to the west line of lot number three (3); thence northerly along the west line of lot number three (3) four (4) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the line between lots numbers four (4) and five (5); thence northerly on said line six (6) rods; thence easterly parallel with the first line to the west line of Fourth street; thence southerly along the west line of Fourth street ten (10) rods to the place of beginning, and being the same premises described in a deed from Daniel R. Snow and wife to Edwin R. Redhead, recorded in Oswego County Clerk's office in Liber 239 of Deeds at page 560, and in a deed from Ellen Mullin to William B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, as executors recorded in said page 123; at public auction to the highest bidder at the Law offices of Wilson & Rice, 17 South First street in the City of Fulton, Oswego County, New York, on the 9th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated at Fulton, N. Y., this 13th day of June, 1911.

TRAFFIC SQUAD OF NEW YORK MOUNTED POLICE.

This fine body of horsemen will act as escort to Mayor Gaynor and Police Commissioner Waldo at the State Fair, Syracuse.

EXHIBITION BY MOUNTED POLICE

Expert Horsemen of New York to Be at State Fair.

TO ESCORT MAYOR GAYNOR.

Police Commissioner Waldo to Accompany New York Executive—Traffic Squad Will Be Seen in Drills and Give Thrilling Exhibitions of Horsemanship.

One of the highly spectacular features of the New York State Fair will be furnished by the exhibitions of horsemanship and drills by a detachment of the traffic squad of the New York mounted police. These men are regarded as the most expert horsemen in the world, and their horses are superior to those in any cavalry troop. When last they appeared at the Fair, in 1908, their daily drills in the infield of the mile track stirred the crowds to the greatest enthusiasm.

The announcement that the mounted police will be at the Fair is made by State Fair Commissioner Barry Murphy, who conferred with the New York officials. With it comes the news that Mayor William J. Gaynor will be accompanied on his visit to the State's Exposition by Police Commissioner Waldo, referred to as "one of the greatest police heads in the world."

The decision of Commissioner Waldo is to send a detachment of thirty-five men and officers. They will act as an escort to Mayor Gaynor and Commissioner Waldo and do traffic service in Empire State court while Mayor Gaynor is speaking. During the afternoon they will be seen in mounted drills and exhibitions of horsemanship in the racing inclosure.

Plans for having the mounted police at the State Fair of last year were practically completed when the attempt was made on the life of Mayor Gaynor. The police were to accompany Mayor Gaynor as an escort. The order was immediately canceled by the police commissioner.

BUILDING FOR WOMEN.

Everything Possible Done For Their Comfort at State Fair.

Women and children who visit the New York State Fair need have no worry about what they will do for rest and comfort if they become ill or tired out from sightseeing. A corps of attaches in the women's building and hospital will be ready at all times of the day to administer to their needs.

This building has grown in popularity yearly since its establishment in 1903. During the Fair of 1910 a large number of cases of temporary weakness or indisposition were treated at the hospital by physicians of high standing in their profession, assisted by experienced nurses. The accommodations in the nursery will afford great comfort to hundreds of women and little children.

The New York State Women's Suffrage association also announces a program for every day during the week. Among those who will deliver addresses are the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the national association, and Miss Harriet May Mills, president of the state association.

A popular feature at the women's building is furnished by the musical concerts, given twice daily in an auditorium with a seating capacity of 400. The very best orchestras are engaged for this entertainment.

Great Midway Feature.

The Midway features secured for the State Fair promise to be of the highest class. The biggest attraction will be furnished by California Frank's Wild West show, which is noted for its fine lot of horses and its fearless riders.

STARS OF THE SHOW RING.

Equine Aristocrats Will Compete For Rich Prizes at State Fair.

The horse show, which furnishes one of the spectacular features of the State Fair, is equal to the greatest open air shows of the world, being conducted on the lines of the National of America at Madison Square Garden and the International at Olympia, London. The coming show will attract the equine aristocrats from many states and Canada.

The state appropriated $8,000 for this year's exhibition, with the result that there will be seen in competition nearly every type of horse and pony. The interest on the part of the most prominent horse show exhibitors in the country is indicated by the special prizes offered by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Major Ernestus Gulick, Paul A. Sorg, George C. Clausen and others equally well known in the show horse world.

Some of the biggest stables of saddle horses seen at shows in America are headed for the Fair. As in past years, the exhibitions in the jumping classes will be of the thrilling order. Some of the lady riders who have been successful this year at the eastern and southern shows will compete.

The usual classes for high actors in single and double heavy harness have been reopened. These exhibitions always furnish one of the pleasing sights of the Fair.

For Better Cows.

The department of agriculture will have an exhibit at the State Fair in the interest of better cows and more profitable dairying. An expert will have at hand objects to demonstrate what produces the best results in a financial way. Every phase of the subject will be covered for the benefit of dairymen visitors.

BARGE CANAL WORK.

The Barge Canal Bulletin for August gives the following summary of work accomplished by the contractors in this locality:

Contract No. 39.—For dredging channel in Oswego river, constructing stream entrances, excavating through Hinmansville cutoff, etc., between Three River Point and Fulton, except portion covered by Contract No. 53.

About 17,773 cu. yds. of materials were excavated during the month.

Contract No. 78.—For constructing a dike on Oswego river, near Fulton.

About 8,626 cu. yds were excavated from borrow-pit and 210 cu. yds. for wash wall. About 9,794 cu. yds. of embankment were formed, and 98 cu. yds. of wash wall built. On the adjacent highway work 7,147 cu. yds. excavated and 6,227 cu. yds. of embankment formed.

Contract No. 37.—For dredging a channel in Oswego river, constructing Locks Nos. 5 and 6, dams, bulkheads and other structures, and the removal of Battle Island and High dams, between Contract No. 10, at Fulton, and Contract No. 35, at Oswego.

About 71,053 cu. yds. of material were excavated, of which 56,731 cu. yds. were removed from prism by dredge, 8,674 cu. yds. by the shovel at Battle Island, and the remainder from bulkhear No. 6.

OSWEGO CANAL TO CLOSE SEPTEMBER 15.

State Superintendent of Works Treman Made Announcement Today.

Albany, Aug 31.—It was announced this afternoon by Superintendent of Public Works Treman that, pursuant to law enacted last Winter, the Oswego canal would be closed for the season between Three River Point and Lake Ontario, Oswego, at 6 p. m. September 15.

The superintendent says the purpose of this early closing of the Oswego canal is to enable the contractors for the barge canal work to progress work which can only be done during the Summer season and without interference by navigation. He believes that by this early closing contractors will be able to progress work so that hereafter regular through navigation on the Oswego canal will not be interrupted.

AVIATOR FRISBIE KILLED.

Because of the jeers and taunts of the crowd when he said his machine was disabled and that he dare not make a flight on Friday on that account, Aviator J. J. Frisbie of Oswego made the ascent at the Norton county fair, Norton, Kan., and met instant death. His machine became unmanageable when about 100 feet in the air, and failing heavily crushed Frisbie's life out. His wife, son and daughter were in the crowd and witnessed the awful tragedy.

Frisbie made one of his first air trips at the Oswego county fair in this city several years ago.

The body will be taken to Oswego for interment.

BEFORE THE SURROGATE.

Letters on the estate of John B. Birdsall, who died on August 10th, leaving an estate of $10,000 real and $1,000 personal all to his wife, were issued Monday to the latter, Velina S. Birdsall.

Letters were also issued Monday to Andelusia E. Newton on the estate of her husband, William C. Newton, who died on August 7. He left $6,000 real and $1,000 personal, giving his wife a life use. It then goes to her children and grandchildren.

HOW TO STOP A PAPER.

The only honorable and honest way to stop a newspaper is to step into the office and pay up all arrearage, get a receipt and have your name taken off the list. To fire your paper back at the publisher marked "refused" when you owe six months or a year, and never go near the office, is not only disreputable, but superlatively dishonest as well.—Exchange.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS

For Assemblyman
T. C. SWEET

For Sheriff
MYRON A. STRANAHAN

For District Attorney
FRANCIS DeGUERIN

For County Superintendent of Poor
C. ADELBERT STONE

For Special County Judge
GEORGE M. FANNING

The County Ticket.

Every man a winner is the unanimous opinion of the Republican electors of the county regarding the county ticket nominated at Pulaski last week. Myron A. Stranahan of this city made a record-breaking campaign in his quest for preferment at the hands of the electors prior to the caucuses and the belief is that he will gain in strength and popularity during the campaign to come. There seems not to be the slightest doubt but that the next sheriff will be from Fulton. Attorney F. D. Culkin of Oswego was a prime favorite from the start for the office of district attorney and his selection by the convention was a very popular move. He is a "city chap" but that will not interfere with the loyalty of his country friends to his cause. C. A. Stone's record as county superintendent of the poor had been so very excellent that no candidate cared to wrestle him for delegates and he will be as popular at the polls in November beyond peradventure. He brings great strength to the ticket this Fall and his election is assured. George M. Fanning as special county judge made an impartial official. He is able and desirous of making a record for himself. There were aspirants to his position but they did not persuade Mr. Fanning's friends to turn him aside and he became the unanimous choice of the majority.

The Judicial Situation.

This Fall is the last opportunity Oswego county will have, barring the demise of some of the present officials, to elect a Supreme Court justice in ten years. A man of mental poise and of judicial temperment; one too broad to harbor malice; upon whose moral record there is no shadow of stain, has become Oswego county's choice for the office which all counties in this judicial district must admit she should have located within her borders. For six years she has been denied the boon on account of factional and other dissensions. Now Oswego county presents unanimously a candidate most fit. That he may become the nominee of the judicial convention is most devoutly to be desired. Each other county has a resident justice, some of them more than one. This fact coupled with the acknowledged ability of Mr. Hubbs, should be sufficient plea with her sister counties to secure the nomination for him.

Ex-Supervisor Commits Suicide.

George Thompson, a former supervisor and a well known business man of Redfield, committed suicide by shooting on Friday morning. He had been despondent over business troubles and while, it is believed, temporarily insane, placed a 32 calibre revolver against his right temple and pulled the trigger, the ball passing through the brain and lodging in the left side of the head. Mr. Thompson, who was about 60 years old, had been feeling unwell of late. Mrs. Thompson did not hear the report of the gun and her husband having been absent fully half an hour, she went to the barn and was horrified at discovering him dead upon the floor. Blood was oozing from the self inflicted wound.

The deceased was an ardent Democrat and stood high always in the councils of his party. He was a native of Vermont. For several years he conducted a store in Redfield

Republican Representation Resolution

The decision of the county convention to change the apportionment of delegates to the county and district conventions, met with a hearty response on the part of all present and it unanimously became a law. Hereafter the Democratic city of Oswego will not cast half the votes necessary to a selection in the conventions, and there will be a fairer distribution of delegates from Fulton and the towns. This is as it should be and the action of the convention is heartily endorsed by the Republican electors throughout the county. A comparison of the old and the new representation appears in another column of this week's Times. Hereafter Oswego county will send 231 delegates instead of 201 delegates to the conventions.

The County Committee.

The organization of the Republican county committee has been satisfactory to all thinking Republicans throughout the county. In Chairman Taft the committee has an able, energetic campaigner who spares neither time nor self in his efforts for his party. No one felt that because he espoused Mr. Bartlett's cause he should be punished for his sacrifice. His re-election is very gratifying to his many friends in Fulton. The selection of Secretary H. P. Allen and Treasurer D. D. Long was also most satisfactory to their many friends throughout the county. That there will be earnest and concerted action between the officers and the balance of the committee is a foregone conclusion.

Tribute to Col. J. T. Mott.

The selection of Col. J. T. Mott to succeed himself as chairman of the Republican district committee was a fitting tribute to his unfaltering efforts always for the best interests of his party and his ticket. It must be very gratifying to Mr. Mott to know that however torn the electors might be as between the judicial candidates, they were as a unit as to himself. In Mr. W. A. Robbins as Secretary, Mr. Mott will have an active and interested co-worker.

Hon. T. C. Sweet For Assembly.

The unanimous re-election of the Hon. T. C. Sweet to succeed himself in the State legislature, was very fitting. Mr. Sweet has considerable work started for his county which he was desirous of completing and his record of things accomplished placed him far above the interference of partizan politics. That he will make a still stronger representative during the term to come is expected by his legion of admirers throughout this assembly district.

With a united Republican party in Oswego county all intent upon the election of the ticket and shaping toward the important fight in 1912, the outlook for a tremendous victory at the polls in November is most roseate.

HIKING CLUBS.

Why Not Organize Several Such Clubs in Fulton.

It is refreshing to note in this age of "joy riding" and reckless disregard by many of the aforesaid "speedy ones" of the lives of others, whose only privilege and purpose in life is to pursue the even tenor of their way, that a new system of exercise is winning its way in Western cities among business men who are closely confined during the week. The plan adopted is for such men in any community to form a club, select a captain and go for a walk of five or six miles on Sunday morning, starting at about 5 o'clock, and returning in time for church. It is the captain's business to pick out the road over which the hike will be made and notify his company. Another of his duties is to have a conference with Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Smith or Mrs. Brown, who happens to live five or six miles out on the road selected, and arrange with her to have ready a steaming hot breakfast of fried chicken, brown gravy, biscuits and alfalfa honey at 7 o'clock. Usually the price for such a Sunday morning breakfast out in the country is 50 cents a plate, and the hikers we might imagine would say it would be worth the price.

Why not organize several such clubs in Fulton?

Florida, Mightiest Battleship

THE new $6,000,000 battleship Florida is fast nearing completion in the Brooklyn navy yard. Gangs of workmen are putting on the finishing touches preparatory to the vessel going into commission late in September, when she will take the place of the Connecticut as flagship of the Atlantic fleet. When her crew of officers and men march on board the day she is made officially a part of the navy the Florida will be Uncle Sam's most powerful fighting ship. The construction work is finished, her ten twelve-inch rifles are in their turrets and could be fired if necessity demanded it, and all that remains to be done is a touch of paint here and there, a little wiring inside the turrets and decorative work in the officers' quarters.

The Florida is the third of the large battleships to be turned out from the government navy yard at Brooklyn. The first was the Maine, built in 1892 and doomed to sink in Havana harbor. The second was the Connecticut, commissioned in 1906. The Connecticut is now the flagship of the North Atlantic fleet, but when the Florida joins the first division with the Utah, North Dakota and Delaware Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus will transfer his flag to her.

In building the Florida the navy constructors, under William J. Baxter, sought to make a record for speed, but the fact that large numbers of workmen were taken from time to time as repair crews for other ships caused the work to fall behind that on her sister ship, the Utah, whose keel was laid almost simultaneously in a private yard. The first keel plate of the Florida was laid March 9, 1909, and her launching was successfully accomplished on May 12, 1910.

Her normal displacement will be 21,825 tons, and her turbine engines, of 28,000 horsepower, are expected to give her a speed of 22 knots, although the specifications call for only 20.75 knots. She wears along her 520 foot sides a water line belt of eleven inch armor eight feet in width, and above this nine inch armor. Twelve inches of steel guard the five turrets, and nine and one-half inches, besides the protective deck, are designed to keep dropping shells out of the vitals at the base of the funnels.

The Florida carries ten twelve-inch 50 caliber guns, fifty feet in length from the point of the shell chamber. When these are swung to port or starboard for a broadside the overhang clear of the ship's sides is seventeen feet. Looking at the battleship bow on, one would think that her turrets were superposed or double decked, but another view shows that the middle turrets are well toward the waist of the ship and elevated, of course, for firing over the three on the main deck. The Florida also has a secondary battery of sixteen five-inch rapid fire guns, four more than the ships of the North Dakota type.

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Structure Was Erected and Fully Equipped In a Single Week.

A remarkable achievement in construction is reported from Yorkville, Mich., where a Catholic church, 28 by 64 feet, was completely built, painted, furnished with altar, pews, organ and all the equipment that goes with it in one week's time. This is probably a record for church building. Yorkville is the principal hamlet on Gull lake, a famous Michigan resort near Kalamazoo. Very Rev. Dr. Morrissey of Notre Dame preached the dedication sermon on Sunday, Aug. 6.

The Very Rev. Dean O'Brien of Kalamazoo is rector of the new house of worship, which has been named St. Ann's Church of Gull Lake.

MR. HUBBS EXPRESSES APPRECIATION.

Attorney Irving G. Hubbs, who became the choice of a majority of the Republican electors of Oswego county for Supreme Court judge, wishes The Times to extend his gratitude to his many friends in Fulton for their loyalty to him throughout the trying scenes of the campaign. He extends his deepest appreciation to them. He has been so very busy since the conventions that he has not been able to pay Fulton a visit and to thank them in person, but he hopes soon to meet and greet as many of them as possible.

CIVIL WAR ECHOES.

General Phil. Sheridan.

Genral Grant once said of Sheridan, that no greater General ever lived. President Lincoln and Secretary of War Stanton claimed that he ranked with Napoleon. Sheridan was noted for great results with a small body of men, by his swift conception, rapidity of movement, concentrated action and daring execution. In the field he was a terrible ugly man. He was a great horseman and a fine swordsman.

Sheridan's rallying cry in his famous ride was, "Face about, boys, we are going back to sleep in our old camps to-night! We're going to lick them out of their boots!" Commander John W. Diston of Post Schenck says he was an eye witness of the surprise and ride and was close to General Sheridan as he rode by amidst the cheers of the men. He was asked once what the secret was of his being so popular with his men. His reply was that he never asked them to go where he would not lead. His horse, Winchester, the one he rode on his famous ride, died October 2, 1878, and is set up on exhibition at the military institute on Governor's Island. The grey horse, the one he changed to after his ride, in the fight, was burned up in the Chicago Fire October 8, 1871.

General Sheridan stated that he never went into a fight without being afraid, but that he controlled his mind, body and legs by his will.

I gleaned the above facts from the Life of General Sheridan, a splendid volume which reads like a romance, and was presented to the Library by Mrs. Helen B. Emens, the librarian.

I remarked to Major Ferguson on Decoration Day that he must have seen General Sheridan. He said, "a good many times," and that if he had been at home at the time of the surprise he would have been "licked." I said, "Major, that was Almighty God's war, and He was in control by a coincidence of circumstances." He said he was, truly. The Major said the General was a small man but on a horse looked larger than he was.

A GOOD LAW.

The Legislature of New York enacted the following law at this session and it was signed by Governor Dix and it went into effect the first day of September, 1911:

A person who willfully or maliciously displaces, removes, injures or destroys a mile-board, mile-stone, danger sign or signal, or guide sign or post, or any inscription thereon, lawfully within a public highway; or who, in any manner paints, puts or affixes any business or commercial advertisement on or to any stone, tree, fence, pole, building or other structure, which is the property of another, without first obtaining the written consent of such owner thereof, or who in any manner paints, puts or affixes such an advertisement on or to any stone, tree, fence, stump, pole, mile-board, mile-stone, danger-sign, danger-signal, guide-sign, guide-post, billboard, building or other structure within the limits of a public highway is guilty of a misdemeanor. Any advertisement in or upon a public highway in violation of the provisions of this subdivision may be taken down, removed or destroyed by any one.

A misdemeanor is punishable by a fine up to $500 or one year in jail, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

Our friends, the Democrats, are very busily engaged in putting up their fences and pushing their favorites for district, county and city nominations. The Brotherhood class of the First Methodist church are preparing for a event of considerable proportions on Friday evening in honor of the completion of the extensive improvements in their rooms and in the other larger part of the basement of the church. They invite the church and congregation in general to an informal gathering at which music and light refreshments will be provided, and the Rev. John Richards, former pastor of the church is expected to be present and give an address. The rooms have been newly carpeted, the walls redecorated, the wood work painted or varnished, and wainscoting has been put in the two front rooms. The large unfinished furnace room has been cleared out, graded and a good substantial cement floor put down, providing an excellent equipment for social and banquet purposes as well as good accommodations for various winter activities of the Boy Scouts.

The monthly report of Chief of Police Ross shows a considerable amount of business transacted during August. The Chief has often remarked that heat breeds crime and it would seem that he was correct when one realizes that 44 arrests were made during the hot month. Twenty-seven were for public intoxication, three for assault in the third degree, three for petit larceny, three for burglary in the third degree, four for violation of a city ordinance, one on what is termed miscellaneous charges, two for violation of Section No. 1890 of the penal code, one for violation of Section No. 70 of the labor law. There were thirty-seven convictions, four were not disposed of, while three were held for the grand jury. Fines were imposed to the amount of $221.93 and $126.93 were collected. Fines imposed in December ,June and July were collected in August to the amount of $35. Patrolmen's fees for civil service amounted to 50 cents.

FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

THE WEEK

A better tone is noted in general trade, not alone at New York city, but at most jobbing centers of the West and South. Cotton goods are in better demand, revision of prices having apparently stimulated business. Export inquiry for print cloth is active and the demand at Fall River shows a marked improvement. In steel decreased orders from the railroads are largely offset by the heavier business in structural shapes; low stocks make consumers more eager to cover fall and winter requirements at Pittsburgh, and several furnaces are going into blast because of the broader inquiry for pig iron. Large orders are taken for steel bars at Chicago at terms which show some concessions from previous quotations. In footwear there is greater activity, but the buying is still notably conservative, the disposition being to cover consumptive requirements. Domestic hides hold firm. Harvesting of wheat has been largely completed in many sections and elevators at terminal points are congested. These conditions somewhat restrict speculative operations on the grain markets. The cotton market is more susceptible to unsatisfactory crop advices, the Government estimate on Friday showing a deterioration of about 16 per cent in the condition of the plant, which is above the average.

New construction work is being pushed with vigor, as indicated by the very heavy bookings in structural steel shapes. This is by far the most active of the finished departments of iron and steel, and, of present demand, is maintained, the volume of business during the current year is expected to surpass even the high record of 1906. Railroad buyings, however, suggests that expenditures are still being limited, although recent rail sales total about 25,000 tons and contracts for some 20,000 tons are reported pending, with a considerable tonnage in view for export.

A better volume of business is noted in primary and secondary dry goods markets, cotton goods buying having been stimulated a little by the revision of staple prints. Purchasing of print cloths is decidedly better, one printer being reported to have purchased 250,000 pieces of wide print cloths for delivery during the balance of the year. Fall River sold about 160,000 pieces of print cloths last week and the volume of business done since has been steady. Prices incline to greater stability, but as a whole the market is undergoing readjustment. There is more trading in dress goods., and a better house trade is noted in the past week than in any week of the fall season. There is a better call for stock goods, and little inclination to expect concessions in anything seasonable either of fancy worsted or wool goods.

Trade in footwear is of fair proportions, with the volume of sales somewhat larger than a while ago, but little improvement is noted over last week. Wholesalers and retailers are buying close to actual needs and are consequently in the market frequently. Salesmen are getting ready to start out with spring samples.

Exceedingly low temperatures in Canadian Northwest gave temporary support to wheat, but harvesting is largely completed and only late sown grain is threatened by frost.

Western receipts still fall much behind last year's 5,237,532 bushels this week, comparing with 7,403,291 while exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 1,550,616 bushels against 2,760,065 in 1910. Weather developments have been favorable to corn, yet prices were sustained by an active cash demand.

Heavy rains in the belt had a depressing effect on cotton, notwithstanding several adverse crop estimates.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported to date for August amount to $10,658,416, of which $5,452,224 were in manufacturing, $4,894,827 in trading and $311,365 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 196 in the United States against 197 last year and 37 in Canada, compared with 23 a year ago.

WANT TO ISSUE $500,00 IN STOCK.

Albany, Aug. 28.—The Public Service Commission, Second District, has received an application from the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern railroad, asking for an order approving of increase of its preferred stock from $1,000,000 to$1,500,000. The additional preferred stock is to be used for making payment in obligations incurred to the Ontario Construction company, which has built the railroad of the petitioning company. The construction of the railroad between the cities of Fulton and Oswego was completed in July and the entire line from Syracuse to Oswego is now in operation.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK FOR OSWEGO.

Oswego, Sept. 2.—Official notice was received at the local post office yesterday afternoon to the effect that on September 23, the postal savings bank department would be put in operation. Several government officials from Washington will arrive here next week to instruct the local post office employes in the operation of the banking business.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Pulaski, Aug. 28.—A farmhouse in Albion owned by John French of Fulton and occupied by the family of George F. Menzo, was burned to the ground early Saturday morning, entailing a loss of about $1,000. There was no insurance on the building, which was a frame structure. The fire resulted from the chimney burning out. A few household effects were saed.

Miss Mary Farley commenced her second term Tuesday at the "Red school house."

Mr. Wm. Atwater has returned to his home after spending two months at Campbell's Point.

About twenty Volneyites enjoyed a day's outing at Long Branch last Thursday.

Mr. Arthur Lamphere of Lysander was the over-Sunday guest of George and Louis Cornish.

Mr. Foster Simpson will remain at Troy, where he will attend college this year.

Miss Mary Young returns to Mt. Vernon Friday, where she will resume her school work.

The Snell home has been greatly improved by paint and a new fence.

A goodly number enjoyed the good dinner, sports, and a fine day at Mr. Halsey's Grove Monday; it being the annual picnic of the Bristol Hill Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rowe with friends, called on several of our neighboring towns Sunday in their auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bateman took a fifty mile ride in their new Flanders, Sunday.

A number of the Volney grangers hope to enjoy Pomona at Hastings this Wednesday.

MONEY IN PEARS.

Savings Banks Remain Open to Accommodate Depositors.

Thirty-two hundred bushels of pears were taken in at the Heagerty cold storage warehouse Friday and about half that amount at the Brownell receiving station in West Seneca street.

Farmers with a few hundred bushels of Bartlett pears on hand this year are in clover. Uncle George Turner drew down $165 Friday and Saturday he took out $150. The savings banks are getting most of the money, they remaining open afternoons to accommodate the farmers.—Palladium.

HER TWO COMPLAINTS.

Edward, the colored butler of a lady in Washington, had recommended his mother for the position of cook, but when the applicant came the lady noticed that she was not very strong-looking.

"Do you suppose you will be able to do the work, Auntie? You don't look very healthy."

"Yes, ma'am, I is able; I ain't never been no ways sickly in my life—ain't never had nuthin' but smallpox an' Edward.

LEADS BUSY LIFE.

Congressman L. W. Mott was in Lowville last week, where he attended the Lowville fair. During his stay in Lewis county he was the guest of Hon. Charles L. Knapp. Mr. Mott left on Sunday night for Rochester where he attended the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers, addressing the guests at the banquet in the evening.

THOUGHT IT WAS A TIGER.

And Granby Farmers Were Out With Their Guns.

A short time since, Mr. Newton Ward purchased a young Heart Dane dog, a thoroughbred, and its like has never been seen in Granby. Although it is but ten months old it stands three feet high and is rangy and is striped very much like a tiger, so much so that it could very easily be taken for that breed of wild animal, a native of the jungles of Africa. Only the nearest neighbors of Mr. Ward were aware that he owned such a dog.

Last Thursday the dog freed itself from the chain to which it was attached, and not being "wanted" to the place made good its escape. As it ran through the lots about Lake Neahtawanta it struck consternation to the Granby farmers, some of whom left their work in the fields and ran for cover. Others hurriedly trotted out their guns and stealthily followed the "tiger" which was nearly as scared as they were.

Mr. Ward, after about a day, located the tiger dog near the lake, hearing its bark, and with an assuring voice captured it and led it home to its kennel, and assurance of safety has been restored in the families of several Granby farmers.—Observer.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.

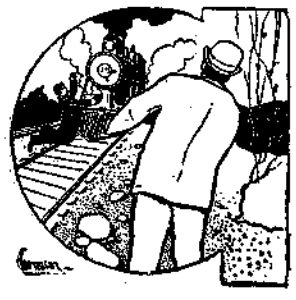
Gates on Hydraulic Canal Can't Be Closed.

An injunction was filed in the County Clerk's office Friday morning by County Judge L. C. Rowe, restraining E. R. Redhead, L. W. Emerick, Frank B. Dilts and others from closing or in any way adjusting the gates of the hydraulic canal at dam No. 4, in this city. The injunction was granted by request of James T. Clark, as attorney for the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company, which maintains that the opening of the gates and the using of the water in the power canal in Fulton is and has been in violation of agreements made between the power owners, and the complaint states that the illegal use of the water has caused considerable pecuniary loss to the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company.

At the same time Judge Rowe filed an order discontinuing, without costs, the action of the Fulton Light Heat & Power company against E. R. Redhead et al., which action was commenced some time ago, but never brought to trial.

BEST TREATMENT FOR A BURN.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one, heals the parts without leaving a scar. This salve is also unequalled for chapped hands, sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers.



SOMETHING TO SHOW.

"Do you mean to tell me," demanded Mr. Sillicus angrily, "that you actually ordered ten dollars' worth of groceries of a total stranger, at prices less than any wholesale dealer can buy them, and paid for them in advance?"

"Yes, that's what I said," replied his better half.

"And you hadn't sense enough to see that it was a bare-faced swindle!" roared Sillicus. "Well your money's gone now, and you have nothing to show for it."

"Why, yes, I have, John," said his wife. "I have the man's receipt for the money."—September Lippincott's.

SPEED KINGS OF THE AUTO WORLD

Drivers of Powerful Cars to Be Seen In Competition.

BIG MEET FOR STATE FAIR.

Wild Bob Burman Will Go After More World's Records—Five Mile Handicap For Remy Brassard and Trophy Open to World—Motorcycles Also to Race.

Following the custom of other years, the New York State Fair commission has set aside Saturday, Sept. 16, as the day for the automobile races in connection with the Fair, and the indications are that it will be the big day of the exposition. Last year the races were witnessed by about 70,000 persons. The attractions this year are as strong as have been secured for any mile circular track.

Several of the famous drivers of high power cars, including Wild Bob Burman, holder of the Remy grand brassard and trophy, which he won July 4 at Brighton Beach, when he defeated De Palma, Sheets, Zengel, Knipper, Patschke and others in the free for all race, will take part, with machines more powerful than have ever been seen at the State Fair. As the State Fair track is regarded as one of the safest mile circular dirt courses, it is very likely that new world's records will be established.

The management in securing Burman, Knipper, Patschke and several other drivers of note and also the classic prize of the Indianapolis speedway will draw to the meet the attention of the auto racing world.

The first event of the day will be for Class E cars of 600 cubic inches in displacement and less and with a minimum weight of 2,100 pounds. This is open only to amateur drivers. Next will come the exhibition trials for one mile open to the world. Burman and others will attempt to establish a new record for a circular mile track.

Following the speed trials will be the free for all five mile handicap, open to all cars regardless of class.

The fourth event will be for five miles open to non-stock cars of from 231 to 300 inches displacement. Following will come another five mile race for non-stock cars with 301 to 450 inches displacement and a minimum weight of 1,800 pounds.

The sixth event will be for ten miles for non-stock cars, 600 inches displacement and less, with a minimum weight of 2,100 pounds. Next will come the free for all for a distance of three miles, in which the Remy grand brassard and trophy will be offered. The trophy, designed by Tiffany of New York, is valued at $3,000. This event will be best two out of three and will be run with a flying start. The eighth event will be the free for all Australian pursuit race. The conditions are that the cars shall be placed equal distances apart on the track and started. As soon as a car is passed by another it will be counted out of the race. In case but two cars are left after twenty-five miles have been covered the leader will be awarded the prize.

The last automobile race of the day will be for fifty miles between cars of 600 inches displacement and with a minimum weight of 2,100 pounds. The program will also include several motorcycle races.

Packed at Home.

As the new district visitor looked at Mr. Leahy and noted his determined chin she had a momentary sensation of reluctance to question him, but she overcame it and began her appointed task.

"Where do you deposit your wages, Mr. Leahy, if you've no objection to telling me?" she asked. "I am trying to interest the neighborhood in the excellent People's bank, lately started."

"Sure, I'd as soon tell you as not," said Mr. Leahy cheerfully. "Tis tin dollars a week I earn. Whin I've paid the rint, the provision and grocery bills an' the milkman an' bought what's needed for Celia an' me an' the five children I deposit the rist o' the money in barr'ls, ma'am. I uses sugar barr'ls mostly. They're a bit larger and so holds more. But whin I can't get thim I make shift wid plain flour barr'ls."—Youth's Companion.

POMONA GRANGE MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Oswego County Pomona Grange will be held at Grange Hall, Hastings, on Wednesday, September 6. H. N. Godfrey, Master of the State Grange, will make the principal address. A good program has been arranged.

NEW YORKERS ON LONG HIKE.

Wayne County Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Butterfield, their five children, three boys and two girls, age from 9 years to 21 months, presented a novel sight on our main street Wednesday afternoon. Their outfit consisted of a horse and cart, with a dog running alongside. The children rode in the cart, while their parents were on foot.

These people left New York city May 16 and are on their way to Mexico City, a distance of 3,800 miles. Mr. Butterfield is a lawyer who found it impossible to make a living in the metropolis, while his wife is a graduate of an art school. They started on their present journey with a capital of but $2.50.

Butterfield pushed a cart and contents, weighing 480 pounds, from New York to Poughkeepsie, 300 miles. At the latter place he purchased a painter's cart and was given a dog. Butterfield was the motive power for this cart until they reached Port Byron, where a horse was purchased. He has worked for farmers along the route and this, together with selling postal cards, is their only source of revenue. They expect to reach Buffalo the last of this week.

Their long tramp is not made on a wager. They are taking this unusual method of crossing the country with the purpose of reaching their destination with expenses reduced to a minimum.

DON'T WAN'T CAPE VINCENT SUBORDINATED TO OSWEGO.

Watertown Herald.

Congressman Mott may have some unpleasant times in Jefferson county if he makes Oswego, with its small customs business, the chief port of entry of this section, and makes Cape Vincent, which has two or three times as much business, a sub-port of Oswego. Jefferson county will not like that and will blame Congressman Mott if it is done; for he is our man at Washington, and we expect him to look out for us. While we are willing to let him do all he can for Oswego that does not effect us, we are not willing to have him do or permit to be done anything for Oswego that is going to cost Jefferson just what it benefits Oswego.

So Congressman Mott had better put in a word at the treasury department against the proposed plan of subordinating Cape Vincent to Oswego.

FORMER FULTON PASTOR NAMED

The Rev. W. Dempster Chase, formerly of Fulton, at a meeting held at Centenary M. E. church, Utica, was named as successor to the late Rev. T. F. Alexander, former pastor of the church, who died recently, by the David S. Pierce, D. D., district superintendent. The Rev. Mr. Chase will fill the place until the April conference of the Methodist Episcopal church of New York in 1912. He will begin his duties as pastor September 10.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

GOOD FOR BILIOUSNESS.

"I took two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets last night, and I feel fifty per cent better than I have for weeks," says J. J. Firestone of Allegan, Mich. "They are certainly a fine article for biliousness." For sale by all dealers. Samples free.

A MIGHTY PROBLEM.

A drummer stopped in a small country store, and finding it impossible to sell anything, asked in serious wise if it was permissible in that town for a man to marry his widow's sister. The assembled natives thought it was mighty nice for the drummer to take such an interest in local matters, and at once began to argue the question. At the end of an hour it was decided in the affirmative, and a search was instituted for the drummer, in order that he might be enlightened—but he had moved on. —September Lippincott's.

Waking the Sleepers.

In a diary kept in 1646 it is asserted that "Allen Brydges has been chose to wake the sleepers in meeting and, being much proud of his place, must needs have a fox taile fixed to the end of a long staffe, wherewith he may brush the faces of them that will have naps in time of discourse." This energetic individual was likewise armed with "a sharpe thorne" for the benefit of those who "be most sounde." There is a record of the use of this implement upon Mr. Tomkins, who was sleeping comfortably in the corner of his pew when Allen "thrust his staff behind Dame Ballard to give him a grievous prick upon the hand, whereupon Mr. Tomkins did spring much above the floor and with terrible force did strike his head against the wall and also to the great wonder of all 'prophanelle' exclaim in a loud voice, 'Buss the woodchuck!' he dreaming, as it seemed, that a woodchuck had seized him and bit his hand."

Curious Forgetfulness.

It is difficult to combine the attributes of the bean and the business man, and the famous Lord Alvanley did not attempt the task. Largely as the result of that philosophy which led him to cavil at a friend's weakness in "muddling away his fortune in paying tradesmen's bills," he one day found himself in financial difficulties and asked Charles Greville, the author of the "Journals," to put his affairs in order. The two men—Mr. Lewis Melville describes the incident in "Some Eccentrics and a Woman"—spent a day over accounts, and Greville found that the task he had undertaken would not be so difficult as he had been given to understand. His relief was not long lived, however, for on the following morning he received a note from Alvanley saying he had quite forgotten a debt of £50,000.

Her Early Resolutions.

This story was told by an Englishman who lived a century ago. He was dining out in London and sat by a lady whom he did not know. Their conversation turned upon early resolutions and how very seldom they were kept, and the lady said: "Well, when I was a girl I made three resolutions—first, I determined that I would never marry a soldier; second, that I would never marry an Irishman, and, third, that I would not be long engaged. And all those three resolutions I broke. Who do you think I did marry? The Duke of Wellington! He was a soldier and an Irishman, and I was engaged to him for twelve years." This was Lady Katherine Pakenham. It was an unhappy marriage, and the couple mostly lived apart.

BUSINESS SUCCESS.

An American must not idle; he must direct his energies toward success; success means making one's way in life; nine times out of ten, for ninety-nine men out of a hundred, that means the business world. To seize the business opportunity, to develop that opportunity through the business virtues of attention to detail, industry, economy, persistence and enthusiasm—these represent the plain and manifest duty of every citizen who intends to "be somebody."—Stewart Edward White.

A Crime to Avoid.

The other day a man was arrested and fined for using disrespectful language to a policeman, thereby interfering with him in the discharge of his duty. It is strange that there should be men who think they can do that with impunity. One may be guilty of bigamy or ruin a trust or be a steady grafter and yet escape punishment, but the consequences of reviling a policeman are inevitable. So when there are so many crimes to pick from no intelligent man should select this.—Chicago Tribune.

Reciprocity Campaign In Canada Is Under Way

Laurier and Borden on the Stump---Election on Sept. 21.

President Taft a Factor. His Speeches Widely Quoted

EDHOT speechmaking marks the campaign now under way in Canada in anticipation of the parliamentary election to be held on Sept. 21, which involves primarily reciprocity with the United States. The opponents of reciprocity in the recent parliament by their obstructive tactics prevented ratification of the treaty with the United States, whereupon the Laurier government dissolved parliament and "appealed to the people." This action amounts to the same thing as a referendum in the United States, and the sentiment of the people is to be got at the coming election.

Premier Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Opposition Leader R. L. Borden are in the field on speechmaking tours, and there are daily meetings throughout Canada. Government officials profess to have reports that indicate a steady growth of pro-reciprocity sentiment, and they are confident of the return of the administration with a safe majority. The opposition is equally confident as to the outcome, and the elections will be the most hotly contested that have ever taken place in Canada.

It is the evident purpose of the opponents of reciprocity to divert attention from that issue as much as possible. But the government and its supporters will keep reciprocity in the foreground. Prominent members of the government express increased confidence that the new parliament to be opened in October by the new governor general, the Duke of Connaught, will be so constituted by the re-election results as to be able to make its initial act the ratification of the reciprocity agreement. The opposition forces, on the contrary, hope for sufficient conservative and French Nationalist gains in the new parliament to leave reciprocity where it stands—ratified at Washington, but not at Ottawa.

Actually to kill reciprocity the opposition will have to come back with twenty-five more members than they have now, or a majority of five in the house. But as one of these would have to be elected speaker the working majority would be but four. This small margin, however, would suffice. Parliament has a membership of 221. Today 133 are government supporters, and 88 are opponents of the government, the administration's majority being 45.

The government's principal strength lies east of Ontario, its supporters from that portion of Canada numbering 70, while the opposition has but 21. In the part of the Dominion comprised by Ontario and the provinces to the west the parties are more evenly divided, there being 67 opposition and 64 government members.

In Ontario Premier Whitney, head of the provincial government, is throwing his weight against the Laurier government and the ratification of reciprocity. He and his ministers are making speaking tours and giving Opposition Leader Borden the use of their provincial political organizations.

Liberal governments are in power in the provinces of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta. They are giving the government and reciprocity all possible aid.

Never before has the president of the United States been so conspicuous a figure in a Canadian election. President Taft is almost as great a personality as Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the present campaign, and his utterances on reciprocity are being perhaps more often quoted throughout the provinces than those of Sir Wilfrid of Finance Minister Fielding. Already extensive use of them has been made by both sides in parliament. The opposition has covered several acres of billboards with them. The views of Champ Clark and other American champions of reciprocity also will figure largely in the speechmaking, as will the opinion of British statesmen relative to the effect reciprocity would have on British tariff reform and imperial preference.

Despite impish cartoons and facetious speeches to the contrary, the annexation bogy is hardly alive. The opposition will probably renew its efforts to convince the people that reciprocity really means a "parting of the ways," with that phrase variously interpreted. But if Canadians believed that reciprocity would lead to severance of the British tie or to absorption by the United States the agreement, it is conceded, would hardly get a favoring vote.

The tendency of the opposition, after forcing an election on reciprocity, to depart from discussion of that issue and get the people to thinking of other things which it holds are discreditable to the government is especially noticeable in the west. Much is being made there of the fact that the prairie provinces will not be represented fully in parliament during the next four years because the government brought on the election before completion of the census now being taken. The subsequent distribution based upon the increased population would have given the west twenty additional members. Failure to take over the terminal grain elevators for government management and to declare that the Hudson Bay railway when completed will not be let to a private railway corporation for operation are other factors in the west's opposition.

In Quebec, which is largely French, opponents of the government are again attacking bitterly the there unpopular naval policy of the Laurier regime to draw attention from reciprocity.

The government alleges that the Conservatives are relying for success on large financial support expected from manufacturers in Canada, tariff reformers in England and anti-reciprocity interests in the United States. Apparently the government will not lack necessary funds. It is said to be certain of the support of the thousands of grain growers in western Canada, who are well organized. The organization decided not to put up candidates of its own, thus avoiding three cornered fights. This is accepted as indicating that the members of the society will be advised by their leaders to support the Liberal candidates.

LOCAL ITEMS

Manager Widmyer of the Foster theatre, was in Fulton on business on Tuesday.

Miss Adda Calkins of Utica is spending a fortnight with Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Gilbert.

Miss Zulma Allen leaves on Sept. 18, to enter a preparatory school for young ladies near Boston, Mass.

Alderman Smith of the Fourth ward will please accept our thanks for a printed copy of the amendments to the city charter.

Miss Anna Revels is enjoying a vacation from her duties in the O. Henderson & Company store, which she is spending with friends in Olean, Rochester and Buffalo.

Miss Barbara Gilbert entertained at tea on Wednesday evening in honor of the natal anniversary of Miss Marjory Fairgrieve. The table and dining room were artistically decorated and music and dancing followed supper. Miss Fairgrieve received many gifts.

No sensible business man would put up his sign for a month and then take it down for a month and then put it up again. Yet that is the very plan on which many business men conduct their advertising. They advertise spasmodically. It is keeping everlastingly at it that counts. It is the steady insistence that wears away the stone, and the continuous effect of advertising that makes a business pay.

County Superintendent of the Poor C. A. Stone was in Fulton on Tuesday calling upon his many warm friends here. The Times acknowledges a pleasant call from him. Mr Stone's administrative record in the county home is a matter of pride to Fultonians and he will receive a rousing vote here in November. He is one of the most painstaking officials Oswego county has had in many years and his re-nomination was in recognition of this fact.

An article of unusual interest to Fultonians is published in the Munsey Magazine for September from the pen of the Rev. Joseph H. Odell. The title of the article is "Moses Breeze, Doctor of Sick Churches." The subject was suggested at a great missionary meeting, held in Atlantic City last May, at which Mr. Odell was present. The article is replete with wise suggestions relative to the business management of the modern church, and is emphasized by Mr. Odell's well-known tersely expressed English. "Economy and Efficiency", the article states, "are Breeze's watchwords," and his methods are being adopted by all the denominations in the United States.

Messrs Eugene Whitney and E. Quirk were instrumental in saving the life of a young woman whose name has not been given, at Orchard lock on Sunday. The young woman borrowed a motor boat belonging to the Burgard company and started for a lone ride on the river. When she reached Orchard Lock, in the absence of the lockkender, a young man attempted to lock her through. The water rushed in and the craft was swamped. Messrs Whitney and Quirk who happened to be near, saw her predicament and holding a pike pole down to the almost submerged traveller, held her head above water until such time as the water crept up in the lock, bringing the young woman to the top so that she could be pulled on land.

Mrs. W. A. Cole of Hoboken, N. J., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Hancock, No. 603 Broadway. Mrs. Cole is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Fox, who died at the home of her eldest daughter, Mrs. Robert Peattie; her remains were brought to Fulton for interment in Mt. Adnah. Mrs. Cole married Albert E. Miller at the close of the war and a daughter was born to them. After ten years of married life the couple separated by divorce. Mrs. Miller being awarded the custody of the child, which died at the home of the mother in 1882. In 1878 Mrs. Miller married Ambrose Wolcott, an old resident of this city, who died in 1883, and was buried beside his father in Holland Patent. Mrs. Wolcott then married a Mr. Buckhout of Jersey City. To them one son was born. Mr. Buckhout died with tuberculosis and was buried in Mt. Adnah. His widow then married Mr. W. A. Cole, who accompanied her to this city, but was called home by business after a brief stay. Mrs. Cole will remain for several days longer.

Diarrhoea is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is prompt and effectual. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SYRACUSE.

Edmund Breese in "A Man of Honor" will be seen at the Empire theatre for a four days engagement on Sept. 6. Joe Weber is responsible for the presentation, and is firmly convinced that he has found a play suitable to the excellent quality of the star. Mr. Weber, like Mr Breese, is too well known to require a length introduction. As a comedian and producer he has figured for a decade in the foremost rank. Mr. Breese acquired a reputation second to no other actor by his graphic portrayals in "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Third Degree," "The Scarecrow," and "The Earth." In his present vehicle it is said that he has a role peculiarly suited to his merits, and one which is bound to increase his already enormous following.

Isaac Landman wrote "A Man of Honor," and it is claimed that the piece abounds with dramatic situations and it is full of elemental force. It is gripping and will convince the auditor that he is witnessing a presentation of life. The moral—for such a play must have a moral—comes over the footlights in telling strokes. Mr. Landman never permits his auditor to relax during the unfolding of his story.

The piece is in three acts and deals tellingly with corporation corruption, particularly with regard to judicial positions. It is, however, not a political drama. The theme that no man has a right to devote himself so closely to his ambitions as to neglect his family, being of equal importance. The story of a prominent Montana judge, who in rise to power and a governal nomination, together with an effort to render a just verdict in a suit against a major corporation, the rendering of such a degree affecting his election, allows a son to become a dupe of the concern he is fighting and thereby placing the father in their power. The theme is worked out in a manner that sustains constant interest and besides a liberal smattering of comedy, there is an intense heart interest. There is little doubt but that "The Man of Honor" will prove to be one of the most conspicuous dramatic successes of the season.

Mr. Weber has given his star a supporting company of unusual merit. There are appearing with him such prominent players as Edward H. Robins, Ben Johnson, Ralph Delmore, Muriel Starr, Fay Wallace and Hans Robert. The scenic production is adequate in every respect. The piece is to be taken to Weber's theatre in New York on Thursday, Sept. 14th, where a long run is expected.

AN ARTISTIC PRODUCTION.

The August number of The Printing Art contains a booklet cover, designed, printed and embossed by the Morrill Press of this city. From an artistic viewpoint the design and execution of the work surpasses, in our judgment, any previous effort in catalogue printing made by this enterprising local firm.

Lake Mohonk Mountain House is the subject of the illustration, which is used on the cover of an annual catalogue issued by the management of that well-known hostelry, and is worthy of the higest praise. The Printing Art—a high class production devoted to the Graphic Arts—makes special mention of the work, closing its comment as follows:

"Because of the excellence of this exhibit one would be led to suppose it was produced by a large firm in a large city. It is the work of the Morrill Press, which is located at Fulton, N. Y., a city of only a few thousand inhabitants. That, however, has been no barrier to its success, and due solely to the uniformly high quality of its work, this firm takes rank among the best printers of the country."

"I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success," writes Mrs M. I. Basford, Poolsville, Md. For sale by all dealers.

Well-to-do People

PERHAPS you know many persons who are well-to-do. They have a little extra money in the bank and are never embarrassed by failure in crops or other financial disaster. They are a little ahead in money matters and can live with a certain assurance that an unexpected loss will not force them to go in debt or suffer some privation. But, remember that these well-to-do people began saving small amounts.

DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS

The Demise of Fulton Nonagenarians —Sidney S. Morrill and Willis S. Nelson Revive Recollections of Boyhood Days—Alfred S. Roe Becomes Reminiscent.

Editor Times:

In less than a month, you have chronicled in your columns the departure from this life no less than three citizens of Fulton who had been considerably more than nine-tenths of a century of life—a most remarkable record for one small city to make. Sidney S. Morrill, Willis S. Nelson and William H. Cook! The latter, though a resident of Fulton several years, I had not the pleasure of knowing, but the first named I had held in acquaintance more than fifty years, for I was only a lad in my early teens when I began my acquaintance with Principal Griffin of Falley Seminary and, incidently, with the business men of the village, of whom few were more prominent in 1860 than Messrs Morrill and Nelson. The former was the jeweler of the village and he never lost his liking for the occupation, however many other forms of business he may have essayed. He was a familiar figure at his bench with his tickling companions about him and, even after he had sold out to his assistant, he could not cease paying daily visits to the scene so long familiar. I roomed in a corner space on the third floor of the Seminary, south side, when Mr. Morrill was building his house across the street on the corner of Fourth and Academy, and while I would not attempt to say that I saw every brick laid, it would not be far from the truth to state that I gave to the job all the attention that Prof. Griffin and his associates would permit. Then, when the edifice was completed and, in the fullness of time, my father and his family moved to his present abode on Academy street, what more natural than that my mother and Mrs. Morrill should become fast friends—an intimacy that they duly passed along to Jesse, Mrs. Morrill's oldest son, and to Charles, my younger brother. As a brother of the late Senator Morrill of Vermont, the deceased took upon himself, in my estimation, some of the dignity and honor which I ever ascribed to that long the shining light from Vermont in Washington. Whether Mr. Morrill was living, across from the Seminary, on Second or Third streets, I seldom visited the home of my parents without seeking out the gentleman whose face and figure had become in my mind a part and parcel of Fulton. Could anything in human life be happier than the filial devotion which the three sons exhibited towards their aged father? What a lesson it was to all observers as they honored their father up to the very last day of his long life. No call of business prevented their attending to the least as well as the greatest of his wishes. What satisfaction must be theirs now that his body rests in Mt. Adnah.

Mr. Nelson I knew better by his works than by intimate acquaintance. The flouring mills of Fulton, once so large a part of her business, early excited my interest and pride, the latter feeling, because I saw so many boats loaded at the doors of the mills, carrying away the product of the ever whirring stones, and a visit to the dusty interiors of the factories was no uncommon thing with me. I saw the great mill next the lower bridge when building, a walk down to the lower bridge being a favorite diversion of the Seminary boys after supper, and how we talked over the immensity of the business that called for such absorption of space, then, too, such a building for the storage of flour barrels opposite, everything reaching stupendous proportions in our boyish fancy. What a risk the painters ran, we thought, when they ventured on the suspended ladder-staging to apply their brushes and the destruction of what had so amazed me in building when the barge canal demanded, occasioned reflections quite the reverse of those when it was going up. It was in these days that I had my last conversation with the strenuous business man, then eighty or beyond, and I found that intervening years had changed in no essential the vigor of body and mind in which the years of the war found him. We talked over the destruction of the starch factory on Battle Island in the winter of 1860-61, of the dense smoke that overspread the village and of the subsequent ill odor that followed the decay of the corn, so much of which was destroyed by the conflagration. The history of Fulton, which tells the story of her industries and great business ventures, will have written high that of the man who never retired from the marts of trade; while he may not have been seen as often in public as formerly, he was still in the harness; a moment here, and the next one there; a going out of life quite characteristic of his quick, impulsive way and doubtless, the very one he would have chosen. More than twenty years beyond the allotted age of the Psalmist, he seemed in no respect to realize the penalty named and, as for Shakespeare's Seven Ages, he was far, very far from the final one with its "Sans eyes," etc., nor had he the least part of 'the lean and slippered pantaloons" but with all the manly attributes of the "Justice" he stepped from this life into that to come.

OSWEGO COURT HOUSE IMPROVEMENTS.

The court house in Oswego, which has a handsome exterior but has been sadly neglected and permitted to fall into decay on the interior—the heating, plumbing and ventilating systems being indescribable—is being renovated and the interior greatly improved by the installation of modern plumbing and heating systems, and will be ready in its improved condition for the Fall term of Supreme court which will be held in Oswego in October. Over $6,000 has been suspended so far and still more improvements are under contemplation. When completed the court house will equal that of any county of this size in the State.

CLAM BAKE SUCCESSFUL.

The twelfth annual clam bake of the Pathfinder boat club held at the island on Friday evening was an unqualified success despite the inclemency of the weather. The porch surrounding the club house had been enclosed with heavy canvass as a protection from the rain and damp wind, and over 150 guests were bountifully served with a dinner which might have put a Delmonico spread to shame. Chef Mead and his assistants outdid all previous efforts in this line. At the conclusion of dinner dancing was enjoyed.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Congressman and Mrs. L. W. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McCarthy of Oswego, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Pratt of Buffalo.

COMMENDS OSWEGO JAIL

Sixth Annual Report State Commission of Prisons Highly Commends Jail and Its Conduct.—Compliments Sheriff Taft Upon His Efficiency.

The sixth annual report of the State Commission of Prisons has just been issued, and in all that it says of the Oswego county jail our residents may well be interested. The inspector spoke in the highest terms of Sheriff Taft, praising his ability and his efficiency in his work. It is very gratifying to his many friends that he has made a record second to none in the Empire State in his conduct of his responsible office.

The report says in part:

"The jail with its ninety-six cells on three floors is a model in every respect. It is divided into a right and left wing and connected in the center by the Sheriff's home. The exterior is of light pressed brick and limestone, with an interior of concrete and steel. The cells and steel work are finished in aluminum, and with the large windows, each floor is light and airy. The toilets are in niches in the rear of the cells, and plumbing properly placed in the utility corridor.

"The first floor is occupied by sentenced men, the second by court prisoners and the third by females and minors. On the second and third floors there is in each wing a large hospital room and chapel or visiting room, also bathing facilities. Each floor has shower baths to which the prisoners have access.

"The water supply is by means of wells, supplimented by water from Ontario, pumped through a new main recently placed across the river just above the high dam.

"Adjacent to the jail is an airing court and stone yard for the employment of the prisoners during the Winter, and the county also owns a farm which is worked by the inmates.

"The turnkey's wife acts as matron, and a jail physcian is regularly employed. Prisoners receive three meals a day and are provided with clothing when necessary. This is the finest and most adequate county jail I have yet visited," says Clifford M. Young, the inspector, "and it is in every respect a credit to the county of Oswego.

"The number of inmates on the day of inspection was 37, of which 32 were male adults and 5 women. Following is the classification: serving sentence, 25; awaiting trial, 10; witnesses, 2 women. The highest at any one time during the year was 7; lowest5 32; average about 50."

REAL ESTATE TRANSFER.

H. Rosenbloom Has Sold Land on Walradt Street to the Genesee Realty Company.

The Genssee Realty Company who recently purchased lands formerly known as the Flannery property and sub-divided it into village lots, have purchased from H. Rosenbloom a tract of 26 lots on Walradt street and Atlantic Avenue, and will put these lots on sale Thursday morning.

This property is very centrally located, near trolley, and only a short distance from West First street. There being but 26 lots in this tract, and from present inquirers for lots in this section, there is no doubt but that every lot will be sold in a few days.

Streets and sidewalks have been graded, water has been piped part way up Atlantic Avenue and one house is now in course of construction, but this lot was sold prior to Genesee Realty Company's purchase.

These lots on the new tract will be sold on same terms as Riverview—one dollar down and one dollar a week.

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable a man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

HEAVY CONSIGNMENT OF PULP WOOD.

Oswego, Sept. 11.—Three steam barges and three tow barges, with more than 4,700 cords of pulp wood in their hulls are at the docks here waiting to be unloaded. The shipments have all arrived in the last forty-eight hours, and it is believed to be the largest consignment of pulp wood to arrive at this port in the same length of time in many years. The wood is for the Battle Island Pulp and Paper Company and is being unloaded from the barges into canal boats and then towed up the river.

The process of unloading is being carried on day and night by the largest gangs of longshoremen ever employed here at any one time since the days of Oswego's great commercial boom. The canal between this city and Fulton will close September 15, and it is expected that a large part of the wood will be sent by railroad, owing to the fact that a sufficient number of canal boats cannot be obtained in which to put the cargoes.

VOLNEY REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

The Republican town caucus was held at Volney Center on Saturday and many a bloodless battle was fought with the ballots at the time. The result was the following very excellent ticket was placed in nomination:

Supervisor, Eugene Rowe.

Town Clerk, George Coles, Jr.

Police Justices, S. H. Wright, Eugene Bunker.

Highway Commissioner, Benjamin Cole.

Overseer Poor, Cassius Snyder.

The fight was especially vigorous over the nominations for supervisor and highway commissioner. Mr. Rowe had served but one term as supervisor and his record was strictly right. He was deserving of reelection and the majority so decided. Mr. Cole for highway commissioner, is a popular young man; two years ago in a six cornered fight he was next to the highest man and he had not lost any friends during the interval. That every man on the ticket will be chosen is hoped and expected.

LAKE SHORE COMPANY ELECTS DIRECTORS.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern railroad company held at the general offices in Syracuse yesterday a resolution was adopted formally abandoning that portion of the route of the former Oswgo Traction company between Riverside cemetary in Oswego and the bridge across the Oswego river at Minetto. This line is on the east side of the river directly opposite the new tracks of the Syracuse, Lake Shore & Northern road between Minetto and Oswego. Service was suspended a short time since.

Application will now be made to the Public Service Commission, Second District, for formal permission to abandon this section of the old Oswego-Minetto route. There is now a complaint before the commision by citizens affected by the suspension because of the company's action.

At yesterday's meeting, 28,474 of the total of 35,000 shares of the capital stock of the Lake Shore company was represented.

The following directors were elected to serve for one year: Senator H. S. Holden, C. M. Warner, Mrs. Gertrude F. Hiscock, C. D. Beebe, William Nottingham, W. A. Holden, W. K. Pierce, Edward Joy, J. M. Gilbert, C. A. Lux, and H. C. Beatty of Syracuse and C. B. Benson of Minetto and F. W. Roebling, jr., of Trenton, N. J.

H. D. Brewster and J. F. Durston, both of Syracuse, were elected inspectors of election for the coming year.

SAD COINCIDENCE.

Abner Rogers, brother of the late death in a manner very similar to the cause for the death of the distinguished jurist. It transpires that the brother Abner recently erected a model farm house in Jefferson county, installing hardwood floors throughout. Last week he slipped and fell on one of the floors, striking his head and fracturing his skull. He was, as was his brother, in perfect health up to the fall which caused his death. This sad coincidence in the death of the two brothers has caused considerable comment.

COMING EVENT.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cornish have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Eudora Cornish and Mr. Charles Grover Laird, the event to be solemnized at the home of the bride's parents in Volney on Wednesday evening, Sept. 20, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. George Ward will be the officiating clergyman and the ring service will be used. The home will be decorated in white and pink, asters forming the main color scheme. The bride, who will be gowned in white marquisette with lace garnature, will be attended by Miss Doris Devendorf as maid of honor. Mr. Lloyd Laird, brother of the groom, will be best man.

FAILED TO SUCCEED.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—Admitting he was unable to make a living because there are so many doctors in Pittsburgh, Dr. A. B. Miller, testified in police court today that he had taken a horse and buggy and sold them in the hope of securing enough money to enable him to return to his parents at Ithaca, N. Y.

Miller said he was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1910 and had conducted an office here for nine months, during which time his receipts had been $4. He sold his office furniture and books to secure money.

PEACHES FOR ENGLAND.

Fruit from the Oswego district of the Ontario division is now being shipped in large quantities to European countries.

MARRIED

At St. Paul's Episcopal church, Syracuse, on Aug. 2, Miss Hazel Belle McCordy of this city and Mr. Albertus Taylor of Brockport, were united in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are making their home in this city.

Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Emerick, Bronson street, Oswego, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Virginia, and Mr. George A. Keeney Jr., of Elizabeth, N. J. The stately home had been elaborately decorated in green and white and music was furnished by Kapp's orchestra of Syracuse. The bride was given away by her father and she appeared very dignified and girlish in her bridal rob of white lace over satin, entraine. She wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and carried roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Constance Wilson Emerick, who was gowned in white lace over green satin and carried white asters. The best man was Mr. Orel Keeney, brother of the groom. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Richmond Gesner, rector of Christ church. At the conclusion of the ceremony, which was attended by a few intimate friends and relatives, a large reception was held to which over one hundred guests had been bidden. The dinner was served by caterer Teall of Rochester. Among the Fulton guests in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Emerick, Mrs. Mary Emerick, Mrs. Charles R. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Piper, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Dills, Miss Fanny Reynolds, Ellen and Lucia Emerick, W. J. Lovejoy, Miss Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs.H . P. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Will Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morton, the Misses Gilbert Mrs. M. F. Willard and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howe. Mr. and Mrs. Keeney will spend the honeymoon taking an automobile trip and will make their present home in Oswego. The bride has many friends in this city who extend congratulations.

Last Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bradford, in Sixth street, was solemnized the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nettie Bradford to Mr. James Hillick, the Rev. C. L. Peck of the First Methodist church being the officiating clergyman. The home had been beautifully decorated in pink and white ribbons and pink and white roses forming the main decorations. A bank of palms and flowers filled a section of the spacious parlors before which the young couple were united in marriage. The bride was becomingly gowned in white messaline, and she wore an ornament of pearls and carried bride's roses. She was attended by Miss Blanche Hillick as maid of honor; her gown being of white messaline and she carried white roses. Arthur Wolever was best man and the bridesmaids, the Misses Lulu Bradford of Little Falls and Lucy Hillick of this city, were gowned in white chiffon over pink messaline and they carried pink roses. The ribbon bearers were Clara Smith and Leonard Bradford. Following the ceremony and congratulations a delicious bridal collation was served to the guests, the following young ladies serving: Genevieve Smith, Leontine Porter, Elaine McKay and Sarah McKay of Fulton and Irene Acker of Syracuse. Mr. and Mrs. Hillick departed by trolley, accompanied by a number of their enthusiastic friends, for a bridal trip after which they will make their home in Syracuse where Mr. Hillick is engaged in business. Mrs. Hillick's going-away gown was of white broadcloth with hat to match.

THE WEEK

Steady improvement in business conditions is indicated by most of the reports which come from the leading industries and from trade centers. This is further confirmed by the gain in bank clearings, the reduction in number of idle cars and the increase in pig iron production. Apparently there is a much more optimistic sentiment regarding the cotton and grain crops, in spite of the recent Government reports of conditions; and with the present prospect of fair average farm returns, low stocks of goods on the shelves of distributing merchants and an abundant supply of money, the fall season is opening with a considerable growth of confidence, which is helped by the lull in political activities, the gradual subsiding of war talk abroad and the better outlooks as regards the labor situation at home. Resumption of work in many New England textile mills this week is an event of value. Moreover, the demand for dry goods, both jobbing and at retail, is improved. While the wool market is more quiet for the moment, business is fair and quotations firm. In the shoe trade conservative gain also appears, and the same is true as regards leather. The improvement in iron and steel is mostly in the increased output of pig iron as in finished materials there is a diminished demand, except in structural goods, the continued activity in which indicates satisfactory building operations. Altogether the quickened movement in general business, while not large, is indicative of a satisfactory season of fairly normal conditions.

The enlarged operations in pig iron are indicated by returns covering the production during August, which rose 133,569 tons to 1,926,627 tons, according to The Iron Age; the daily rate of output reached 62,150 tons, or 4,309 tons more than in any previous month, and the capacity of the 203 furnaces active on September 1 was 3,224 tons a day greater than that of the 196 furnaces in blast on August 1. Most of last month's expansion was due to the increased turnover of the leading interest, whose bookings and shipments in that period were heavier than in any preceding month this year. In the finished lines the existing price situation induces consumers generally to confine purchases to actual needs. Competition for new business has become very keen and buyers accordingly find it easier to obtain concessions. The wire trade reflects reduced activity, but in the structural division many mills have work enough to keep them fully occupied for several months.

An improved demand for dry goods is noted, both in the primary markets and by jobbing houses. Retailers purchase steadily for current needs, especially of novelties, specialties and of goods required for fall distribution, but there is little activity for future delivery.

Trade in footwear shows further improvement, but buyers still display conservatism and purchase only such quantities as can readily be moved. Shoe manufacturers have advanced asking rates on calfskin shoes of 25c per pair over the prices previously quoted. Encouraging reports are received from salesmen on the road. Trade in leather continues to improve slowly and prices are somewhat firmer.

Crop advices from Russia gave support to wheat, although the price movement was irregular; offerings from that country have diminished and prospects there are considered much less favorable than last year. Wet weather interferred with harvesting operations in the Northwest and Canada, but there is official promise of the largest yield on record in the Diminion.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for August amount to $11,116,631, of which $5,636,068 were in manufacturing, $4,954,483 in trading and $526,080 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 174 in the United States against 205 last year, and 15 in Canada compared with 22 a year ago.

General Sheridan's ride, and the gifted poet, T. Buchanan Read, made them both famous the world over. The General was an Irish American that we are all proud to acknowledge as a hero and citizen of our great Republic.

There was some gossip in Washington society not long since about the General's widow, getting married again. When approached on the subject, she said: "I would rather be Phil Sheridan's widow than any man's wife in Washington."

AS TO POLITICAL MACHINES.

(Utica Press.)

"Much is heard nowadays as to the viciousness and cussedness of political machines. It seems to be granted that every organization in town, county and State, managing the affairs of a political party, is bound to be bad and animated by no other purpose than the desire to secure political pelf. A case in point is that of the so-called Mott machine in Oswego county. Now in the recent contest over the judicial delegates in that county the Mott machine undoubtedly played some politics that were hardly in keeping with the selection of a man to grace the judicial bench. But be that as it may the fact of the matter is that the Mott men only a year or two ago were the reformers in Oswego county and heralded abroad as the saviors of the people from the thralldom of the old Stowell machine. And, they were real and true reformers. When Governor Hughes assumed office and took up his fight against the bosses and in behalf of decency in politics, the Mott men in Oswego county were among the first to take up his policies and advocate them. They made a fight for direct primaries and Assemblyman Sweet was one of the first men in the State to be elected onthat platform. The so-called Mott men at that time cleaned out the bosses in Oswego county and although they have been in control only a short time they are now being charged with being bosses themselves. Does a reformer turn into a boss the minute he attains his end?

Now this paper holds no brief for the Mott organization and does not know whether it deserves the opprobious title of "machine," by which it is designated at the present time. But somehow it seems strange that a body of men who two years ago did such excellent service in the cause of good government should now appear in so bad a light as they are portrayed. What is the reason therefor? Is it because of the fact that insurgency has become the normal state of mind, or is there something in the acquisition of power that makes men different? There is no question that political party management in this Statehas been of such a kind in the past as to excite the disgust and suspicion of the people and this is probably the reason that everybody is so ready to charge all organizations controlling political parties with bad motives. But there should be discrimination in this matter as in all other things. An organization that manages the affairs of a party need not necessarily be prompted by unworthy motives.

Organization is necessary to all kinds of success. But if the people take it for granted that organization is good only when it is in the reformative stage and that it gets bad when it accomplishes its end and gains control there will be no incentive to work. The opposition to the "organization" in some places amounts almost to a prejudice, due of course to the years of bad faith on the part of "organizations," but this may be carried too far and common sense should be exercised in this matter as in everything. An organization must be judged by its works. There is no other criterion. The fault with most organizations is that when they have accomptished the reform they forget their mission and high motives and turn their attention wholly to reaping the rewards. Power and control become to them an opportunity for spoils rather than the accomplishment of good and when they are opposed they are animated by no other motive, descending frequently to most dishonorable means for the retention of position. That may have been the change that has taken place in the Mott organization, once so good. It seems strange.

Editorial Comments Taken From Nearby Newspapers Regarding Judicial Situation—All Friendly Towards Irving G. Hubbs.

The Oswego Contest.

Watertown Times.

Irving G. Hubbs of Pulaski won the delegates of Oswego county to the Republican judicial convention by a vote of 106 to 95 over Udelle Bartlett of Oswego. The fight has been a very bitter one and both sides claimed a majority up to the time the convention met. Mr. Hubbs seems to have secured the majority of uninstructed delegates, which had been claimed by both candidates. He is well spoken of as a lawyer and good citizen, but his presentation by Oswego may not make him available in the judicial convention. It has been a fight between machines, rather than between men, and the contest has been purely a political one. It has been entirely a local fight in which the other counties of the district are not particularly interested. What they will demand is a first class judge and the voters of all parties will measure up the men presented by the conventions of the two parties. When electing a judge, they will not care for the political contest of any one county; they will elect two judges to sit for the entire district and not for any one locality.

Congressman Mott seems on the face of it to have lost control in Oswego county in the defeat of the candidate for Supreme Court judgeship, whom he backed. However, all the other conventions went his way by a large majority, so his leadership stands pretty fairly, though it has been somewhat shaken. Mr. Bartlett, who strove for the judicial delegates, was most active in the organization of a progressive machine, which overthrew the old Stowell machine and made Mr. Mott's nomination to Congress possible. Mr. Mott could, therefore, do nothing else than aid Mr. Bartlett in his ambition. His organization showed strength in the county convention, nominating its entire ticket, but failed to land its candidate for judge and probably a good many of his followers must have acted independently on the judicial question. The Mott machine is certainly the most progressive and best for the politics of Oswego county, and it is certainly to be hoped that it will sustain itself.

Oswego is for Hubbs.

Watertown Standard.

Irving G. Hubbs triumphed over the Republican and Democratic machines of Oswego county, the united partisan press and the office holders at Pulaski yesterday, and by a vote of 106 to 95 for Udelle Bartlett was permitted to name Oswego's delegates to the Fifth Judicial district convention.

In the judgment of the bench the bar and citizenship which demands the separation of the judiciary and politics the conspicuous feature of Mr. Hubbs' victory was in his resistance of the temptation to use his power to break the machine which he had defeated. He acted wisely; he should have no machine in his control when he goes before the convention with the delegates of his county asking for a place on the Supreme Court bench. He gains prestige from the fact that he routed a political organization. He would not be fit for the bench had he acquired one. Oswego politicians do not subscribe to this code of ethics, but the code prevails in the counties of the district dominated by the leaders of the bar in judicial matters rather than by politicians.

It is believed that Mr. Hubbs as the victor over a machine has a better chance for the favor of Onondaga, which apparently must decide the nomination, than would Mr. Bartlett entering the convention with the victory ascribed to the valor and industry of a machine. Both men are good lawyers. In legal attainment and standing in the profession both men are of judicial caliber. The issues were joined and fought out in the primaries. The county will present the name of Irving G. Hubbs as its candidate for a position to which the county is entitled.

The nomination has not been won. The situation in this district is such that locality needs and justice of representation will not absolutely govern. One thing is settled, if Oswego is to have a candidate for Justice Irving G. Hubbs is the man. Even with the delegates in his favor it will be necessary for the county to present a united front at the judicial convention to secure the nomination. Congressman Mott very generously volunteered to do all he could for the county's candidate. If he controls the expressions and actions of the warriors in his camp he will aid considerably. Unity before the primaries would have been better, but unity before the convention is the present opportunity.

That Judgeship.

Utica Observer.

That result of the Oswego county Republican convention which set aside an Oswego lawyer named Bartlett who wanted to be Justice of the Supreme Court of the Fifth district and made choice of delegates to the district convention who will support Irving G. Hubbs of Pulaski still looks good to us. It was a battle between the towns of Oswego and the city that bears that name. The Republican lawyers of the city were discredited when the most of them stood up for Justice Wright when facts were revealed against him in regard to public funds going for service his student son did not perform.

Now the towns, being in a majority, have spoken for the good name of the county and have won. The city Republican lawyers who discredited themselves have created the impression that the party could not look in that direction for a Justice for several years to come.

The village of Pulaski offered in the person of Mr. Hubbs a candidate well thought of outside of his county. It is hinted that Onondaga's leading men who were consulted lent encouragement to the selection. Possibly they will take pity on Oswego county and extend further aid. Onondaga has judges enough of its own in Syracuse. We notice that The Syracuse Herald has warmly supported Mr. Hubbs.

NEW PAPER COMPANY.

Pulaski, Sept. 8.—Attorney Freelon J. Davis of this village today forwarded to the office of the Secretary of State at Albany a certificate of incorporation of the Rex Paper company of Pulaski with an authorized capital stock of $10,000, comprising 200 shares at $50 each. The principal object of the corporation is the manufacture and sale of toilet paper and the principal office will be at Pulaski.

Subscribers to the stock include Harry H. Moody of New York, Dr. James L. More, C. Franks Woods, Filmore G. Utley, J. Lovell Hutchens, Freelon J. Davis, Charles J. Wrightman, Stewart M. Crowell, Earl H. Benson and Norman E. Woods, all of Pulaski.

One of the prime movers of the proposed new industry stated today that the factory building adjoining the plant of the Pulaski Electric Light and Power company had been leased for a term of years and that extensive repairs and improvements would be made. Power from the electric light plant will be used to propel the machinery, which has already been ordered and is expected to reach here within a few days. It is expected that the apparatus will be installed and the plant in operation by October 1. Stewart H. Crowell, for a number of years past a telegraph operator in the employ of the New York Central railroad company, will be in charge of the new factory.

It is understood that arrangements are under way and plans being made for the establishment in the near future of a novelty works in the factory building to be occupied by the Rex company.

BEST TREATMENT FOR A BURN.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one, heals the parts without leaving a scar. This salve is also unequalled for chapped hands, sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers.

GETS A $1,200 STATE JOB.

John J. Dailey of Oswego, but who for some time past has been employed in Schenectady, has been appointed stenographer to State Fire Marshal Ahearn at a salary of $1,200 per year.

The position is in the non-competitive Civil Service class and the appointment was made upon the recommendation of the Democratic county organization.

ATTACKS SCHOOL PRINCIPAL.

A sever attack on school principal, Charles. B. Allen, of Sylvania ,Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at Red Cross Pharmacy.

"MURPHY'S BOYS" ON DECK AGAIN

A "Grab and Ripper" Program to Be Carried Out.

ARE READY TO PUSH PLANS.

Because Mr. Murphy Wants to Control New York State's Ninety Delegates to the Democratic National Convention of 1912 Up State Congressional Districts Must All Be Gerrymandered — Tammany Charter For New York City to Be Jammed Through.

Albany, Sept. 12.—Six weeks of recess and consultation with their constituents do not seem to have inculcated any spirit of self restraint in "Murphy's boys," as the members of the New York state legislature have come to be regarded. They are, if anything, more arrogant than ever and announce boldly that they propose to continue in their marked out course of grabbing every job in sight, of creating more fat jobs for Murphy handy men and of ripping existing laws to pieces for partisan advantage.

Perhaps the well nigh unanimous reports received by Mr. Murphy from his allies above the Bronx that the people at large in the up state districts are so infuriated at the tactics displayed by the Democracy at Albany that they are preparing to rise in force and wipe off the political map every Democratic assemblyman now serving in the legislature from a district above the Bronx, coupled with the certainty of a bitter fight against the continuance of Tammany Bublieutenant John H. McCooey as the leader of the Brooklyn Democracy and the equal certainty of a united Republican front in Kings county, has convinced Mr. Murphy that a Republican assembly in the legislature of 1912 is assured, and hence no "grab" or partisan "ripper" legislation can be attempted in the next session of the legislature. For this reason he is planning to hold the legislature of 1911 in session until after the November election. If the Republicans carry the assembly then the present Democratic legislature is expected to continue in session until December and wipe out of office every official in the state service, whether protected by the civil service regulations or not. Wherever the up state citizens happen to have in their wisdom elected Republican officials charters and existing laws are to be so changed that Tammany tenants will take their places. And in many instances the new officers will be real Tammany men. Mr. Murphy has been planting his handy men in up state localities so that they can acquire a legal and voting residence there and be ready to step into the places as fast as they are made ready. An instance in point is the appointment of John S. Kennedy as warden of Sing Sing prison. Mr. Kennedy's appointment was credited to Port Henry, in Clinton county. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Kennedy was formerly a Tammany district leader, who migrated to Clinton county just long enough ago to acquire a residence there and so be charged to up state in the patronage. His allegiance, however, is with Mr. Murphy and Tammany Hall.

Gerrymander Proposed.

Among the ripper and grab bills already in sight for the reconvened legislature are the gerrymander of the New York congressional districts and the proposed new charter for New York city, which, it is alleged, in conjunction with the infamous Levy elections law, will throw New York city into the Tammany column forever and a day.

Because of increase in population New York state becomes entitled to six more representatives in congress. Mr. Murphy not only proposes to grab the six new members for New York city, which might be justified because of the population in the metropolis, but he also proposes to so rearrange the metropolitan districts as to shut out the Republican sections of the city from their proportionate representation, and then he wants to redistrict up state so as to stifle the heretofore Republican districts and to make certain several more Tammany congressmen up state. And this is not all the wily Tammany chieftain has in mind. Delegates to the Democratic national convention are chosen by congressional districts, and Mr. Murphy wants to absolutely control the ninety delegates to the convention of 1912. He has hypnotized Governor Dix into believing he is fine presidential timber, and this means that Murphy wants New York state's delegation instructed to vote for John A. Dix for president. Murphy knows that Dix has no show on earth, but he hopes by the Dix instructions to hold the New York state delegates under the unit rule for trading with the dominant forces in the convention. Murphy is to run the delegation, however, not Governor Dix. Hence it is essential that the up state congressional districts be so laid out that the stanch and reliable Tammany lieutenants be bunched in districts they can control absolutely against Thomas M. Osborne's Democratic State league and even Governor Dix and Lieutenant Governor Thomas F. Conway, who is figured by Murphy as secretly against Tammany's plans. It is thought that Mr. Conway is heart and soul with the proposition to make Governor Dix president or the presidential nominee, as he himself has aspirations to be governor of New York state.

Charter to Be Jammed Through.

Notwithstanding that all the independent organizations in New York city and the independent and Democratic press of the entire Greater New York are opposed to the Murphy-Tammany charter for New York city, and the Albany Argus, recognized as the state organ of the Democracy, warns the Democrats to go slow on the proposition, Mr. Murphy has issued orders that the charter is to be jammed through. The independents are saying that Governor Dix never will sign the charter, even if it passes, but Murphy is not afraid of opposition in that quarter. He feels certain that the presidential bait has tempted the governor and from henceforth he will not antagonize the Tammany plans. With the new charter on the statute books and Tammany domination assured for years in the metropolis, their friends in control of the big state departments and in control of the Democratic congressional delegation and the Democratic state organization, Mr. Murphy, Mr. McCooey, Mr. Fitzpatrick and Mr. McCabe, the new "big four" in Democratic state politics, will be in clover. The people may object, the Democratic league may enter violent protest, but what of it? Tammany is in the saddle, and Charles F. Murphy is a hard and reckless driver.

Rattigan Not to Land?

Albany, Sept. 12.—Thomas M. Osborne and his Democratic league are having a taste of the medicine Tammany hands out to those who oppose Mr. Murphy. Charles F. Rattigan is state committeeman for the Cayuga-Seneca-Cortland district. He aspires to be warden of Auburn state prison. Rattigan is Osborne's political manager and close personal and political friend. He was heartily in favor of Osborne's campaign against William F. Sheehan's aspirations for United States senator. Rattigan believed Governor Dix really was opposed to Murphy and Tammany and that State Prison Superintendent Scott would ignore Murphy's recommendations. He knows his mistake now in both directions. Murphy started out another candidate for Auburn warden, and Superintendent Scott announces that "because of the bitter Democratic factional fight" he will continue Warden George Benham in office indefinitely. Warden Benham is an efficient official, but he is a Republican, and it is one of the cardinal principles of the Democratic creed, whether preached by a Tammany or an Osborne man, that Democrats must supplant Republicans all over the state. It would seem, however, that just now one must espouse the Tammany side or his Democracy is not to count. Republicans in Cayuga county are chuckling, as they feel sure the Rattigan faction will not give aid or comfort to the Tammany men in that section, and this is likely to mean a Republican member of assembly in Cayuga county.

Not Absolutely Necessary Now.

One of the excuses given for reconvening the legislature is that if the congressional districts are not redistricted now New York state will lose its increased representation in the federal congress. The Albany Journal punctures this claim as follows:

"But what if a deadlock in the legislature of 1912 should prevent the enactment of a law dividing the state into congressional districts and providing for the six additional representatives in congress to which the state is entitled? The federal law providing for a reapportionment and the election of representatives provides that 'in case of an increase in the number of representatives in any state under this apportionment such additional representative or representatives shall be elected by the state at large and the other representatives by the districts now prescribed by law until such state shall be redistricted in the manner provided by the laws thereof and in accordance with the rules enumerated in section 3 of this act.'

"So that if there were no redistricting of the state before the fall election of 1912 the state would still have the number of representatives it is entitled to."

Woodrow Wilson Appeals to Murphy.

Albany, Sept. 12.—Tammany men here are boasting that Charles F. Murphy's supremacy as state leader of the Democracy is now assured beyond the shadow of a doubt by the overtures made by the New Jersey backers of Governor Woodrow Wilson for the support by the Tammany chieftain of Wilson for the Democratic presidential nomination. To have the foremost "progressive" appeal to Murphy for New York state's support in the national Democratic convention of 1912, these say, is public notice that the national leaders of the Democratic party feel that Murphy is the Empire State leader and will control the next delegation to the national convention of 1912.

Nominated For Assembly.

Republican assembly nominations have been made as follows:

Ontario county, Thomas B. Wilson, renominated.

Clinton county, Ex-Surrogate John H. Booth.

Genesee county, Clarence Bryant, renominated.

Chautauqua, First district, Rev. Julius Lincoln, renominated.

Judge Booth promises to vote and work for repeal of the Levy election law.

DIVORCE JUDGMENT ROLL WRONGS INNOCENT YOUTH.

When Clarence S. Richardson of Fulton sued his wife, Maude B. Richardson, for divorce, a young man in Fulton was named as the co-respondent. While the action was pending it was discovered that the allegation was false and the complaint was amended so as to leave out the his decree and the judgment roll was young man entirely.

When Richardson finally secured filed the original complaint was inadvertently included. The young man, whose name has been withheld, protested, and yesterday an order was entered in the County Clerk's office signed by Supreme Court Justice Edgar S. K. Merrell, permitting the withdrawal of the original complaint from the judgment roll and substituting the amended complaint.—Post-Standard, Thursday.

CORRESPONDENCE

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 6, 1911.

Editor Times:—Each Tuesday of each week either at 10 a. m. or 3 p. m. Uncle Sam delivers at my door the Fulton Times of the preceding Wednesday. Pretty quick work when when you think of the miles between that printing press and my little rocking chair by the window where I always do my reading. I assure you of one thing, it never reaches me one minute too soon. This week we had a pleasant surprise in the shape of a visit from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pentelow of Corona, Cal. I had the pleasure of about two days with them. One day we spent in sightseeing, going out to La Jolla, one of our finest beaches and a spot loved by nearly everyone who has ever been fortunate enough to spend a vacation there. Monday of this week was the annual picnic of the local New York State Society. Mr. Pentelow is President of the New York State Society in Corona and enjoyed very much meeting the people here that as someone said "spoke the same language." The picnic is always held at Mission Cliff Park. Only one of the city parks but by reason of its location and surroundings, is by far the prettiest park in town. A basket luncheon was served at noon, and the happy parties ate where they pleased around park, under trees, in little summer houses set into side of the canyon, on the porch of the big pavilion, or wherever they wished, as benches and seats are in evidence in every available spot. Only just think this is possible twelve months in every year. The flowers are marvelous all over the grounds, solid banks of all things beautiful in all directions. In the center is a fountain; this was covered with hundreds of water lilies of all colors, shades of red, of blue, of yellow, but those that appealed to me were the dear white ones that we have gathered on old Oswego river and up Black Creek. When I told of just going across the river from my house in New York State and gathering over two hundred of those same white lilies in an hour they surely did open their eyes and I knew they realized that California with all her advantages did not have everything in the United States. I neglected to state that Mr. and Mrs. Pentelow are going to spend a month at Paradise Valley Sanitorium just as a little rest and incidentally to partake of their "vegetable diet." As this is said to be by some to be not only a restorer of health but an aid to beauty, I will report results to you later as I know many of you would be glad to try the same remedy if it proves a success in this case. Could name several that would wish to start at once.

I enclose some printed matter that will explain itself. Work is progressing fine along the line of the Exposition of 1915. With kind wishes for everyone in Fulton.

SUITS COMMENCED IN NEWELL CASE.

The Herald of Sunday says:

Damages aggregating $75,000 are sought in three suits brought in the Onondaga County Supreme Court against the New York Central railroad for the almost instantaneous killing of Henry G. Newell, his wife, Mrs. Mabel E. Newell and their 12-year-old son, Clifford H. Newell of Trenton, N. J.

The actions were commenced by Edward A. Barber of No. 512 Cortland avenue, on behalf of the only surviving member of the family and of the accident, a daughter, Miss Marion F. Newell, fifteen years of age, who is now residing with Mr. and Mrs. Barber, her uncle and aunt.

The accident that wiped out all but one of the family and sent the survivor to an Albany hospital, occurred twelve miles east of the capital while Mr. and Mrs. Newell and their two children were on their way in an automobile to visit Mr. and Mrs. Barber here and to spend a few days with other relatives in the city of Fulton. A train on the Boston & Albany railroad, running at a rate of speed said by witnesses sworn on the inquest to have between fifty and sixty miles an hour, was responsible for the almost complete annihilation of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Newel and their two children started from their home in Trenton, N. J., at 6 o'clock on the morning of July 1st, to come to this city. They expected to reach this city in time to stay here the same night.

Mr. Newell drove the big car. At a point some twelve miles east of Albany, they found that there was road work being done on the through thoroughfare, the old post road and the condition of the highway made it necessary for them to make a detour. Detouring, they struck another road that crossed the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad.

The big machine was just in the middle of the tracks when the Boston & Albany accommodation train, running at a terrific speed, it is said, to make up lost time and keep out of the way of the Boston & Albany Twentieth Century, struck the automobile.

Mr. Newell was caught beneath the demolished automobile and killed almost instantly. Mrs. Newell was caught up on the pilot of the locomotive and received injuries that caused her death in a short time. The boy, Clifford, died also as the result of the injuries that he received.

Miss Newell was badly hurt and was hurried to an Albany hospital. She remained there for a time in a condition that was grave, but later recovered. She then came to this city and since then has resided with Mr. and Mrs. Barber, Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Newell were sisters.

Mr. Barber was named as administrator in each case and also appointed guardian of Miss Marion Newell, for the purpose of bringing the actions.

Mr. Newell was superintendent of a silk mill in Trenton and drew a salary of $6,000 a year. In the suit that is brought for his death, the plaintiff demands $40,000. For the death of Mrs. Newell a demand of $25,000 is made, and for the infant son's death, the action is brought for $10,000. The suits were laid in this county, but have been ordered transferred to Rensselaer. This was done, as it was there that the accidents occurred, and all of the witnesses live there.

The action is brought against the New York Central railroad, which operates the Boston & Albany as lessee.

It is claimed that there was negligence on the part of the defendant in not sounding a warning by whistle or bell as the Boston & Albany accommodation approached the crossing. Further negligence, it is claimed, was attributable to the defendant because of the crossing being obstructed. There is a siding a short distance from the crossing and it is claimed on behalf of the plaintiff that a large number of cars here shut off the view. The sharp bend in the tracks at this point, it is also claimed by the plaintiff, made it impossible to see the locomotive.

The train, so the plaintiff claims, was but a few minutes ahead of the fast Twentieth Century, bound for Albany from Boston. After the accident, it is claimed, the accommodation ran on for about a half mile, because it feared to stop and cause a collision with the Twentieth Century. When the train crew from the accommodation reached the scene of the wreck, after their train stopped, it is claimed that the Twentieth Century had already reached it from the other direction.

In the answer that was filed by the railroad, contributory negligence is set up. Visscher, Whalen & Austin of Albany represent the defendant and Olmstead, Van Bergen & Searl of this city appear for the plaintiff.

DEATHS

Mrs. Elvira Jennings was called to the bedside of her son, Emmett P. Jennings, of Cortland, who died suddenly with heart trouble while he and his wife were spending the week-end with friends in Hamilton.

The death of Mrs. Jane Henderson Osborne, aged 76, occurred on Monday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. D. Wells in West Broadway, after years of far from robust health. The deceased had been unable for several years to stand the rigors of our northern climate and accompanied by a granddaughter she would migrate to Florida in the early fall to remain until the settled weather of Spring. As late as last Fall she made the trip and withstood the Winter nicely. For a few weeks past she had failed rapidly and death was not unexpected. The funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the late home, the Rev. Charles Olmsted officiating, and interment will be made in the family lot in Ira Union cemetery. The deceased was born in Tully but had made Fulton her home for the past twenty-five years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Wells, one son, Frank, of South Hannibal, and one brother, Mr. Orrin Henderson of this city, and a wide circle of friends who will regret her demise.

IN MEMORIAM.

Willis S. Nelson.

At a meeting of the Vestry of Zion Church, Fulton, N. Y., held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 5, 1911, the following minute was unanimously adopted:

The Rector and Vestry of Zion Parish, Fulton, New York, called together by the death of their brother and long-time colleague, Willis S. Nelson, desire to record their earnest testimony to his personal worth and to his valued official service. Mr. Nelson had been connected with Zion Parish, either as Vestryman or Warden for over fifty consecutive years. In the early days of the Parish, he with several others who have long since passed to their reward, gave unstintingly of his time and his means to the advancement of the Church's interests. When the dark days of misfortune came upon her, he did not desert the Church of his allegiance, but remained loyal to her to the very end. At the recent seventy-fifty anniversary of the laying of the corner-stone of this Church, Mr. Nelson was present and though prevented by deafness from hearing all that was said, took part in the service with his accustomed regularity. In view of all this, be it therefore

Resolved, That in the death of our fellow Vestryman, we have suffered the severe loss of his unfailing interest and counsel, that the Parish has lost a regular attendant, a generous supporter and one whose interest in the Church at large was life-long. We thank God for his example and extend to his bereaved daughter our heartfelt sympathy.

"Grant him, O Lord, eternal rest,
And let light perpetual shine upon him."

And be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be inscribed on the minute book of the Vestry and that a copy of the same be sent to the "Gospel Messenger," the local papers and to his daughter.

George C. Wadsworth, Rector.
Fred G. Hewitt, Clerk of the Vestry.

ESCAPED FROM OSWEGO JAIL.

Oswego, Sept. 10.—After being sentenced to a term in the Oswego County jail, Clarence Walker, better known as "Grimes," secured his liberty again by walking out a few minutes after being turned over to the jail authorities.

He was taken to the jail about 11 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman Mowatt. Turnkey Burlingame seated himself at a desk and was about to take the prisoner's pedigree, when the latter dashed through a screen door nearby. When last seen by the turnkey, Walker was making straight for a piece of woods a short distance east of the jail.

Sheriff Taft, who was in the city at the time, was notified by telephone and he boarded a trolley car and returned to the jail. Armed with revolvers, the Sheriff and the keeper started on a search for the prisoner. The search was kept up until late this afternoon, when they returned to the jail, with the prisoner still at large.

A search of the surrounding country was made by the Sheriff and a posse, but they were unable to get any trace of the fugitive.

"WETS" WIN IN MAINE.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Unofficial returns late to-night indicate that prohibition has been voted out of the constitution of the State of Maine by a bare majority of 1,400 votes. About twenty-five small towns had not been reported and the vote of these, together with errors incident to the collection of returns by telephone, still left the exact result in doubt.

More than 120,000 voters visited the polls and cast their ballots on the question. With the twenty-five towns missing, the vote was 60,878 for repeal and 59,563 against a change in the constitution.

As had been predicted, the cities were the chief strongholds of the repeal faction, but the majority of 12,000 in the total city vote was barely sufficient, according to the latest available returns, to offset the vote of the rural communities.

Long of the Republican County Committee, is also the famous "candyman" of Oswego, and he is enlarging his factory in which is manufactured the famous Ox-Heart chocolates, adding four stories to his already large plant. It is expected that the work will be completed in November and that the tremendous holiday trade enjoyed by this firm will be easier cared for as the result of the improvement.

Mr. D. M. Perine last week entertained as a guest Mr. Frederick Dietz, of Hood River, Oregon, one of the five Dietz brothers who marched in the G. A. R., parade at Rochester a few weeks since and attracted State wide attention. Messrs Perine and Dietz were officers in the same company back in the sixties and since that time they had neither met nor heard of one another until last year when Mr. Perine was in California they, with several other tourists, happened to meet at Mt. Lowe one day. The two former comrades in arms entered into conversation and were astounded to learn that they were former chums. Mr. Dietz's visit to Fulton was but a continuation of the California planning.

Albert Woodard, while sleeping in the hay in the Wilcox barn in Cedar street on Wednesday night, slipped from the mow and fell to the barn floor below. Some one hearing his moans, called Patrolman Brannigan who had the injured man taken to the city jail after which Dr. Cusack was called to determine the extent of his injuries. Dr. Cusack found the man's limbs paralysed, he having evidently landed squarely on his back when he struck the floor. He was not suffering at the time and as the hour was past midnight and Woodard was comfortable in the woman's department in the jail, Dr. Cusack did not order him removed to the hospital until morning, when the ambulance was called and he was taken to the institution, from which he will probably not emerge alive as his injuries are very severe.

Room 307, McCarthy Bldg. SYRACUSE, N. Y.

THE WIETING, SYRACUSE.

The management of the Wieting Opera House, Syracuse, N. Y., on Wednesday, Sept. 13th, invites us to renew acquaintances with the delightful art of Margaret Anglin who, under the direction of Messrs. Liebler & Co. will appear there for four nights and a Saturday matinee in the new comedy "Green Stockings" which has been written by A. E. W. Mason. As Celia Faraday, Miss Anglin is stated to have a role that differs materially from anything she has heretofore attempted since she has been a star. Her new departure is interesting and promising, and it will be a pleasure to welcome her in another phase of her art. From time to time she has shown flashes of her powers as a comedienne, and Messrs. Liebler & Co., are to be congratulated in having persuaded her to abandon emotional work for a time.

Celia is one of four daughters, having a widowed father. She is the brightest and wittiest of them all, yet, she is the only one of the girls neither married or engaged. The old English custom of girls unmarried and unengaged wearing green stockings at their sisters' wedding, has been strictly followed by the family, and Celia has worn them twice, and is threatened with the immediate necessity of having to don them a third time. Then she springs a surprise. She is engaged and her fiance whom she said she met at a house party, and with whom she said it was a case of love at first sight, sailed abroad with his regiment that morning. He is Col. Smith, so she said, but he only exists in her imagination. Congratulations are showered upon her and her brain is racked for details concerning his personality. Celia rises to the situation and emerges triumphantly a formally engaged woman.

Realizing the necessity of putting an end to the deception, she, after a lapse of a few months, causes the insertion in a newspaper of a paragraph announcing the Colonel's death in battle in Central Africa. But Celia reckoned without her host, for no sooner is the paragraph published, than the dear friend of the late Colonel appears, bearing his last dying message and a medley of trinkets for his loved one. Celia's astonishment is overwhelming. How the mystery is cleared up constitutes a delightful and delicately written comedy.

The action takes place at Lumley Park, in England, the country seat of Celia's widowed father, whose main reason for desiring that all his daughters should be married and off his hands is that he might return to the life of a bachelor at his London Club. Miss Anglin's leading man is H. Reeves Smith, one of the best of our light comedians; Stanley Dark, Maude Granger and Ruth Holt Boucicault are also in her support.

Prices for the engagement will be: Matinee 25, 50, 75, $1.00 and $1.50; nights, 50, 75, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00. Mail orders addressed to F. P. Martin, with express or post office orders and stamped envelopes will receive prompt attention.

The following letter was received by Mayor Conners from the Superintendent of Weights and Measures:

State of New York
Office of
Superintendent of Weights and Measures
Room 427, Capitol
Albany, N. Y., August 29, 1911.

Hon. J. B. Conners, Mayor,
Fulton, N. Y.,
Dear Sir:

Recently I was in Fulton looking over the work of your City Sealer Mr. H. O'Brien and I incidently went to the Fair and saw the exhibit which he had in conjunction with the County Sealer at the County Fair. Mr. O'Brien has done a great deal of work and has done it effectively and well, and he is a man who is generally interested in his work from not only the standpoint of helping his own city but helping the whole county. Mr. O'Brien's efficient work ought to be doubly appreciated because it is done largely from a missionary standpoint, namely, at an exceedingly low salary. I hope that Mr. O'Brien will have the hearty support of yourself and your council.

Yours very truly,
F. Reichmann,
Superintendent.

Alderman Palmer introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the City Chamberlain be and he is hereby authorized and directed to apply the sum collected for that purpose to the Oneida street improvement bond, and the sum of Five Hundred Thirty-one and 98-100 ($531.98,) interest now due on said bond, be paid from the general fund.

Aye: Aldermen Palmer, Wolcott, Johnson, Malone, Smith.

—Carried.

Alderman Smith introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the City Clerk be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw an order in favor of the City Chamberlain for Ten dollars ($10,) for postage for the different city departments.

Aye: Aldermen Palmer, Wolcott, Johnson, Malone, Smith.

—Carried.

Alderman Smith introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That whereas; the taxes on lot 3, block 131, was not extended on the tax roll at the time of completing it in January, and, whereas, the delay in payment of said tax amounting to $24.97 is due to this omission, therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Chamberlain be authorized to accept this tax without fee and correct his books accordingly.

Aye: Aldermen Palmer, Wolcott, Johnson, Malone, Smith.

—Carried.

Alderman Malone introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the bill of the Fulton hospital for care of Fireman John Dwyer be paid at the rate of $5.00 per week for the time he was confined in the hospital, the same to be in full of all services rendered by said hospital to said Dwyer.

Aye: Aldermen Palmer, Wolcott, Johnson, Malone, Smith.

—Carried.

Alderman Wolcott introduced the following and moved its adoption:

WRECKED THE PIANO.

Rubinstein Proved His Ability and Secured His Pass.

When Rubinstein, the composer, was a youth he left Russia, his native country, to study music in France and Germany. He finished his studies when he was twenty years old and then returned to St. Petersburg. But before he could begin to give public recitals it was necessary that he should have a pass from the police authorities. It was true he was a Russian subject and a very inoffensive young man, but then he had been absent from his native land some time. He might have imbibed revolutionary ideas when abroad, and it was best not to take any risks, but have him registered and kept under surveillance.

Rubinstein applied to the police for a pass, but, probably because he was shy and mild mannered every official bullied him and gruffly passed him to another official equally rude and overbearing. Finally he became so tired of the indignities that he went to see the governor general. He had just begun to tell his story when that dignitary roared:

"You a musician? Pah! I'll put you in irons and send you to Siberia! That's the only fit place for such as you!"

Rubinstein nearly fainted from fright, but he got away as best he could. The days went by, and still no pass came to him. Some of his friends, however, knew of the treatment he had received. One day Rubinstein was summoned to appear beore the chief of police, General Gallchoff. He had to wait three hours. At last he was called into the great man's presence and addressed as follows:

"Well, young man, I have been spoken to about you. I am told that you are some sort of musician, but I don't believe anything of the kind. Go to my chief secretary, Schesnok, and play for him, so that we can tell if you really are a musician—that is, a man who understands music."

All this was said in a contemptuous tone. Rubinstein was taken to the secretary, who was the possessor of the most wretched piano Rubinstein ever had heard, much less played on. He was angry and disgusted, and a thought flashed across him. Here was an opportunity to be revenged for the insults heaped upon him. He would vent his indignation on the piano. And so he did. He pounded and hammered the poor instrument until it seemed to shriek. The discordant notes which came from it, falling upon his delicate ear, served but to increase his rage and frenzy. It was as if a cyclone was at work. String after string snapped, and the unhappy secretary stood by, expecting every minute that his beloved instrument would fly into splinters. At last Rubinstein stopped from sheer exhaustion.

"Come with me," said the secretary.

And the pianist followed him into the presence of the chief of police.

"It is true, your excellency," he said. "Rubinstein is a great musician."

"Then give him a pass," replied the general.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Australia's Flame Flower.

Waratah is the name of the national flower of Australia. The traveler who passes through the Australian bush sometimes comes suddenly on a burned out ridge, the undergrowth of which has been destroyed by fire. Among the charred trees tongues of fire still seem to rise. These are the waratahs, each stem of which is about six feet high and bears a flame red flower, heart shaped and the size of a man's closed hand. This flower is difficult to cultivate in a garden, but some people have succeeded in growing plants from seed that has first been roasted.

Sailing a Boat.

Visitor—I would like to get you to teach me to sail a boat.

Boatman—Sail a boat? Why, it's easy as swimmin'. Jest grasp the main sheet with one hand an' the tiller with the other, an' if a flaw strikes ease up or bring 'er to an' loose the halyards, but look out fer the gaff an' boom or the hull thing'll be in the water an' ye be upset, but if the wind is steady y'r all right unless y'r too slow in luffin, 'cause then ye'll be upset sure. Jump right in an' try it; but, remember, whatever ye do, don't jibe!

Deepest Lake in the World.

The Great Sunken lake in the Cascade mountains, about seventy-five miles northeast of Jacksonville, Ore., is thought to be the deepest lake in the world. Its shores slope abruptly down an average of 200 feet on all sides before the water is reached. The depth of the water is unknown, and its surface is always smooth and unruffled, being so far below the mountain rim that winds cannot reach it.

A Model Husband.

"You appear pleased, my dear," said her friend.

"Indeed, I am. You know while I was away visiting mother Henry went fishing, and the neighbors say he came home with a beautiful skate."

"And is that why you are pleased?"

"Certainly, my dear. I looked in the encyclopedia and found that a 'skate' is a large fish."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Use of Water.

"There's no use talking," said Dr. Dustin Stax, "this corporation of ours will have to dissolve."

"How will you go about it?"

"I don't know. The only way I know of to dissolve things is to keep putting plenty of water into them."—Washington Star.

STORY OF DR. DE LUXE.

The present society vogue of cats and dogs as cherished pets of women who pay no attention to their children has at last been seized upon as a subject for laughable dramatic treatment. Jos. M. Gaites will present Ralph C. Herz in "Doctor De Luxe," a musical comedy by the author of the "Three Twins," "Bright Eyes," "Katie Did" and "Madam Sherry," at Empire theatre, Syracuse, this week. This comedy aims bulls of humor at the fashionable folly of the day, and in doing so provides the star, of "Madam Sherry" fame, with the most amusement providing role of his career.

The opening scene in Dr. De Paw's Emporium, just off Broadway, where the beauties of the metropolis come in their motors whenever their pets need expert treatment, and they wish to compare notes—and pets. Dr. De Paw, who can diagnose for any cat or dog troubled with a catty temperament to a dog-gone feeling, has a growing business.

John Truesdale, afterwards known as Doctor De Luxe, rescues a child from being run down by a car belonging to Donald Houstan; one of the idle rich. Margie Melville sees his heroic deed, and Dr. De Paw is persuaded to take the newcomer on his staff. He must manicure and shampoo pets, not to speak of soothing their fits of temper. In the meantime Margie takes a fancy to him, and he is called to her home to minister to a dog.

When Dr. De Luxe arrives at Dr. Melville's office he is mistaken by the latter for a real doctor ordered to report from Bellevue. After treating a number of women who really do not know what is the matter with them he is mistaken by Donald Houstan, in love with Margie Melville, for her father and asks him for her hand.

There is a scandal brewing because of a supposed affair between Dr. Melville and Mrs. Clara Houston and the Col. is on the warpath. When he shows up, armed to the teeth, Doctor De Luxe is palmed off as Dr. Melville and a funny scene ensues.

Dr. De Luxe prescribes dog powders for everyone, then departs on a case of life and death, with a bag of doctor's tools to Mrs. Houston's residence.

Mrs. Melville has disguised herself as the sick patient, thinking her husband is coming and his love for Mrs. Houston will be disclosed. Dr. De Luxe has a thrilling time when Col. Houston arrives and mistakes him for Dr. Melville. He is choking him when the deception is disclosed. Finally everything is explained, and a happy ending brought about.

TIME TO GET OF.

The late Phil Sheridan was once asked what was the most humorous incident in his army career, the one that made him laugh the most.

"Well," he said, "I do not know, but I always laugh when I think of the Irishman and the army mule. I was riding down the line one day when I saw an Irishman mounted on a mule which was kicking its legs rather freely. The mule finally got his hoof caught in the stirrup, when in the excitement the Irishman remarked, "Well, bedad, if you're going to get on I'll get off."—Buffalo Times.

She Wanted That Money.

The actor's life has some sad moments My friend, Augustus Roarer, confided to me the story of one of them. Realizing that he owed his landlady much board, he had considered it wise to sweeten her by a pass for the show. When he arrived home after the performance he found his landlady waiting for him with a stern, cold aspect. "Mr. Roarer," she said, "I'll thank you for your board." He began with a recital of the old excuses. "No more o' that to me, Mr. Roarer," she said, severely. "Why, I saw with my own eyes the man with the black mustache hand you £5 tonight!" It took Augustus quite a long time to explain matters.—Sydney Bulletin.

BUDDHIST CREMATION.

The Funeral Pyre and the Disposition of the Ashes.

A Buddhist cremation is a strange and uncanny event, and it is not often that a foreigner is given to witness one. I saw some of the preliminary ceremonies at a temple in South China, but found myself apparently becoming persona non grata as the time for the cremation proper approached and did not care enough about seeing it to intrude. I have since heard and read several descriptions of the grewsome ceremony.

The priests are dressed in white sackcloth, similar to that worn by the mourners at the funerals of the laymen, and their brows are bound with white bandages. The corpse, dressed in a cowl and with the hands fixed in an attitude of prayer, is placed in a sitting position in a bamboo chair and carried to the funeral pyre by some of his fellow monks, all the other monks of the monastery following in a double line. As the procession advances the walls of the monastery echo with the chanting of prayers and the tinkling of cymbals.

When the pyre is reached the bearers place the corpse upon it, and the fagots are kindled by the head priest, and while the flames are mounting the others prostrate themselves in obeisance to the ashes of their departed brother. When the fire is burned out the attendants collect the charred bones and place them in a cinerary urn, which is often deposited in a small shrine within the precincts of the monastery, to remain there until the ninth day of the ninth month, when the ashes are sewed up in a bag of red cloth and thrown into a sort of ossuary or monastery mausoleum.—Lewis R. Freeman in Los Angeles Times.

Washington Monument Bent by Heat.

The towering Washington monument, solid as it is, cannot resist the heat of the sun poured on its southern side on a midsummer's day without a slight bending of the gigantic shaft, which is rendered perceptible by means of a copper wire 174 feet long hanging in the center of the structure and carrying a plummet suspended in a vessel of water. At noon in summer the apex of the monument, 550 feet above the ground, is shifted by expansion of the stone a few hundredths of an inch toward the north. High winds cause perceptible motions of the plummet, and in still weather delicate vibrations of the crust of the earth otherwise unperceived are registered by it.

Blood Thicker Than Some Water.

"Blood is thicker than water"—though not much thicker—and not so thick as sea water. The water of the ocean contains thirty-five parts of saline material a thousand, while the vital fluid of the human body contains but seven parts a thousand or one-fifth as much. In the human body each of its myriads of cells is bathed with this seven-tenths per cent saline fluid.—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean, that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere.

ABOUT MANY THINGS.

J. D. Forbes Writes Interestingly of Common Topics—He Suggests Organizing a Fulton Club in Chicago.

A Chicago woman applying for a divorce asked the judge to allow her $67.00 a day, pending the settlement of the case. Said she could not live on less, and presented the figures to prove it, and yet, I know of a Chicago family of twelve that is being comfortably raised on an income of $2,000 a year. What's the answer?

One phase of city life I have never been able to solve, and that is, why people living in apartment buildings do not become neighborly. The apartment dwellers seem to have their friends and acquaintances outside, and to leave their immediate neighbors alone. We have lived for three months in a building with eighteen families, and if all the people were brought before me, I could identify by sight at least three persons, but could not tell their names. All the rest would be strangers. The people across the hall from us I have never seen, do not know their names, nor how many are in the family. This condition seems to be common to all apartment buildings. Some of the people that come and go, are apparently congenial, and look as though they would be good neighbors, but something keeps us all apart, and we travel to other parts of Chicago to meet our friends, and "to neighbor" with outsiders. After we had lived in another group of houses (detached in this case) for five years some of the people thought it would be pleasant to have a neighborhood picnic in the park across the street, so that all could cultivate at least a speaking acquaintance. We had to give up the picnic, for the "wires got crossed" at the start, and we all continued to just bow, or else ignore the people who had lived close together for five years. Perhaps this way of living is a trouble saver, but it is unnatural to some extent. Some time ago at a special gathering a lady approached me, and asked if I knew her. I looked and said "no." "I'm a Fulton girl, do you know me now?" I said "no." "Do you remember Miss Danks?" I said "yes" and sure enough my thoughts traveled back to the old town, and I could see her again sitting at her desk in the top room of old No. 2 school. Then she said, "here is another Fulton girl, who is it?" I had to give up again, and the lady proved to be Kittie Skinner. As Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Morton they have been living in this section of Chicago as long as I have. Probably passed each other on the street many times and I never knew that they lived just around the corner. I intend to dig up all my old photographs and autographs and some evening we will have a Fulton party and gossip pleasantly about the boys and girls of the seventies. The whirligig of time plays many pranks and this is only one of them. There is a large Oswego Club here and perhaps some day we can organize a Fulton Club and gather the Fultonians for a gab-fest.

During the Aviation meet in August a stranger was walking with a Chicago man on Wabash Avenue. "Oh! look at the airships!" said the stranger as three or four biplanes passed our heads. "Look! Look!" The Chicago man said 'a'h! my neck is tired; let's go look in Marshall Field's window at the latest agony in tube skirts." That's the way we all felt by the ninth day of the meet, for airships became so common that it was a relief to look at more mundane things. The first view of eight or ten mono and biplanes in the air at once is surely a thriller but like everything else one tires of them after awhile, and the fact that death hovers above the flyers is depressing. And yet one can but admire the birdlike appearance of the planes, and also admire the courage and skill that has placed these machines in the heavens. I saw Johnstone's fall to death, but did not know until after that it was a death fall. Thought it was part of the show, for others had made descents almost as rapid and when near the earth or lake would recover their poise and glide away to other flights. The papers devoted columns to Johnstone's death, but as I was going home, a man was struck and killed by an auto on Michigan Avenue in the sight of hundreds of people and this death got a scant six lines in the morning papers. Auto deaths are so common in Chicago that they do not require much newspaper space, but a fall from the clouds is different.

Carlyle Declined the Honor.

Among the many distinguished men who have refused honors was Thomas Carlyle. Disraeli offered him in the queen's name the Grand Cross of the Bath, "a distinction," writes Froude, "never before conferred upon any English author, with a life income corresponding to such a rank." Carlyle declined the honor, but he was deeply touched by the compliment, the more so as he had frequently attacked Disraeli in his writings. Most readers will probably agree with the verdict of the Chelsea bus conductor who said to Froude: "Very proper of the queen to offer it, and more proper of him to say that he would have nothing to do with it. 'Tisn't they who can do honor to the likes of us."—London Standard.

BRUTAL MURDER

A Resident of Oswego Meets Death at the Hands of Sicilians Who Use Knife and Pistol on Victim.

Sunday morning early Robert M. Lockridge, an American, aged 22, was shot and stabbed to death by two Italians in Oswego, two men witnessing the crime but unable to assist the man because they were both unarmed. The murderers escaped and although Sheriff Taft, several deputies and policemen have searched for the assailants day and night since, no clue to their whereabouts has been secured.

It is reported that there had been a misunderstanding or quarrel prior to the murder but the rumor cannot be verified. Eye witnesses of this brutal murder claim that the shooting and stabbing was done by two Italians, Raffaelo Clavarelle and Michele Massaro, following a running fight down Schuyler street.

Lockridge, according to all reports, was making a desperate attempt to escape the Italians and, when they caught him, he put up a good fight, wounded as he was and had succeeded in overpowering one of his assailants when the other shot him in the back at short range.

According to the stories, Lockridge had been in the saloon of Pasquale or "Patsy" Varnacchio just previous to the trouble. He had left there about the time that several Italians had gone out. Frank Williams, a Western Union operator, and a companion named Ralph Lester, were standing near the corner of Tenth and Schuyler when they saw Lockridge running down the street, pursued closely by the two Italians. He was headed for Whalen's place and was calling for help as he ran. Just as he reached the saloon he was overtaken by one of his assailants and they grappled. Lockridge threw the man down and as Williams ran to his assistance he saw the other, taller Italian, fire a revolver point blank into Lockridge's back. Fearing for his own life, Williams ran down Schuyler street toward the Spring Works and going to the nearest phone notified the police.

When Officers Gill and McCarthy arrived at the scene they found the body of Lockridge lying in a pool of blood near the rear door of the Whalen saloon. Dr. Grover C. Elder was called at once and when he arrived expressed the opinion that death had come almost instantly with the revolver shot.

The autopsy was performed at Dain's Undertaking rooms late Sunday afternoon, and was conducted by Coroner C. J. Vowinkel with the assistance of Dr. J. K. Stockwell and Dr. Grover C. Elder. The examination showed that Lockridge died as a result of a bullet wound inflicted by a 32 caliber revolver. The bullet entered the back between the left shoulder blade and the backbone and ploughing through the lungs and liver and one large blood vessel penetrated the chest and lodged in the tissues just under the skin on the right side at the eighth rib. The physicians were of the opinion that death was instantaneous.

In addition to the fatal wounds eight knife cuts were found on the body, most of them in the back. The most serious was one four inches deep just above the hip. There were four others on the back, two on the head and one on the chest.

Following is the description of the alleged assailants: Clavarelle is 27 or 28 years old, weighs about 170 pounds, is about 5 feet 11 inches tall, of light complexion, has a heavy, sandy mustache, smooth face and wore a dark suit of clothes. Massaro is 42 years old, weighs 170 pounds, is about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, has blue eyes, smooth face, gray hair, a high forehead, and a long gray mustache. He wore a blue suit and a black derby hat. He has two scars on his forehead.

Hon. Irving G. Hubbs Receives Unanimous Endorsement of Republican County Committee for His Important Office —Strong Appeal for Resident Justice.

HON. IRVING G. HUBBS

Resolutions Adopted by Republican County Committee

At a meeting of the Republican County Committee, held on Tuesday, September 19, 1911, the following resolution, offered by W. W. Spencer of Oswego, was adopted:

Whereas, The Republican District Convention for Oswego County selected Hon. Irving G. Hubbs of Pulaski as the candidate of this county for nomination as justice of the supreme court, and

Whereas, The claims of Oswego County to a resident justice are stronger than those of any other county in the district and are so well known as to need no repetition here; it is

Resolved, That the Republican County Committee of Oswego County heartily endorses the candidacy of the Hon. Irving G. Hubbs for justice of the Supreme Court and urges the other counties of the district to recognize the unanimous desire of Oswego County that a resident justice should be nominated from this county. In presenting Mr. Hubbs' name, Oswego County asks the other counties to name a man well fitted for the position, and one who will take rank along side the splendid men now occupying the bench in this district. Oswego County Republicans are united in asking support for Mr. Hubbs.

SUCCESSFUL YOUNG EXHIBITOR

Fulton Poultry Raiser Wins Prizes at State Fair While in Competition with Birds from Widest Famed Farms in Empire State—A. C. Tilden Takes Fifteen Prizes on His Brown Leghorns.

A. C. Tilden of Stop 28, in a modest way conducts a poultry farm at this point. For three successive years he has exhibited his brown leghorns at the State Fair in Syracuse but his modesty has prevented his giving much publicity to the fact that he has taken prizes each year.

This year his record far exceeded the records made by him at any previous time, he entering his birds in competition with those of one hundred and twenty other exhibitors and he captured fifteen prizes, five first; five second and five third prizes. He returned home with a thick roll of ribbons and a still thicker roll of the long green as the result of the excellence of his feathered beauties. Mr. Tilden was told by many experts who inspected the birds that if he should exhibit them at the exhibition at Madison Square garden this Winter he would undoubtedly be far and away the winner in several classes.

But Mr. Tilden goes about his business as though he did not have a box filled with blue ribbons; takes his recreation playing in the Citizens band and enjoys his chickery as much as though each and every bird was a prize winner.

MARRIED

This Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter, will occur the marriage of Mr. David R. Van Patten and Miss Alice Cordelia Van Patten, all of this city.

Mr. Charles F. Moore of this city and Miss Grace A. Goosline of Oswego were united in marriage in Oswego on September 12, by the Rev. F. W. Kettle of the Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their future home in this city where Mr. Moore holds a responsible position in the Johnston's hardware store. Mrs. Moore was a successful teacher in the public school in Portland, Me., prior to her marriage.

WHAT CANDIDATES EXPENDED

All the candidates in the recent Republican primaries except Udelle Bartlette and Irving G. Hubbs have filed their expense accounts. It cost Myron A. Stranahan, $282.60 to run for Sheriff, his largest item of expense being $200 for auto hire. Francis D. Culkin, nominee for District Attorney, spent $163.10; T. C. Sweet, nominee for Assemblyman, $140.80, of which $125 went to the Republican County Committee, and C. A. Stone, nominee for County Superintendent of Poor, $74.15.

The fact that Gas Coke is a clean fuel, is only one of many reasons why it should be the most popular.

CALLED TO PASTORATE

Rev. G. W. Wellburn Becomes Unanimous Choice of Officials and Congregation of Presbyterian Church —Date of Installation Not Yet Arranged.

On Thursday evening, at a meeting of the Presbyterian church and congregation, a unanimous vote was recorded that the Rev. G. W. Wellburn be called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, which pulpit he has been filling for a year past.

On Tuesday a meeting of the Syracuse Presbytery was held in Chittenango, at which time the written call was extended Mr. Wellburn, and he accepted. At this meeting Mr. Almon Bristol was a delegate from the session; Mr. A. G. Gilbert from the trustees and Mr. T. M. Ripley from the congregation.

At an adjourned meeting of the Presbytery, to be held on October 4, it will be decided when the installation ceremonies shall take place and who will be the out-of-town clergymen participating in the exercises.

The Presbyterian church and society has been singularly fortunate in securing so richly endowed a preacher; so delightful a pastor and so charming a family as that of Mr. and Mrs. Wellburn.

SUCCEED DR. [illegible]

Oswego, Sept. 20.—Dr. I. B. Gibbs, principal of the Oswego Normal School, announced tonight that Prof. J. G. Riggs, who is now superintendent of schools of Orange, N. J., would succeed Dr. David Gibbs as superintendent of the training department of the local school. He will report October 1. Prof. Riggs is a graduate of Amherst College. For some time he was principal of the Watertown High School, but for several years has held the position which he will resign to come to the Oswego school.

Prof. Amos W. Farnham will act as superintendent until Prof. Riggs arrives. Dr. Poucher also announced that Miss Ida M. Isabell of Albany, a graduate of Columbia University, has been appointed at teacher in the kindergarten. She will report this week.

FULTON MAN ADVANCES

Mr James E. Bristol, son of Mr. Almon Bristol of this city, was last week promoted to the responsible position of manager of the Maxwell-Brisco Motor Company's business in Syracuse, his territory covering central New York State, both wholesale and the retail. Mr. Bristol's many friends in this city extend congratulations upon his rapid advancement.

Gas Coke will give a good account of itself either in the furnace or baseburner. Get directions for using it, when you place your order with the Gas Company.

POWER PLANT COMPLETED

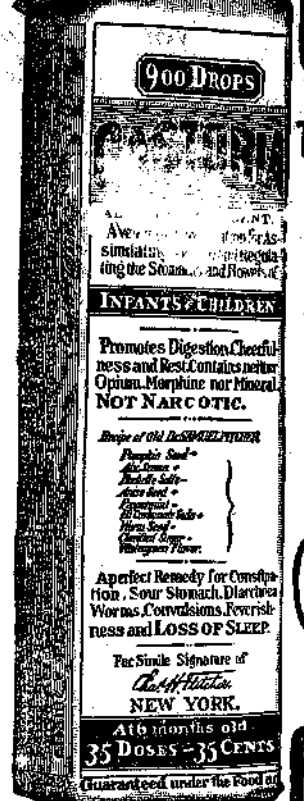
New Power Plant of the Fulton Light, Heat & Power Company Turned Over to Company By Contractors—Chamber of Commerce and Business People to be Invited to Inspect Plant Soon—Will Care for Power and Light in Fulton for Generations to Come.

The New England Engineering Company has turned over to the Fulton Light, Heat & Power company, the latters completed plant in the northern end of the city. A bit of clearing up remains to be attended to and then Manager and Vice President L. W. Emerick proposes to invite the Chamber of Commerce and many others to inspect the plant which is equipped with modern appliances in every instance and with a capacity to develope sufficient electricity to take care of the lighting and power question for years to come. The company will take a goodly amount of pleasure in showing this really model plant to any and all who may be interested.

CAPER CUT BY AUTOMOBILE

Saturday morning as Mr. James C. Hunter and his son were enroute to Syracuse in their automobile they were passed on the road near Phoenix by another car containing four men. Right after passing the first car, the other car skidded in the wet road, leaped about ten feet into the air, turned completely around and turned turtle in the ditch by the roadside, the four occupants being directly under the machine.

Mr. Hunter stopped his car and he and his party hastened to the assistance of the other fellows, dreading the sight they might witness when they removed the heavy machine. The engine had not stopped working at all and the wheels continued to run at the rate of about 35 miles an hour in the air. As soon as Mr. Hunter reached the side of the over turned car a muffled voice from beneath assured him that the party was unhurt but uncomfortable. Mr. Hunter's son managed to shut off the engine, the waste of gasoline through the vent was stopped, a fence rail and willing hands soon righted the car and the occupants gratefully saw the light of day once more. No one was injured in the least, the only damage done to the machine being ab roken wind shield and a bent guard.



In turning over the car had landed directly over a deep ditch, the occupants falling into it, thus saving the lives of limbs of the four unknowns who proceeded on their way to the State Fair.

A TREE THAT RAINS.

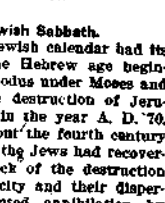
Peru Is Afforded Protection Against Drought.

Peru has a rain tree which affords protection against drought. This tree is supplied with large leaves, which have the property of condensing the moisture of the atmosphere and precipitating it in the form of rain. When the rivers are at their lowest during the dry season and the heat is intense the condensing capacity of the tree appears to attain its maximum, the water falling from the leaves and oozing from the trunk in a steady, continuous stream [illegible] over the ground.

It is stated that a single tree will yield an average of nine gallons of water per day, and it has been estimated that if a plot of ground a kilometer square be planted with 10,000 trees a daily yield of about 30,000 gallons would always be available for irrigation after making all allowances for evaporation, etc. The rain tree appears to be indifferent as to the soil in which it grows, can withstand extreme fluctuations of climate, needs but little care in cultivation and grows rapidly. Under these circumstances one is inclined to believe that it would provide a simple and effective method of reclaiming the desert and that the cost of widespread cultivation of the rain tree would be amply repaid, inasmuch as there are vast tracts of country in all the five continents which at present have no economic value, owing to absence of water supplies for nourishing the soil, which might easily be secured by the systematic culture of this tree, coupled with careful irrigation by means of ditches.

The Jewish Sabbath.

The modern Jewish calendar had its origin not in the Hebrew age beginning with the exodus under Moses and ending with the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus in the year A. D. 70, but probably about the fourth century of our era, after the Jews had recovered from the shock of the destruction of their capital city and their dispersion and attempted annihilation by Titus. It was not until this comparatively modern date that the present Jewish calendar established their Sabbath on Saturday as a fixed day of the week.—Exchange.



Parliaments.

The Austrian parliament lives six years. The Italian, German, Prussian and Spanish parliaments live five years. The French, the Dutch, the Belgian, the Portuguese and the Roumanian live four years. The Danish and the Swiss live three years. The United States congress lives two years and the Austro-Hungarian parliament only one year.—London Mail

THE FIRST SOAP.

According to Pliny, It Was In Use Among the Gauls.

Who invented soap? According to Pliny, soap was an invention of the Gauls, who used it for giving a bright hue to the hair. He also states that it was employed by the Germans both as a medicinal and as a cleansing agent, two kinds being used—hard and soft. There is reason to believe that it was introduced into Germany by the Romans, though on this point there is some difference of opinion.

Homer tells us in the "Odyssey" that Nausicaa, daughter of Alcinous, king of the Phaecians, and her attendants washed clothes by treading upon them with their feet in pits of water, so it were unacquainted with the service of soap.

The fact that soap was obtainable by boiling together oily or fatty substances and alkalis was known at an early period of history, but it must be borne in mind that the substance referred to in the Old Testament and translated "soap" (Jeremiah ii, 22, "For though thou wash thee with nitre—properly, natron—soda—and take thee much soap," and Malachi iv, 2, "For he is like a refiner's fire and like fuller's soap") refer to the alkali itself and not to the substances prepared from oily bodies and these alkaline matters.

The French word for soap (savon) is supposed to have been derived from the fact of its having been manufactured at Savona, near Genoa.

The manufacture of soap began in London in 1524, before which time it was supplied by Bristol at a penny per pound. A duty was imposed on soap in 1711, but after several reductions was totally repealed in 1853.—London Journal.

Building a House.

In building a house every layer of brick is termed a "course." It is usual to place in the walls upright and horizontal damp proof courses. These ought to be composed of some substance that water cannot penetrate. In this way the walls are mapped out into squares and the accidental damping of any one square cannot affect the others. Unfortunately, there are some builders who study economy unduly, and their damp proof courses act as effectively as a layer of wet sea sand. Those who intend having a house built should regard the genuineness of the measures adopted to prevent damp as of the very first importance.—London Telegraph.

Macaronic Verse.

Macaronic verse is verse written in more than one language or one language twisted to appear like another. For example, a long poem on wine, dating from early in the sixteenth century, begins:

The best tree, if ye take intent,
Inter ligna fructifera,
Is the vine tree by good argument,
Dulcis forema pondera.

Another example of the second kind mentioned is Dean Swift's imitation Latin poem beginning "Mollis abuti, hasan acuti," which in English reads, "Molly's a beauty, has an acute eye."

A Woman's Monument.

The first monument erected to a woman in this country was that to the memory of Margaret Haughery. The monument stands in Margaret place, not far from Canal street, in New Orleans. The figure is that of a woman sitting in a rustic chair, dressed in a plain skirt and loose sack, with a simple shawl thrown over her shoulders, her arm encircling a child.

SECRETARY WILSON HONORARY PRESIDENT

U. S. Department of Agriculture In Barley and Hop Exhibition.

The secretary of state, the Hon. Philander Knox, has sent out to the diplomatic and consular representatives of the United States in foreign countries a circular letter informing them that an international brewers' congress will be held in Chicago, Oct. 12 to 22, 1911, and instructing them to bring the matter to the attention of the respective governments to which they are accredited, with the request that due publicity be given to the information and that the respective parties in interest be invited to participate in the congress.

The circular further contains the information that there will also be held at the same time and place an international prize exhibition for barley and hops.

The secretary of agriculture in the United States, the Hon. James Wilson, is the honorary president of the international brewers' congress.

The United States department of agriculture is preparing an exhibit by which the United States government will be represented at the international prize exhibition for barley and hops. The department will show what has been done by several of its experts who have been for some years devoting their time to the improvement of these crops.

The importance of this exhibition for the farmers who raise barley and hops cannot be overrated. It is believed that the first step is herewith taken to bring about a system of valuing these important crops upon a basis of fact rather than upon mere individual preference and perhaps prejudice.

CLASSIFICATION OF AMERICAN BARLEYS.

Commonly Known as Two Rowed, Four Rowed and Six Rowed.

Barleys are commonly classified as two rowed, four rowed and six rowed. The European brewers generally prefer the two rowed varieties, while in this country the six rowed, of which the four rowed is but a slightly varied relative, is generally preferred because, while less starchy, it is more highly albuminous and therefore possesses more of the substance which brings about the inversion of starch into sugar—namely, diastase.

HEAD OF BAY BREWING BARLEY.

The common American brewing barleys arrange themselves in the following system:

1. Six rowed, erect—White Club.
2. Four rowed, drooping—Manchuria barley, Oderbrucker, Scotch, Ohio Fall, Bay Brewing, Blue barley.
3. Two rowed, erect—Goldthorpe, Primus, Fan barley.
4. Two rowed, drooping—Common Chevalier, Horsford's Chevalier, Hanna, Princess.

Six Rowed Barley.—Through several years' experimentation at the Wisconsin agricultural experiment station it has been found that the six rowed barley is preferable to other varieties and more profitable for the average farmer to grow. The yield far surpasses that of the other varieties, and the market demands for the six rowed class far surpass those of all other varieties combined. At a conservative estimate 98 per cent of all the barley now grown in Wisconsin is six rowed barley. This being the type of barley most commonly used for malting in the United States, it is likely that most of the samples that will be shown at the barley and hop exhibition in Chicago in October, 1911, will be of that type.

The experiments with two rowed barley through eight years' continuous breeding work clearly prove that in most regions the farmer cannot get the returns from this crop that can be secured with the six rowed variety. The straw seems to be very frail and lodges easily, thereby injuring the quality of the grain and reducing the yield.

THESE HAVE PROFITED.

Fat Jobs Created For and Filled by "Murphy's Boys"—More to Come.

Albany, Sept. 19.—These are a few of the Democratic state and county leaders who have been appointed to office since Jan. 1, 1911:

John R. Voorhis, set aside as elections commissioner for New York city because "he is too old and not of sufficient capacity to perform the duties of the position," made state commissioner of elections for four years at $5,000 a year by Dix and Murphy.

Patrick E. McCabe, Democratic leader of Albany county, clerk of the state senate, at an estimated compensation of $6,000 a year.

William J. Hillery, brother-in-law of William H. Fitzpatrick, Tammany lieutenant in Erie county and Democratic leader in Buffalo, made state commissioner of elections at $5,000 a year for four years.

James W. Fleming of Troy, Democratic leader in Rensselaer county, state conservation commissioner for six years at $10,000 a year.

Winfield A. Huppuch, chairman of the Democratic state committee and business partner of Governor Dix, public service commissioner for five years at $15,000 a year.

J. Sergeant Cram, social mentor to Charles F. Murphy, public service commissioner for five years at $15,000 a year.

Thomas J. Ahearn, brother to John F. Ahearn, who was removed as president of the borough of Manhattan by former Governor Hughes, made state fire marshal at $7,000 a year for five years.

George Van Kennan, Democratic state committeeman for the St. Lawrence district, a state conservation commissioner for six years at $10,000 a year. The independent Albany Knickerbocker Press says Mr. Van Kennan is the strong man on the conservation commission, and he is hand and glove with the "north woods country lumber interests."

Thomas F. Byrnes, one of Mr. Murphy's Kings county state committeemen, made a state tax commissioner for six years at $6,000 a year.

After the legislature had passed a "ripper" bill to oust the Republican incumbent John H. McCooey, who has made the once powerful and respected Kings county organization built up by the late Hugh McLaughlin an annex to Tammany Hall, was made surrogate's clerk in Kings county and the salary was increased to $9,000 a year. Imagine Hugh McLaughlin, who made Croker beg for terms, selling out his Democratic organization for a $9,000 job!

Michael J. Walsh, Murphy leader in Westchester [illegible] engineer at $6,000 a year. Mr. [illegible] also handed over to Walsh the new state superintendent of highways at $7,500 a year in the person of William H. Catlin of Portchester. Mr. Catlin is seventy years old, and his experience in road building has been confined to taking care of roads on his farm in Westchester county.

Edwin A. Bailey, Murphy state committeeman in Long Island, made bureau chief in conservation commission at $3,500 a year.

John F. Maher, private secretary to former Democratic State Chairman William James Conners, claim agent in state department of public works at $3,500 a year.

George Van Namee, assistant Murphy leader in Jefferson county, made assistant clerk of the assembly at $2,500 a year.

Daniel D. Frisbie, Governor Dix's chief booster for the presidential nomination, made speaker of the assembly and a trustee of public buildings.

John Bowe, Mr. McCabe's chief financial backer in Albany, made superintendent of public buildings at $4,000 a year by Dix. Frisbie and Conway.

W. Barry Y. Murphy, Murphy leader in Orleans county, made a state fair commissioner for five years at $3,000 a year.

James A. O'Gorman, one of Murphy's trusted advisers, made United States senator at $7,500 a year for six years.

Daniel F. Cohalan, familiarly known as "Murphy's brains," appointed by Governor Dix to be a justice of the supreme court in New York county at $17,500 a year.

John D. Moore, whose activities in behalf of Mr. Murphy's "hollow tile" amendment to the New York charter caused the break between Charles F. Murphy and former Mayor George B. McClellan, made state conservation commissioner at $10,000 a year for six years upon the personal recommendation of Mr. Murphy.

George W. Batten, Murphy's state committeeman for Niagara county, made deputy state treasurer at $5,000 a year.

To come—three commissionerships of the new state board of claims for six years at $6,000 a year and an engineer to take the place of the advisory board of canal engineers (abolished by the Tammany legislature), at a compensation to be fixed by State Engineer Bensel.

Should Come In the Open!

Charles F. Murphy should be selected to succeed Huppuch as chairman of the Democratic state committee. He controls the party already behind the scenes and might as well do it in the glare of the footlights. He is said to prefer a dummy in the place, but since he is chairman in fact he ought to be chairman in name. If he were the people would have more respect for him. They would much rather see a man fighting in the open than pulling strings behind a curtain.

WILL KEEP THE CANAL OPEN.

Work of Contractors Must Wait to Give the Business of Shipping Pulpwood a Chance—Conference Held in Fulton Friday—Trip to Oswego is Postponed.

At a conference held in Fulton Friday morning between State Engineer John A. Bensel, Commissioner of Public Works C. E. Tremen and other members of the State Canal Board, President William Hunter, of the Battle Island Pulp and Paper Company, and Mr. Flanigan, of the Almahar Contracting Company, and Division Superintendent of Canals W. J. Hartnett, of Fulton, it was decided to keep the Oswego canal open a week longer than had been planned.

The canal was to have been closed to navigation at six o'clock on Friday night. Under the agreement reached it will not close until 6 p. m. September 22d. Contractor Flanigan made a vigorous objection to prolonging the open season, but largely through the efforts of Mr. Hartnett, the Division Superintendent, the matter was adjusted so that the Pulp company will have an opportunity to move some of the wood now on hand here.

The conference lasted for several hours, preventing the State officials from going on to Oswego for an inspection trip as they had planned. There are four barges in Oswego loaded with pulpwood, approximately 2,500 cords.

The steamers Henry I. Ailwyn and Querida are coming back to Oswego with two loads each of pulpwood, which will put about 4,000 cords more of pulpwood here before the close of navigation on the lakes and the St. Lawrence river. This will make in the neighborhood of 24,000 cords of pulpwood delivered in Oswego this year.

THE OCTOBER WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

The October Woman's Home Companion contains the first chapter of a new serial, "The Poor Lady," by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman. It is a story of modern American life, and is chiefly concerned with two women—one, an ambitious and unscrupulous wife; the other, fine, high-minded and womanly.

In the same number a well-known financial authority writes an article of interest and importance to every woman. He describes the snares set by dishonest business concerns to catch women investors, and tells many stories of real life illustrating his points.

Other notable articles are: "Experiments in Spending," "The Girlhood of Madame Schumann-Heink," "The Moving-Picture Show," "Money-Making at Home" and "Women Painters of America."

Splendid fiction is furnished by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Julia Truitt Bishop, Ernest Poole and Barr Moses.

On the practical side the October Companion is of special value. Its great fashion and household departments are unusually full of useful suggestions and entertaining reading.

CIVIL WAR ECHOES

From My Scrap Book

Mrs. Lincoln between her two suitors, the Hon. Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln, chose the latter seeing the future possibilities in the awkard Lincoln. On one occasion as he stood by the fire place with his head down, burdened with the responsibilities of the country, Mrs. Lincoln entered in a new low necked silk dress getting ready for a ball. Stepping in front of him, she asked him how he liked it. He said, "Say, mother, how fine our old cat would look with her tail wrapped around her neck."

I understand that the Hon. A. S. Roe of Worcester, Mass., in his recent trip to Fulton, Rose and Rochester was met there by his Post, who marched with him in the parade, one hundred and fifteen strong. Also that he has filled some of the finest positions in the old Bay State and that he is an author of note.

S. D. Gardner.

In 1862 an intimate friend of President Lincoln visited him in Washington and finding him rather depressed in spirits as a result of the reverses then repeatedly suffered by the Federal troops said, "this being President isn't all it is supposed to be, is it, Mr. Lincoln?"—"No," Lincoln replied, his eye twinkling for a moment. "I feel sometimes like the Irishman, who after being rode on a rail, said, If it wasn't for the honor of the thing I'd rather walk."

S. D. Gardner.

Champ Clark says he is going after President Taft with a "hammer and tongs." These are perhaps the weapons with which he is most skilled. These and a bludgeon. But Taft has got after him first with a gatling gun and when he gets through there will be nothing left of Champ.

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Conditions and times change with the strides of progress and civilization, but there are some institutions which must and do retain their permanence and their individuality. Among these is the country or home weekly in the field of journalism. With a tradition founded upon centuries and a position among the different classes of papers and magazines of the world the weekly of the smaller cities and towns holds its sphere uninterrupted by the great strides in journalism and the newspaper field.

The home paper is first of all a mirror of the happenings of the locality. In its regular visits to the firesides of its readers it carries the news of their friends and neighbors. It seeks not the sordid, the sensational nor the scandalous, but the real news—the births, the marriages and the deaths, the social happenings and the progress of the immediate vicinity. It does not endeavor to rival the daily paper in the record of world events. These are summed up briefly in a few well chosen paragraphs.

To the former resident and kinsman it is a welcome visitor and recalls the days gone by. To the active man in the town it is a history of what has happened. To the young it is a portrayal of the ways of the world.

With all the great advances in the field of journalism the home weekly paper is not obsolete nor is its mission useless. It is one of the highly necessary institutions of the town and a very helpful one in its work.

MRS. SPENCER'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Elmina P. Spencer, the Army nurse, celebrated her ninety-second birthday yesterday at the home of Mrs. Gray in West Bridge between Seventh and Eighth streets. During the day Mrs. Spencer had many callers, including G. A. R. men, veterans and members of the Woman's Relief Corps of the G. A. R. Mrs. Spencer is bed-ridden and has been for the past two or three years. Her mind, however, is as clear and retentive as it was a score of years ago and she talked of current events and reminiscences of the war with apparently great pleasure.

A woman of brilliant attainments, Mrs. Spencer has been a great reader during the long years of her life and a conversation with her is always interesting.—Palladium, Friday.

Pulaski, Sept. 13.—William Widrig, 40, whose home is at New Centerville, a short distance from Richland Junction, attempted to board a moving south bound milk train in the Y at the latter place this noon and fell under the car. His left arm was lacerated. Widrig was rushed to the Watertown hospital where the arm was amputated at the shoulder.

MORTON ADKINS ENGAGEMENT

Morton Adkins, a nephew of the Messrs. G. W. and John Morton of this city, will again, this season, be under the management of Loudon Charlton, in concert and oratorio. Last year he had a very successful concert tour, and also sang in grand opera, doing work which received very favorable comment from critics.

PARCELS POST

A Measure of Supreme Importance Submitted for the Grave Consideration of National Legislators.

The establishment of parcels post throughout the United States is a matter that is now engaging the serious attention of not only the Postal officials, but also the national legislators. The subject can not fail to be of vital interest to every patron of the vast postal system as it affects each in a pecuniary manner whenever a necessity arises.

Senator Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, is the father of the measure in the Senate, and as the bill introduced by him furnishes concise information regarding its special features, we reprint it for the benefit of our readers in order that they may become intelligently informed regarding its provisions. It is as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That from and after the passage of this act no higher postage rate shall be charged for the transmission of mail entirely within the United States or its possessions than is charged for transmission of mail partly within and partly without the United States or its possessions. The Postmaster General is hereby authorized and required to establish and enforce rules and regulations which will give the people of the United States rights and privileges in the use of the United States mails as liberal as the rights and privileges in the United States accords to the people of the most-favored nation.

Mr. President, it may seem strange to Members of the Senate that there should be a possibility of legislation giving American citizens privileges in the United States mails between themselves equal with those enjoyed by residents of this country in transaction of business with residents of foreign countries. The facts are these: Within the United States the rate of postage on fourth-class matter is 16 cents a pound, with a limit of 4 pounds. The United States is party to a treaty under which residents of 29 foreign countries may send fourth-class matter through the United States mails at 12 cents a pound, with a limit of 11 pounds. In other words, a man may send an 11-pound package from San Francisco to Rome, Italy, at 12 cents a pound, but if he wishes to send the articles to New York he must divide them into packages of not to exceed 4 pounds each and pay 16 cents a pound. A Japanese residing in New York can send an 11 pound package to his friends in Tokyo at 12 cents, but an American in New York can send only a 4 pound package from New York to Washington and must pay 16 cents a pound.

Mr. President, the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads of both Senate and House have under consideration bills for the establishment of parcels post. In my opinion, the specific provisions of such a bill should be fixed only after the most careful investigation. I believe Congress will establish a parcels-post rate of less than 12 cents a pound, and a rate very much less than that for short hauls. But whatever the ultimate action on the question of parcels post, I see no reason for delay in the enactment of this law, giving American citizens as favorable postal facilities as this Government extends to residents of foreign countries. Especially is this true when investigation by the Post Office Department shows that the cost of transporting fourth-class matter is approximately 12 cents a pound. The passage of this bill will in no way conflict with any subsequent legislation on the subject of parcels post.

RURAL SCHOOLS BENEFITED

State Commissioner of Education Draper has reported that among the rural school superintendents who were selected recently under a new law there were twenty-seven college graduates, eighteen graduates of the State Normal College, eighty-three graduates of State Normal schools, twenty-nine holders of life state certificates, which are looked upon as showing scholarship equivalent to college training, and twenty-six holders of teachers' permanent certificates, which require academic training and both teaching and supervisory experience.

In the opinion of the Commissioner these results promise a decided uplift in the country schools when these superintendents enter upon their duties on January 1 next.

AGED PHOENIX WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. Sarah D. Huntley of this village was seriously injured in a crowd at the State fair grounds Wednesday. Mrs. Huntley visited the grounds in the morning and attended the meeting in grange hall, when she walked over to the paddock to see the bird man make a flight. She edged her way through the crowd to a good position near the grand stand and awaited Parmlee's attempt. As he started the throng shifted its position to get a better view. Mrs. Huntley was not strong enough to keep her place and she was pushed against the fence. She fell. Her cries brought aid and she was taken to the emergency hospital on the grounds where it was found that her left hip was severely injured. In the evening she was taken to the hospital of the Good Shephard where she was reported to be in a serious condition. It is feared that the hip is fractured. Owing ot her extreme age, eighty-seven years, sh may note survive the severe injury and shock, although she is showing remarkable vitality for one of her years.—Phoenix Register

FLOWER CULTURE

The roses red upon my neighbor's vine
Are owned by him, but they are also mine;
His was the cost, and his the labor too,
But mine as well as his the joy their loveliness to view.

They bloom for me, and are for me as fair
As for the man who gives them all his care;
Thus I am rich, because a good man grew
A rose-clad vine for all his neighbors' view.

I know from this that others plant for me,
And what they own my joy may also be;
So why be selfish, when so much that's fine
Is grown for you, upon your neighbor's vine?—Author Unknown.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS

For Assemblyman
T. C. SWEET
For Sheriff
MYRON A. STRANAHAN
For District Attorney
FRANCIS D. GULKIN
For County Superintendent of Poor
C. ADELBERT STONE
For Special County Judge
GEORGE M. FANNING

It is obvious to the Republican electors of the city of Fulton that the selection of a new chief executive upon whom to place the toga is becoming increasingly difficult and perplexing. It might be wise for those who have an ambition to serve or are seeking the preferment, to first consult an astrologer before they conclude to sit down on a tack.

Democratic Party Shot to Pieces

Prior to the holding of the Republican county and district conventions the Democrats were in fine fettle and they were grooming their strongest men for nomination to every office to be filled in the county this Fall. Since the conventions and the birth of the united Republican party the Democrats have been correspondingly depressed and they are now farring among and upon each other. Whenever a possible nominee is discussed he is a "weak sister," one the party feels it can well afford to sacrifice for the sake of holding their place on the ballot. There is not the slightest chance for the election of any Democrat this Fall and the party knows it.

Rev. G. W. Wellburn

The action of the Presbyterian society in electing as its pastor the Rev. G. W. Wellburn, meets with the hearty approval of all with whom Mr. Wellburn has been brought in intimate contact since assuming the responsibilities of his charge several months ago. It cannot be disputed that the minister is personally possessed of qualities so conscientious and commendable that through his natural shy reserve they assert themselves in a marked and conspicuous manner. An eloquent and convincing speaker, he is familiar with all that is human and good in life and possesses practical common sense to apply the principles of the lowly Nazarine to the perplexing problems that are ever presented to the pastorate of such a large, prosperous and active membership.

The killing of thirteen innocent spectators last Saturday afternoon at the State Fair Automobile races was so appalling as to arouse a feeling of aversion to such exhibitions in the future. This recklessness of human life is becoming too characteristic of life is becoming too characteristic o outdoor exhibitions. Aviators and speed cranks at almost every such contest pay the penalty, sooner or later, by an inexcusable sacrifice of life. It is largely true that such contests are waged for the purpose of attracting large crowds and have a commercial importance, but there is a principle of law to which all must adhere or suffer the consequence, that no one is permitted to place a human life in jeopardy even to amuse spectators who are indifferent to the danger that confronts the contestants. In order to show the utter disregard of ordinary considerations of safety displayed on the Fair grounds, it is reported that the track upon which was held the automobile speed race was a mere dirt road, fit only for horse-racing, and it was also wet from recent rain. The conditions caused a violent protest from the automobile drivers, who were entered for the race who regarded it in an unsafe condition. It is now conceded that the race should not have been allowed, and it is probable that criminal responsibility will be placed where it belongs for such an inexcusable loss of human lives.

The Mayoralty Situation

There seems no dearth of mayoralty possibilities in Fulton this Fall, some wise and some otherwise but most of the men mentioned in no wise willing to accept the nomination. The leaders are puzzling their brains because the head of the city ticket should be a candidate who can bring strength to the entire ticket and no one is willing that a mistake in selecting the candidate should be made. Four thousand majority for the county ticket this Fall is the Republican slogan, and strength is to be added to the ticket by the choice of a candidate for mayor of Fulton.

Among the names mentioned have been Mr. J. W. Rigley of the west side; Mr. A. W. Wiltsie of the Fourth Ward; Mr. John Hollingsworth of the Fourth Ward, Mr. C. A. Gilkey of the Third Ward; Mr. W ill Church of the Sixth Ward and last, but not least strongly, Alderman Fred E. Wolcott of the Fifth Ward.

Messrs. Rigley, Wiltsie and Gilkey have positively refused to harken to the proposition alluring presented by their enthusiastic friends; Mr. Hollingsworth would become a candidate if he could assist the party, and the office is industriously seeking Messrs. Wolcott and Church. Dodge and turn as they may they find the office stepping close upon their heels. Mr. Wolcott is industriously engaged in an endeavor to ward off the blow and Mr. Church brushes his friends aside as he leaps to his wheel and speeds away to overlook some piece of work he has his men engaged upo

Out of the confusion something good for the Republican party will come and the next mayor will be named at the Republican city convention.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY AT STATE FAIR

A thrill of horror ran over the Empire State when late on Saturday afternoon it was flashed along the wires that an automobile going at mad speed had dashed into the crowd at the races at the Fair grounds and that a dozen spectators were killed while many more had been painfully if not mortally injured, during the 50-mile contest. That hundreds were not killed and wounded was due to the fact that the racing car turned over and was thus stopped in its mad flight after the steering gear broke.

The sights and scenes that attended the horrible catastrophe will never be forgotten by the eye witnesses and many of the spectators have gone nearly mad with the recollection of it.

That the sad ending of an otherwise day of pleasure and profit, to all present, was the result of the inexperience of the driver of the car, Lee Oldfield, himself vitally injured, and of the carelessness of the track management in permitting him to drive, particularly after it was seen that one tire was in unsafe condition, cannot be disputde. Upon whom the financial responsibility for the terrible loss of life and health will devolve will be a matter for the courts to decide. Upon the friends and relatives of the dead and dying the heart aches and sadness have fallen.

Republican Judicial Convention

The Republican electors of the Fifth Judicial District are requested to send delegates to a Judicial Convention which will be held at the Court House in the City of Syracuse, N. Y., on the 3rd day of October, 1911, at twelve o'clock noon for the purpose of nominating two justices of the Supreme Court to succeed the Hon. Pardon C. Williams and the Hon. Henry Purcell, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before that convention.

The several counties in the judicial district are entitled to representation in said convention as follows:

Herkimer county 5, Jefferson county 8, Lewis county 4, Oswego county 8, Oneida county 11, Onondaga county 14.

PROHIBITION CAUCUSES.

The Prohibition Electors of the several wards of Fulton are requested to meet in the City Hall on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26, 1911, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of electing four delegates from each ward to the District Convention, to be held in Oswego on September 29, 1911, and for the election of delegates to the City Convention, to be held in Fulton hereafter, and for the nomination of a candidate for alderman for each ward, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the caucuses.

MUCH SCHOOL BUILDING TALK

There is considerable agitation in this city relative to school building conditions, and while all admit the necessity from a financial and an efficiency standpoint that something be done, there are as many opinions, nearly, as individuals, as to what and how it should be done.

From the sixth ward comes a plea for a re-establishment of a school in that section, many residents pointing to the hardship entailed upon their children by having to walk from the back end of the ward as far south as Falley seminary for school purposes. The sixth ward says give this thickly populated section a school house of its own and then remodel the Fourth street building into a High school.

From another section comes the suggestion that the new High school building must come, and that First street, on the Nelson whoperty,so conveniently located to the library, would be the ideal site for such an institution.

Still another suggestion is that there is sufficient property already belonging to the city and surrounding Oak street school upon which to erect a large modern building in which the High school might be located.

Then comes the Falley seminary adherents pressing the claim that this is the ideal site for a High school and that the expenditure at this point will be the most advantageous the city can make.

Other protest that when the parochial school becomes a reality so many children will become students therein that the necessity for more room will be removed. This claim is not correct. The parochial school will only take the children and fit them for High school work,the child then enters the city school for the completion of education.

A new High school building is an absolute necessity and the only way to reach a decision relative to the matter that will be equitable and should be accepted by all interested, would be to submit three or four of the best propositions to the tax paying electors for decision. First giving all the facts and figures to the public through the press. This done, the Times believes a new High school building would become a reality as soon as the city could bond again and sufficiently to build.

REV. FATHER DWYER DIED IN HOSPITAL

The death of the Rev. W. F. Dwyer, pastor of S. John's church, Oswego, occurred in St. Joseph's hospital, Syracuse, last week following an operation for an abscess in the head. There were most solemn services held in the church which he loved and served for over nineteen years. Bishop Ludden was unable, owing to illness, to be present.

The Rev. J. L. Lindsman of this city delivered the panegyric and while the deceased priest was practically a stranger to Fulton residents, Father Lindsman's tribute to his dead colleague was so touching that we reproduce it in part for our readers:

"If the church makes impressive the services of the dead in ordinary cases, how much more so should it do in the case of a priest, sent here to do the work of the great High Priest Himself. He comes to you in the days of dire necessity, when the Angel ofD eath is hovering over you. He bears the confession and aids in making peace between man and his Creator. And he stands at the altar as the mediator between God and man.

"Many times has Father Dwyer stood at this altar and offered the holy Sacrifice for you and yours and in many ways served you. This vast concourse is a testimonial of your love for him, who for more than nineteen years was your pastor.

"I knew Father Dwyer very well and I know that he would want no eulogy on this occasion. Y ou know that charity welled out of him and it seemed that he must have taken for his motto that of Cardinal Newman, the Heart speaking to the Heart. He was ever ready to succor the needy, his purse always open sometimes even to the undeserving. His charity was all embracing. The children loved Father Dwyer and he loved them in return. They were glad to gather about him and listen to his words of instruction and counsel.

"But one duty now remains. He, let us hope, is at rest, after the terrible pain he endured with such resignation. He died fortified by the sacraments of the church and fully prepared. But let us not forget to pray for him. He has seen God face to face. He has looked upon the Beatific Vision and stood in xthe great light that beats upon the throne. He has seen reflected in the face of God Justice, Sanctity and Mercy. Lest he should realizing his own unworthiness to stand before God's throne, have asked the Angel to lead him through the purifying flames, to wipe away the last punishment due to sin, it is incumbent upon you to pray earnestly for him.

"Father Dwyer has gone but let him not be forgotten. Others will conduct the services at this altar, but remember him in your prayers, at the sacrifice of the mass and in your communion. Remember that flowers fade and monuments crumble, Love alone remains, the love of a heart is stronger than death. Eternal light grant unto him,O Lord, and may he rest in peace."

Diarrhoea is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is prompt and effectual. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

CARELESSNESS CAUSES DEATH OF CHILD

Some careless person threw two bottles of strychnine tablets in waste at Marcellus Falls and as a result one boy of 6 is dead and several other lads have been very ill; one of them will undoubtedly die.

The children found the bottles of poison while at play, withdrew to a vacant lot and ate the contents of the bottles, calling it candy. The first that the parents knew of the occurrence was when the dead child fell in convulsions and the other children soon became violently ill.

FOSTER THEATRE

That popular little favorite "Sadie Belgardie" and her Big Stock Company will begin a week's engagement in repertorie at the Foster Theatre next Monday evening, September 25. All the plays to be presented by this popular company are new to this city and among the cast will be seen many new faces as well as the old favorites. Special scenery and effects will be used by this company in the production of the plays next week and between the acts new vaudeville and moving pictures will be introduced. The prices of this engagement will be the same as formerly notwithstanding the fact that the company is a much larger one than on any previous visit and special scenery is carried for the productions.

Seat sale now open at Watson's Drug Store.

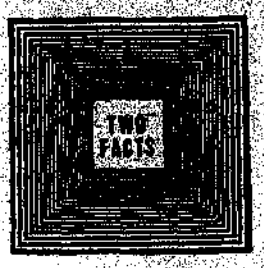
STORM AT STATE FAIR

Thursday night a severe storm visited the State Fair grounds doing damage to tents and exhibits which totalled thousands of dollars. The storm prevented many from attending the Fair on Friday and the attendance was a disappointment to the management.



Many tents were blown through the air. Several were blown down and there were narraw escapes from serious accidents as the tents inflated and were converted into veritable balloons, going through the air with great force.

Hundreds of homes, stores and blocks are burned yearly because of the use of flame illuminants, and the dangerous matches required because of them.

AT THE LEAST, a large part of these losses and personal injuries going with them would have been prevented had electric light been used.

Where else can you obtain the COMBINATION OF SAFETY, CONVENIENCE AND ECONOMY?

Short days are here and lighting becomes more of an item. We will wire your house at cost.

The deceased was prominently connected with Zion Episcopal church life and work and her loss is sincerely regretted by a wide circle of friends. The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon from the home and from the Episcopal church, the Rev. C. G. Wadeworth officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the mother, one brother, Mr. W. H. Hornibrook, and one sister, Miss Emily Hornibrook, all of this city.

MANY MATRIMONIAL MISFITS

The greater number of cases to appear before Justice S. K. Merrell during the Term of Supreme court to convene in Oswego on September 25, are those of married people seeking the annulment of their marriage contracts. It would appear that there had suddenly developed an epidemic of matrimonial misfits. Among the number seeking legal relief from irksome ties are Corlune McRae vs. Lloyd Morris McRae, for an absolute decree. Mrs. McRae and child make their home with Mrs. McRae's father, A. B. Simpson of Scriba. Emma M. Proshaw vs. George J. Proshaw; Charles Zimmerman vs. Hattie Zimmerman; Mytra Laveck vs. Edward Laveck; Arthur Garrison vs. Lillian Garrison; Stella A. Bradford vs. F. C. Bradford; Gertrude M. Ives vs George M. Ives; Ezra A. Stacy vs. Gertrude Stacy; Minnie Stubba vs. Frank Stubba; James H. Martin vs. Lily Conde Martin, annulment of marriage; Bertha V. Shafer vs. Alva Shafer, annulment; Florence C. Rudeau vs. Henry L. Rudaeu, separation and alimony; William D. Stitts vs. Myrtle A. Stitts; Alice McMahon vs. Hiram D. McMahon; Emma B. Newton vs. Hosea T. Newton.

INSANE MAN LIBERATED

Friday a stranger approached Mrs. E. Fuller's home at Bowens Corners and asked for a drink of water. He carried a loaf of bread under his arm and Mrs. Fuller pitier the man so much that she invited him into her kitchen and placed a meal before him. He was no sooner seated than he called his beliefactor a name and his behavior became so peculiar as to frighten Mrs. Fuller, who called a passing neighbor to her assistance. The stranger was locked in the Fuller woodshed and the local police force was called upon to remove the obstreperous man. The Fulton police had no jurisdiction in the matter and finally, not knowing what else to do with the fellow, who was evidently insane, he was liberated from his temporary prison and soon disappeared.

The stranger was well dressed and had a wooden leg.

CONGRESSIONAL REAPPORTIONMENT

Claimed That Madison County Will Be Added To Jefferson, Lewis and Oswego

Albany, Sept. 18.—According to all reports around here the congressional districts of this State are due for a reapportionment just as soon as the Legislature gets to transacting business again. According to advance information Oswego County will hereafter be joined with Jefferson, Lewis and Madison Counties. The addition of Madison County to the district will mean that a combination of Oswego and Madison Counties, two natural allies, could hold the balance of power in the congressional conventions.

Onondaga county will hereafter be a district by itself, while the 36th district, now represented by the Hon. Sereno E. Payne, will consist of Cayuga, Wayne, Ontario, Yates and Seneca.

Congressman Malby's district remains the same. Six new districts have been added in the State, all of them being in New York city.

ANNIVERSARY SALE

The first year of our remodelled and enlarged store and the twenty-second since the founding of the Witherill business has been an eminently successful one. We have far surpassed our own hopeful estimate of what we MIGHT do. We are grateful for this patronage that has enabled us to build up The Busy Corner, and for the loyal support of our faithful employes.

This week, with even higher standards in mind, and with added experience that will help us to make this store more and more helpful to you, we start upon our twenty-third year, sincerely hoping that we may not be undeserving of a still greater business.

As a fitting start to our new business year, we begin our great Annual Anniversary Sale, the one-time-a-year event that arouses more interest than any other. Whether your purchases amount to much or little, it will certainly pay you handsomely to buy during this sale. Not in a long time have we offered you such values. We could quote column after column of interesting, convincing, money-saving bargains arranged especially for this sale. There isn't space enough to tell all that DESERVES to be told, but we DO PROMISE YOU THIS: The values will be worth coming miles and miles to share. And you know our reputation. This is Witherill's, and we have never yet disappointed you. Our more than local reputation for sturdy honesty and fair dealing was too hard-won to risk losing by misrepresentation. Come early or late. You may never have such a chance for saving again. Certainly not for another year at least.

THE WEEK

The trade situation maintains, in general, the conservative improvement recently noted, although there is much diversity in the reports from the different sections and different lines. The gain in the volume of bank clearings is one of the best evidences of this improvement; this week the gain amounts, outside of New York, to 10.1 per cent. over 1910 and to 1.2 per cent. over 1909, while in New York there is a gain of19.2 over last year, but a loss of 26.5 compared with 1909. On the whole, the most favorable report comes from the dry goods trade, in which a wider and increased demand appears, although there is no speculative buying, purchases being limited to the satisfaction of current needs. More interest is manifested in the retail trade. The wool market is fairly active. The August movement in the iron and steel trade is not being fully maintained, and keener competition for business and some price-cutting is announced, but the comparative activity in structural materials continues. The financial markets in all the international money centers, and especially Berlin, are disturbed and security prices have declined, this development being apparently connected with the strain of the long continued crisis in the Moroccan controversy now in the process of diplomatic negotiation.

New orders in iron and steel are apparently held in check by continued uncertainty as to prices, and competition for business is becoming more pronounced. Price cutting is general in the steel bar trade, some very low quotations being noted, and tin plates, sheets, wire products and merchant pipe have shared in the weakness. The best feature of the situation is provided by the structural division, where numerous contracts for substantial amounts of material are still being placed, although prospects for the winter are not considered especially encouraging.

Cotton goods are in process of revision and there is still a tendency at retail to restrict purchases in staple domestics to actual requirements. Mills are resuming more generally, but continue to operate close to limited orders. There is a larger business moving in the garment division, where immediate deliveries are being urged, and novelties and high colors are wanted in dress goods and new offerings are made by leading factories. An improved jobbing trade is noted in silk piece goods and in ribbons.

Buyers of footwear are perplexed regarding styles and conservatism is consequently displayed in all transactions, with both jobbers and retailers confining purchases to current needs only.

Speculative activity has abated in wheat and cotton, but trading in corn was brisk and prices fluctuated sharply. Depressing influence predominated in wheat, but purely technical conditions prevented any material decline. Foreign crop advices were more reassuring and the yield in France is officially estimated at some 50,000,000 bushels larger than last year. Pressure of new wheat is a feature at the Northwest, and western receipts of 7,440,686 bushels this week exceeded the 7,383,125 bushels reported a year ago. Exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 2,001,754 bushels against 1,020,956 in 1910. A better cash demand and enlarged export clearances imparted strength to corn.

Liabilities of commercial failures reported for September to date amount to $1,614,228, of which $843,865 were in manufacturing, $737,394 in trading and $42,969 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 244 in the United States against 241 last year, and 19 in Canada compared with 29 a year ago.

WHO HAVE MADE THE PROFITS?

The People or Tammany Politicians?

THREE TESTS ARE APPLIED

Economy and Retrenchment Were Promised in Democratic Platform. Has That Been Done?—Have Tax Burdens Been Decreased?—Is a Dollar in Value Returned For Each Dollar Expended?—Do the Laws Passed Benefit the People or the Tammany Politicians?

Albany, Sept. 19.—Three tests may be applied to the present Democratic state administration:

First.—"Economy and retrenchment" were promised in the Democratic state platform of 1910. Have these promises been fulfilled or has the state government been administered by the politicians for the benefit of the politicians?

Second.—Have the tax burdens been decreased? If not, have the people received a dollar in value to return for each dollar of their money expended?

Third.—Have laws of benefit to all the people been passed by the Tammany controlled legislature, or have the interests of the politicians been paramount?

The following summary serves as a brief answer to the above queries:

Places Abolished by Tammany.

Five state water supply commissioners at $5,000 a year.

One state forest, fish and game commissioner at $6,000 a year.

Three judges of the court of claims at $8,000 a year.

Three state highway commissioners at a total salary of $10,000 a year.

Places Created by and For Tammany.

State fire marshal at $7,000 a year.

State superintendent of highways at $7,000 or $7,500 a year, with half a dozen deputies at from $4,000 to $5,000 a year.

Three conservation commissioners at $10,000 a year, with a chief counsel at $7,000 a year and an assistant counsel at $5,000 a year, ten bureau chiefs at from $3,500 to $6,000 a year and an army of minor deputies and clerks.

Three state superintendents of elections at $5,000 a year for four years, with three chief deputies at $4,500 a year each, about 1,000 deputies at from $200 to $1,500 a year; estimated expense of about $1,000,000 a year.

Three "commissioners of the board of claims" at $6,000 a year for six years each.

Total places abolished, 11; total places created, 11; net saving to the state, 0.

Existing Laws Repealed or Modified.

State election law, concededly the model statute of its kind in the country. Liquor tax law, model law for other states, emasculated and weakened. Governor Hughes' inheritance tax law of 1910. Governor Hughes' code of insurance laws.

New Policies Put In Vogue.

A direct state tax for the first time since Governor Odell retired it as a state financial policy.

State wide control of elections, with an added cost to the up state taxpayers estimated at a million dollars a year.

Personal registration and "signature" in rural districts.

State taxation of personal property substituted for local assessment.

Rehabilitation of prizefighting under state promotion and protection.

A bogus plan for "conservation of state resources," so crudely drawn that the legislature was forced to pass another bill creating a legislative commission to draft a real conservation law and to frame a conservation policy.

Preaching and Practice.

The Democratic legislature passed a bill and Governor Dix signed it whereby the board of supervisors in each county in future is to fix the number of employees in all county offices except judicial ones, and also fix their salaries.

The board of supervisors in Rensselaer county proceeded along this line, but the newly appointed Democratic sheriff objected and appealed to the courts to protect him from the law which a legislature of his own political faith had just passed and which a governor of the same political faith had just made a law by executive approval. And the subordinates whom the said Democratic sheriff proposed to remove, contrary to law, were protected by the civil service laws.

Promise and Result.

Democrats are prone to profess great regard for the workingman. Nevertheless Governor Dix vetoed a bill whereby the state commissioner of labor could have compelled all machinery in every factory of the state to be made absolutely safe.

At the same time he approved a bill increasing the salary of the Democratic deputy state commissioner of labor just appointed from $3,000 to $4,000 a year and also permitting him to appoint six inspectors at $2,500 a year and a number of additional inspectors at $1,200 a year.

But this last bill made places for "Murphy's boys," while the first one only aimed to protect lives and limbs of workingmen.

FAMED BEAUTY TO WED TITLE

Lord Camoys Wins Mildred Watts Sherman, Heiress to Many Millions.

Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman of New York and Newport have announced the engagement of their daughter Mildred Sherman, one of the Sherman twins, famous for their beauty, to Lord Camoys, friend of Lord Decies, who married Vivien Gould only a few months ago. Lord Camoys met Miss Sherman when in New York in attendance at the wedding of his friend.

Miss Sherman is already the possessor of $10,000,000 in her own right. When she arrives at the age of thirty, which will be in seven years, she will inherit a second fortune almost as large from the estate of her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. John Carter Brown.

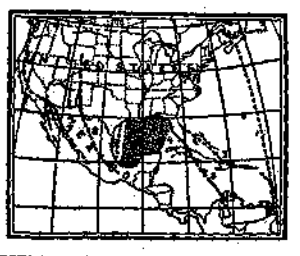
As both William Watts Sherman and his wife are exceedingly wealthy, the young bride to be will eventually have even a far greater fortune than is imminent. Mr. Sherman is a retired banker and one of the largest stockholders in the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

For a number of weeks Miss Sherman has been wearing a seal ring of antique design, which she showed to her chums and laughed, but never removed from her finger since it was placed there by Lord Camoys before he sailed for England.

Lord Camoys is twenty-seven years of age. He is without great wealth, although of pleasant personality. The wedding is expected to be the Newport event of next year.

MIGRATION OF BIRDS.



The Golden Plover Makes 2,500 Miles In a Single Flight.

Intensely interesting data on the migration of American birds, drawing special attention to the golden plover, which makes 2,500 miles in a single flight, are obtainable from material compiled by Wells W. Cooke of the United States biological survey for the National Geographic Magazine.

The principal routes used by the myriads of birds in their migrations between North and South America are shown in the map. The middle route is by far the most important and may be said to extend from northwestern Florida and western Louisiana across the gulf of Mexico to the southern coast of the gulf and thence by land through Central America to South America. More birds probably follow this route than all the other routes combined.

Long over water flights do not take place without many casualties, and not the smallest of the perils arises from the lighthouses. "Last night I could have filled a mail sack with the bodies of little warblers which killed themselves striking against my light," wrote the keeper of Fowey Rocks lighthouse, in southern Florida.

The flights of 500 and 700 miles across the gulf of Mexico are short, however, as compared with the extraordinary 2,500 mile flight of the golden plover, which is the longest sustained flight ever recorded. These birds nest along the arctic coast of North America, and as soon as the young are old enough to care for themselves fall migration is begun by a trip to the Labrador coast, where they fatten for several weeks on the abundant native fruits. A short trip across the gulf of St. Lawrence brings them to Nova Scotia, which is the starting point for the wonderful ocean flight, due south to the coast of South America.

If the weather is good the birds make the entire trip without pause or rest, but if a tempest arises they may be blown out of their course to New England and start anew on the advent of fair weather. Having accomplished the ocean voyage, the golden plover passes across eastern South America to its winter home in Argentina and after a sojourn of six months there finds its way back to the arctic again by an entirely different and this time mostly land route.

THE PRICE OF APPLES

Growers Fearful That They Will Not Receive Better Than $2 Per Barrel

The Red Creek Herald says: The attitude of the apple buyers this year in refusing to buy apples in advance of the picking season has the farmers worried and indications are now that the price will be kept to at least two dollars a barrel. It will not go higher as the crop is a big one in this county and in other apple districts of the country. The quality is the best in years.

The big buyers in other years fought one another in efforts to corner apples. Farmers got contracts in early Summer for their Fall crops. In some instances the buyers bought on the trees and hired the picking and packing. The farmers had a harvest, but the buyers lost heavily by the reacting markets. This year they banded together and agreed not to make one contract in advance of the picking season.

HOW MEN MAY AVOID DIVORCE

My advice to husbands who wish to avoid divorce is this: Don't quote mother, says Judge Petit of Chicago, in Leslie's. Call up your wife while at business and ask how she is, and tell her that you called her up just to hear her voice. Bring her a box of candy; one of the new books that she is interested in; a flower, even if it is faded and you have picked it up off the street; a pretty pin or handkerchief—and don't ever lay your head on your pillow at night without having done something to gain and obtain, a firmer hold on your wife's love. Kiss her every day. At least once a month meet her downtown and take her to dinner and the theatre. Don't ever stop courting for as soon as you do some other man will begin. Make your wife your companion. Take her out with you, and when you have to have a big time take your wife along, and the divorce evil will be lessened.

THE PULPWOOD TRADE

Thirteen Thousand Cords Have Already Been Received Here

It is expected that the steamer Querida with a party of tourists will get away today for the Island of Anticosti. The boat carries about 850 cords of pulpwood and has 1,700 cords yet to deliver here. The steamer Henry I. has the same and the Allwyn will bring about 1,300 cords. The steamer Rock Ferry, which has been detained here several days waiting for a chance to unload, moved up to the dock this morning and is discharging her cargo of 700 cords. Besides the steamers there are several tow barges coming and it is expected that between eight and ten thousand cords of pulpwood is yet to be delivered here. This will be sent forward by rail. There has been received so far this season about 13,000 cords.

It costs the company approximately a dollar a cord to handle the wood between here and the mill at Battle Island. Were the plant in this city the company could save $20,000 a year in transportational charges, representing five per cent. on an investment of $400,000.—Palladium.

While watching the races at the State Fair in Syracuse on Wednesday, Mrs. Sarah Huntley, aged 81, sustained a broken hip. She is in a Syracuse hospital doing as well as her age will permit.

Mrs. J. W. Rigley was so successful as to secure the free Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet given away at the J. R. Sullivan store last week. The cabinet sale was a stupendous success as many a weary housewife is thanking Mr. Sullivan that he inaugurated the sale.

Becoming effective on September 24, the train leaving for Syracuse at 5:05 p. m., on the Central and the train leaving this city for Oswego at 6:10 p. m., will be annulled and the train now arriving in this city from Syracuse at 10:10 p. m., will arrive at 9 p. m. The trolley has been making sad havoc with the trains, many of them making the trips between Syracuse and Oswego without sufficient passengers to pay the expense.

CONGRESSMAN AND CANDI- DATE VISIT WATERTOWN

The Watertown Times of Tuesday says:

"Congressman Luther Wright Mott, of Oswego, and a party of Oswego county men were in Watertown Monday evening in behalf of the candidacy of Irving G. Hubbs, of Pulaski, Oswego county's candidate for the Republican nomination for Supreme Court judge. Besides Mr. Mott the party included Mr. Hubbs, Surrogate Clayton J. Miller and Assemblyman Thaddeus C. Sweet. While here they called on the delegates named to represent this county in the Judicial convention, and presented Oswego county's case. The visitors said that Oswego county was now united upon Mr. Hubbs for the judgeship and they presented the claims of the county to the South to a resident judge.

"Oswego and Jefferson should stand together in this convention," one of the party said. "We are in the same Congressional district and the same Senatorial district and it is to our mutual interests to stand together. Oswego is entitled to a resident Judge and Jefferson should assist in getting the nomination."

The visitors said that they expected to receive the support of Onondaga county in the contest. They said that no direct statements had been made by the delegates of Syracuse, but that they had received every assurance of the solid vote of the Onondaga delegation in the convention.

The members of the party with the exception of Mr. Hubbs returned to Oswego Monday night. Mr. Hubbs remained here today and called up on numerous friends.

DR. MARY WALKER POPULAR

Dr. Mary Walker of Oswego was awarded the first prize for being the "best dressed woman" on the State Fair grounds yesterday.

This honor was conferred on her by the officials in the Executive Building yesterday afternoon when the doctor, trim in her masculine costume, called on Secretary Stanton C. Shaver and Treasurer Albert E. Brown. To clinch this award the doctor was tagged with a blue ribbon bearing the words, "First Prize," which she proudly exhibited to everyone she saw.

In the morning the doctor addressed one of the largest audiences at the Woman's Building this year. Her hearers were at first amused by the appearance of the little woman over 70 years of age; then their curiosity turned to lively attention as she began to address them in a most intelligent manner about legislature matters, of which she thinks it is the duty of every woman to have some knowledge.

Dr. Walker claims she is the first advocate of woman's suffrage who personally appeared before the Legislature to have women freed from thei "political bondage." This claim has been repudiated by the State Suffrage Association, which gives the honor to Susan B. Anthony of Rochester.

BEST TREATMENT FOR A BURN.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one, heals the parts without leaving a scar. This salve is also unequalled for chapped hands, sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers.

SAW ROYAL HEIR PERFORM

Lile Lake, of Fulton, had his horse Royal Heir in the 2:16 pacing race at the State Fair yesterday and he came in fifth, just outside the money. This is the first race that the stallion has been seen in this Summer, but he is now going into the Fall campaign. Mr. Lake said that he is perfectly satisfied with the way the "boy" performed yesterday. The best time was 2:10 1-4.—Palladium.

Under Section 164, a non-resident who is a taxpayer may obtain a hunting license by the payment of $10.50. He must be a taxpayer at the time of his application.

If the open season commences or ends on Sunday, it shall be deemed to commence or end as the case may be, on the Saturday immediately preceding such Sunday.

The Legislature will be in session for a short season in September, but we do not anticipate much change in the Game Law, but be forewarned and keep yourself posted as to what possibly might take place in some further amendments.

Section 92. Birds Not To Be Sold.

The bodies of dead game, birds and song birds belonging to any species or subspecies native to this State, protected by this chapter or belonging to any family, any species or subspecies which is native to this State and protected by this Chapter, shall not be sold, offered for sale or possessed for sale for food purposes within this State whether killed within or without this State, except as provided by section 96-a and 96-b.

Dealers in game should ask the department at Albany regarding how foreign game may be sold.

Section 85-a. Prohibiting the sale of game. The dead bodies of wild hares, squirrels of all species, and wild deer, elk, moose and caribou of all species shall not be sold, offered for sale or possessed for sale for food purposes within this State, whether they shall have been killed within or without the State, except that the flesh of any wild game is actually in the possession of any dealer and lawfully held within the State of New York at the time of the passage of this act may be sold by such dealer during the open season for such wild game mammals next immediately ensuing provided the same shall have been tagged in the manner provided by Section 78-a, such tagging to be done before being withdrawn from bond.

ONONDAGA'S POSITION

(Post-Standard).

The Syracuse Post-Standard announces that Onondaga county has this year no Republican candidate for justice of the Supreme Court in the Fifth Judicial district. Is the county good enough to know that it has its share already?—Utica Observer.

Yes, Onondaga county has no candidate for Supreme Court justice this fall because it is good enough to know that it has its share.

Onondaga county has three justices. But it has only one trial justice. Oneida, Herkimer and Lewis have each one trial justice. It is conceded that Jefferson should continue to have a trial justice.

Oswego county is the only county in this district which has no trial justice. It has had none for several years.

The candidate of Oswego county before the judicial convention has his party solidly behind him. He is a capable lawyer, worthy the indorsement his party has given him. He will come before the convention at a time when the county seats of the five other counties have resident trial justices. The equities of the situation, in short, will strongly favor Mr. Hubbs.

Because the equities of the situation favor the candidate from Oswego county. The Post-Standard expects to see him have the support of the Onondaga delegation in the convention.

ATTACKS SCHOOL PRINCIPAL.

A fierce attack on school principal, Charles B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, Kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at Red Cross Pharmacy.

SELLS MANICURE BUSINESS

NO PROHIBITION TICKET IN ONEIDA COUNTY

The Camden Advance Journal says:

"The Prohibition party cannot participate in the coming political campaign because its officials have failed to file with the Board of Election a legal certificates of conventions to be held and offices for which the party would send delegates. The certificate should have been filed on or beforeA ugust 31. The commissioners of election wrote Fred W. Barnacle, chairman of the Prohibition County Committee asking that he file the required certificate, but none came in response."

DR. WILEY FULLY SUSTAINED

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 15.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, government chemist and champion of the people against the food adulterators, will hold his job. Some others in the Department of Agriculture may not.

This was made known today in a decision by President Taft in the eleventh hour of his stay in Beverly, and just previous to his start on his six weeks' speaking tour of the west. The action of the President fulfills a promise made when he left Washington to settle the famous case, which has already extended several months, before leaving Beverly. In his decision which is in the form of a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the President declares that Dr. Wiley was justified in all that he did in the matter of the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby, as an expert chemist: that he was no party to the correspondence involved in the case; that Dr. Wiley acted in accordance with numerous precedents, and that he cannot but command the sympathy of every one for his earnest effort to maintain the pure food law.

The President also recommends the retention of Dr. H. H. Rusby in the government service and rules adversely to the decision of the personnel board of the department which advised that besides Dr. Kiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, Dr. L. F. Kebler, chief of the drug laboratory of the bureau, be "allowed to resign."

The President recommends that Dr. Kebler he reprimanded for what he declares was "disingenuous conduct," as shown by letters he wrote in connection with the employment of Dr. Rushby.

"The language of his letters does not have a commendable tone," says the President "and shows a willingness to resort to evasion that calls for official reproof."

Dr. W. D. Bigelow is also reprimanded.

President Taft intimates plainly that much radical action may be expected when he takes up the "very much broader question in the investigation of the Bureau of Chemistry by a congressional committee."

President Taft explains the action of Attorney General Wickersham who asked for an opinion on the recommendation of personnel board, joined with them in advising that "condign punishment" be meted out to Dr. Wiley, by declaring that Wickersham was given only a part of the actual evidence on which to form his opinion and "hence his judgment was different, doubtless, from what it would have been if he had had the whole record before him, as I have now."

WILL BOOM RICHLAND

Richland, Sept. 14.—Believing that the development of Salmon River Falls will cause a great boom in this vicinity, a new organization to advance the interests of Richland, know as the Richland Commercial Association has been formed and the following officers elected: President, R. L. Scott; vice president, W. D. Streeter; secretary, A. W. Wright; treasurer, E M. Moore. A committee on by-laws, consisting of E. C. Curtiss, O. B. Sprague and H. L.G reenley, and a committee on membership consisting of F. D. Reed, D. H. Stewart and F. L. Wright have been appointed.

It is reported that the Salmon River Company will build a new railroad from Richland to Salmon River Falls and Stillwater.

Rev. York Leaves Pastorate

REV. J. G. YORK

The Rev. J. G. York on Sunday evening next, severs his pastorate in the First Baptist church after five years of faithful and energetic effort. Mr. York has been a forceful preacher and an earnest pastor. He has been interested in the social and educational as well as the spiritual life of the church, nor has he been unmindful of the finances of the institution, to the end that the society has grown and prospered under his pastorate.

In his work he has been aided by his wife who has also endeared herself to the church membership.

Mr. York leaves Fulton to take up the broader work of looking after the spiritual life of the 500 students in the Baptist Guild at Ann Harbor, Mich. Mr. York is young, active and interested and he will bring to his work enthusiasm and a tremendous energy that cannot help but be productive of good to his cause. Mr. and Mrs. York and family leave on September 26 for their new home, to which they will be followed by the very best wishes of their host of friends in this vicinity.

The Young People's society entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Addie Mosso, in farewell to Mr. and Mrs. York. On Friday evening in the church parlors the Baraca Class and the Philathea class will entertain for the departing pastor and his wife. Mr. York will speak his farewell words to his congregation from the pulpit on Sunday evening.

BENCH CANDIDATES TO BE NAMED

Republican Judicial Convention Will Be Held in OnondagaC ounty

TheR epublican judicial convention for the Fifth Judicial district to name two candidates to be voted for at the coming election for Supreme court justice in the Fifth district will be held at the Court House in this city on October 3d. The judicial committee, at its meeting here Saturday afternoon at the offices of Hiscock, Williams, Doheny & Cowie, named the time and place after efforts had been made by Oswego county to have the convention held at Pulaski and Jefferson county had tried to land it in Watertown.

A. H. Cowie, Onondaga county's member on the judicial committee and chairman of the committee last year, was re-elected to the same position for the coming year. He presided at the Saturday meeting, which chose George H. Bunce of Herkimer as secretary of the committee.

The members of the committee present at the meeting were Surrogate Joseph Atwell, representing Jefferson county; N. B. Smith of Pulaski, representing Oswego county; J. A. Pease representing Lewis county; Emerson M. Willis, representing Oneida county George H. Bunce, representing Herkimer county, and Mr. Cowie, representing Onondaga county.

No opposition from Onondaga county to the nomination of Irving G. Hubbs has so far developed and the best informed feel that there will be none. The county, while desirous of having another resident justice, does not think it would be either a wise or a logical proceeding at this time to put forward a candidate. There has been talk in some quarters of a dark horse being groomed and made ready for the race, but the men who know most of the situation and know it best declare that there will be no such action taken. It is declared now that it is almost as certain as possible that Onondaga will support Mr. Hubbs of Pulaski.

Justice Henry Purcell of Watertown, who made such a favorable showing here while filling out the unexpired term of the late Justice Watson M. Rogers, will undoubtedly be nominated by the Democrats of Watertown. It was urged on behalf of a district judiciary free from politics that the candidacy of Justice Purcell be indorsed by the Republicans of the district.

The Republicans, however, are not prepared to do this and will name their own ticket. The Democrats, it is said, have practically decided that they will name only Justice Purcell and leave the other space on the ticket blank. There was talk of indorsing a Republican candidate, but this, it is said, will not be done now.—Syracuse Herald, Monday.

PROHIBITIONISTS TO REORGANIZE METHODS

Far from retiring from active political life, the Prohibition party in the State is to adopt new tactics and hope by so doing to secure a better showing in the line of things attained than during the past two years The plan now is that all county committees are to be abolished and in their place there will be named 150 Assembly district chairmen, each having a salary of $100 per year.

These 150 Assembly district leaders will work direct with the Chairman of the State Committee and also with the 5,000 election district captains throughout the State. In this way it is believed that the State can be more thoroughly worked than in any other way and the State Committee will direct only 150 leaders, who, in turn will each direct from forty to fifty men. State Chairman Pitts says that the State wide enrollment is to be put into operation. Every one of the forty oil workers in this county, and those in other countiesa lso, will give one day a week to the cause of Prohibition in their respective localities.

The Prohibition County Convention is to be held at the Courthouse in Oswego September 29th. There will be 205 delegates and an equal number of alternates.

The Fifth Judicial Convention will be held at Pulaski October 5th, at 10:30 a. m.

Petitions are now being circulated in the following towns, which are "wet," for a resubmission of the license proposition to the voters: Albion, Amboy, Constantia, Hastings, Mexico, Oswego Town. Parish, Redfield, Richland, Schroeppel, Volney, West Monroe and Williamstown.

In the following other towns of the county, which are now dry, it is expected that the "wets" will ask for the resubmission of the question: Boylston, Granby, Hannibal, New Haven, Orwell, Palermo, Sandy Creek and Scriba.

For a resubmission of the license question it is necessary to get out a petition bearing at least ten per cent. of the voters of the respective towns. With resubmisston in the "wet" towns, the Prohibitionists are going to ask for the election of a full Prohibition party ticket, that the laws may be enforced.

RECOVER LARGE JUDGMENT

The Battle Island Paper Company has received a judgment of $10,000 against Jessup, Moore and Company of Philadelphia, action in account for paper sold.

LUKE McHENRY DEAD

After a six weeks critical illness, the result of a heart affection of long standing, aggravated by hard work and a severe mental strain, Luke J. McHenry of Chittenango, clerk of the State Assembly, died at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the Clifton Springs sanatarium where he had been a patient for five weeks, suffering from arteric sclerosis and general breakdown.

Mr. McHenry's death, although it had been practically certain for nearly a month, came suddenly at the last. Half a dozen times or more he was believed to be dying and each time he rallied and started in again upon his fight for life. He himself did not give up hope of his ultimate recovery so long as consciousness remained to him, and within a very short time he had spoken with interest of the extra session of the Assembly still in progress, and had asked concerning the news from Albany. He was keenly interested in party affairs till the last.

At his bedside when he passed away were Mr. McHenry's wife and son, Lee W. McHenry, a graduate of Syracuse university and now a student in the Columbia College of Law. He had no other near relatives.

The body of Mr. McHenry was taken to Chittenango and the funeral will be held with Masonic honors at the First Presbyterian church of that village on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The deceased was born in Frederick county, Maryland, forty-five years ago and was educated in the public schools of Mechanicstown, his native village, and at New Windsor college, near Baltimore. At college, he first became interested in newspaper work, and had a prominent part in the publication of the college paper. For two years after leaving school, he lived in the West, but at the age of 19, returned to Maryland and went to Ellicott City, where, in pursuance of his desire to embark in newspaper work, he learned the printer's trade, at the same time acting as local correspondent for the Baltimore Sun. Later he worked as both printer and reporter on various Washington papers.

When he was 21, he acquired the Madison County Times in Chittenango. He was handicapped in that Madison is a strongly Republican county, while the Times was, from the time that it came into his hands conducted as a Democratic organ. He built up a good circulation and later purchased the Oneida Union, editing both papers at the time his health failed. He retained his residence in Chittenango.

Mr. McHenry had been president of the New York Press association and had twice been elected to the presidency of the Democratic Editorial association, a position which he still held at the time of his death. He had several times represented the Press association at national press conventions. At one time Mr. McHenry considered purchasing a Fulton paper.

THE FULTON TIMES

ESTABLISHED 1868 — FULTON, N. Y., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1911 — VOL. 44 NO. 50

Our Fortieth Anniversary

The officers and directors of the Fulton Savings Bank, with pardonable pride point to the record of this institution which has just passed its fortieth anniversary.—Founded September 25, 1871, deposits have grown year by year until today the total has passed the Million and Three-quarter Dollar mark.

Our safe and conservative policy, coupled with courteous treatment at all times, has, in a great measure, been responsible for our remarkable growth.

We take this method of thanking our friends and customers for their co-operation.

FULTON SAVINGS BANK
Founded 1871

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Now Extended to at Least 150 Second Class Offices—When It Embraces All Money Order Offices, As At Present Calculated, It Is Estimated Deposits Shall Amount to At Least $200,000,000 Per Annum.

The Postal Savings bank established by the Federal officials in Fulton and elsewhere is winning its way in the confidence of the public. Why should it not do so when the faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits, with accrued interest.

Many savings depositories have been established—in many instances as experiments—but the result has been so successful that it is now contemplated that the system will eventually include all money order offices, thus providing places of deposit in many localities where there are at present no banking facilities whatever.

The method to be pursued by the contemplative depositor is one of the utmost simplicity. He or she really buys little Government bonds of from one dollar upward, that pay interest at two per cent. a year; whenever it is desired, the Government will buy any or all of them back at cost price. Suppose, to begin with, you have but one dollar to deposit; you go to your postoffice, if it is a savings depository, fill out a simple form of application and hand the postmaster your dollar. He gives you in return a postal savings certificate for one dollar, which you sign and retain, also signing a duplicate certificate for him to hold as a record. He also gives you a deposit envelope, bearing your name, account number and address, in which you are to keep your certificates. On the back of this envelope is a blank ledger record upon which each deposit, the date from which interest begins and the date of final payment may be very readily noted. Whenever you choose, you may buy other certificates in denominations of $1, $2, $5 $10, $20 or $50.

Interest is computed on each certificate separately, from the first day of the month following the purchase of the certificate. It accrues each year at the rate of two per cent., but is not compounded; therefore, when the interest due equals or exceeds one dollar, it is well to collect it and to reinvest the amount in other certificates which will in turn bear interest. To withdraw interest, the depositor hands a receipt, in duplicate, for the amount to the postmaster, who pays the money, noting the payment upon the back of the certificate. To cash a certificate, the depositor need only endorse it in the presence of the postmaster, who will pay its face value, with interest, if any is due.

The entire system is for the people as individuals, as no accounts are opened in the names of firms, corporations or societies, and none in the name of one person for another. Your account remains a private matter between yourself and the Department.

A married woman's account can in no way be controlled by her husband. No fees whatever may be charged. No one may have more than one account; no account may be for less than one dollar nor more than five hundred dollars, exclusive of interest, and no person may deposit more than one hundred dollars in any one calendar month. Fractions of a dollar are not received on deposit, as that would complicate bookkeeping. The rules provide that, in case of the loss of a certificate, the postmaster may issue a new one when the depositor has complied with necessary requirements. By the use of special forms, anyone unable to appear at the office in person may open an account or make deposits or withdrawals through an accredited agent.

The opportunities for investment afforded by the postal savings system are considerably extended by the issue of postal savings bonds, obtainable only in exchange for postal savings certificates. These bonds, of either the registered or coupon variety, are issued in denominations of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of one hundred dollars up to and including five hundred dollars, and bear interest at the rate of two and one-half per cent. a year, payable semi-annually. They may be sold or assigned by the depositor at any time to any person. There is no limitation placed upon the amount of bonds allowed to any one depositor, and postal savings deposits converted into bonds are not counted as part of the maximum of five-hundred-dollar deposits allowed any one depositor. This provision makes it possible for anyone over ten years old gradually to invest his or her entire savings in interest-bearing Government securities that are readily convertible into cash.

The system also embraces children and small investors. Indeed, the most interesting feature is the postal savings card, especially designed to encourage thrift among such. This card costs 10 cents. Whenever the small investor has an additional dime to spare, he or she may buy a ten-cent postal savings stamp and paste it on the card, and when the card is adorned with nine of these stamps, it may be exchanged for a one-dollar interest-bearing certificate. That will be much more exciting than dropping pennies into a tin bank.

The experimental test in the establishment of the postal savings system has proven so satisfactory that the officials are well pleased with the result. At the close of February of this year, after the plan had been in operation a little less than two months, there were 3,664 accounts, with total deposits of $133,869. Should the same ratio of deposits and withdrawal be maintained, at the end of the year there would be on deposit $802,214. But the aggregate population of towns where established is but 370,000. From this the experts of the Postoffice Department figure that, if the postal savings system should be patronized only in the same proportion when it is established at all money order postoffices, the total amount on deposit after one year's operation would be about two hundred million dollars. But as the patronage of the depositors is pretty sure to increase as the system becomes better known, the figures may well be much larger.

SUPERINTENDENT OF POOR.

C. A. STONE

The record of County Superintendent of the Poor C. A. Stone, during his three years conduct of the office, clearly pleads its own cause for his re-election. Mr. Stone's ability is recognized far beyond the confines of Oswego county and his record of improvements achieved, and at small expenditure, is not excelled by any of his predecessors. Mr. Stone was Oswego county's only Republican candidate for the office, it being unanimously conceded that he was the right man for the trying position that requires the wisdom of a serpent and the harmlessness of a dove to fill acceptably. In Mrs. Stone he has found an able and interested partner as matron, and even during Mr. Stone's enforced absences from the county home there are no lose ends.

When Mr. Stone became superintendent he was quick to note the necessity for a hospital in which the sick and suffering unfortunates might be comfortably housed, and away from those in better health. He converted one of the rooms into a hospital, light, airy and cheerful, in which a dozen patients might be cared for and be secured the services of an inteligent, patient, woman to care for the sick. Prior to this innovation the inmates and the matron had given what care they could to sufferers.

Last year there were new floors laid in many unsanitary rooms; new ceilings and side walls were added in some rooms unsafe and uncleanly, and a new laundry was installed and equipped.

This year Mr. Stone hopes to see a new ice house erected, a new veranda built and the stables renovated and improved.

Mr. Stone every day is receiving hearty support from loyal friends throughout the county, not a section of which is unfamiliar with his splendid record as an executive. His presence on the Republican ticket brings strength to it.

Mr. Stone has served his party prior to his present office, as highway commissioner and town collector of Scriba and he also served six years as clerk in the assembly under Assemblymen Costello, Whitney and Lewis.

MARRIED

The marriage of Mr. George Moon and Miss Florence Collins occurred on Saturday, the Rev. F. A. Miller officiating.

Mr. John Owens and Miss Nettie Sutton stole quietly away to Canada one day last week and were united in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Owens make their home at No. 122 Oak street.

The marriage of Mr. Thomas E. McNamara and Miss Margaret Denton of this city, took place in the Catholic church on Wednesday, the Rev. J. L. Lindsman officiating. The young couple were attended by Frank McNamara of this city and Miss Anna Sheridan of Oswego.

MissMartha E, Blaser and Mr. William Truax were united in marriage on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents in First street, the Rev. F. A. Miller officiating. Mr. Truax is employed in the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper mill. The young couple are now at home to their friends at No. 367 Third street.

On September 19, Mr. Joseph Clark of Pomona, Calif., and Miss Maude Coles of Granby were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Coles, by the Rev. Mr. Fuller of Elmira, assisted by the Rev. Charles Olmstead. The young couple were attended by Miss Hattie Wilcox and Mr. Ralph Coles. After the ceremony and congratulations dinner was served the fifty guests present and Mr. and Mrs. Clark left for their future home in California.

On Wednesday evening, September 20, a pretty wedding took place when Miss Alice C. VanPatten and Mr. David R. VanPatten of Sterling Station, N. Y., were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hunter on Fourth street. The house was banked with hydrangeas and asters, the color scheme being pink and white. Promptly at 6 o'clock the bride gowned in gray crepe de chene over gray messaline and carrying white asters, entered, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman M. Anderson of Syracuse. The latter was gowned in blue poplin and carried pink asters. The groom was attended by Mr. Sherman M. Anderson. Rev. George Wellburn performed the ceremony. After congratulations were to over sixty. The bride's travelling gown was of navy blue with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. VanPatten left by automobile amid a shower of confetti, for a short bridal trip, after which they will be at home to their friends at Sterling Station, N. Y. The bride received many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, linen and furniture. Among the out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Anderson, Canastota, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Sherman M. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Taggert, all of Syracuse; Miss Alice VanPatten of Oswego, Miss Jane VanPatten and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Taber of Sterling Station, Miss Minnie Guile of Cato, Mrs. John Hunter of Sterling Valley and Dr. Grosse of New York City.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Cornish in Volney was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Wednesday evening when their daughter, Helen Eudora, become the bride of Mr. Charles Grover Laird of Attica. Pink and white had been selected as the color scheme and it was artistically and skillfully carried out in asters: ropes of asters garlanded the windows, arches and were pendent from ceilings. They were massed everywhere, the willing hands of the young friends having converted the family home into a floral picture. As the bridal party entered the parlor, the bride leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away, the wedding march was played on piano and violin by Mrs. L. W. Baker and her son Louis, of Oswego. The bride was becomingly gowned in a beautiful robe of white chiffon over silk, hand embroidered, and she wore a tulle veil and carried a shower boquet of white asters. She was attended by Miss Doris Dievendorf as maid of honor. She wore a girlish gown of white chiffon and carried an arm boquet of white asters. Little Miss Dorothy Dievendorf was flower girl and ring bearer. The Rev. George Ward was the officiating clergyman Attica, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Baker and tions the 55 invited guests were served an elaborate luncheon, during the serving of which the bride and groom managed to escape unnoticed, starting their bridal trip in an automobile. After a brief trip Mr. and Mrs. Laird will be at home to their friends at Attica where Mr. Laird is a prosperous and highly esteemed farmer of the new school, having graduated from the Cornell Agricultural college. The bride's going away gown was of green, tailored, and she wore a hat to match. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. McLane and Mr. Loyd Laird Attica, Mr. and Mrs. L. W .aBker and son, Louis, Oswego and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Dievendorf, Lysander.

INTERESTING QUESTION RAISED.

State Claims Ownership of Water Used By Fulton Light, Heat and Power Company.

Albany, Sept. 22.—A nice legal point is involved in the use of the waters of the Oswego river by the Fulton Light, Heat & Power Company and Milton J. Warner, and should the action by the Canal board be executed to the letter the city of Fulton may have to rely on the moon for its night illumination.

On August 1, 1909, the State appropriated the lands, structures and waters belonging to the company and Mr. Warner, in Fulton, for the barge canal. The owners went before the Court of Claims with their claims for damages and were awarded full compensation for all claims amounting to $356,019.

The taking over by the State of the lands, which the Canal board contends carried with it the riparian rights to the waters of the river, did not prevent the claimants from using the waters. This was done, an action of the Canal board at a meeting today showed, without any arrangement with the State, and without compensation.

The claimants contended that they have the right to continue to use the water. The State officials say that they have no rights in the matter.

To bring the matter to a focus the Canal board adopted a resolution today requesting the superintendent of public works, upon giving 30 days' notice to the claimants, to cut off all the water that the claimants are now using which the State has paid for. The resolution also directed that, upon so doing, the superintendent be requested to certify to the conservation commission that, at that point (in the Oswego river) there are surplus waters belonging to the State available for hydraulic uses.

The case will be watched with interest, as it involves an important legal question.

PROHIBITIONISTS HOLD CAUCUS.

The Prohibition caucusesa nd city convention were held last evening. Editor A. P. Bradt was chairman. Mr. S. D. Wells became the unanimous choice for Mayor of Fulton. The following delegates to the several conventions were selected:

CIVIL WAR ECHOES

Conquered by Love

A soldier in the army of the Potomac was the terror of his company. He was disobedient, covel, quarrelsome and vicious. As a result, he was often terribly punished, but there was no reformation. In due time, by the fortunes of war, a captain from another regiment was placed in command of that company. The very first day the orderly sergeant informed the captain of the terrible character of this incorrigible soldier. That afternoon the man perpetratred some misdemeanor, was arrested by a sergeant and brought before the captain. He looked at him for a moment, and speaking to the sergeant, said: "Let him go to his quarters." "Shall I keep him under guard?" inquired the sergeant. "Oh, no," said the captain, quietly. That evening the captain called his sergeant and said, "Go down to Mr. Blanks' quarters and tell him to come up to my tent, that I want to see him." "Shall I bring him up under guard?" inquired the sergeant. "Oh, no," said the captain, "Just tell him to come; I guess he'll come if you tell him."

In due time the soldier stood inside the captain's tent, cap in hand. He was of fine physique, brave and daring. "Take a seat, sir," said the captain. The soldier obeyed, but all the time looked defiance. The captain inquired of his home, relatives, etc., and then said, "I have heard all about you and thought I would like to see you privately and talk with you. You have been punished often, most times no doubt justly; but perhaps sometimes unjustly. I see in you the making of a first-class soldier. Just the kind I would like to have a whole company of, and now if you will obey orders and behave as a soldier should, and I know you can, I promise you on my honor as a soldier that I will be your friend and stand by you. I do not want you to destroy yourself." With that the soldier's lips began to quiver and the tears trickled down his checks and he said: "Captain, you are the first man to speak a kind word to me in two yedrs, and for your sake I'll do it."

"Give me your hand on that, my brave fellow," said the captain, "I'll trust you."

And from that day on there was not a better or more exemplary soldier in the army of the Potomac.—Scrap Book. S. D. Gardner.

A FIERCE NIGHT ALARM.

Is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, O., (R.R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. Kings' New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, Hay Fever, La Grippe, Whooping Cough, Hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Sold by Red Cross Pharmacy.

STRAWBERRIES ARE RIPE

Pulaski, Sept. 23.—Late Fall strawberries are being picked in good quantities at Maplewood farm, owned by Lawrence J. Farmer, originator of this wonderful berry. The last crop of 1910 was picked on November 10th. John F. Hubbard, of the Pulaski House ,yesterday served his guests with delicious strawberry shortcake, made from the Fall-bearing berries. Mr. Farmer expects to pick berries until hard freezing weather sets in.

UP STATE IS IGNORED.

Held In Contempt by Murphy and Tammany.

PARTISANSHIP IS ONLY AIM.

Republicans Sought to Conserve State Wide Interests With Minimum Hardship to Several Subdivisions of the State, While Democrats Look Only to Party Expediency.

Albany, Sept. 26.—In a great state like New York, with diversified interests and a polyglot population, there must necessarily be a wide contrast in locality sentiment and needs. Different conditions prevail in Chautauqua and Chenango counties, in Clinton and Allegany, in Buffalo and Syracuse, in up state and Greater New York.

Legislators are chosen to represent the best interests of the entire state, also to take care of their own immediate constituencies. Occasionally, as in the excise, highway, automobile and general taxation legislation, the state wide interests appear to conflict with local needs or conditions.

It was the Republican policy to try to work out a plan of procedure which would conserve the general good, yet impose only a minimum hardship on the several localities all over the state. This task was rendered the more easy because the Republican majority in the legislature was made up of New York city and up state members who worked in harmony.

Conditions are changed in the legislature of 1911. The dominant majority is controlled by Tammany senators and assemblymen from New York city, who have no knowledge of or sympathy with up state conditions or sentiment. Their legislative policy is shaped along the selfish idea that New York city advantage must be kept uppermost and the only thing to be kept constantly in mind, and this only with an eye to securing and retaining partisan advantage for Tammany Hall.

Now, Tammany Hall wishes to maintain its supremacy in New York city. Mr. Murphy complains that the election law as it was on the statute books on Jan. 1 last was not framed with that end in view. If partisan advantage in New York city only were aimed at, any one not abnormally stupid would have ordered the repeal of the provisions of the election law thought to weigh heavily on New York city. At least, this would seem to be the logical change. But Charles F. Murphy is not logical; he is stupid, in a broad political sense, so he showed his contempt by ordering his boys in Albany to put through amendments to the election law so as to hamper and harass the voters in rural districts while making voting easier in New York city. Not only that, but, in order to stifle independent voting up state, the election law was so framed that fusion tickets are impossible in the future.

Clearly it is Tammany's intention, as shown by these and other episodes intended to show Murphy's utter contempt for up state sentiment, to subject every up state community which does not meekly accept the Tammany domination to every sort of insult.

Where Is He At?

A "lost, strayed or stolen" sign was up at Rochester yesterday. John A. Dix—the small one of the name—made governor by that providence which moves in mysterious ways its wonders to perform, was expected to review the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, but suddenly disappeared from the scene, and nobody seemed able to account for his flight. It seemed most strange, for an impressionable public had been led to believe him on fire with martial ardor and so instinctively appetized for association with the heroes of war, for didn't this de jure governor, in disregard of all the precedents and proprieties, recently appear at the state camp in full panoply of fuss and feathers, a falchion belted at his rugged hip—a sight for Mars to sit up and regard with serious emotion? Was it because through unfortunate forgetfulness Mr. Dix had left some part of his embattled regalia at home that he "made his sneak," or did it really happen that occasion arose for the string attached to him to be pulled by Charles F. Murphy at the other end of the state? Perhaps we shall know soon and the pained curiosity of a distressed people will be relieved. — Buffalo Courier (Dem.).

Politics on the Canals.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 26.—State Superintendent of Public Works Treman ranks as a reformer, especially as a devotee of civil service reform, but recent developments do not bear out the report. Senator Murtaugh secured a $30,000 appropriation to repair the Chemung dike. Mr. Treman announced that the work would not be let under contract, in order to give local laborers a chance to work. It turns out that no local men are put to work unless they present an O. K. from Mayor Sheehan, who represents the Murphy-Stanchfield Democratic machine in Elmira. Men who apply for positions are referred to Mayor Sheehan. If they accept the tip, they go to work. If they do not, then there is no work.

WHAT WOULD MR. DIX DO?

Would He Return to the Old Time Conditions?

Albany, Sept. 26. — Unnecessary boards and commissions should be abolished. We have been creating too many offices, every unnecessary or useless one of which should be at once abolished.—Governor Dix in First Annual Message.

It must be that the Democratic administration did not find any useless or unnecessary offices in existence, because just as fast as they abolished a bureau or an office, so as to get rid of a Republican incumbent, they at once created a new one with longer term and fatter salary attached, to which at once Governor Dix appointed one of "Murphy's boys."

In his first annual message Governor Dix complained because the expenses for the state care of its insane wards had increased during recent years. How could it be otherwise when our insane population is increasing at the average rate that it is? Can the governor suggest means to reduce our insane population? Would he return to the days of Hill and Flower when each county cared for its own insane wards in ill lighted, ill ventilated and insanitary buildings and half starved them?

Governor Dix complains in his annual message because the cost of maintenance of our state prisons has increased of late years.

Can the governor suggest any method of reducing our prison population? As a matter of fact, it is increasing every year. Prisons must be built, prisoners must be maintained, guards and wardens must be hired and paid. Sing Sing prison must be abandoned, and the state has authorized the purchase of a site and the erection of a new prison. This is criticised by the governor, whose veto has also stopped the work on a new prison in Washington county. Does the governor advocate a policy of overcrowding our present prisons? Today New York state cares for her prison inmates at an annual per capita cost of $134.31, the lowest rate of any state where prisoners are not farmed out to contractors in competition with citizen labor. Does Governor Dix advocate a return to the convict labor system in New York state? To be sure, the state constitution must be amended to bring this about, but if the governor wishes to test public sentiment on this point let him lead in a crusade for a return to contract convict labor in New York state.

GOVERNOR DIX THEN AND NOW

Declaration in First Annual Message and Its Contradiction.

Albany, Sept. 26—A particularly flagrant case of abuse has been the engaging in almost every department of special counsel—to whom large fees are paid—to do the legal work of the state which properly should be done by the office of the attorney general. I recommend such changes in the law as may be necessary to restore to him the work now placed in the hands of counsel to the various departments, and I particularly suggest the immediate transfer to him of all the legal work of the state so far as practicable. In this way, a great saving of money can be effected and the legal business of the state centralized in one office with great resulting advantage to the people.—Governor John A. Dix in His First Annual Message.

Governor Dix was not the first executive of the state to fondly imagine that the attorney general could take charge of all the legal business of the state. Time and experience have demonstrated that certain state departments can take care of their own law business more expediticusly and cheaper, too, than can the attorney general. However, Governor Dix himself did not practice what he preached because he at once hired a private counsel and an assistant—at state expense.

What response did the Tammany controlled legislature make to this Democratic governor?

Not one single special counsel to a state department was legislated out of office. The new state conservation commission was provided with a $7,000 a year general counsel and a $5,000 a year assistant counsel—these in addition to the newly created "conservation bureau" in Attorney General Carmody's office at an expense, initial at that, of $16,750 a year.

Moreover, the legislature authorized Attorney General Carmody to appoint as many additional deputies as he pleased and to fix their compensation.

And the same Governor Dix who on Jan. 1 inveighed so vigorously against the special counsel abuse, signed the bills continuing them all.

Woodrow Wilson Warned.

Some Jersey friends of Governor Wilson called on Charles F. Murphy in behalf of their favorite for president and were informed that New York might present the name of a son of her own to the Democratic national convention. No name was mentioned.

Whereupon the New York World puts the national Democracy on notice—no New York candidate and no candidate from any state through New York's influence. By submitting to Mr. Murphy's leadership the New York Democracy has forfeited its claims to consideration. A Tammany candidate for president would offend the country.—Washington Star.

Start Something, Governor!

Governor Dix complains because we pay for improvements to state institutions and also for new construction out of current revenues instead of by bond issues. Has he recommended such a bond issue? No. Instead he has vetoed practically all bills looking toward new construction work.

A Cry For Help.

A cry, 'Come over and help us!" comes not from Macedonia, but from our own section of the State, where farmers are unable to procure the help they need—skilled or unskilled—and housewives in cities of the size of Fulton can not secure the services of competent women familiar with the discharge of ordinary household duties. In the larger cities, especially the Metropolis, the benches in the parks and in obscure places, are lined with able-bodied men who are deaf to all glittering offers of good wages on farms or in manufacturing industries. There are thousands of unemployed men who prefer the life of tramp or vagrant rather than accept remunerative employment in the rural district. Truly the "harvest is great and the laborers are few," and a solution of the problem seems impossible at this time.

The Smoke Nuisance.

A supreme effort should be made by all public-spirited citizens of Fulton to abate the "smoke nuisance." One cannot fail to be impressed with the forbearance and patience of the public when it is possible to watch the trains—passenger and otherwise—which pass through one of the principal sections of our city and observe the dense clouds of smoke emitted from the locomotives on the N. Y. C. and O. & W. lines when reaching Fulton. The plan evidently adopted by the firemen, probably under instructions from the engineers, when approaching the South Second street grade, between Oneida street and Broadway, is to fill up the firebox of the locomotive with coal and then put on the "blower," causing such dense volumes of smoke as oftentimes to obscure sunlight, and nightfall furnishes no abatement of the nuisance. Housekeepers are prevented from keeping windows open in the warm weather on this and adjacent streets, and it is equally disastrous in the Winter season, as it is practically impossible to keep out the particles of soot which settle on curtains and articles of furniture.

A correct civic spirit is the only remedy. Relief should be sought through proper channels. The large manufacturing concerns are equally culpable. An organized effort should be made through citizens' organizations for the abatement of a nuisance that is well-nigh intolerable.

The Canadian Elections.

The Canadian elections were held last Thursday and resulted in the overwhelming defeat of reciprocity and the Laurier administration. It was a political landslide, sweeping away the Liberal majority of 48 and giving the Conservatives one of the heaviest majorities that any Canadian party has ever had, somewhere around 50. This means that the reciprocity agreement, ratified by the American Congress in extra session, will not be introduced when the twelfth Parliament assembles next month, and that a revised basis of trade with the United States, looking to closer commercial relations, will not be possible in the immediate future. The Conservatives are committed to a policy of trade expansion within the empire and a closed door against the United States.

When the result of the contest was told President Taft, he remarked: "I had hoped the measure (reciprocity) would have been adopted to prove the correctness of my judgment that it would have been a good thing for both countries. It takes two to make a bargain, and if Canada declines we can still go on doing business at the old stand."

President Taft Explains.

At Grand Rapids, Mich., on Thursday Mr. Taft explained his voting of the tariff bills of the last session of Congress. "I am in favor of reduction of the tariff wherever it can be done and still give a living measure of protection to the industries of the country that need it," declared Mr. Taft, adding, however, his conviction that the time had come when tariff changes should be made only in the light of definite information. "If I had allowed the wool bill to become a law the progress made in public opinion toward a better method of revising the tariff would have been entirely lost and the policy cast to the winds," he said, after declaring that twenty-eight states had declared in their platforms for a policy of a tariff commission or board and quoting passages to that effect from many of these platforms, including those of New York and Wisconsin. He showed that the insurgent Republicans had been most insistent for that policy, although they had voted for the nondescript and ill drawn compromise of last summer.

The Levy law, forbidding the duplication on the ballot of the names of candidates, nominated by more than one party, has been declarde unconstitutional by Justice Edward J. Gavegan of the Supreme Court, First district. It is the opinion of Justice Gavegan that the provisions of the Levy law unequal, unfair and discriminating and are therefore repugnant to the plain mandate of the constitution. On the basis of the foregoing decision the New York City Board of Elections has been directed to have the official ballot arranged and printed according to the election code as it stood before the Levy amendments were enacted. Undoubtedly the higher courts will be petitioned and a final decision reached before time for printing ballots for the coming election. Should Justice Gavegan be sustained it will be a source of satisfaction to the independent voters of the state that fusion will be possible and the name of a candidate may appear under more than one party emblem.

BIRNEY CLARK ENDORSED FOR MAYOR.

A gathering of representative Republicans was held in the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon to discuss mayoralty possibilities for Fulton, the caucuses and city convention to be held next week. There was but one name discussed at the conference that of Assessor Birney Clarke who rooms in the Fifth ward.

It was the consensus of opinion of those present that Mr. Clarke would be satisfactory to all factions in the party, and it was resolved by a rising vote of all present, that he would become the unanimous choice of all at the conference.

Mr. Clarke, when seen later, stated that he would be willing to run if he became the unanimous choice of the party at thhe caucuses.

Mr. Clarke has been a resident of Fulton for forty years. He at one time conducted with a partner a lumber yard on Broadway. Later he was associated in the grocery business with a partner and he was for several years a member of the Henderson-Thompson coal company. Lately he has not followed any line of business. He is an ardent lover of good horse flesh and for years has been identified with the racing at the Fairs in this section of the State.

DR. HAVILAND MAY ATTEND

Preparations are being made by homeopathic physicians in all parts of the state for the forty-fifth semi-annual meeting of the Homeopathic Medical Society of the State of New York, which is to be held in New York city on October 10 to 14th, inclusive. The Society is fifty years old. It began with an annual meeting each winter, and since its fifth year has been holding also a semi-annual meeting in the fall. These meetings, held in various parts of the State, always attract large numbers of medical men. The coming meeting has a very interesting programme, and is expected to be exceptionally well attended.

The Hotel Savoy, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth street, will be the headquarters of the visiting members, and a banquet will be held there on Wednesday evening, Oct. 11th.

Fulton may be represented at the meeting. Dr. N. H. Haviland is a member of the society.

M. A. STRANAHAN FOR SHERIFF.

The Republican nominee for sheriff, Mr. M. A. Stranahan, prosecutes his canvas for the important office with the same vigor that he prosecutes his quest for successful business. The young man was country born, claiming Granby as his native heath. When he became of sufficient years, younger than many boys would have undertaken so great a responsibility, he took over the management of the farm upon which he was born and he was every successful in his work. Eight years ago he decided to lease the farm and embark in mercantile life. He came to Fulton and associated himself with Mr. Ralph VanBuren in the shoe business. From the first the firm met with unqualified success. In entering political life Mr. Stranahan brings the same energy and determination that has characterized his efforts along other lines. He views the holding of public office as a business proposition and he makes the one pledge, that, if elected, he will conduct the important office of Sheriff as a business proposition in which every taxpayer in the county will be his partner. He will endeavor to give them the best he can for the least expenditure of their money.

Mr. Stranahan enjoys the proud distinction of having been unanimously nominated for sheriff in the Republican convention in Pulaski, no other name having been presented. He is no less popular today than when nominated and his friends feel the greatest confidence that whomever the opposing party may name for their standard bearer, Mr. Stranahan will receive the majority vote of the electors at the polls in November.

ATTORNEY F. D. CULKIN

This brilliant young attorney of Oswego, holding a record for unsurpassed results during his term as attorney for the City of Owego, won the Republican nomination for district attorney in the face of very stubborn opposition. But he won it fairly and squarely, the majority speaking their preference freely and he will undoubtedly run neck and neck with the remainder of the ticket at the polls. In fact, several of his more enthusiastic friends declare that he will run ahead of his ticket on account of his record in the service of his county and his party.

FRANCIS D. CULKIN

Mr. Culkin is of very pleasing personality, making friends of those with whom he comes in contact. He is a rather determined stickler for doing his full duty, and in the office to which he will be elected, this trait is most desirable.

In the near future Mr. Culkin hopes to meet many Fulton electors and personally olicit their support. He will find hearty co-operation in this city.

MANUFACTURES IN FULTON, N. Y.

The Census Bureau's Tentative Summary For 1909.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—A preliminary statement of the general results of the Thirteenth United States Census of Manufactures of the city of Fulton, N. Y., was issued today by Census Director Durand. It was prepared under the direction of William M. Stewart, chief statistician for manufactures, Bureau of Census. The figures are subject to such revision as may be necessary after a further examination of the original reports.

There were 45 establishments in 1909, and the value of their products was $7,867,000.

The value of products represents their selling value of price at the plants as actually turned out by the factories during the census year, and does not necessarily have any relation to the amount of sales for that year. The values under this head also include the amount received for work done on materials furnished by others.

Further details can be drawn from the summary which follows: Number of establishments, 45; capital invested, $11,083,000; cost of materials used, $4,857,000; salaries and wages, $1,547,000; miscellaneous expenses, $812,000; value of products, $7,867,000; value added by manufacture (products less cost of materials) $3,011,000; number of salaried officials and clerks, 181; and average number of wage earners employed during the year, 2,799.

SUPREME COURT.

The calendar of the Supreme Court term which opens in Oswego Monday, October 3, is now being prepared by Court Clerk L. A. Coulter and will be issued next week. The number of cases on the calendar will be upward of fifty. The first twenty cases constitute the first day's calendar and in order that attorneys may be familiar with these cases, Mr. Coulter has given out the calendar for the first day. Justice Andrews will preside.

Important Changes in Arrival and Departure of Trains on N. Y. C. Lines

There has been a very radical change in the arrival and departure of trains to and from this city on the New York Central lines. The change went into effect at midnight on Monday, September 25. Schedules are as follows:

From Syracuse (North Bound)—N. Y. C. Lines—Trains formerly arriving at 8:10 a. m., now reach Fulton at 8:06; at 3:49 p. m., now at 4:25 p. m.; at 9:54 p. m., now reach station at 8:36 p. m.

To Syracuse (South Bound)—N. Y. C. Lines—Trains formerly arriving at 8:00 a. m., changed to 7:54 a. m.; 7:10 p. m. now depart at 6:10 o'clock; 9:44 p. m., now leave at 9:40 p. m.

GALLAGHER RENOMINATED.

Supervisor W. M. Gallagher has been renominated, without opposition, by the Republicans of Constantia.

Lands Owned by County.

Supervisors Terry of Richland, Hamer of Boylston, and Potter of West Monroe, were at the County Treasurer's office Friday, perfecting title to lands and parcels of property in the wards and towns of the county, which now belong to the county, coming through tax sale deeds. The value of this property amounts to many thousand dollars in The aggregate, Mr. Potter said.

The New Inverted Arc Gas Light
Makes It Easy to Buy
It's the Best Light

That's just about the whole idea of Modern Merchandising, isn't it?

People buy where they receive the greatest courtesy, the most consideration for their comfort and convenience, where goods are displayed the best. Value for value, the trade goes to the merchant who makes it easiest for the public to buy.

Now all the bowing and scraping in the world, all the smiling and politeness, all the newspaper advertising and the careful display of goods in windows and upon your shelves and counters and the best bargains in the city will avail you nothing if it's hard to buy in comfort in your stores because you dwell in darkness.

FINISH the job up right. Make it easy for the people to trade with you by giving them a lighting system that will enable them to shop in your store in real comfort and as intelligent people with money to spend, LIKE TO SHOP.

Install an INVERTED GAS ARC LAMP now. It's the only system of store lighting that's ever been devised that really fits the needs of a modern merchant. It's the brightest light but it's the KINDEST light to goods and your customer's eyes as well, AND IT SHOWS THE MOST DELICATE SHADES IN THEIR NATURAL COLORS.

And the cost? Less than your present inadequate system costs. It will cut your lighting bills making a material saving within the year. Come in now and ask us about it.

The Electric Way

since last report. Five more kitchens where the hot stove on ironing day is a thing of the past.

The electric iron is not for summer use only—it is just as good through the whole year and saves time and work at one season as well as another. It is worth something to have a flat-iron always clean and always ready, and one you can use in any room in the house. $3.95 is the price, and we guarantee them against burning out.
